COMMUNISTS ROUNDED UP IN FRANCE; 70 TO BE EXPELLED

Government Claims to Have Put a Stop to Radical Agitation Toward Revolution by Force.

"AT GRIPS WITH A DOUBLE AGITATION"

Premier Herriot Denounces Reds and Clericals, Charging Offensive to "Encircle" Government.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Dec. 6.—Complete success in putting a stop to the Communist agitation toward revolution was claimed by the Government tonight and Minister of Interior Chautemps, supreme head of the French police, expressed satisfaction with the manner in which his men "nipped the action in the bud." The Communists say action merely has been postponed. The official party organ published an appeal tonight for Communists to hold themselves in readiness for any eventuality.

It appears that the Government scored heavily against the extremists by rounding up more than 300 Communists of all nationalities, more than 70 of whom, foreigners, will be expelled, and, second, by preventing the Communist manifestation announced as a protest against these arrests and expulsions.

Communistic propaganda, however has gathered such headway and the organization has been perfected to such a point that students and political conditions in France express the opinion that the Government must continue severe methods if it hopes to annihilate the revolutionary movement.

Jacques Sadoul's Removal.

The Communists point to the removal of Jacques Sadoul from the Paris military prison to a jail at Orleans as due to fear that the Paris prison would be rushed and Sadoul delivered. The official reason given by the ministry of war since Sadoul belonged to the 166th infantry regiment, whose headquarters are in Nievre, department of Orleans, the Orleans courtmartial alone is competent to retry Sadoul. The original trial in which the former army captain was convicted by default on a charge of treason in 1919 took place before a Paris courtmartial. Sadoul, former French Army Captain, was arrested Thursday in Paris when he returned in spite of the death penalty imposed upon him after he had been convicted in 1919. The official organ of the communist party this evening published an appeal to its followers to hold themselves in readiness to wrench Sadoul from the military judges. Sadoul was attached to the French Embassy at Petrograd. On withdrawal of the embassy at the time of the bolshevik revolution he remained in Russia and joined the communist movement..

In their raid on the soviet headquarters at Bobigny, the police claim to have seized documents purporting to show that the communists were preparing to attempt an armed coup against Paris in the course of next week.

The magnitude of the police operations, which were not confined to Paris and its suburbs, but extended throughout France, was shown when it became known that 70 Police Commissioners at the head of between 600 and 700 men were engaged. Many of them searched for hidden stores of arms and ammunition, the existence of which had been called to their attention.

Documents Captured.

In the raid on the communist gathering at Bobigny, in the outskirts of Paris, the police gathered in 60 suspects and a mass of documents and posters. Most of the suspects were released. Other squads in the meantime began serving warrants for the expulsion from the country of persons considered the most dangerous among foreign agitators. One of the hotbeds of propaganda was found to be a "Lenin communist school" at Bobigny, the center of foreign communists.

Foreigners alone were held in jail tonight, the Frenchmen arrested being allowed to depart after their names and addresses were registered. The dragnet thus far

PAID $40 INTEREST ON $100 FOR 24 HOURS, $200,000 GONE

Residents of Up-State New York Swamped Financial 'Wizard' of Buffalo With Funds.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 6.—M. Earl Williams of Batavia, who overnight became the financial "wizard" of up-state New York, this afternoon admitted he owed $200,000 to many men and women on promisory notes and had no money to pay it off. Williams' confession was made to District Attorney Waterman of Genesee County.

Williams has been conducting most of his operations from 159 Pearl street. He would send telegrams to friends calling for a loan of several hundred dollars for 24 hours, at interest ranging from 35 to 40 per cent. He would return $40 dollars with each $100 borrowed on the hour specified. News of the huge profits quickly spread through villages of Western New York and men and women fairly swamped Williams with money. Many turned back the principal for reinvestment.

Williams' transactions, it is said, will exceed $1,000,000. It was not until the money fairly flooded him that he began to show laxity in making good his agreements.

He obtained the money on the assurance that he was buying bonds in the Dairymen's League of New York. This afternoon Williams told Prosecutor Waterman that he didn't buy Dairymen's bonds, but bought stock in the Mutual Benefit League of Buffalo.

AUTO DRIVER SHOOTS FARMER

Asks for Aid in Recovering Ditched Car, Then Fires.

BOONVILLE, Mo., Dec. 6.—Elmer Tuttle, a well-known farmer residing three miles south of Boonville, was shot twice, the bullets entering the neck and shoulder, at 4 o'clock this morning, by a stranger who came to his home seeking assistance in getting his car out of a ditch.

Tuttle is not seriously injured and was reported at noon to be resting easily. The man, whom Tuttle says he never had seen before, claimed to be driving from California, Mo., to St. Joseph. No cause for the shooting can be given by Tuttle, who says he has no enemies, so far as he is aware.

Does a "New Model" Attract You?

"New Model" is a phrase in frequent use these days. It has an alluring sound to the automobile fan.

But buying a new model means selling the car now doing good service. There's a wide market for really serviceable used cars in St. Louis.

You can reach it—and you can sell your car through the Post-Dispatch classified "Automobiles" columns. People who buy and people who sell are Post-Dispatch readers. It has dominant circulation in St. Louis.

RUSSIAN THRONE CLAIMANT'S WIFE ARRIVES IN U. S.

Heavy Police Guard Given Duchess Victoria Feodorovna Following Anonymous Death Threats.

SHE SAYS VISIT IS "PURELY SOCIAL"

New York, Philadelphia and Washington Society to Entertain Kin of Several European Dynasties.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The Grand Duchess Cyril, who, some day, may be the Czarina of all the Russians, arrived here unofficially today on the French liner, Paris, for her first visit to America. She is accompanied by two ladies-in-waiting and a Russian Admiral in civilian clothes, who is honorary chamberlain to the party.

The Grand Duchess is a cousin of King George of England, and her sister is Queen Marie of Rumania. Her mother was the only daughter of Czar Alexander II of Russia. Her father, the Grand Duke Alfred of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, was the son of Queen Victoria. The royal blood of England, Germany, Russia and Spain is joined in her. Her husband, the Grand Duke Cyril, is cousin of the Czar Nicholas, whom the bolsheviki executed in 1918. If the Grand Duke succeeds in his aspirations the visitor to America will be the Czarina.

Today she looked upon the people and the things about her with serene gray eyes, distinctly amused and somewhat indulgent.

Thanks Americans.

"I hope you will deal kindly with me," she said to the reporters at Quarantine. "I am a stranger in America. I have come across the ocean to thank the American people, especially the women, who have rendered such great charity to destitute and exiled Russians."

She made what she called "a complete and unequivocal denial" of several reports which her aids declared to be soviet propaganda First of all, she said, her coming to American has nothing to do with the proclamation made in September by her husband, the Grand Duke Cyril, in which he declared he was now guardian of the Russian throne and that he would present himself to the Russian people as their Czar when the time was ripe. Secondly, she said it was false that the Grand Duke Cyril ever had been refused a visa by the United States, for he never had requested one.

"He never at any time had any intention of coming to America," the Grand Duchess said. "And as for my visit, there is no political background in it. It is made at the invitation of American friends here, whose invitation I accepted in Paris last summer. I have long desired to visit America."

"Look This Way, Lady!"

Then she went up to the sun deck of the Paris for the photographers and "movie" camera men. "Ready!" they called to her. "Look this way, lady: just lift your head a little. Hold it!"

Her two honorary Russian ladies-in-waiting were plainly scandalized by the forms of address. Admiral Tchernychine, the honorary chamberlain of the party, looked uncomfortable. But the Grand Duchess seemed to find it all very entertaining.

He was simply dressed, and, like almost every other woman coming from Paris, she wore a brown felt hat. Her face is angular and Slavic, with a high thin nose and narrowed eyes, marked with the character of her 40-odd years and easy to remember. That was why the New York police took complicated precautions for her safety, lest the political rumors connected with her and her husband should inspire any antimonarchist to attack her.

She was met at Quarantine by three detectives of the police bomb squad, who will be responsible for her safety in this city. At the pier a cordon of 50 uniformed policemen barred all but a few holders of special pier passes. Before the gangplanks were lowered for the first-class passengers, the third-class gangplank was made ready and the Grand Duchess was led out that way with her party to four limousines waiting on the pier.

Then the column sped away with an escort of 15 motorcycle policemen. Across 14th street and up Fifth avenue, the column of automobiles tore through the traffic which was halted to let it pass, the police waving the Saturday half-

TWO SLAIN, FIVE INJURED BY PAIR WHO HOLD UP BAR

They Shoot Three Victims in Saloon at South Bend, Ind., When "Hands Up" Order Is Ignored.

WOUND DRIVER AND SEIZE AUTO

Farmer and Dredge Workers Wounded; One Robber Captured After Being Hit With Hammer.

By the Associated Press.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 6. — Two men are dead and five others are seriously injured as the result of a saloon holdup by two youthful robbers here early tonight.

Dashing out of the saloon at 509 South Chapin street, the two men, one of whom is in the custody of police, left behind them a trail of dead and wounded that ended in an isolated spot seven miles west of South Bend. The robber, who is in custody, gave the name of Raymond Mosely, Hillsdale Road, Boston.

The dead:

Frank Rathbon, 60 years old, South Bend, a patron in the saloon.

Elmer J. Cauffman, 59, Lydic, Ind., road worker.

The wounded:

William Rice, 65, South Bend, in saloon when shooting commenced; expected to die; shot in head.

Felix Stevens, 57, bartender.

C. L. Camp, farmer, shot in side and not expected to live.

Stanley Polmarzek, South Bend, shot in side.

Homer Curry, road worker, shot in side; not expected to live.

Command Ignored, Begin Firing.

Angered because persons in the saloon ignored their command to hold up their hands, while his companion rifled their pockets, Mosely shot down Stevens, the bartender, and two of the customers. Rathfon, one of the customers, died in St. Joseph Hospital two hours later. Rice, the other, was shot through the head and is not expected to live.

The pair dashed into the street with their loot. Two blocks away, they shot Stanley Polmarzak, an insurance agent, through the shoulder, when he resisted their efforts to seize his automobile. After wounding Polmarzak, the robbers compelled the former's nephew to take the wheel.

Appearance of the car with the young man driving, speeding through traffic, aroused suspicions of citizens and police officers, but none was able to take up the chase until the machine had made its way out of the city.

The trail was picked up within 15 minutes by a telephone call to the Sheriff's office which announced that Camp, the farmer, living eight miles west of South Bend, had been shot by the robbers when he resisted them as they sought to steal his automobile.

Felled With Sledge Hammer.

Taking Camp's car, the robbers fled along the highway. They encountered the crew of a ditch dredging outfit. There were only two men in the dredger, Cauffman and Curry.

When the robbers attempted to compel one of the dredgers to get into the automobile with them, another fight resulted, and one of the robbers was struck on the head with a sledge hammer by Curry. Curry was shot down and Cauffman was killed.

The blow on the head so stunned one of the robbers that he was unable to continue the fight and his partner fled afoot. Posses are searching the countryside, the robber having headed for the marsh lands of the Kankakee River valley.

Inquiries from Toledo, O., connected the pair with robbers who early today escaped with a $1200 payroll and fled toward Indiana.

EIGHT RUM SHIPS ARRIVE FOR CHRISTMAS TRADE

Customs Officials Report Several Newcomers Anchored in "Row" Are Big Freighters.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Customs officials reported that eight vessels dropped anchor on rum row today ready for Christmas business. Several of the fleet are freighters, each with a capacity of about 100,000 cases. During the past week two small scooners have been the only vessels on the row.

JOHN D. JR., PLANS 'GARDEN TENEMENT' AT LOW RENTALS

Heat and Hot Water Free, With Playground, Feature of Ideal Wage-Earners' Homes.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—John D. Rockefeller Jr., it was announced today, is backing a movement by the Empire Mortgage Co. to erect the first "Garden Tenement" in Manhattan—a block of ideal homes for East Side wage-earners on Avenue A, between Sixty-fifth and Sixty-sixth streets. The building will be six stories high and supply 82 families with four, five and six room homes.

Each apartment will have one or two baths, be provided with heat and hot water and face on a spacious garden and playground for children. All the rooms will get fresh air and sunlight and the rent may be as low as in some of the city's most crowded slums.

The project is frankly an experiment by Rockefeller in better housing for workers in Manhattan, where hardly a building has been erected in the last decade to rent at a price within the reach of the average wage-earner.

A similar experiment has proved successful on lower priced land in Long Island City, where the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. erected 54 buildings containing 2125 apartments rentable at $9 a month a room, with heat and hot water free.

Rental will be based on a six per cent investment return and a one or two per cent amortization.

SLAYER OF 30 ANSWERS QUESTIONS DETACHEDLY

Hanover Butcher Shows No Realization of Seriousness of Charge Against Him.

By the Associated Press.

HANOVER, Germany, Dec. 6.—Much of the third day of the trial of Fritz Haarmann, the Hanover butcher, for the murder of nearly 30 young men since 1918, was taken up with expert testimony regarding a box of human bones, which had been placed in evidence. Experts testified that the bones for the most part were those of young men under 20 years of age.

It becomes more and more evident that Haarmann has no realization of the seriousness of the deeds charged against him. To the most revolting questions he replies detachedly. Death, awaiting him, or inflicted on his alleged victims, seems to have no meaning.

BOY KILLED TRYING TO SAVE ENTRAPPED PIGEON

Youth Meets Death from Live Wire in Releasing Bird Near Third Rail.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Edward Clark, 13 years old, is dead as the result of his effort to free a pigeon entangled in a string, near the deadly third rail of the Southside Elevated Railway.

The pigeon had made a nest under the charged rail. With a ball of string which the bird had picked up and attempted to weave into the nest, it had entangled one foot and entrapped itself. The boy climbed the structure and released the pigeon while several boy friends looked on. Suddenly he plunged to the ground dead. The Coroner's jury decided he had grasped a high tension cable after performing his errand of mercy.

MOTLOW'S COUNSEL TRIES TO OFFER TESTIMONY IN AID OF ACCIDENT PLEA

R. H. KARL DIES OF AUTO INJURY; BOY, 8, KILLED

City Smoke Commissioner Was Run Down Friday Evening When About to Board Street Car.

MAN AND WOMAN DRIVER UNDER BOND

Child Killed When Crossing Street—Two More Persons Are Injured by Machines.

DEAD.

Robert H. Karl, 52, of 4344 Arsenal street.

William Crowder, 8, 4137A Lee avenue.

INJURED.

Mrs. Catherine Staley, 30, Forest Park Hotel, serious lacerations and cuts.

Jesse Hodges, 55, 4211 Beethoven avenue, fractured left leg and scalp wounds.

Robert H. Karl, City Smoke Commissioner, died at city hospital at 7:45 last night of injuries suffered Friday evening when run down by an automobile at Grand boulevard and Arsenal street as he was about to board a street car. He was 52 years old and lived at 4344 Arsenal street.

The driver of the automobile, Miss Alvera Korte, 21, of 2852 Keokuk street, and the owner, Emil G. Rieser, 28, of 5551 Labadie avenue, are under bond, having been arrested a block from the scene. Karl suffered fractures of the skull and collar bone and internal injuries.

Karl was Smoke Commissioner from May 23 last, when that office was created by a city ordinance. Previously he had been for 17 years a supervising engineer at the Anheuser-Busch plant.

Had Plan to Abate Smoke.

He was a mechanical engineer, educated at the University of Ohio, and his selection as Smoke Commissioner was based on the recommendation of the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations interested in smoke abatement because of his wide experience. A few days before his death he announced a plan whereby he proposed to cause a reduction in the city's smoke of at least 50 per cent.

He was about to board a westbound Tower Grove car for his home, when he was knocked down. The automobile continued west and when overtaken, Riesser was at the wheel. He said he intended to drive through Tower Grove Park and surrender at Magnola Station.

Karl is survived by his widow, Mrs. Martha J. Karl, and a brother, Louis Karl, of Chicago. Arrangements for the funeral will be made today.

Boy, 8, Is Killed by Auto.

William Crowder, 8 years old, of 4137A Lee avenue, was run down and killed by an automobile as he crossed Fair avenue, about 20 feet south of Lee avenue, at 9 o'clock last night.

The driver of the machine, Arthur Walsh, 24, of 4100A Lekington avenue, was arrested. He told the police he was driving at a moderate speed when the boy ran in front of the automobile too late for him to swerve aside.

The police are seeking the driver of an automobile which at 6 p. m. yesterday struck and seriously injured Mrs. Catherine Staley, 30 years old, of the Forest Park Hotel, on a Forest Park drive, and then fled from the scene.

Injury to Woman.

Mrs. Staley was walking in the park with Mrs. Jean Weber, also of Forest Park Hotel, when on West Pine drive, near Kingshighway drive, the automobile approached from the west at high speed. It swept Mrs. Staley to the pavement, and, according to Mrs. Weber, stopped about 25 feet beyond. A man emerged from the rear seat, glanced back and then climbed in again shouting to the driver to "step on it." The machine moved on, but Mrs. Weber noted a license

LEAPS TO DEATH ON WAY TO EXECUTION

One of Trio Convicted of Plot Against Spanish Directorate Escapes Legal Killing.

By the Associated Press.

PAMPLONA, Spain, Dec. 6. — Having been found guilty of plotting to overthrow the Spanish directorate, Enrique Sanchez Gil and Juan Santillan were executed in the prison here at dawn today. A third man, Pablo Martin, was to have been put to death at the same time, having been sentenced with Gil and Santillan, but while the men were being escorted to the execution chamber he tried to escape by running to a high gallery, from which he jumped to death when he saw escape was impossible.

The men were arrested last month at Vera, in the province of Navarre, after they had crossed the French frontier into Spain and engaged in a shooting with civil guards, in which two of the latter were killed.

COOLIDGE ADVISED NOT TO EXTEND GEN. BUTLER'S LEAVE

Senate Naval Committee's Recommendation Submitted to President by Chairman Hale.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—President Coolidge was advised today by the Senate Naval Committee, through Chairman Hale, not to extend the leave granted Brigadier-General Butler of the Marine Corps to permit his service as Public Safety Director of Philadelphia.

After his conference with Mr. Coolidge, Senator Hale said that he had conveyed "the sense of the members of the committee that a member of the military or naval establishment should not be given a leave of absence to perform civilian work."

The President also has before him a communication from the House Naval Committee, which at a recent executive session decided to interpose no objections to an extension of leave, but did not recommend such an extension.

MEMBERS TOO OLD TO MEET, G. A. R. POST WILL DISBAND

Five Survivors Range in Age From 78 to 88 Years—Once Had 111 Enrolled.

Because its five members are becoming too infirm to attend meetings, the T. J. Brouster Post, No. 233, Grand Army of the Republic, is to disband. The youngest of the members is 78 years old, and the oldest is 88.

The post was organized in 1885 with 14 members, as the St. Louis County unit of the G. A. R. Its membership rose to 111 and then began a steady decline. Its members now are F. W. Berthold, 88; Henry Seibel, 84; J. B. Pollard, 82; J. C. Kiskaddon, 80; and John Gast, 78.

VICTIM'S ALLEGED STATEMENT IS POINT AT ISSUE

Court to Decide Tomorrow Whether Pullis' Remarks, That Distiller Shot at Negro, Will Be Admitted.

STATE ATTACKS QUESTION'S LEGALITY

Train Conductor Says That Two Other Persons, Including Porter, Heard Dying Man's Statement.

The defense's plea of accident in the trial of Lem Motlow, wealthy Tennessee distiller, for murder, was begun in yesterday's testimony, and will be developed further at tomorrow's session. Self-defense, the second part of the mixed plea, will be asserted in Motlow's own testimony, which may come tomorrow or Tuesday. The end of the trial, which began last Tuesday, is not in sight.

The defense is striving to persuade the jury that Motlow was shooting at Ed Wallis, negro porter, when he fatally wounded Clarence T. Pullis, Pullman conductor. Later it will seek to show, by Motlow's testimony, that the porter had attacked him before he fired.

One witness yesterday helped to lay a foundation for the accident plea. He was H. A. Silliman, conductor of the L. & N. train on which the shooting of Pullis occurred, in the St. Louis yards the night of March 17 last.

Stepped in and Caught Bullet.

Silliman testified Motlow reported to him, shortly before the time for the train to leave Union Station, that "the nigger" had refused to make a change, requested by Motlow, in the arrangement of his berth. Silliman said he went to the porter and told him to "make up the berth as the gentleman wishes it."

The defense will use this incident in its endeavor to show a progressive altercation between the middle-aged Southern passenger—who, the defense contends, had been drinking, but was not drunk—and the negro. Its next endeavor was to get the train conductor to testify that Pullis, after being shot, said, either exactly or in substance, "The old man was shooting at the porter and I stepped in and caught the bullet."

Taken Under Advisement.

Yesterday's session ended at the point where Silliman had said that he heard Pullis make a statement after he was shot. When he was asked what the statement was, an objection by the prosecutor kept him from answering, and as the time previously set for adjournment, 1 p. m., had then been reached, Judge Hamilton took the point under consideration until tomorrow. He had said previously that, if there appeared to be no possibility of getting through with the case during the day, there would be no afternoon session.

In trying to get Pullis' alleged statement before the jury, the defense counsel will argue tomorrow that, inasmuch as Wallis has testified that he heard no such statement, it is proper to show that such a statement was made, and that Wallis was present. The train conductor said that the statement made by Pullis, which he has not yet been permitted to repeat, was made in the hearing of himself, Wallis, and a third man whose name he did not know, but who had ridden from Union Station to East St. Louis with him. Whether this man will be produced as a witness, the defense has not announced, but one of the lawyers said yesterday that there was no mystery as to his identity.

Question as to Admissibility.

The State, in striving to keep the alleged statement rfom the jury, will argue that it is not legally admissible as a "dying statement," since Pullis, at the time, was not warned of the imminent approach of death. Dying statements have been held to be admissible when

LARGE REFUNDS TO ST. LOUISANS ON INCOME TAX

Claims of Late Katherine M. McBride, $98,108, and of Rice-Stix Co., $193,700, Allowed.

192,252 PERSONS ASKED FOR RETURNS

Total of Amounts O K'd in Year $137,006,275; Lowest Sum a Penny, Highest, $1,988,201.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Claims of 192,252 persons for refund of taxes illegally collected, amounting to $137,006,225.65, were approved by the Internal Revenue Commissioner during the fiscal year ending June 30 last. An 8000-page report was submitted to Congress today by Secretary Mellon, giving a list of the claimants and the amounts of refunds approved.

The amounts were described in the report as for "claims accrued prior to July 1, 1920, $29,244,233.15; for 1921, $11,854,300.19; for 1922, $7,772,246.91; for 1923, $4,476,790.98, and 1924 and prior years, $83,658,654.42." The refund for 1924 included the return of 25 per cent of the taxes paid during the calendar year on incomes of 1923, as provided in the new revenue law.

Some of Largest Refunds.

The largest refund—$1,988,201—went to Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago, and the second largest, for $1,018,015, to Joseph T. Ryerson & Sons, Inc., Chicago. Another item of more than a million dollars was to Swift & Co., Chicago, who obtained a return of $1,010,247.

Among the claims allowed were those of the late Katherine M. McBride, executrix of estate of William C. McBride, St. Louis, $98,108; Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co., St. Louis, $193,700; Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, $79,852, and Provident Chemical Works, St. Louis, $56,000.

The smallest claim, for 1 cent, was to Burr Martin of Dallas, Tex.

Aluminum Company Claim.

Other claims allowed included American Aluminum Co., Pittsburg, $555,102; J. P. Morgan, New York, $147,000; Gulf Oil Corporation, Pittsburg, $200,000; H. J. $96,000 St. Joseph Claim.

Others whose claims were approved include: Chicago Screw Co., Chicago, $55,313; Godley Oil and Gas Co., Henrietta, Tex., $71,637; John S. Brittain Dry Goods Co., St. Joseph, Mo., $96,261; Bauer & Black, Chicago, $87,073; Northern Texas Traction Co., Fort Worth Tex., $64,110; the Tribune Company, Chicago, $57,786; Union Stockyards Co., Chicago, $66,451; Frank Marshall, Evanston, Ill., $53,295; Burd High Compression Ring Co., Chicago, $66,073; trustees of the estate of Guyton and Harrington Mule Co., Kansas City, Mo., $50,000; Standard Milling Co., Houston, Tex., $59,770; H. Cochrane Armour, Evanston, Ill., $62,125.

McBride Claim Once Overruled; Other Rice-Stix Claims.

Mrs. Katherine M. McBride, who made the claim for overcharged taxes on the estate of her husband, the late William C. McBride, who died Aug. 12 last. J. H. Halliday, her attorney, last night explained the grounds on which the claim was made. Mrs. McBride, as executrix for the McBride estate, had to pay income tax for the time she had charge of the estate, and included in the amount for which she paid taxes was about $300,000 which was paid the Government as inheritance tax.

She contended that the amount paid as inheritance tax should not be taxed, but should be deducted from the amount on which taxes was paid. Her contention was overruled at the time, Halliday said, but later the same contention, in another estate, was made to the United States Supreme Court and was upheld. Mrs. McBride then renewed her claim, which was paid.

The claim of Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co. was for taxes illegally collected in 1917, E. W. Stix, president, said last night. The company has similar claims pending for other years.

The refund to the Provident Chemical Works covered income taxes on 1918 and 1919 in which there were excess charges, Clinton E. Udell, secretary, said last night.

F. U. Hammett, secretary-treasurer of the Paris Medicine Co., said that he would be unable to tell what years the refund to his company covered without referring to office records. The refund covered overcharges in income tax, he said.

Blackmailed Rajah Now Known Throughout India

Prince's Name Published in Calcutta Paper—W. C. Hobbs Refused Bail in London.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.
Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Rajah Sir Hurri Singh is still in Kashmir, according to the following cable the Sunday Times will print tomorrow from its correspondent at Delhi:

"Publication of the details of the case has caused intense interest in India. The news from Kashmir is scarce, but it may be presumed that a strict censorship exists in that State. The Government of India is now in Delhi, and I understand from leading officials that no authoritative statement can possibly be made as regards the Rajah's movements.

"So far as is known he has no present intention of leaving India for Europe. As the heir to the Gadi of Kashmir, he is a very important personage and there is little disposition openly to discuss the matter. The newspapers, particularly the leading European organs, are content to publish brief, summarized reports of the court proceedings in which the Rajah figured as Mr. A. The Rajah's name was revealed for the first time in print in Calcutta newspapers last Thursday and, within a few hours, it was known throughout the country. There is no more popular figure in Indian and European society here than Sir Hurri."

William Cooper Hobbs, who cashed the £130,000 (approximately $600,000) check in the Midland Bank case, was arraigned before Sir Chartres Biron, Magistrate, at Bow Street Police Court today on a charge of stealing the check. He entered the dock a sick man, having spent the past several days in the prison hospital.

Evidence was given to prove that Hobbs had invested the stolen money in French securities. The magistrate refused bail, stating he could not forget that Hobbs had tried to flee the country, and the Crown prosecutor, Rowland Oliver, announced that when the Rajah's former aid, Capt. Arthur, is brought to this country, he and Hobbs will be arraigned for conspiracy. The hearing was then adjourned until Dec. 13.

Genealogical researches revealing that Capt. Arthur is a member of one of the proudest Irish families is causing some aristocrats to say there must be something in his plea that he is innocent of directing the recent blackmail plot.

Capt. Arthur's family traces its descent from Cormac Cas, King of Munster, while the old form of the name, Artureigh, figures prominently in Irish history. Capt. Arthur's father, Thomas Lucius Jervis Arthur, was a Justice of the Peace in County Clare, where the family had moved from Limerick after Cromwell's sequestration of its estates. The grandfather of the present head of the house was the Rev. Lucas Arthur of Glanomera. In the eighteenth century the Arthurs intermarried with the Butler and O'Brien families, thus interlocking some of the proudest names in Irish history.

RUSSIAN THRONE CLAIMANT'S WIFE ARRIVES IN U. S.

Ride "Exhilarating."

She had been warned of the habits of ship news reporters and of cameramen, but nobody seems to have told her of the wild rides with which New York welcome its privileged visitors. The Grand Duchess said she found it very exhilarating. Twenty uniformed policemen under Capt. Edward Frye were guarding the Thirty-third street entrance of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel when the Grand Duchess arrived there.

She was ushered immediately to the royal suite, which was occupied last by European royalty in the person of King Albert of Belgium.

She is here for a ten-day's visit as guest of the Monday Opera Club which was formed about a year ago and which is bringing the titled personages of Europe in contact with fashionable Americans in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, who like to spend a great deal of their time in Europe.

The Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia are honorary members, together with Duchess of Vendome, who is head of the royal French family of Bourbons, and the Dowager Marchioness of Milford Haven in England.

Tomorrow evening the Grand Duchess will be the guest of the Advisory Committee of the Monday Opera Club, consisting of Princess Cantacuzene-Speransky, formerly Julia Dent Grant; Mrs. Richard Mortimer, Mrs. Henry P. Loomis, Mrs. Henry H. Rogers and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, with Ethan Allan, treasurer, and Georges Djamgaroff, secretary. The Grand Duchess will be attended by the Admiral and by the two ladies-in-waiting, Mmes. Helen Orloff and Capitoline Makaroff, widows, whose husbands ranked as general officers in the Czar's forces.

Has Many Invitations.

The Grand Duchess will not be able to crowd into her 10 days here all the invitations she has received from those who are anxious to entertain her. Tomorrow night she will be the guest of the Colonial Dames, of which Mrs. Henry P. Loomis is president. Monday night she will be the guest of the Monday Opera Club itself. Tuesday she will attend a dinner and musicale at the home of Mrs. Arthur Curtis James.

The Grand Duchess will go to Philadelphia Wednesday, where, during the day, she will be the guest in turn of Mrs. William Ellis Scull, Mrs. Alexander Van Rensslaer, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Childs Drexel, ending with a dinner given by the Colonial Dames with Mrs. Van Rensslaer, Mrs. J. Gardiner Cassatt and Mrs. William Lyttelton Savage as hostesses.

Thursday the Grand Duchess will go to Washington to Mrs. Robert Lansing and Friday to Mrs. John Hays Hammond.

Saturday the Grand Duchess will return to New York to a dinner given by Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer. Next Sunday, Dec. 14, she will have luncheon with Mrs. Charles B. Alexander and dinner with Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, and on Monday, Dec. 15, she will be the guest of Mrs. George F. Baker Jr., ending with the Monday Opera Club the same evening. The next day the Grand Duchess plans to return to Europe. The Grand Duke Cyril is now at his political headquarters, Coburg, in Bavaria, with their three children, Princesses Maria and Kira and Prince Vladimir.

The Grand Duchess, a woman of large personal fortune, will have occasion to spend little money in connection with her visit, it was announced. New York wealthy families have supplied the party with motors throughout its stay; the Waldorf-Astoria is host to the party; her passage on the Paris was without cost, and a special car will carry the party over the Pennsylvania Railroad through the courtesy of Vice President Atterbury.

Chirstmas Fund for Orphans.

At the recent ceremonial session of Moolah Temple of Shriners, a collection, taken for the purpose of carrying good cheer to orphans in every asylum of St. Louis and St. Louis County on Christmas day, totaled $1675. George H. Fox is chairman of the Committee of Arrangements named by William J. Kennedy, Potentate of Moolah, and which has made plans for the annual event.

BRITAIN'S PRESS ATTACKS DEBT POLICY OF U. S.

Daily Express Insists That Nation Press Claim on French Financiers Firmly and Immediately.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.
Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The Franco-American pour parlers on the debt funding question continue to cause anxiety here, and semiofficial soothing syrup was handed out today by the British press. It was admitted, as previously cabled to the Post-Dispatch and the New York World, that Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador, has been in touch with the authorities at Washington and has asked to be informed of any developments which might interest the British Cabinet.

The importance of the Franco-American conversations, it was said, seem to have been exaggerated, as they have been of a general nature and no concrete funding scheme has been suggested by either side. The cryptic suggestion also was forthcoming that it cannot be too strongly asserted that with the coming into force of the Dawes plan, the whole question of inter-allied debts has entered upon a new phase.

All the papers today reprint the New York World's editorial demanding equality of treatment for Great Britain in America's handling of her debt problems.

Insists Britain Press Her Claim.

The Daily Express says:

"If Great Britain allows a settlement between France and America to take place without putting in her own claim for payment by France, her own prospect of recovering anything will be postponed and it will then be pointed out to us that the whole French share in German reparations has gone to the United States and that there is nothing left with which to pay Britain. Mr. Churchill is the guardian of the British taxpayer and it is for him to press the British claim on the French financiers and to do this firmly and at once."

The Morning Post, under the heading, "A Sum for Mr. Mellon," says that the American attitude, that since Congress has settled the debt question it cannot be reopened, savors strongly of rigid Prussianism. This paper quotes:

"Helped to Save America."

"The main ground for placing these debts in a special category is that they would never have existed for any practical purpose if the allies had lost the war. It was victory with her triumphant wings that gave them life and carried them across the Atlantic. If Germany had won the war, the American Congress, instead of laying down the terms according to which France and Great Britain are to pay, would be discussing the ways and means of paying an indemnity and a pretty fat one to William Hohenzollern.

As victory alone makes those debts a business proposition, any fair-minded creditor must consider who was mainly responsible for that victory. Apart from what our country has done, we ask the American people to remember that France suffered, in the loss of almost 1,500,000 of her sons, the devastation of her richest provinces and her four years' agony, whether it is sound morals or even good business to mulct France of sums lent to her for helping to save America, and, incidentally, the Monroe Doctrine, from the clutches of Germany.

Monetary Value on Man.

"Americans may run from the issue, but they cannot escape it, and we are glad to see that, according to the message that we publish from our Washington correspondent, already faint doubts are beginning to be expressed on the other side concerning the wisdom of its attitude in this matter. If we give a man a monetary value, we ask Mr. Mellon, are Great Britain and France in the debt of America or is America in the debt of Great Britain and France?

French Debt Conversations With Mellon Unofficial.

Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Dec. 6.—The conversations regarding the French debt which have taken place between Ambassador Jusserand and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, have been unofficial, the Quai d'Orsay stated today. No engagement has been entered into either by France or the United States. The announcement was caused by the resentment displayed in England over the rumors that France was trying to come to terms with America before the French debt to Great Britain had been discussed. It is now considered advisable not to treat the conversations in any way as official or as an attempt to feel out America before Great Britain.

Lucey Contests Democrat's Election.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Dec. 6.—James Lucey, cobbler friend of President Coolidge and defeated Republican candidate for the legislature at the recent election, has filed a petition in the Legislature praying that James H. Odea, Democratic candidate elected over Lucey by 183 votes, be unseated.

MRS. GENE PORTER, NOVELIST, KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Machine of Authoress of "Freckles" Hits Street Car in Los Angeles—Chauffeur Hurt.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 6.—Gene Stratton Porter, novelist and short story writer, died here tonight from injuries suffered when her automobile collided with a street car earlier in the evening.

Mrs. Porter's chauffeur, who was driving her machine when it struck the street car at a street intersection, was seriously injured. Physicians at the emergency hospital, where the authoress and her chauffeur were taken after the accident, said Mrs. Porter suffered a fracture of the base of her skull.

Mrs. Porter probably was best known for her novels "Freckles," "Laddie" and "Michael O'Halloran," the first of which was a "best seller" for a long time after its publication in 1904.

She was born in Wabash County, Indiana, in 1868, the daughter of Mark and Mary Stratton. She was married at the age of 18 to Charles Darwin Porter.

For years Mrs. Porter specialized in photographing natural history subjects for magazines. In addition to her novels, which, in addition to those named above included "The Girl of the Limberlost" and "The Harvester," Mrs. Porter was the author of several pamphlets and books on birds and other natural history subjects. She had made her home in Los Angeles for several years.

DEATHS FROM POISONED COFFEE BEING INVESTIGATED

Negress Thought to Have Placed Drug in Drink and Child to Have Taken It.

An investigation into the deaths of Mrs. Annie Bledsoe, 58, a negress, 3049 Marnice place, and 2-year-old Robert Harris Jr., negro, both of which occurred Thursday as the result of drinking poisoned coffee, was begun yesterday by the Coroner.

The deaths at first were attributed to ptomaine poisoning, but samples of molasses, bread and coffee found in the room occupied by the negress, where she and the child were found dying, were sent to the City Chemist, and the presence of arsenic in the coffee was ascertained.

Police learned that the woman lived alone with a daughter, Cora, 15, and that of late she has been despondent on account of illness and had hinted at ending her life. Thursday morning the daughter prepared the coffee and departed for school. The child was left in the negress' care during his mother's absence. After the daughter's departure, the police believe, the woman placed the arsenic in the coffee and drank it, and quickly became unconscious. It is presumed the child drank some of the liquid.

Mrs. Dora Vaughn, a married daughter of the negress and sister of Cora, testified to finding her mother semiconscious, in which state she complained that "something in the coffee" made her sick. The inquest was continued until Monday, pending further investigation, after the daughter declined to make a statement on advice of a negro lawyer. She was held at the House of Detention.

DRAMATIC CRITIC BEATEN FOR RIDICULING PARIS DRESSMAKER

Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Dec. 6.—M. Le Bret, a Paris dramatic critic, brought trouble on himself when in the course of the review of a new play he referred to one of the actors as 'assuming the ridiculous manners and stupid pedantry of Melnin Simonette."

He thus thinly disguised the name of Melnotte Simonin, a well known Rue de la Paix dressmaker. Simonin makes a point of attending each new play dressed in a peculiar fashion invented by himself under the inspiration apparently of ideas prevailing in the time of Louis Philippe. His most distinctive garment is a flowing gray cape with a purple or other bright colored silk lining, accentuated by a gray silk hat of the old fashioned chimney pot type. He wears gleaming white spats and affects a gait reminiscent of the dandies of a bygone age.

After reading Le Bert's article, Melnotte Simonin went to the critic's office and with the vigor of a modern sportsman, beat up the critic so vigorously that Le Bret had to stay in bed for several days. The case was brought into court today, Le Bret charging assault and Simonin charging slander. The verdict was deferred for a fortnight.

Ramsey Heads Y. M. C. A. Board.
By the Associated Press.

BUFALO, N. Y., Dec. 6.—The national council of the Y. M. C. A. today elected F. W. Ramsey of Cleveland president of the council, and he becomes chairman of the general board. The council approved a budget of $1,354,623 for work in the United States and $1,524,762 for the foreign field, exclusive of $546,735 for work in Europe.

Motlow's Counsel Tries to Offer Accident Evidence

the person making the statement is shown to have realized that he was about to die.

Sitting in the front rank of his array of seven lawyers, five of whom are from Tennessee, Motlow is the first figure sought by the eyes of the crowd that daily packs the courtroom. He is not easily picked at first. He looks as any well-to-do farmer or business man of 54 might look, not unlike some of his attorneys, but wholly unlike the popular conception of a millionaire distiller. Identification is complete only when the spectator singles out the collar in the group that is without a necktie.

The tieless collar, the soft white shirt, blue serge suit without a vest, suspenders, black shoes and white socks—these make up his traditional attire. The picture seldom changes in the minutest detail. Throughout the first week of the trial he sat calmly listening to the evidence, seldom speaking with his attorneys, seldom moving except to twist his handkerchief or stroke his heavy gray mustache. That is his only indication of nervousness. Occasionally he smiles at the quip of a lawyer or some humorous turn of testimony, but if there is in his mind a growing hope of acquittal or an increasing fear of conviction, the fact is not evident in his face.

Greeted by Former Governor.

Standing erect—and he always stands erect when he stands at all—Motlow is of still more impressive bearing. Slightly less than 6 feet tall, he is of powerful build. He is inclined to corpulency and weighs possibly 200 pounds. A high, sloping forehead is surmounted by slightly graying hair that shows no evidence of thinning. His face is a little flushed and heavily tanned as if from constant activity in the open and he habitually peers through his steel-rimmed glasses with a seeming bewilderment. His voice is high-pitched and shrill, but no unfriendly.

Often friends stop to greet him when court adjourns. Yesterday former Gov. M. R. Patterson of Tennessee paused, as he left the witness stand, to shake hands with the defendant and exchange a few words of greeting. When the day's session ended, Motlow crossed the aisle to where his wife and 12-year-old daughter, Mary, sat in the front row and engaged in a brief conversation.

In the front row of the other section, and almost directly behind Motlow's chair, sat the widow and the mother of the slain conductor, Pullis. From the first the bearing of the widow has been calm. Yesterday Pullis' mother wept when a witness was being examined on happenings immediately preceding and following the shooting. As has been told, Motlow paid $10,000 to the widow of Pullis after the killing.

Patterson a Character Witness.

Former Gov. Patterson, now a Circuit Judge, was one of the character witnesses heard yesterday. Patterson and C. D. Gray, a farmer living seven miles from Motlow's home near Lynchburg, Tenn., both testified that Motlow's reputation in Tennessee was good. Assistant Circuit Attorney Johnston asked them if they were ever in St. Louis with him, or knew of his reputation here, and they said they did not know of his standing here. Thomas E. Price of 26 North Kingshighway, who knew Motlow as a member of the Merchants' exchange here, testified that his standing in this city was good, and termed him a mild-mannered man.

Thomas P. Lahey and J. M. Fuller, members of the Merchants' Exchange; Patrick H. Dillon of East St. Louis, Western Union operator On 'Change, and George D. Wright, manager of the National Life and Accident Insurance Co., of Nashville, Tenn., testified that they visited Motlow at the East St. Louis police station the morning after the shooting; that his right cheek was bruised and that he was nursing his left hand as though it had been injured.

Seth M. Walker of Nashville, conducted the questioning of witnesses for the defense.

Drawings of Car Before Jury.

Drawings which showed the interior dimensions and arrangements of the sleeping car on which the shooting occurred, the Durmond, were shown to the jury by Eugene Brown, a United Railways draughtsman, with the statement that the interior arrangement, as to berths made up and those not made, was the same as outlined in the testimony given Friday by the porter, Wallis.

The purpose of the diagrams was to lay the foundation for an attack on the testimony of Joseph Broida, one of the two passengers who have testified for the State. Broida said he was standing by berth 10, when he saw Motlow in the space of Section 2, which was not made up. The defense seeks to show that, with berths made up between them, the witness could not have seen what he says he did.

Photographs of the interior of the car, made up as on the night of the shooting, were shown, and Vital W. Garesche of defense counsel, testified to having arranged for the taking of the photographs. Circuit Attorney Sidener asked whether the porter was present when the photographs were taken, and Garesche said he was not, and that he did not want the porter there, and was "afraid to have him." What he feared, he did not say.

An attack on another point of Broida's testimony will be based on the statement of Silliman, the train conductor, that he found himself locked out of the Pullman car when he first tried to get in; also that he, unassisted, took charge of Motlow and took him into the car ahead after the shooting. Broida told of having entered by the same door which, the conductor says, he found locked, and spoke also as if he had helped the train conductor in handling Motlow.

Silliman is now running on a branch line, and lives in Evansville, Ind. He was subpenaed as a witness by the State, but was not called to testify against Motlow, as the State got the idea that the L. & N. management was inclined to favor Motlow, a large shipper, in this case.

Complained Regarding Berth.

Telling of the occurrences of the night of March 17, Silliman said Motlow approached the table, used by him and the Pullman conductor, about 8:55 p. m., and that he spoke to the Pullman conductor, and was assigned to lower 3 in the middle of the three sleepers.

Later, Silliman said, Motlow returned and told him that "the nigger" had refused to change his berth, and Silliman then told of giving the porter the order to do as Motlow asked. He said Motlow's complaint to him was not made in the hearing of the porter.

The witness said he was told of the shooting by the porter, who came to him in the smoking car, as the train was about the middle of the tunnel. He hurried back through the chair car and the first sleeper, and found the door of the second sleeper fastened by a lock which prevented entrance from without, but permitted anyone inside to open the door. Just then, he said, Motlow opened the door and stepped out into the vestibule, and the train conductor took charge of him, searched him and took him into the first sleeper. On reaching East St. Louis, he said he got off and called for the police and for an ambulance.

He then told of seeing Pullis, as the wounded man lay in the smoking compartment of the second sleeper. The question as to admitting Pullis' alleged statement arose, and was left over for a ruling tomorrow.

The jury is being kept together, but has the privilege of walks for exercise, and the members are permitted to talk with their families and friends by telephone on matters not connected with the case.

Convict Stabbed by Another.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 6.—Tony Strado, convict, is in the penitentiary hospital in a critical condition, from a stab wound inflicted this afternoon by another convict, whose identity is unknown, prison officials said. Strado was stabbed late this afternoon as he was returning from the prison playground to the cell buildings, in a crowd of convicts. Strado, who is serving a 25-year sentence from Kansas City, from May 30 last, asserted he did not know who stabbed him.

220 ARRESTED IN ROUNDUP BY POL

Holdovers Crowded After tensive Campaign Against Thieves and Highwaymen

Police district holdovers w crowded last night with prison taken in a busy evening of intensive campaigning to curb the a tivity of thieves and highway At midnight the arrests for afternoon and evening totaled and 77 of the prisoners were scribed as known police chara ters. Most of the prisoners w picked up on the streets and saloons, poolrooms and other sorts raided during the evening.

KLAN AGAIN IS OUT AFTER CONTROL OF CARMEN'S UNION

Hooded Order of St. Louis Will Have Special Ticket in Field for Election of Officers, Dec. 20.

FAILED LAST YEAR BY ONLY 40 VOTES

Ku Kluxers Are Holding Secret Meetings Twice a Month; Say They Have Workers in Each Barn.

The Ku Klux Klan of St. Louis is again attempting to control the Street Carmen's Union through the election of officers that takes place this month, and will have a special ticket in the field for the election, which will be held Dec. 20.

It will be remembered that a group of klansmen in the union last year sought to elect a president, but failed by 40 votes, out of a total vote of more than 3500.

This group this year—about 25 of them, including representatives from each barn—has been meeting twice monthly, on Friday night, at 1758 Railway Exchange Building, local offices of the klan. These meetings were called to order by on official of the klan, and he and another official, the kleagle for this district, have addressed these meetings. The Ku Klux officials have minced no words in their addresses and have frankly told the klan carmen that the klan seeks to establish itself firmly in St. Louis trades unionism and that it must attain this end through control of the carmen's organization, which has the largest representation of any unit in the Central Trades and Labor Union.

These meetings have been secret and each man who attended each time was enjoined to conceal the fact from other members of the union that a secret effort was being made to control the organization.

Notices to attend the meetings were sent to the selected few in envelopes bearing a return mark to "Drawer 678, St. Louis, Mo.;" and the inclosures bore only the date and time of meeting and a Ku Klux symbol.

Mysterious Notices.

Other mysterious notices were received by this select few, the text of one of which follows:

At the last meeting, Friday, Nov. 28, about 25 motormen and conductors were present. The meeting was called to order by a Ku Klux Klan official who made a mixed address on the ideals of ku kluxism and trades unionism, how they shall "go on hand-in-hand forever to the benefit of a greater America."

At this meeting was an underofficial of the union, who recently crashed into a street car with his automobile; left the scene of the accident, and later was arrested asleep in his car in his garage and charged with careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. He was not brought to trial for the reason that only his own car was damaged.

"A True Klansman."

"We are glad to have you at this meeting," said the Ku Klux official to this man, "because we have just concluded an investigation of your accident. We have found that you are a true klansman and that your accident was due to your having been doped by members of an enemy church."

Prolonged applause greeted this happy exoneration.

In the discussion that followed, plans were made to get out a ticket of candidates for office, to be circulated after the primary election, which takes place tomorrow, for the general election of Dec. 20, and it was agreed that the membership as a whole should not be informed that the Ku Klux are taking any part in the election.

The klansmen claim to have a secret organization of workers in each barn to bring out a big vote for their candidates who will be named at tomorrow's primary. After their selection the names are to be printed and mailed to all carmen in plain envelopes from the Ku Klux office.

Regular meetings of the union are held at 2228 Olive street and are open to all members. The meetings being held in the Ku Klux offices are open only to selected klansmen.

The union has about 4500 members and is numerically the strongest in St. Louis.

220 ARRESTED IN ROUNDUP BY POLICE

Holdovers Crowded After Intensive Campaign Against Thieves and Highwaymen.

Police district holdovers were crowded last night with prisoners taken in a busy evening of intensive campaigning to curb the activity of thieves and highwaymen. At midnight the arrests for the afternoon and evening totaled 220, and 77 of the prisoners were described as known police characters. Most of the prisoners were picked up on the streets and in saloons, poolrooms and other resorts raided during the evening.

The success of the police vigilance was evidenced by the fact that only two minor holdups were reported between 6 and 11 p. m. Among the prisoners were two young men identified as filling station robbers, and an ex-convict identified in an attempted delivery truck holdup.

Negro Shot by Patrolman.

Joseph Smith, 18 years old, a negro, of 1455 O'Fallon street, was shot in the left thigh by Patrolman Mansker of Carr street district, when he attempted to escape from two policemen who sought to question him at Fourteenth and Biddle streets at 7 p. m. He was chased to Carr street and Selby place where Mansker fired three shots at him. The negro was unarmed and declared he ran because he was frightened.

The filling station robbed was that of Louis Roskas at 4405 Page boulevard. Roskas was fixing a tire at 3 p. m. when two men on a truck asked for water. He told them, "Help yourself," and presently heard his cash register ring and saw one of the men dash out and up the street. He seized the other man as he was about to board the truck and held him for the police. The prisoner described himself as John Pare, 23, of 4679 St. Louis avenue. Later Roskas identified John Christensen, 20, of 1708 North Taylor avenue, son of the owner of the truck, as the other robber. Both prisoners insist they are innocent.

Suspect Is Identified.

John Scanlan of 3406 Clark avenue, a department store chauffeur, refused to raise his hands when a man with a revolver boarded his truck in front of 1512 Benton street yesterday afternoon. The man ran away and a few minutes later a policeman arrested Martin Brennon, 38, who gave his address as 3509 Easton avenue. Scanlan and his helper identified the prisoner, who was said to be an ex-convict, but he denied he was the robber.

Abe Winter, a dry goods dealer at 3573 Chouteau avenue, was held up in his store at 6:30 p. m. by two men who took $87 in cash and a diamond stud, escaping in an automobile.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up; is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, D. G. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

KLAN AGAIN IS OUT AFTER CONTROL OF CARMEN'S UNION

Hooded Order of St. Louis Will Have Special Ticket in Field for Election of Officers, Dec. 20.

FAILED LAST YEAR BY ONLY 40 VOTES

Ku Kluxers Are Holding Secret Meetings Twice a Month; Say They Have Workers in Each Barn.

The Ku Klux Klan of St. Louis is again attempting to control the Street Carmen's Union through the election of officers that takes place this month, and will have a special ticket in the field for the election, which will be held Dec. 20.

It will be remembered that a group of klansmen in the union last year sought to elect a president, but failed by 40 votes, out of a total vote of more than 3500.

This group this year—about 25 of them, including representatives from each barn—has been meeting twice monthly, on Friday night, at 1758 Railway Exchange Building, local offices of the klan. These meetings were called to order by an official of the klan, and he and another official, the kleagle for this district, have addressed these meetings. The Ku Klux officials have minced no words in their addresses and have frankly told the klan carmen that the klan seeks to establish itself firmly in St. Louis trades unionism and that it must attain this end through control of the carmen's organization, which has the largest representation of any unit in the Central Trades and Labor Union.

These meetings have been secret and each man who attended each time was enjoined to conceal the fact from other members of the union that a secret effort was being made to control the organization.

Notices to attend the meetings were sent to the selected few in envelopes bearing a return mark to "Drawer 678, St. Louis, Mo.;" and the inclosures bore only the date and time of meeting and a Ku Klux symbol.

COMMUNIST NEST IN PARIS RAIDED; 20 ARE JAILED

has failed to catch a single Russian.

Leonid Krassin, Russian soviet Ambassador to Paris, is reported to have told Premier Herriot in the course of a conference this morning that the soviet embassy had absolutely no connection with the present agitation; that the soviet diplomatic mission would carefully refrain from mixing in any way in France's internal affairs. Krassin presented his credentials. He will later present them also to President Doumerzue.

Mayor Led Demonstrations.

The fear-stricken population of Douarnenez began to breathe easier today at the news that Mayor Le Flanchec had been suspended by the Government and ordered tried for inciting a rebellion. The people had been living in terror since the communist strike in the sardine factories spread, practically tying up the town, while the Mayor, wearing his sash of office, led the demonstrations. The communist leaders have been canvassing the merchants for subscriptions which usually were given to avoid hostile action by the daily paraders. Parties of communists also have brought back loads of food from the surrounding farms whose owners are said to have made "gifts" when they were reminded of what would happen to them if they did otherwise as soon as the communists took power.

The official "Soviet" newspaper in Paris published the following appeal today:

"Our password today is the same as yesterday—wrench Sadoul away from the military judges, open the frontiers and jail doors to all victims of class sentences whom the Senate is keeping in penal settlements or exile. The working men of Paris region must hold themselves ready to participate in the demonstration in favor of amnesty."

Premier's Statement.

The Catholic movement, to which Premier Herriot referred in the Chamber of Deputies today, when he pledged his Government to fight Communist violence, is showing some evidence in Brittany, but from the accounts received, it is interprted as being more along defensive than offensive lines. Gatherings in Brest and Lorient contented themselves with adopting resolutions calling for demonstrations in "defense of religious liberty."

The Premier, in his Chamber speech against Communistic influences to accomplish revolution by force, put what he called the "Clerical offensive" on the same basis, describing both movements as hostile to the republic.

"We will combat these manifestations of violence with all our force," he said.

Double Offensive.

"To be precise," continued the Premier, "the Government finds itself at grips with a double agitation—one might say a double offensive—which evidently is seeking to encircle it.

"On the one hand, there is the clerical agitation. It is a formidable effort to arouse the country against the pretended persecutions of the Government.

"On the other hand there is another offensive that increasingly unmasks itself daily and which is accompanied by a whole series of provocations." This offensive, he said, was seeking power "By violence."

The Premier's declaration was brought out by a violent attack on the part of Communists on the Government's action in suspending the communist mayor of the fishing town of Douarenez, accused of resisting the police. During the excitement that ensued the Sergeant-at-arms had to separate belligerent deputies to prevent fist fights, while Victor Dalbiez, Minister of Liberated Regions, was characterized as a "war slacker" by Deputy Balanant.

The Commtunist deputy, Cornavin, started the ferment by his vitriolic revolutionary declarations.

"The Russian fleet, like the Russian army, is intended to come to the aid of the forthcoming proletarian revolution," was one of his exclamations.

"Will Break Resistance."

After alluding to the other "offensive" that was seeking power "by violence," Premier Herriot turned twoards the Communists and said:

"There are too many foreign Communists in France who forget their duty to the country that has given them asylum. They are indulging in political demonstrations and we will not tolerate it; we will not let them meddle in our political life. If we meet with resistance we will break it and we will deport as many as necessary.

"The Government is resolved to fight the Clerical agitation and the Communist peril."

Replying to objections by the Catholics, the Premier said he had an official report that the Catholic Deputy Bire was at a meeting where the cry was "Long Live the Revolution."

In defending the French navy against the Communists, Minister of Marine Dumesnil read the following quotations: 'I do not say war is to be expected immediately, but it is the first duty of the State to prepare for war." He added: "That is signed by a member of the Soviet Government and the State spoken of is the State of the workmen and peasants."

The Minister of Marine's quotation followed a charge by Deputy Cornavin that the French Government, "like all capitalistic Governments," was not doing anything to avert war.

As further evidence of what he considered the soviet war program, the Minister cited the demand of the Soviet delegation at the naval conference in Rome when it asked for 400,000 tons of capital ships, with a reduction to 280,000 tons if the navies of other nations were prohibited from entering the Black and Baltic Seas.

Even if the world has accepted the soviet request, said the Minister, Russia had asked 110,000 tons more than peaceful France.

Seriousness of Menace.

The seriousness of the communist menace in France was indicated, according to the newspaper La Liberte by a verbatim report of a telephone conversation of an "important personality" from Premier Herriot's office with an unnamed person in which the "personality" is quoted as saying:

"The communist movement is more serious than we can say, particularly the action of the 'Cells,' which are making considerable progress each day. Yes, serious precautions must be taken for the eighteenth, but one can't count on those imbeciles of the right. As for the boss (evidently meaning Premier Herriot), with what has been happening and was is coming, I am sure he is sick."

The reference to the "eighteenth" was interpreted as referring to some communist coup on that day. The newspaper, by mentioning the name of M. Bergery, the Premier's chief of staff, allowed it to be inferred that he was the speaker.

STATE SEEKS TO DISMISS APPEAL IN JUDGE CASE

Attorney-General Files Motion to Drop Action Against Man Convicted of Fraudulent Voting.

SENTENCE WILL BE PRONOUNCED AGAIN

Judge Wurdeman Will Call Defendant Into Court as Record Does Not Show Penalty Was Fixed.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 6.—A motion for dismissal of the appeal of Joseph F. Judge from a one-year jail sentence and a $1000 fine for fraudulent voting at the primary in St. Louis County Aug. 1, 1922, was filed before the State Supreme Court, Division No. 2, today by Attorney-General Barrett.

The motion holds the appeal is premature and has no standing with the Supreme Court as Circuit Judge Wurdeman has never formally pronounced judgment or sentenced Judge. The punishment of a jail sentence and a fine was fixed in a verdict of guilty returned by a jury in Judge Wurdeman's court on May 31, 1923, after a trial of Judge on a charge he fraudulently voted at the Home Heights Precinct, although not qualified and not a resident of St. Louis County.

Judge, who is a brother-in-law of Anthony P. (Tony) Foley, ex-convict and gambling house proprietor, was released on $2000 bond after the verdict was returned against him. An appeal was granted May 3, 1924, and is still pending before the Supremt Court.

Judge Wurdeman Recalls Passing Sentence on Judge.

Judge Wurdeman last night said that to his best recollection he passed sentence on Judge after the trial but asserted that his courtroom clerk had apparently failed to make an entry of the sentence on the record. Judge Wurdeman said that to make sure that sentence was pronounced he would call Judge to court Monday and pass sentence.

In view of the fact that Judge's sentence is not of record his appeal is without grounds and must be dismissed. He will have to take his appeal from the sentence to be passed next week, Judge Wurdeman explained. Under the law he has a year from the time sentence is passed within which to file his appeal. This time will date from the time sentence is pronounced next week.

"The confusion was due, I think, to a clerical error," Judge Wurdeman said. "As I recall it I passed formal sentence on Judge after I had overruled motions for a new trial. But since no record of the sentence is to be found on the books it must be pronounced again and appeal must follow pronouncement."

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 6. — Mrs. Louise Valentine, who led the police to the scene on a road near here, where C. E. Swann, 22 years old, was found mortally wounded last night, will remain in the custody of a local police matron until detectives have cleared up the mystery as to how Swann came by the bullet wound that caused his death at a hospital a few hours after he was found in his automobile, the authorities announced today. Mrs. Valentine who told detectives that she was married but separated from her husband, avers she met Swann on the streets here last night and that he told her he was going to kill himself. She said she followed him in an attempt to keep him from carrying out his threat but was unable to do so.

BILL DRAWN TO ENABLE CITIES TO PASS ZONING LAWS

Will Be Introduced in Coming Session of Legislature to Pave Way for Ordinance Here.

FOLLOWS PLAN DRAFTED BY EXPERTS

Thirteen States Have Adopted Measure Prepared by Committee Named by Hoover.

An act to enable municipalities of Missouri to enact zoning laws through their legislative bodies will be introduced in the coming session of the State Legislature. It will pave the way for replacing the St. Louis zoning law, which was knocked out last year by the State Supreme Court on the theory that it deprived property owners of free use of their property without compensation.

The bill was drawn by City Counselor Senti, John M. Atkinson of University City and Robert Roessel of Webster Groves, all lawyers. Harland Bartholomew, engineer of the City Plan Commission, will confer with Kansas City authorities this week, enlisting cooperation in support of the bill.

Details of the bill have not been made known, but it was stated it follows in general the so-called Hoover plan, a standard state zoning enabling act drafted by a committee of experts appointed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover. Thirteen states have adopted this plan.

Provision for a board of adjustment to hear and determine appeals from provisions of zoning ordinances or rulings of city officials is the most important feature of the standard act. This provision authorizes the Board of Aldermen or other municipal legislative body to arrange for appointment of the adjustment board by proper officials. The adjustmen board would be empowered to make special exceptions from compliance with zoning rules, and would hear appeals from property owners or from city officials. Appeals from the board could be taken to courts of record.

Primarily, the standard act authorizes the municipal legislative body to create zoning rules by ordinance, but provides that no rules shall become effective until after public hearing. To take advantage of the power bestowed the legislative body shall appoint a zoning commission, membership of which may coincide with that of the City Plan Commission.

The standard act further provides that city authorities may take any appropriate action or proceedings to enforce zoning rules.

PERUVIANS ACCLAIM PERSHING

Enters Lima as Special Ambassador to Centennial of Ayacucho.

By the Associated Press.

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 6.—Gen. John J. Pershing, carrying the title of Special Ambassador Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Peru, arrived here today at the head of the United States delegation, which will attend the centennial of the Battle of Ayacucho here Dec. 9. This event is celebrated as the anniversary of Peruvian independence.

The retired Chief of Staff of the American army received an ovation when he entered Peru. The city was in gala attire, triumphal arches and electrical illuminations having been erected. The arrival during the week of special embassies was followed by a series of receptions at the Government palace. Members of various delegations are all accredited as special ambassadors.

IN PATH OF "PICKHANDLE BILL"

Son of Famous Oklahoma Preacher Gets New York Call.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The Rev. John L. Davis, whose father, "Pickhandle Bill," was foreman of an Oklahoma railroad construction camp in which the son received his early training, has been called to the pastorate of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church. He will preach his first sermon there tomorrow.

His father earned his sobriquet, it is said, by walking about among his subordinates i nthe construction camp with a pick handle in one hand and a Bible in the other, and enforcing respect for the latter by flourishing the former. The son is said to have inherited many of his father's militant characteristics. He is a graduate of Oklahoma City University and Drew Theological Seminary at Madison, N. J.

ARCHITECTS OF ST. LOUIS CHOOSE DESIGNERS FOR PLAZA BY SECRET VOTE

Comply With Request of Administration and Select Names of Eight to Serve on Commission.

St. Louis' proposed $15,000,000 municipal plaza, with buildings, probably will be designed by a commission of eight St. Louis architects, who have been chosen by secret balot of the St. Louis chapter of the American Institute of Architects at the request of the city administration.

This became known yesterday with the announcement yesterday ballot already had been taken and the names of the suggested commission certified to the city. The announcement followed publication in the news and editorial columns of the Post-Dispatch of accounts of the Los Angeles plan of designing the municipal administrative center of that city, in which the Allied Architects' Association of Los Angeles has contracted to design the plaza for a fee of $1.

Such a plan of joint contribution of architectural talent and engineering skill in community effort will be closely followed if the recomendations of the St. Louis chapter, as to organization and functions of the commission, are approved by the city. Similarly, the St. Louis commission proposes to design the plaza as distinguished from the buildings, without cost, except as provided, for draftmanship and administration, and in the design of the buildings to charge the regular scale of fees.

Request Recently Made.

In the Los Angeles plan, as has been published, the fees in the latter instance accrue to the association of 72-architect members to be expended for educational development, for the creation of a library of fine arts, for the establishment of an endowment fund to increase the artistic and cultural spirit, and for the advancement of the art of architecture. As to St. Louis, disposition of fees has not yet been decided upon.

Announcement of the suggested creation of the St. Louis Plaza Architects' Commission was confirmed yesterday by William A. Hirsch, president of the St. Louis chapter, and Louis La Beaume, chairman of the chapter's Civic Improvements Committee. To a reporter for the Post-Dispatch they related that the request for the architects' co-operation was made recently, and referred to La Beaume's committee.

This committee reported back a week ago Friday, giving to the chapter's membership the committee's ideas on "the best method of securing high standards of architectural design in all features pertainin gto the Memorial Plaza and other items in the new bond issue."

Committee's Report.

The report, which was adopted unanimously, follows, in part:

"This committee has devoted much time and thought to this, the most important architectural project in the city's history. Citizens of St. Louis, as well as others throughout the country to whom the news of our bond issue program has spread, will expect this monumental civic center to represent our best professional study, and reflect the skill of our most efficient members.

"The choice of architects to whom this work will be delegated is a matter of high importance not only to the city administration charged with the expenditure of the people's money, but to every taxpayer as well. It is the mature judgment of this committee that the city's interests will be best served by the appointment of a commission to consist of eight architects to supervise the design and execution of the memorial plaza and the various buildings such as the memorial itself, the new courts building, the municipal auditorium, and any others that may later be embraced in the general plan.

"This commission should establish the general character of the buildings abutting on or adjacent to the plaza, and its decision in all matters relating to the final effect should have the weight of authority. This commission should, therefore, be maintained during the entire period of the realization of its design.

Duties of Commission.

"The duties of the Plaza Commission should not only extend to the designing and harmonizing of the separate buildings in the group, but should embrace all details of parking, planting, lighting, sculptural or other ornamental features, all of which imply a great scheme of design quite as important, if not more so than that of the buildings themselves.

"That this commission should be chosen on the basis of fitness alone is obvious, and we, therefore, recommend that the St. Louis Chapter of the American Institute of Architects make specific nominations to the proper municipal authorities for their help and guidance. We believe that the St. Louis Chapter is best qualified to estimate the character and attainments of the architects of this city, and trust that nominations bearing the chapter's endorsement will be favorably received by the municipal administration, and would relieve the city officials of any embarrassment and criticism which might result from personal or haphazard choice.

"The Plaza Commission should include, in addition to the eight architects above mentioned, such officials of the city administration as are mostly concerned in this particular project and we, therefore, suggest further that the president of the Board of Public Service and the engineer of the City Plan Commission be made ex-officio members of the Plaza Commission."

This report was then embodied in a circular to the 62 members of the chapter, together with a roster of the membership, with the request that the member indicate eight St. Louis architects, as representing the voter's judgment of the best fitted, to fill the commission.

Names Are Certified.

Nominations were asked both within and without the chapter, the only restriction being that not more than one name should be represented in any firm ar partnership. The ballots were opened Wednesday afternoon in the office of William B. Ittner, architect, Board of Education Building, and the eight names receiving the highest votes, certified to the City Hall.

"We are working in exactly the same direction as the architects of Los Angeles," LaBeaume related. "The proposed commission, if its recommendations are adopted by the city, like the St. Louis architects will face a two-fold problem. First, the designing of the Plaza. That will be done free, except, as provided, for the actual cost of designing.

"Second, is the designing of the building themselves. Here, the customary fees may be charged, above the actual costs of draftmanship, administration, etc. But the point is, that, by this method, we are offering to the city the best we have in architectural talent, selected by a method which precludes any charges of political pressure or professional favoritism. The city officials made the request; we have acted."

As has been published, the tentative bond issue budget for 1925 includes the sum of $15,000 for architectural fees in the general plan of designing the Plaza. This is aside from an architectural fee of $150,000 for the courthouse and $50,000 for the Municipal Auditorium.

MAN OVERCOME BY GAS FUMES WHEN WORKING ON AN AUTO

Railroad Employe in Serious Condition After Being Found Unconscious on Garage Floor.

A man believed to be Herbert C. Fletcher, a railroad employe, of 3628 North Eleventh street, is in city hospital in a serious condition as a result of being overcome by carbon monoxide fumes last night while working on an automobile in a garage at 3727 North Ninth street.

A boy passing the garage saw the man lying on the floor under the machine and called a policeman, who took him to the hospital. A card in his pocket bore the name of Fletcher. The engine of the automobile was still running when the man was removed from the garage. He was unconscious.

BERNINGHAUS WINS ARTISTS' GUILD PRIZE

His "Autumn Days" Takes One Major Award; Painting by Barnett Gets Other.

Oscar E. Berninghaus and Tom P. Barnett were winners of the major prizes of the Artists' Guild annual competitive exhibition of paintings and sculpture, at the Guild galleries, Enright avenue and Union boulevard, by the award of a jury of out-of-town artists last night. The judges were H. A. MacNeil, the New York sculptor whose "Sun Vow" is in the City Art Museum; Chauncey F. Ryder, painter, also of New York, and also represented in the museum, and Carl Krafft, the Chicago painter.

Berninghaus was winner of the Artists' Guild prize of $300 with "Autumn Days," a study of a Taos Indian on horseback against a background of golden cottonwood trees. The Chamber of Commerce prize of $350 for the best landscape of St. Louis or vicinity, preferably an industrial scene, was won by Barnett with "The Stone Industry," a study of the Pickel Marble Works on South Vandeventer avenue, painted in winter. The painting becomes the property of the Chamber of Commerce in consideration of the award.

Only Two Newcomers.

The list of prize winners of the current exhibition is largely made up of familiar names, there being but two newcomers among them. These are Heinz Warnicke, a young sculptor from Germany but two years in this country, whose modernist pieces created much discussion a year ago and who was awarded the Frederick Oakes Sylvester sculpture prize of $50 donated by W. K. Bixby for his "A Portrait Bust;" and Paula Fenske, who won the Tom P. Barnett prize of $50 for the best landscape done in 1924 by a painter who had never won in a Guild show, with her "The Short Cut."

The Halsey C. Ives landscape prize of $50, offered by W. K. Bixby, was awarded to Mrs. Kathryn Cherry for "Old Town," a Gloucester scene, while Takuma Kajiwara won the Carl Wimer prize of $100 for a portrait with his "Lucretia," a study of a young woman in a red gown before a Japanese screen, which was exhibited with favorable comment in Philadelphia last season.

"Adam and Eve" a Winner.

Fred G. Carpenter with "The Gypsies" won the $100 John Liggett Scott memorial prize for merit, and Adele Schulenberg the John Beverly Robinson merit prize for sculpture with her "Reverie."

William V. Schevill's "Adam and Eve," a large piece in a mood quite different from that painter's usual work, received the George Warren Brown memorial prize of $50, while Florence Hazeltine with "Petunias" won the Edward Mallinckrodt prize of $50 for water color, and Gustav F. Goetsch with a "Self Portrait" the same donor's portrait prize.

The jurors were guests of honor at a dinner which preceded the award, at which George S. Johns, editor of the editorial page of the Post-Dispatch, presided.

Gov. Small's Hip Injured.

By the Associated Press.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Dec. 6.—Gov. Len Small showed little improvement today, his hip, injured in an automobile accident yesterday morning remaining painful. X-Ray pictures will be taken of his left side in a few days.

If You Own a 1924 FORD

Like other Ford owners, you have in mind getting a bigger car, with sliding gear transmission, with the power, the comforts, the pleasures that accompany bigger cars. Our offer is your big chance to get a big car right.

Trade Your 1924 Ford in at the List Price

We mean just that. We are willing to allow you current list on your 1924 Ford, whether you bought it new or secondhand, in a trade for a new Jewett Six touring. Make your Ford the first payment on your new car. 12 months to pay the balance.

For Performance the Jewett Six Excels Every Other Car in the Same Price Class

You cannot get a better performing automobile than the Jewett, either in its own price class, or for many hundreds of dollars more. The Jewett will outpull competitive makes on the hills, will outspeed them on the levels, will ride more easily and more comfortably, and has more power in proportion to weight. Try a ride in the Jewett to discover how satisfactorily a good car can run.

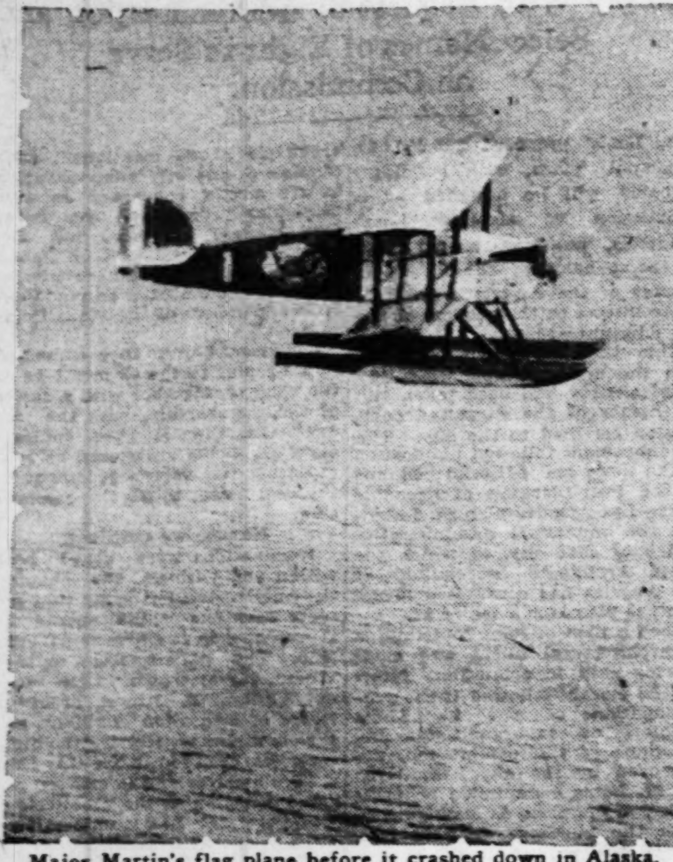
EXPEDITION LOSES ITS LEADER; ALL REACH CHIGNIK BUT MARTIN

Jack Harding Tells of Day With Commander in Rear and Flying Low—Never Signaled That He Was in Distress or That Motor Was Working Badly.

By LOWELL THOMAS.

(Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune Newspapers Syndicate and the McClure Newspapers Syndicate.)



Major Martin's flag plane before it crashed down in Alaska.

JACK HARDING set down in his diary a detailed account of one of the most dramatic episodes of the first aerial circumnavigation of the globe, the story of the flight from Seward to Chignik and the mysterious disappearance of Martin and Harvey at a remote point on the Alaskan coast.

"Les" Arnold's diary tells the story also, and the tale recorded by both men is substantially the same. But the ruggedness of the region, the bitter cold, the grandeur of the snowy peaks in that realm of ice, and both the tragic and the humorous incidents of the flight seemed to make a deeper impression on Jack, who had never encountered anything quite like this back home in sunny Tennessee.

"April 14. Snow, snow, snow. This is surely a good country for Eskimo," wrote "Smiling Jack." "We got up early this morning hoping to get away for Chignik But the air is full of the biggest snowflakes I've ever seen, bigger and fluffier than we came through on our 'hair-raising, death-defying, ten-reel thriller' of a flight up here from Sitka. Having had quite enough excitement battling blizzards the previous day, we decided to wait for clear weather.

"We had moored the planes several miles north of Seward in a rather sheltered part of Resurrec-enough we would jump into a row-tion Bay, near a big cannery. Ogden and Harvey and I went out to the ships to get the batteries and have them recharged at the local power plant. The wind was blowing hard and yanking the planes around. So we decided to run no risk of going through another such experience as we had encountered at Sitka, and we borrowed heavy ropes and anchors from the cannery.

"We were anxious to protect the ships from mysterious variable winds called 'woolies' or 'williewaws,' that are liable to sweep down from the mountains at any moment. These 'willie-waws' are gusts off the ice fields. Although they are only of short duration, they reach a velocity of from 50 to 100 miles on hour, and the effect of them is much the same as the effect of a Kansas cyclone, except that they are icy blasts as cold as though you were inside an Eskimo igloo near the North Pole and some one had come in and forgotten to close the door. At some places down on the Alaskan peninsula and in the Aleutian Islands we were told that cables have been put over the houses and staked to the ground to keep the 'willie-waws' from carrying away the roofs.

Mail "Sweeties" Cards.

"The rest of the day we spent sitting around the hotel going over and over yesterday's adventures flying through the snowstorms between here and Sitka. We also visited a few curio shops. But we did not buy much. It seemed to us that they were run by descendants of 'Soapy Smith' and his Skagway gang. Or is it that money hasn't quite the same value here in the North that it has in the States? At any rate, the curio shops of Seward are no place for a mere lieutenant. Much as we all wanted to buy mastodon ivory earrings for our 'sweeties,' we reluctantly felt compelled to send them nickel postcards instead.

"Seward is a fine town. Situated on the Kenai peninsula at the head of Resurrection Bay and surrounded by towering snow clad mountains, it is the southern terminus of the new Government railway that is to unlock the treasure lands in the heart of Alaska. Seward also is the headquarters for the halibut fishing fleet. The fishermen from one schooner turned to and helped us put extra 250-pound anchors on our planes. Then we went on board their smack while she lay alongside the cannery dock.

"These fishermen are the biggest, roughest, toughest, bearded giants I have ever seen. We watched them unload their boat and then went down into the galley, had hot coffee, and fooled around listening to them spin yarns as they stamped about in their hip boots, slickers and big rubber hats. Four of them tried to show 'Les' how to tie a knot and then guyed him for clumsiness. Most of them were Finns, Swedes and Danes and they spoke English without an accent. But their conversation, especially 'humpbacked Jake's' would not even get by an army censor.

"Tonight a brilliant moon came over this rim of mountains above us.

"April 15—Up at 5. Out to the cannery to get the planes ready while the major, Erik, Smitty and Leigh get the dope on the weather by radio from the boys down the line. Sky clear as a bell.

"When the sun came up the icy peeks sparkled as though studded with millions of diamonds.

"Bissell had arranged for oil to be supplied to us here in five-gallon cans. It was as stiff as molasses from the cold, so we built a fire on the beach and put the cans right in the fire. As soon as one was hot enough we would jump into a rowboat, push out to one of the planes and dump it in.

"At 9:45 we took off. Maj. Martin was the last to get under way, so the rest of us circled around for 20 minutes, flew alongside each other, took pictures, and fooled about in the air amusing ourselves and the crowd below, until the 'Seattle' finally joined us. It was just 10:05 as we headed down the fjord between the two rows of extinct volcanoes' whose snow covered cones and glacier filled valleys make Resurrection Bay one of the sights of the world.

The Seward Hop-Off.

"The course to be followed on this hop from Seward to Chignik had been carefully worked out by Maj. Martin, Smith, Erik and Wade. Our plane was to lead the flight, so Erik ascended to 1500 feet, closely followed by the Chicago and the Boston. But for some reason, we don't know just why, and never did find out, the Seattle remained much lower, and when we headed off on the prescribed course over some low mountains near where Resurrection Bay joins the sea, Maj. Martin flew way out around Cape Aialik into the Gulf of Alaska. Just off the mainland we passed an uncharted rock with a tunnel right through it. The water went in one side and out the other. We slowed up on the other side of this rock and jogged along slowly, until the Major caught up with us when we were opposite McCarty glacier and Nuka Bay near the southern end of the Kenai Peninsula.

"The Seattle did not signal to us so we never knew whether the Major had been flying low because of some mechanical difficulty or whether he had suddenly decided to take the advice of some of the Seward people who were of the opinion that the planes would be less likely to be wrecked by the 'willewaws' if they stayed five miles or so from the shore. As it turned out, however, the 'willie-waws' did not bother us on this flight and we believe it was because they come down off the ice capped mountains and spend their force near sea level and that we were high enough up to merely get a few bumps as they passed under us.

Leave the Seattle Far Behind.

"But the Seattle only remained with us for a mile or so. By the time we had reached Port Dick it had fallen rather far behind again. Near Chugach Island, about a hundred miles out of Seward, we passed a lighthouse and then an even more welcome sight. It was the S. S. Star, and once again just as we passed her in Prince William Sound on the previous flight she was headed in the same direction that we were. We could see jolly old Capt. Oscar Johanssen and his men waving at us, and it seemed mightly good away out there in that wilderness of water and ice. (Later the Star officially reported having seen three of the planes pass over her, with the fourth about 10 miles behind.)

"After passing over Barren Islands, rocky promontories even more barren than their name suggests, we started down Shelikof Strait, which separates Kodiak Island from the mainland of the Alaskan peninsula. Here we started running into snow squalls. The waters of the Shelikof Strait, by the way, have the reputation of being the roughest in the Pacific with the exception of Bering Sea. Between squalls the air was so clear that we could see the snowy mountains of the Aleutian range, from 60 to 70 miles to the right.

Pass Mount Katmai Volcano.

"Over there, not so far distant, we could see Mount Katmai, the gigantic active volcano from which on June 6, 1912, had come one of the most violent eruptions of modern times. On that occasion clouds of ash had fallen on hundreds of square miles of the Alaskan peninsula and Kodiak Island. Ash even fell on the decks of passenger steamers 600 miles away steaming along the Yukon River.

"The whole face of the mountain had been blown off and bowlders as big as a house flowed like water' down into the adjoining valleys. The rim of the crater is over eight miles in circumference and its depth is over 3500 feet. All of the buildings of New York City could be dropped into the crater without filling it, according to the explorers sent out by the National Geographic Society, who were among the first to reach the rim after the eruption.

"Although we were not flying close enough to see the wonderland around the base of the volcano called 'The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes,' we could see clouds of steam rising from it. Had we not been otherwise engaged we would have liked nothing better than to stop and visit that modern inferno where scalding streams flow from under glaciers and where hot water and icebergs are found in the same lake. We were told that it ranks with the Yellowstone and the Grand Canyon as one of the most awe-inspiring sights on the planet.

"At any rate we did not think it worth while to fly over Katmai and run the risk of being sucked into the crater.

Fly Into Snow Squalls.

"Just as we were passing Cold Bay, shortly after we had seen Mount Katmai, we slowed down and Maj. Martin caught up with us. Again he did not signal that he had been having any trouble.

"At the southern end of Shelikof Strait we ran into several snow squalls, and although we lost sight of the Seattle, under the circumstances we all thought that the Major and Harvey would soon be up with us again. We kept looking back, and when 15 or 20 minutes had elapsed we began to fear that something had happened and that they had been forced to land. By then we were not over a hundred miles from Chignik. But we were flying against a stiff headwind that retarded us. In fact, we had been bucking a wind most of the way and we barely had enough gas to carry us through. This meant that if we turned back to look for the Major and Harvey that the whole expedition would run the risk of being wrecked.

Start Search for Seattle.

"We speeded up the revolutions of our motors to over 1620 revolutions per minute and sped past Cape Providence. Then a little later we ran into fog and more snow squalls, but landed at Chignik at 4:25. A native boat came out to meet us. Smith, Nelson and Wade immediately hurried ashore. A radio station had been established here by Capt. Bissell, and Smith at once ordered the operator, Sergt. Rogers, to communicate with the U. S. destroyers Hull and Cory. He also radioed Capt. Johannsen of the Star.

"We knew that they were all not far away and within a few minutes replies came back that they were acting on Smith's suggestion and speeding toward Kanatak and Portage Bay. We knew the Seattle must be somewhere along that part of the coast. Smith also sent a message to a Standard Oil radio station some miles inland from Kanatak where there was a crew prospecting for oil. The superintendent at once started overland on horseback through the snow on a long and hazardous ride to get everyone at Kanatak to help in the search for the lost world cruiser.

Gallant "Sub" Joins Search.

"The destroyers Hull and Cory radioed us that they were proceeding full speed ahead and expected to find the plane by daylight. A touch of humor crept into the tragic situation at this point. Capt. Johannsen on his little 'rubber bottomed tub' radioed:

"'Racing to the rescue full speed ahead.'

"Then a little later he radioed again: 'Hope to reach Martin ahead of the destroyers.'

"But not long afterward another message arrived from him: 'Destroyers have just passed us making 32 knots. Best we can do is seven. By comparison looks as though we must be going backwards.'

"We were all worried sick over the disappearance of No. 1.

A PARTNER OF SUNLIGHT

Cod-liver oil has aptly been called the partner of sunlight. Both out of Nature's storehouse of energy are of supreme importance to a child with rickets.

Scott's Emulsion

and sunlight have been used for decades to give strength to weak-bones. A little of Scott's Emulsion with each feeding does wonders for a malnourished child or adult.

Keep your boy or girl out in the sunlight and give them Scott's Emulsion everyday—regularly!

BORAH FOR FARM RELIEF AHEAD OF THE WORLD COURT

New Foreign Relations Chief Says Domestic Legislation Should Have Right of Way.

"MUST DIVORCE IT FROM THE LEAGUE"

Senator Swanson and Others, However, Expect to Press Issue for Final Action at Present Session.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—While anxious to bring the World Court proposal before the Senate, Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee declared today he was unwilling to put discussion of that long-pending issue ahead of farm relief legislation.

In his first formal statement issued since his elevation to the post so long held by the late Senator Lodge, the Idaho Senator said that to pass the appropriation bills and then spend the remainder of this short session in discussing the World Court and kindred questions, adjourn and go home for a year without doing anything on domestic legislation "would be unfair and unjust to the people who sent us back here."

Swanson to Urge Action.

Borah's personal judgment is that there can be no final action on the court at this session, because of the press of other business. He said today it would take some time to work out a prograf which would divorce the court from the League of Nations, and that, speaking for himself, it was vital that this be done.

Senator Swanson of Virginia, the ranking Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee, and other proponents of American adherence to the World Court, are preparing to press for decisive action before this Congress expires by limitation March 4 next. They believe President Coolidge's recommendation for a reservation, under which the United States would not be bound on questions of a domestic nature not voluntarily presented to the court, will operate to remove much of the objection to the court proposal in the Senate.

For Domestic Legislation.

Even these Senators are convinced, however, that there will be a pressure of a determined character for domestic legislation and, in view of the fact that the annual appropriation bills have the right-of-way, they are not over sanguine that the court issue can come to a vote at this session.

"I am quite willing as chairman to help," Borah said, in discussing the proposal to call up the court matter from the Senate calendar, where it was placed at the last session. "Indeed, I am anxious to bring before the Senate the World Court just as soon as the appropriation bills, which have the right af way, and agricultural legislation have been disposed of. I am not willing personally to put the World Court discussion, which will be prolonged, ahead of agricultural legislation.

Unfair to the People.

"To pass the appropriation bills and then spend the rest of the short session in discussing the World Court and kindred questions adjurn and go home for a year without doing anything on domestic legislation would be unfair and unjust to the people who sent us back here, and in violation of every pledge made by all the political parties in the last campaign.

"It will take some time to work out a program which divorces the World Court from the league and make it an independent judicial body. And, speaking for myself, it is vital that we do that. I have favored for 20 years a World Court. But I would regard the effort to establish an effective judicial tribunal as wholly fruitless if such a tribunal were left so that it would inevitably be drawn into international politics. When I vote for a World Court, I would like to feel that I have voted for something that will be an aid to world peace."

$5,000,000 CONTRACTS LET HERE BY ILLINOIS CENTRAL

One Thousand Big Cars, 25 Passenger Coaches and 500 Gondolas Included in Order.

Contracts for equipment costing more than $5,000,000 have been let by the Illinois Central Railroad Co. to car manufacturers in the St. Louis industrial district.

The Madison Car Co., of Madison, has been given a contract for 1000 box cars costing $2,275,000 the American Car Co. of St. Charles has a contract for 25 passenger cars at $574,000, and the Mount Vernon Car Co. of Mount Vernon has the contract for 500 gondolas at $1,082,500. Contracts amounting to $1,220,000 for miscellaneous equipment have been let to the different companies.

The money for new equipment to be manufactured in this district is a portion of the $25,515,870 which will be spent immediately by the Illinois Central System for new equipment. The remainder of the work has been let to manufacturers in other localities.

FIVE HELD BY DRY AGENTS AFTER RAID ON HOB-NOB CAFE

Federal prohibition agents yesterday at noon raided the Hob-Nob Cafe, 408 North Twelfth boulevard, arrested the proprietor, Herman Pfingst, and four waiters, and seized a half pint of whisky which was found behind the bar. The search warrant on which the raid was made was issued on affidavit of agents who said they had bought liquor at the cafe.

Pfingst and his waiters were released on $1000 bond, charged with possession and sale of liquor. The cafe was crowded with customers when the raid was made, but the agents shooed them all out and kept the place closed for about two hours.

WILLIAM C. BROWN DEAD AT 71

By the Associated Press.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 6.—William C. Brown, 71 years old, former president of the New York Central Railroad, died this morning in South Pasadena. Two years ago he suffered a stroke of apoplexy and had been in failing health since. Services will be held at the residence at 10 o'clock Monday. Interment will be at Lime Springs, Ia., his former home, Friday.

Brown was for a number of years general manager of the Burlington lines in St. Joseph, Mo., and in 1895 was transferred to Chicago as general manager of the Burlington system. Later he went to the New York Central as its president and ertired about 10 years ago. Three married daughters survive.

When the First Gray Hair Shows -Use Sage Tea

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

DAWES PLAN AT STAKE IN GERMAN ELECTION TODAY

Nationalist Victory Might Upset Furtherance of Present Reparations Settlement Pacts.

VOTERS APATHETIC; OUTCOME UNCERTAIN

Moderates, Led by Marx, Seem to Have Best Chance to Make Gains, However.

By SAMUEL SPEWACK.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—Germany votes tomorrow, and upon the outcome of the vote rests not only the fate of the Dawes plan, but the form and tone of Germany's relations with the outside world in the inevitable forthcoming negotiations to make the machinery of the reparations plan run more smoothly.

Specifically, in the immediate future, the result of the elections will determine whether Germany will reach a mutually satisfactory agreement with the allies on the evacuation of Cologne and the left bank of the Rhine, scheduled to be freed at the end of this year, or whether she is drawn into a complex controversy which will not help the Dawes plan nor Germany itself. Such a controversy is certain if the Deutsch National Party gains substantially in tomorrow's poll.

Predictions Difficult.

Never has there been an election where predictions have been more out of place, for even those who have traveled extensively about the country during the past months admit privately that they cannot prophesy, but only hope.

All the parties are making intensive, last-minute efforts not only to gain votes, but to induce voters to come to the polls, for the campaign has been marked by lethargy. Surface indications seem to point to gains by the moderates, with losses by the Nationalists and the Extremists of the Right and Left, Ludendorff's party and the communists. Yet the Nationalists are exhibiting an exuberant confidence; so much so that they permitted the word to pass that, if they take over the Government, events will move swiftly in the Rhine. As already cabled, the allies must evacuate Cologne and the Rhine left bank, which under the Treaty of Versailles was to be occupied for five years. The French are reluctant to leave, because withdrawal from the Rhine leaves the situation in part of the Ruhr hanging in the air for the next six months. The present Government favors a conference for settlement.

Talk of "Passive Resistance."

The Nationalists, however, talk of a new policy of passive resistance. The former Admiral von Tirpitz is the most active of the Nationalist agitators, while Marx and Stresemann have been campaigning arduously for the retention of the present Government. If, as the moderates hope, the Nationalists lose tomorrow, the vote will mean a cessation of Stresemann's flirting with the reactionaries—a not insignificant factor in itself.

Incidentally, the election cry of the German Democrats is "Come seven!" It does not refer to the ancient game of "craps," but arises from the fact that the Democrats are placed seventh on the ballot.

The dirigible Los Angeles has figured in the campaign, in consequence of the efforts of the various parties to obtain the allegiance of Dr. Hugo Eckener, the Zeppelin director who had charge of the construction of the American arship which crossed the Atlantic. Dr. Eckener, however, has announced that he would keep aloof. The Democratic party used a flotilla of motor cars in parading about Berlin, the autos carrying transparent models of the Los Angeles, bearing the name of the party.

NEGOTIATIONS UNDER WAY FOR SALE OF HOTEL CHASE

Syndicate of Chicago Owners Being Perfected to Make a Definite Offer.

Negotiations for the purchase of Hotel Chase by a syndicate of Chicago hotel proprietors, headed by E. D. Wolff of the Surf Hotel, are in progress, Chase Ulman, owner of the hotel disclosed yesterday.

Ulman said the Chicago hotel owners had not perfected their organization, and that the negotiations had resulted in nothing definite. He expressed a willingness to sell the Chase, "if a favorable porposal were made." Ulman would give no intimation as to the purchase price, stating that it was necessary for the prospective purchaser to perfect their syndicate before making a definite offer for his consideration.

Hotel Chase is a nine-story structure, having 500 rooms, three dining rooms, and a roof garden. It was completed in September, 1922, at a reported cost of $4,500,000. The proposed deal does not include the Chase and Chester apartments, adjoining the hotel. A syndicate headed by Roy F. Britton, St. Louis attorney, opened negotiations for the purchase of the hotel form Ulman last year, the deal never being completed.

FILES SUIT FOR ESTATE OF WOMAN WHO LEFT NO WILL

Theodore A. Barrat Claims to Be Son of Mrs. Ada B. Maguire, Who Owned Some Property Here.

A suit was filed in the Probate Court yesterday by Theodore August Barrat, "alias Theodore August Koch," of Baltimore, Md., for the entire estate of Mrs. Ada Bartlett Maguire of 3518A Vista avenue, who died in Chicago, Nov. 15, 1923.

He claims to be the son of Mrs. Maguire and her sole heir, although when administration was taken out on her property by the Liberty Central Trust Co. no mention of him was made. The heirs were listed as several brothers, sisters, nephews and nieces of Mrs. Maguire, who did not leave a will.

Glendy B. Arnold, attorney for the administrator, said he has been informed that the collateral heirs had no knowledge concerning any son. The inventory places the local property in the estate at $1763.52, but Rodowe Abeken, attorney for the petitioner, asserted that Mrs. Maguire owned realty at Marietta, O., valued at $12,000. There may be other property, he said. His client was born in St. Louis, Nov. 5, 1887, according to the petition. Abeken said he has been advised that the claimant kept up correspondence with his mother. Her husband died two years ago.

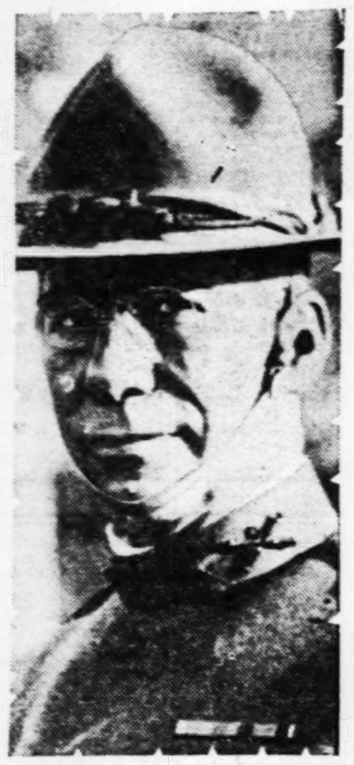
RUMBOLD TO BE NEXT ADJUTANT-GENERAL

Govenor-Elect Baker Announces He Will Name St. Louis Man to Post.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 5.—Governor-elect Sam A. Baker late this afternoon announced he would appoint Col. Frank M. Rumbold of St. Louis as Adjutant-General of the State, effective with the change in State administration on Jan. 12. The appointment of Rumbold, a Republican, was for personal reasons, Baker said, and not on political grounds. Rumbold was Adjutant-General of Missouri during the administration of Gov. Hadley. Rumbold will succeed Adjutant-General William A. Raupp, who has filled the office during the last four years under an appointment by Gov. Hyde.

WILL BE NAMED ADJUTANT-GENERAL



FRANK M. RUMBOLD.

Rumbold, who is 62 years old, will have charge of the Military Department of Missouri and the Missouri National Guard troops, made up of the Seventieth Infantry Brigade of the National Guard, and numerous divisional units of the Thirty-fifth Division.

He has been a member of the National Guard since 1887, and served overseas during the World War as commanding officer of the 128th Field Artillery, of which A battery of St. Louis is a part. He served in the Spanish-American War as a Captain, in the Philippine insurrection as a Captain in the Thirty-second United States Volunteers, and on the Mexican border. Col. Rumbold was detailed to duty with the General Staff in Washington in connection with the National Guard matters after he returned from France.

During his service he has been awarded the Distinguished Service medal and the life-saving medal, being awarded the latter in the Philippines.

Appointment of Rumbold will not affect the rank of Raupp as a Brigadier-General, as Raupp holds such a commission in the National Guard and has been Federally recognized. Raupp recently was nominated by President Coolidge for a commission as Brigadier-General in the Federal Officers' Reserve Corps.

STATE HINTS AT SUITS FOR REFUNDS FROM ASSESSORS

Auditor Hackmann's Demand for Return of Extra Clerk Hire Money Based on Supreme Court Ruling.

From the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 6—Present and former Assessors who have been called upon by State Auditor Hackmann to refund to the State a total of $22,711.46, which Hackmann stated they had improperly paid for extra clerk hire in assessment of the State income tax, are attempting to straighten out the claims without payment, but without much success Hackmann has indicated suits will be filed if the money is not refunded.

Hackmann's demand upon the Assessors this week is based upon a Supreme Court decision last August that City Assessor Buder of St. Louis was not entitled to a claim of $3,238 against the State for extra clerk hire during part of 1922, in assessment of the State income tax. The court pointed out that the State could institute suit against Buder to recover similar claims already paid him, totaling $9945. These claims had been paid under an opinion by the Attorney-General. The State Auditor proposed to collect from Buder by deducting the amounts from money actually due Buder for income tax assessments.

Former Assessor Louis Wollbrinck of St. Louis upon whom demand was made for $16,714 for clerk hire allowed in 1919, 1920 and 1921, held a conference here with Hackmann, but reached no agreement upon a refund. Other demands made were upon Assessor Herpel of St. Louis County for $2222; former Assessor George A. Bode of St. Louis County for $1750; and Assessor Harve Turner of Greene County for $1050.

Turner, in a letter to Hackmann, suggested that if no other means of straightening out the matter could be devised, the amount could be deducted from payments that will be due him on income tax assessments next February.

Former Assessor Wollbrinck of St. Louis announced yesterday that he would refund to the State the amount specified in his case.

MRS. STOECKHARDT'S DIVORCE AFFIRMED BY APPEALS COURT

Former Realty Operator Had Contended Court Erred in Admission of Certain Testimony.

The St. Louis Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed a divorce granted to Mrs. Dorothy Stoeckhardt from Karl A. Stoeckhardt, a former realty operator. Her suit alleged general indignities, one of her charges being that Stoeckhardt filed a frivolous suit based on a contract in which he obtained a temporary receiver for apartment property owner by her and of which he was manager. The receivership later was dismissed.

In the divorce appeal Stoeckhardt contended the lower court erred in refusing to eliminate the complaint as to his suit. He pointed out that he acted within his legal rights and therefore the suit could not be classed as a marital indignity. The Appellate Court holds that ordinarily his contention would be correct, but that such a suit would constitute an indignity if it appeared, as Mrs. Stoeckhardt alleged, the action was instituted to annoy her and there was no foundation in fact or law for it. The Stoeckhardts were married Aug. 3, 1916, and separated June 7, 1922.

MRS. WIER-GOLDSMITH AGAIN TAKEN TO CITY HOSPITAL

Unable to Recall Circumstances Under Which She Suffered Burns, She Says.

Mrs. Bessie Wier-Goldsmith, former chorus girl, recently defendant in a bigamy action brought by her husband, Millerd Goldsmith, and more recently a patient in city hospital for treatment for a self-administered drug, returned to city hospital last night for treatment for an infection resulting from burns on her shoulder.

She told attaches she did not recall the circumstances under which she suffered the burns.

A call was received from 2645 Hickory street about 7 p. m. that a woman named Virginia Lee, Mrs. Wier-Goldsmith's stage name, was ill. She gave her address as 1914 Allen avenue, the home of her sister, Mrs. Ethel Parker. Physicians said her condition was not serious. Mrs. Wier-Goldsmith said that she suffered the burns before she was taken to the hospital Nov. 26 last.

She was fined $100 Sept. 10 at Clayton on her plea of guilty to bigamy and sentenced to three months' imprisonment, but was paroled. Goldsmith paid her fine and said he intended to institute annulment proceedings. She said she would sue Bert Wier, her first husband, for divorce.

New Prison Formally Opened.

By the Associated Press.

STATEVILLE, Ill., Dec. 6.—Facilities for handling prisoners were demonstrated today to more than 2000 persons who attended the formal opening and dedication of the new Illinois State Penitentiary here. More than $4,500,000 has been spent already in the building of the new prison, and according to H. W. Tomlinson, superintendent of construction, approximately $2,000,000 will be needed to complete the penal colony. Today three circular cellhouses of eight are completed besides the great 30-foot concrete wall around the 64 acres.

USE SULPHUR IF SKIN BREAKS OUT

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.

FORBES DEFENSE READY TO ATTACK 'FIXER'S' STORY

Attempt to Be Made to Break Down His Narrative of Graft in Conspiracy Trial.

BITTER PERSONAL FEUD IN CASE

Thompson, St. Louis Contractor, Gains Favorable Points in Course of Veterans' Hospital Hearing.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Defense counsel will enter tomorrow upon the burdensome task of attempting to break down, by cross-examination, the long and detailed narrative of graft and collusion delivered on the witness stand this week by Elias H. Mortimer, chief Government witness in the conspiracy case against Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans' Bureau, and John W. Thompson, St. Louis contractor.

In the testimony of Mortimer, the "fixer," who turned against his former cronies and associates, the Government laid the groundwork of its case. What is to follow will be chiefly for the purpose of corroborating, fortifying and expanding the fabric which Mortimer wove. It might almost be said that the prosecution stands or falls with him.

Briefly the charge is that, in 1922, Forber conspired with Mortimer, Thompson, Charles Cramer, then general counsel for the Veterans' Bureau, and James W. Black, owner of the Pontiac Construction Co., to defraud the Government, in connection with contracts for building veterans' hospitals. Cramer and Black are dead. Mortimer turned Government's evidence, following a quarrel with Forbes over Mortimer's wife. Hence only Forbes and Thompson are named in the indictment.

Mortimer was a lobbyist, employed by Thompson and Black, he says, to get Government contracts for them, out of which he was to be paid 35 per cent of the profits. Moreover, he was Forbes' close personal friend, and he says he used this friendship, supplemented with payments of money to obtain favored treatment of Thompson and Black by Forbes.

Summary of Testimony.

A summary of the week' testimony will show how far the Government has progressed in its endeavor to build up a case of conspiracy; it also will indicate the magnitude of the task confronting the defense. Mortimer testified to the following allegations:

That, in return for throwing contracts to Thompson and Black, through the Pontiac, Forbes agreed to accept half of the 35 per cent of the profits paid to Mortimer.

That an agreement was reached between Forbes, Thompson, Black and Charles Hurley, a Pacific Coast contractor, to add $150,000 to the cost of constructing each of three Western hospitals, the money to be divided as follows: $50,000 to Forbes, $50,000 to Thompson and Black and $50,000 to Hurley—regardless of wehther Hurley or Black and Thompson did the actual work.

That $15,000 was paid to Mortimer in a bathroom of the Drake Hotel, Chicago, by Thompson, of which Mortimer kept $5000, gave Forbes $5000 and used the remaining $5000 to pay the expenses of a junket which Forbes, Mortimer, Mrs. Mortimer and others took to the Pacific Coast.

That Black subsequently told Mortimer that Thompson had given Forbes about $30,000 more, of which Mortimer had been kept in ignorance.

A Note for $15,000.

Mortimer's story was supported by the Government with certain corroborative documents. One of these was a note for $15,000 signed by Mortimer and made payable to Thompson and Black. Another was a copy of a code which Mortimer said was to be used in communications between the alleged conspirators. Telegrams and letters also were introduced.

The testimony has revolved mainly around the construction of the Veterans' Hospital at Northampton, Mass., which, incidentally, is the home of President Coolidge. There were two contracts, one for the foundations, amounting to $160,000, and another for the superstructures, amounting eventually to $2,000,000.

The Government has endeavored to show that the foundation contract was illegally awarded to the Pontiac company by Forbes, despite a lower bid, but chiefly for the purpose of placing Thompson and Black in a favored position to obtain the superstructure contract. Pontiac got the foundation contract, but did not get the superstructure work. Following the awarding of the big job to a competitor, Mortimer said, Black denounced Forbes as a "double-crosser," and said he was through with him.

No Actual Theft Charged.

Actual theft is not charged in the indictment. It charges merely that there was a conspiracy to defraud, and conviction of such a conspiracy, regardless of its success or failure, entails a maximum penalty of two years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

Thompson contends that he had no interest in the Pontiac or in the foundation contract which it obtained. He did, he says, intend to bid on the superstructure contract.

In support of its charge that a conspiracy existed, and that Thompson and Forbes were parties to it, the Government has presented telegrams alleged to have passed between Forbes, Mortimer and Thompson just prior to the award of the foundation contract; it has presented the fact that Forbes took a trip to the Pacific Coast with Mortimer, who was the employe of Thompson and Black, and that Mortimer paid all the bills; it has introduced the code, and various letters, all in addition to Mortimer's oral and circumstantial account.

Crump's Testimony.

Moreover, the Government obtained the testimony of Arthur H. Crump, former secretary and treasurer of the Pontiac, who declared that Thompson supervised the drafting of the Pontiac bid, and declared on the day it was submitted that Pontiac would get the job.

As a part of the alleged irregularity attending the letting of this contract, the prosecution charges that, by prearrangement with Forbes and Cramer, the time fixed by the Pontiac bid for completion of the work was made impossibly short, in order that the bid might be accepted over lower bids on the ground of speed.

Crump testified that he and the other Pontiac expert who figured the job fixed 120 days as the requisite period, and that Thompson arbitrarily reduced it to 60 days, assuring them that he could get the time extended if it was necessary. The work actually took 76 days, and cross-examination of Crump drew forth the admission that weather conditions were extremely unfavorable.

Defense Points Developed.

Other favorable points developed by the defense were that Thompson owned no interest in the Pontiac Co.—although Crump qualified this by saying he understood Thompson had a half interest in the Northampton contract—that Pontiac lost money on the work, and that it did not get the coveted superstructure contract. All this, the Government contends, misses the mark, which was whether or not a conspiracy did exist.

Much interest is taken in the question of whether the defense will introduce character witnesses for Forbes. If it does, the way will be opened for the prosecution to put into the record, in rebuttal, a mass of evidence bearing upon Forbes' life and character— both before and during his official tenure. The fact that Mortimer has a bitter personal feud with Forbes may be brought out by the defense in attacking Mortimer's te... If it is, a flood of unsavory ... probably will be unloosed.

RGES WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT

State Insurance Superintendent Deals With Matter in Report to Governor.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 6.—Enactment by the next Legislature of a workmen's compensation act that will be equally fair to both employers and employes, is recommended by State Insurance Superintendent Ben C. Hyde in the annual report of the Insurance Department, now being compiled. No suggestions are offered by Hyde as to provisions that should be included in the act.

The report will be submitted to Gov. Hyde, brother of the insurance superintendent, at the close of the year.

As is known, several attempts have been made in Missouri to adopt a workmen's compensation act, fixing payments for death or disability of workmen, but thus far they have failed. One measure passed by the 1921 Legislature was defeated on a referendum. Another bill failed of passage in 1923. At the last election the voters decisively rejected a workmen's compensation act submitted by labor organizations through initiative petitions. The proposed act provided for State insurance, to be administered by a high salaried commission, with extensive powers.

New Bills Being Prepared.

At least two new compensation bills are being prepared, it is understood, for introduction in the Legislature when it convenes in January. Among other legislative recommendations by Supt. Hyde are:

Passage of "broad and comprehensive fire marshal law."

Enactment of an "agents' qualification law." Such a bill failed of passage in the 1923 Legislature.

Repeal of the so-called town mutual law. This article of the law Hyde said affords an opportunity to irresponsible parties to organize without capital or guarantee fund, fire insurance companies on the assessment plan. In most instances the experience these companies has been disastrous. Within the past two years the department has been compelled to place several of these companies in the hands of a receiver. Hyde stated this law had no reference to the county mutual or farmer's mutual companies. Resurance companies Hyde stated apferring to the county mutual inproximately 120 county and farm mutual companies are operating in the State.

Town Mutual Law Assailed.

"These companies, outside the cities, have rendered efficient and economical service to the public, their average cost for fire insurance being less than 27 cents per $100 over a period of years, but in the large cities the county mutual insurance companies, with a few exceptions have been a menace to the insuring public, generally being run by irresponsible parties, with no interest in the company other than to get the premiums," the report states.

"These companies operate absolutely without supervision of the Insurance Department," Hyde continued, "neither are they supervised in any other way by the State. Since the officers and agents of the companies cannot be known to the insuring public in the large cities, as they are known in the country, the door is opened wide for misrepresentations of various kinds. For these reasons, some sort of supervision of the part of the State of these companies which are operating in the large cities is urgently recommended."

INSTRUCTORS AWARDED LEGION OF HONOR

Prof. Faure of Washington University Honored by France for War Service.

By decree of President Doumergue of France, dated Nov. 7, Prof. Maurice Faure, instructor of French at Washington University, has been awarded the Legion of Honor in recognition of his war record.

This announcement was made last night by Consul Seguin at a general meeting of the French Society of St. Louis, at Architectural Club, Culver Way and Washington boulevard, and Prof. Faure, who is also president of the French Society, received the congratulations of members and other friends who had come to hear the announcement.

A committee, headed by Prof. Gabriel Ferrand, was appointed to look after arrangements for formal bestowal of the decoration at a later date.

Porf. Faure was born in Lyons, France, in 1877, and came to the United States in 1903. He has been connected with the French Department of Washington University since 1908, and in 1914 responded to France's call to arms at the beginning of the World War. He was assigned to active combat service at once and went through the offensives of the Somme, the Champagne and the Aisne and also was in the campaigns in Alsace and at Rheims. He rose in rank to First Lieutenant and in 1915 won the Croix de Guerre.

In 1917 he returned to St. Louis on leave and married Miss Lilly Schuchman of this city. He rejoined his regiment, leaving his bride of a few days in St. Louis, and in 1919 returned to St. Louis and resumed his place at Washington University. He was elected president of the local French Society last April.

Mr. and Mrs. Faure reside at 1525 Missouri avenue.

YOUNG IOWA BANKER SAYS "SUCCESS" CAUSED DOWNFALL

Ready to Face Embezzlement Charge, 27-Year-Old Bank Vice-president Admits He Gambled.

By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 6.—Isadore Lucchesi, youthful Des Moines banker, was ready today to return to Iowa City to face charges of embezzling funds of the United States Bank, of which he was vice-president. According to a statement he is said to have made to the Memphis police, his predicament is the result of alleged speculations begun in a small way to recoup gambling losses but which mounted when his gaming ventures failed. Lucchesi, 27 years old, was arrested late yesterday.

"I had not thought of stealing," Lucchesi is quoted as having told detectives. "I started to gamble soon after I took the position with the bank and I got in over my head."

Lucchesi attributes his troubles to the "success of youth." "I started in the banking business 12 years ago," he said. "I worked my way up to the position of cashier in one of the largest banks of Des Moines and through my success there was given the position of vice-president of the United States Bank."

The alleged shortage will not amount to more than $7000 or $8000, Lucchesi is alleged to have told the police.

20,000 WORKERS RE-EMPLOYED

All but Five Fall River Mills to Reopen Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Dec. 6.—Announcements made today at the offices or posted in the plants of Fall River's textile factories indicated that all but five of the cotton mills of the city would reopen at full time Monday, affording employment for 20,000 persons.

Some of the mills had been closed for many months. Improved conditions in the cloth market are given as the reason.

CARROLL'S 1116 OLIVE ST.

PLAN ELECTRIC STAR IN SOLDIERS' MEMORY

World War Registrars Behind Drive for Illuminated Memorial in Court of Honor.

A campaign to obtain funds to erect an electric star, containing 1200 lights—one for each St. Louis or St. Louis County soldier losing his life in the World War—will be launched at a meeting of the National Society of World War Registrars at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the Melbourne Hotel.

The star will be from 150 to 200 feet high and from 20 to 25 feet in diameter and will be erected at Kingshighway and Lindell boulevard, in the Gold Star Court of Honor. The base of the star will be approximately 150 feet from the ground, making it visible for miles in each direction. The plan contemplates the lights in the star burning continuously. The star will be built on a revolving axis.

Mrs. Frank de Garmo of 6186 Washington boulevard, president of the World War Registrars, said yesterday the organization plans to seek 20,000 new $1 members at once. She estimated that the star alone would cost $20,000.

Base to Cost $30,000.

Funds to provide a base for the star will be sought later, Mrs. de Garmo stated. A steel base can be erected, she estimated, at a cost of approximately $30,000 additional, but efforts to obtain sufficient funds to erect a base of granite or other stone will be made. If such a base is erected it can be used as a depository in which World War records may be kept permanently.

One of the plans under consideration calls for placing of a small likeness of the statue of St. Louis, a monument in Forest Park, in the center of the star. This has not, however, been definitely decided upon.

The star, when erected, is expected to be the most sightly of the gold star memorial projects in Memorial boulevard, which extends in Kingshighway from Florissant avenue to Carondelet.

Approved by Mayor.

An American flag, flying perpetually in honor of Lieut. John Dwight Filley Jr., who was killed during the World War, stands at Kingshighway and Easton avenue. It was dedicated last Armistice day. It was a gift of Lieut. Filley's father, John Dwight Filley Sr., president of the American Manufacturing Co., who resides at 40 Westmoreland place.

The Memorial boulevard is also lined with more than 1000 trees, planted in honor of soldiers losing their lives in the World War. Mrs. de Garmo said yesterday the plan for erection of the star has been approved by Mayor Kiel and Park Commissioner Pape.

COL. STONE TO RETURN TODAY

Commander of 6th Infantry Has Been at Camp Benning.

Col. David Stone, commanding the Sixth Infantry at Jefferson Barracks, returns today from Camp Benning, Ga., where he has been stationed for the last two months. In honor of his return a regimental review will be held at the Barracks at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Col. Stone entered the army from West Point in 1898 and served in Cuba and the Philippines. Invalided home from the Orient, he spent several years in engineering and construction work for the army at various posts, in the West and Hawaii. When America entered the World War he built Camp Lewis, at Seattle, one of the largest cantonments.

ACCIDENTS AS DEBATE TOPIC

Responsibility to Be Discussed at Community Center Friday.

A debate on the subject, "Whose Support Is Most Necessary in Industrial Accident Prevention—the Management, the Foreman, or the Workman?" will be held at the annual Christmas meeting of foremen and superintendents, members of the St. Louis Safety Council, at the Community Center, Grand boulevard and Vista avenue, at 7:45 p. m. Friday.

J. S. Newell, superintendent of the National Lead Co., will speak for the management; Philip Stromel, assistant general superintendent of the Granite City Steel Works, will represent the foremen; and Harry W. Reller, chairman of the Shop Safety Committe Commonwealth Steel Co., wi for the workmen. Each given 15 minutes to prese side, and a committee hea Oliver T. Remmers, presid the Safety Council, will judg winner.

TROJANS BEAT SYRACUSE; TIGERS PLAY PIKERS NOV. 7

Coast Team Decisively Wins, 16 to 0

Southern Californians Outplay Foes in First Intersectional Post-Season Game.

McBRIDE FAILS TO BOOT FIELD GOALS

Far-West Eleven Outrushes Lighter Team and Shows Superiority in all Departments.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 6.—The West scored a victory over the East in the first intersectional football game played on the Pacific Coast this season, when the bulky University of Southern California team defeated the Syracuse University squad here today before 40,000 persons, 16 to 0.

Although the Trojan's field goal and first touchdown were made possible by "breaks"—two blocked punts—the Western team clearly outplayed its Eastern opponents. One of the chief deciding factors was the superior charging ability shown by the U. S. C. line.

West Scores in First Period.

U. S. C. scored twice in the first period. Four minutes after the kick-off Bayley attempted his first punt from his 20-yard line. While he was juggling the ball, a Trojan lineman charged him and the ball rolled free, Gorrel, U. S. C., left guard, falling on the ball on the 11-yard line. After two plays Hawkins booted the ball over from the 13-yard line.

A few minutes following the second kick-off, Syracuse was again on the defensive, and Bayley's second punt was blocked, this time by Center Cravath. Left End Hobbs Adams grabbed the ball and ran 38 yards to a touchdown. Hawkins' attempted goal kick was blocked.

Syracuse warded off further scoring until the fourth period, when a 34-yard pass by Green was snagged by Hawkins just across the goal line. This time Hawkins' effort to convert was successful.

McBride's Kicks Fail.

John McBride's magic toe, which humbled Columbia with three goals on Thanksgiving day, was unable to get the range of the Trojan goal posts today. He tried one kick from the 22-yard line in the first period and another from the 34-yard line in the fourth period. The first was wide and the second blocked.

The fast but light Orange team appeared taken by surprise by the strength and speed of its blue-jerseyed opponents. The Syracuse line was unable to prevent the Trojan forwards from sifting through again and again to break up plays.

McBride and Capt. Simmons were the most consistent ground gainers for the defeated team. McBride's passing was particularly brilliant, while Foley, who was on the receiving end of most of the big fullback's tosses made several spectacular catches.

Starobin, the big Orange tackle, who has been mentioned on several of the mythical "All-America" elevens, failed to show superiority over Norman Anderson and Thomas the U. S. C. tackles.

Hobbs Adams, left end; Capt. Hawkins, Kear and Earle in the back field, played brilliantly for the Western team.

Time out was seldom claimed by either team.

There were but three penalties, two of them being charged against U. S. C.

Penn Soccer Eleven Is Intercollegiate Championship Winner

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.

THE University of Penn continued as intercollegiate soccer champion by defeating Princeton, 3-2, this afternoon, in a hard-fought contest.

The fast play was indicated by the scoreless tie at half time. Ten minutes after play was resumed the Penn was allowed a penalty kick on which Boos tallied the first goal. Gentle followed seven minutes later with a clean kick for the second Penn marker. For the Tigers, Cooper tallied first, bringing the score to 2-1.

In a sensational scrimmage, after Colebrook had stopped a well-placed try between the posts, the Penn dribblers worked the ball into position for Capt. Lingelbach to drive it over for Penn's third tally.

Princeton's team had been strengthened during the last week by the addition of several football stars, and gave Penn a hard battle.

One of the varsity recruits, Slagle, scored Princeton's second and final counter with a five-yard kick.

Alumni and Coaches Show Great College Eleven How to Score Touchdowns.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.—The undefeated 1924 University of Pennsylvania football eleven took the skids this afternoon when the alumni, consisting of former stars and coaches of the institution, rode rough-shod over the erstwhile champions by the score of 12 to 0.

Coaches Lud Wray and Lou Young, who had taught the regulars most of what they knew about gridiron strategy, were the principals in the scoring events. In the first quarter, Wray intercepted a forward pass and ran 30 yards for a touchdown. Pos Miller, coach of the scrubs, hurled a diagonal pass to Young on the varsity 30-yard mark. Aided by splendid interference, the head coach had neared the goal when he was tackled and managed to fall on the ball for a score.

The kick of accuracy had, however, departed from the toes of veterans Heinie Miller and Dutch Graf. Each in turn failed to boot the pigskin between the goal posts for additional points.

Although the varsity put up a stiff defense, the alumni was able to make repeated first downs and showed to much better advantage than the hitherto unbeaten team.

BASEBALL SLUSH FUND STORY MOVES SENATORS TO ASK INVESTIGATION

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—A thorough legislative investigation of an alleged attempt to obtain $100,000 from Emil E. Fuchs, part owner of the Boston National League club for the purpose of bringing about the passage of a bill permitting personal baseball on Sunday, was demanded today by Senator E. S. Draper of Hopedale in an order filed in the office of the Clerk of the State Senate.

The order was a result of a report from New York in which Judge Fuchs was quoted as saying that an attempt had been made to have him contribute to a "slush fund."

Earlier in the day it became known that another State Senator, William I. Hennessey of Dorchester, had written to District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien demanding a grand jury investigation of the charges attributed to Judge Fuchs.

In a statement made over the telephone from New York to the office here of the Boston National League club, Judge Fuchs said he had made no accusation against any public official and that he regretted that his name should be connected with the report.

According to the original statement attributed to Judge Fuchs, a man purporting to be a lobbyist at the Massachusetts State House, approached him in New York several days ago and made a demand for $100,000 to be used in bribing members of the Massachusetts Legislature to pass a professional Sunday sports bill. Such a bill was recently filed by initiative petition, bearing more than 26,000 certified signatures.

Notre Dame And Illinois Not to Meet

Coaches Rockne and Zuppke Unable to Adjust 1925 Schedules to Permit of Match.

SHAKE HANDS ON CONTEST IN 1926

Director Huff of Champaign Says He's Through Arranging Games to Please Fans.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The long-talked-of game between Illinois and Notre Dame on the gridiron next fall failed to materialize at the schedule meeting of Western Conference football coaches here today. Coach Knute Rockne announced his willingness to rearrange his schedule to fit the needs of Illinois, but previously scheduled contests at Illinois finally led Coach Robert Zuppke and Athletic Director George Huff of Illinois to decline the issue.

The date of Oct. 10 was once tentatively arranged for the contest which has stirred Middle Western football circles, until Illinois officials finally concluded that such a series of hard games early in the season would have made their schedule top heavy. Huff declared he was through scheduling games to accommodate fans regardless of the arrangement of his heavy games and pointed to the Minnesota disaster in the 1924 season as an accommodation game which probably cost the Illini the championship, coming at the end of a row of tough games when the team had nearly gone stale. Rockne and Zuppke shook hands on a game in 1926.

The coaches announced ten games with leading teams outside the conference, two big ten teams going East and three eastern teams invading the Middle West.

Iowa Tough Opponent.

Coach Burt Ingwersen of Iowa, who tied for second place in the 1924 conference race for his first year's work as a big ten coach at the age of 25, had a hard time arranging Big Ten games. He announced five contests, but failed to line up a game for the closing day of the season, Nov. 21. It was reported that he was seeking a home and home series with the University of Southern California and a similar arrangement with Nebraska. Michigan dropped the Hawkeyes from her 1925 schedule, and Indiana took their place. The other four are traditional opponents for Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio and Minnesota.

Indiana likewise had a full schedule with Big Ten opponents, arranging the minimum four with Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Purdue. The Michigan game is a new one for Coach Dillingham.

Representatives of Nebraska and Michigan Agricultural College today applied for membership in the Western Conference, but at their own request, no action was taken by the faculty committee of the Big Ten at this time. They were represented at the meeting of the faculty committee by Prof. Howard C. Huston of the Michigan Aggies, and Prof. W. J. Holz of Nebraska. Both schools will be considered at such times as it is deemed to enlarge the association, the faculty declared.

Prof. Apyre Named President.

Prof. J. F. Apyre of Wisconsin was elected president of the association for the ensuing year, and Prof. O. F. Long of Northwestern, secretary.

A motion to restrain the Western Conference outdoor track and field championships to Big Ten schools only was voted down, and Nebraska, Michigan Aggies, Drake and other outside schools will be invited as usual.

It was voted to hold the outdoor championships at Columbus, O., June 5 and 6. The indoor track meet will be held at Northwestern, Evanston, Ill., March 13 and 14. The swimming championship meet will be held at the University of Chicago, March 12 to 14. Chicago was also awarded the tennis championships to be held May 21 to 24. The annual championship cross-country run will be held at Iowa, Nov. 21.

Among the recommendations adopted by the faculty committee was one advocated by Coach Yost of Michigan, that the number of

Fireworks at Joint Session Of Big Leagues if Johnson Pushes Gambling Charges

Minor Leaguers Object to Statement They Permit Gambling and Landis' Friends Are Ready for Fight to Discredit A. L. President.

By George W. Daley,
Of the New York World Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Like the opening of a session of Congress, about this time there comes the legislative end of the baseball business—something to be endured and which can't be cured. Next Tuesday the National League magnates will meet at the Waldorf; on Wednesday the American Leaguers will meet at the Commodore or Belmont, and on Thursday both leagues will meet in join session, probably at the Waldorf.

There's little chance of the exciting scenes at the last gathering of the owners of the big league clubs—the one held at Chicago last December, when Messrs. Landis and Johnson, baseball commissioner and American League president, had their memorable war.

The Landis forces seem to be pretty firmly established. They have the National League in a body behind the baseball commissioner and the minor leagues seem to be with him, too, despite the fact that he ruled in favor of the majors in the dispute regarding the 15-player option matter last spring. This decision, the minors said at that time, "abrogated" the major-minor league agreement, but they never did anything about it. They took the players they could get from the majors and went on playing ball.

Minors Denounce Johnson.

There had not seemed any chance of any display of hostilities in the gathering of the club owners htis year until the last night of the minor league sessions at Hartford on Thursday. Then the "little fellows" in convention assembled came out with a denunciation of Johnson for his statement that there was "rampant" gambling is the Pacific Coast League with "the knowledge and approval of the club officials in the circuit."

That statement as to the "knowledge and approval" roused the coast leaguers. They don't deny there is gambling, but they object

QUANTICO MARINES OVERWHELM THIRD ARMY CORPS, 47—0

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 6. — The Quantico Marines football team overwhelmed the Third Army Corps Area team at the Baltimore Stadium today by the score of 47 to 0. About 25,000 persons saw the game. It was the Marines' fourth successive triumph over the Third Army Corps in as many years.

Barring a few minutes in the first period when they showed an offensive strength, the Soldiers were never in the battle. Neal of the Marines, a stocky, fast-stepping back, was on the receiving end of most of the successful passes. Three of the Marines' seven touchdowns were the result of sensational dashes by the same Neal. For Army, Devens was the outstanding figure. He was all over the field on defense, making as many as 30 tackles. The Marines made 21 first downs to six by Army.

McNAMARA-VAN KEMPEN TEAM FINISHES FIRST IN 6-DAY BIKE EVENT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Reggie McNamara of Australia and Pete Van Kempen, marvel of Holland, tonight won the annual six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden by piling up an immense total of sprint points in the final hour. Bobby Walthour Jr., son of the famous "Dixie Flyer," and France Georgetti of Italy, the "kid" team of the race, finished second.

Valley Conference Sanctions Missouri Team's Coast Trip

Game With Southern California Christmas Day Assured—Oklahoma Aggies Admitted as Tenth Conference Member.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 6.—Two things of vital importance to the Missouri Valley Conference were decided today at the annual meeting of the faculty representatives of the institutions at Kansas City Athletic Club.

The University of Missouri was granted permission to play a post-season game with the University of Southern California in the Coliseum in Los Angeles Christmas day for which the Tigers will receive a guarantee of $75,000.

Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College of Stillwater was admitted to membership in the conference, making the tenth member.

Both of these things were decided by unanimous vote. Dr. G. N. Manly of Missouri formally placed the request before the faculty members that Missouri be granted permission to play the game in California. After a very short discussion during which Dr. Manly explained that the proceeds of the game would be given to the fund with which Missouri will build its memorial stadium and that the game is to be played at a time when the drive for the stadium fund is in progress in California, the conference decided to suspend the rule forbidding post-season games and allow the Tigers to make the trip.

C. L. Brewer, director of athletics, and Gwinn Henry, head coach, both of whom were at the meeting, said all arrangements have been made for the trip to the coast and the Tigers already have started practice to prepare for the game. Missouri, on percentage basis, is the champion team of the Valley for 1924 and it is believed that they will make a splendid showing in the game with one of the best teams on the Pacific Coast.

New Child Is Strong.

The vote to admit Oklahoma A. and M. to membership in the conference was not a surprise. This is the third year this matter has been under discussion. The Aggies from Stillwater have proved beyond any doubt that they live up strictly to Missouri Valley rules and standards of athletics. Their success in athletic competition with Valley schools, especially in football, wrestling and track, had much to do with the decision. Oklahoma A. and M. will immediately resign from the Southwest Conference. It has been a member of that conference for many years.

Pikers Get Swim Meet.

The annual Valey track meet and Tennis tournament was awarded to Oklahoma University and will be held in Norman May 29 and 30. The swimming meet was awarded to Washington University and the wrestling to Nebraska, but the dates for those events are to be fixed later. S. W. Byers of Ames was appointed representative to the National Collegiate Athletic Association meting to be held in New York Dec. 28.

Herb Gish of Nebraska was appointed as promoter of the annual Missouri Valley indoor track meet which is to be held in convention hall, Kansas City, March 7 or 13.

The conference football schedule for 1925, incomplete, follows:

October 3.—Ames at Wisconsin; Oklahoma A. and M. at Kansas; Nebraska at Illinois; Oklahoma University at Kansas State Agricultural College; Drake at Washington.

October 10.—Kansas at Ames; Oklahoma A. and M. at Oklahoma University; Kansas Aggies at Drake; Grinnell at Minnesota.

TOLEDO HIGH SCHOOL TEAM WINS FROM BOSTON ELEVEN, 46—0

By the Associated Press.

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 6.—The crack Waite High School eleven won their intersectional contest with Everett High of Boston, New England champions, here this afternoon, 46 to 0, thus winning the national high school football honors.

Waite will now journey to Portland, Ore., to play the Coast champions there.

Everett played brilliant ball, fighting every inch of the way, but the Toledo eleven was too heavy for them to master.

JOIE RAY TO OPPOSE NURMI AND RITOLA IN RACE AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Joie Ray, for years one of the leading middle distance runners in America, will face two of the greatest European runners in a special match race at the Illinois Athletic Club indoor track meet here Jan. 16, it was announced today by Chairman Charles A. Dean. Willie Ritola and Paavo Nurmi, the Finn who carried off all the distance events at the Paris Olympic games last summer, will meet Ray in a race of from one to three miles, the distance to be agreed upon later. The usual list of handicap events and track and field contests will be thrown open to university and athletic club contests tomorrow.

By Tad Jones,
Coach of Yale's Undefeated Football Team.

The selection of an all-Eastern football eleven is a difficult assignment under any conditions. It is particularly difficult this year because of the fine performances turned in by so many men on the various elevens throughout this section. I have limited myself further by eliminating, without consideration, all members of the Yale team who have not played their last game. The reason for this is obvious.

TAD JONES

Luman, for consistent work offensively, defensively and down the field, is the outstanding end of the year. His running mate, Bjorkman of Dartmouth, had perhaps a bit more speed and was flashier in his play. He was excellent on the receiving end of a pass. Wagner of Columbia and Stout of Princeton as second choices were excellent ends.

In the tackle positions there is little doubt as to the class of McGinley of Penn and Beattis of Princeton.

Praise for McGinley.

McGinley throughout the year was the mainstay of the Red and Blue line and in addition his down field work has seldom been surpassed. Against Cornell, McGinley stood out far above any of his fellows. Beattie at the other tackle did not really find himself until in his last two games. But against Harvard and Yale, he stood out as did McGinley against Cornell. Strong, rugged and powerful in his close line play, fast and shifty in his covering of kicks, he would not be out of place in any competition.

The three center positions are taken care of by Lovejoy, Yale, as pivot man, flanked by Garbisch of the Army and Farwick, also of the Army. A center's first job is to pass the ball and to pass it accurately under any conditions. Lovejoy, by his work in Yale's last two Harvard games, both played in a sea of mud and water, proved himself one of the most reliable centers the game has seen in years. This ability, together with his fine allround offensive and defensive ability, leads to his selection as pivot man.

Garbisch at Guard.

Garbisch of the Army, also a center, is placed at guard. Garbisch is an inspiration and a fine football player. He would play center on defense and guard when on the attack. Garbisch was a guard during his first year at West Point. The position therefore would not be new to him. Use would be made of his remarkable kicking ability also.

Farwick completes his third year on the Army team and is one of the best linemen the Army has seen in years. His performances against Notre Dame, Yale and the Navy leave no doubt as to his ability.

For second choice in the line, Karney of Cornell and Stirobin of Syracuse are very close to McGinley and Beattie. Diehl of Dartmouth and Howard of Princeton, as guards, would give Farwick and Garbisch the battle of their lives. Eckstein of Brown at center was one of the outstanding men of the year, an excellent player in every sense of the word.

Dooley of Dartmouth is the choice for the quarterback position, followed closely by Pease of Columbia. Dooley is brilliant individually, a fine tactician, quick to take advantage of any weaknesses shown by his opponents. Pease also is brilliant, but not so steady as Dooley.

Bond, Koppisch and McBride.

In the backfield Pond of Yale, Koppisch of Columbia and McBride of Syracuse, form a combination whose allround ability cannot be questioned. With Pond for passing and plunging, McBride for kicking and Koppisch for plays on the wings, a busy afternoon could be promised to any team in opposition.

Pond for his work offensively and defensively and for his passing and reliability stands out as one of Yale's best halfbacks.

To supplement the work of Koppisch, McBride and Pond we would have Hall of Dartmouth, Gerhke of Harvard and Scott of Yale, a combination not far behind the first. Hall's running, Gerhke's kicking and plunging, Scott's drop kicking, defensive strength and ability as an interferer, assure sufficient strength, offensively and defensively, to warrant placing this combination almost on a par with any that could be chosen.

Trees Uprooted For Soccer Game

Carondelet Clubs Will Be Suspended From Municipal Athletics if They Don't Play Today.

Having prevailed upon the Park Department to uproot several live trees in order to lengthen the playing field to regulation dimensions, the Carondelet Park teams have had no obvious reason for refusing to play as scheduled on Grounds 2 at Carondelet Park this afternoon, according to William F. Yorger, Superintendent of Public Recreation, and director of the Municipal Soccer League.

Yorger has issued a written warning to all teams in the group affected instructing them to play as scheduled or consider themselves automatically suspended from the league. It is understood that, in order not to penalize players who may be perfectly willing to abide by the rules, Yorger will declare all members of the four teams free agents, if today's games are not played. Only the managers of the teams will be suspended from Municipal athletics, it is said.

The four teams of Group 1 at Carondelet Park have refused for two Sundays to play their games.

Frush's Manager Protests.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Lew Burston, manager of Danny Frush of Baltimore, Md., complained to the New York State Athletic Commission today that Frush was competing in England without his permission and in violation of contract between them. The commission promised to communicate with the National Sporting Club of London in an effort to curtail Frush's fighting activities without the manager's permission.

W. VA. WESLEYAN WINS OVER KENTUCKY, 24 TO 7

By the Associated Press.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 6.—West Virginia's football machine downed the University of Kentucky by a 24-to-7 score here today in a game marked by spectacular plays.

Frecka, speedy Wesleyan half, made two of the winners' touchdowns by gathering punts in his arms and dodging through the field in runs of 90 and 70 yards to the goal line.

20 Amateur Bouts On Coliseum Fight Card Thursday

Three Indianapolis Millers and One From Kansas City Send in Entries.

Four more entries from amateur boxers of other cities were received yesterday by Matchmakers Cook and Solari of the Business Men's A. C. for special bouts on the interstate fight card to be given next Thursday night at the Coliseum. Three of the late entries are from Indianapolis while the fourth is from Kansas City. The tourney officials had previously received two Eastern entries, making a total of six inter-city events now assured.

Carl Kinney, a featherweight of the Kansas City A. C., heads the list of new entries. Kinney eliminated Walter "Red" Rowland in the final of a Western A. A. U. championship tourney several months ago. In the Coliseum competition he will be pitted against Billy Sincoff, the National A. A. ringster.

Wilfred Parker, Ted Hunt and Lawrence Pruitt are the Indianapolis boxers who will come for matches with local boys. Parker, a welterweight who recently returned to the ring after a year's redrement, defeated Simons, the National A. A. U. champion in 1922. He will meet Frank Powers, the Muny titleholder, in next week's show. Hunt, who was runner-up for championship honors in a recent Indiana tourney, tackles Eddie Goldberg of the National A. A. The bantam feature will bring Pruitt against Eddie Kaiser of the South Broadway. Pruitt holds the Indiana-Kentucky A. A. U., and Middle States championship for his division. He was defeated in the last Olympic tryouts by Lazarus.

Entries Close Monday.

With the exception of Kaiser, all the local boxers scheduled to compete in the interstate specials have been active in local competition throughout the season. Kaiser has not participated in a tournament bout since his setto with Eddie Goldberg at the Battery last fall.

Chairman Robert Probst of the Registration Committee of the Western A. A. U. announced last night that entries for the show would close Monday night. No exceptions will be made to this rule. The committee will classify the boxers into A, B and C groups, the classification to be based upon experience and the number of victories attained.

Probst said that the number of entries received thus far indicated that nearly 20 bouts would be held, making the show one of the best held in this city in many years.

CHARLIE REBER PICKS BASKETBALL TEAM FOR MUNICIPAL DIVISION

Charley Reber, basket ball referee, who in his playing days was a member of the famous Premiers, one of the best quintets ever organized in St. Louis, will have a team in the open division of the Municipal Basket Ball League this season. The team will be the Lowe and Campbells and will be managed by Ed Friedrichs, former McKinley High School star.

Among the stars lined up by Reber are Baldy Thumser and Pie Reid, former Washington U. stars; Lee, Trenton, Ill.; Ray Donohue, former Kenrick player; Ray Bonifer, Holy Cross; Bill Uline, from Indiana; Ted Deal, last year with Leacock's; Ray Kutterer, from Central High, and Pete French, a former Y. M. C. A. player.

The Lowe and Campbell team of Kansas City won the national championship in 1922.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Ho, Hum!

A RENEWAL of the Dempsey-Gibbons hit-and-run boxing and clinching affair at Shelby will close the long career of Madison Square Garden as a home of sports, next May, it has been semiofficially announced.

To boxing fans the circumstance carries about as big a "kick" as a dead mule. Tommy has never thrilled the multitudes with his boxing, because of his defensive attitude.

You have to swing a wicked fist today to please in the ring world. If you happen to have science with it, it's all right, but doesn't mean much.

It May Be Different.

THE Shelby bout was not enjoyable, for Tom was in there to stay the limit in any way he could, aided by a referee fearful of a hostile crowd and with Dempsey suffering from the same trouble.

In New York the scene will change. Dempsey will be in the midst of his idolators, while Gibbons will be in a rather lukewarm atmosphere. Dempsey will no longer fear the popping of hip cannon. They carry other more deadly things than revolvers on the hip in New York, but they can't harm Jack at long range.

If Dempsey trains hard and long enough for this fight, and boxes REAL sparring mates, it is difficult to imagine how Tommy CAN run and cling through 15 rounds again.

Dempsey may come into the ring half-trained and with poor judgment of distance and timing. Even so, Gibbons has a dubious chance to elude him. But the longer the bout lasts, rest assured the more uninteresting it will be. Gibbons will not come out from cover in the face of a killer like the champion.

Breakers Ahead.

GUESSING what Rogers Hornsby's salary will be next year, is rivaling the cross-word puzzle as the winter's pastime.

Hornsby is expecting a big raise from a club that made no money.

The club's misfortune makes the situation difficult. For, Hornsby's record shows, it was no fault of his that the club wasn't a flag contender. He led the world.

Naturally, Hornsby feels that he is entitled to a ranking salary; and the club, also naturally, feels unable to pay it.

The club can't afford to trade him and possibly can't afford to pay him—which brings the affair to a near standstill.

Hornsby is an advertising asset to the city and perhaps the problem may be of sufficient importance to interest the Chamber of Commerce.

In fact, a municipally owned baseball team would be the ideal one, from the fan's viewpoint. Perhaps some day we'll see this materialize.

Seeing the Light.

CUT off from communication with the rest of the world of athletics for years, the St. Louis high schools are now for the first time hoping that their horizon will again be widened beyond the present confines of the city limits.

It has been many years since local high school elevens have known anything other than their own methods of playing football, basketball, baseball and other sports, because of the 25-mile limit rule.

Now the prospect of the game with Charleston High, the Southeast champions, has opened a vista of renewed contact with the rest of the athletic world.

There seems no sound reason for the past isolation. Games with Kansas City, Chicago and other city champions would not only introduce new ideas here but help broaden the view of some of our localized athletes who have no idea whether they play well or ill.

A trip to Columbia, for the State championships, or to Chicago or Kansas City now and then would pep up the entire high school situation.

If a reason is sought, what better one is needed than that the proceeds of intercity matches be devoted to building a high school stadium or to swelling the Teachers' Annuity Fund?

What, Again?

CHICAGO fans seemingly never tire of seeing Ed Lewis defeat Mike Romano. They are figuring on a fourth meeting of the men up there on the lake, and Lewis has asked a $10,000 guarantee.

That's equivalent to Dempsey asking $200,000 for beating Porky Flynn.

No Sport in a Sure Thing.

THERE'S no law against pitting Lewis against inferior wrestlers and paying him well, if the promoters can see their way to get the money in at the box office. Only, why allude to it as sport?

Go out and kick your pet dog around the back yard, if you enjoy that kind of competition. He has just as much chance as Romano.

Chicago's commission has not been heard from on this subject. Last time these two were matched the commission issued an ultimatum against it. The wrestlers obtained an injunction, however, and held the show, attracting a "gate" of over $30,000.

It is SOME commission that would let wrestlers get away with that stuff, without having to fight out the case to a finish.

Facts, Not Prejudice.

MANY persons think criticisms of Lewis published in this column are prejudiced. If a list of the number of matches Lewis has wrestled in the past two years were made public, it would show that the champion had defended his title against individuals of a certain group time after time!

In Wichita, where he won a $20,000 match from Stan Zbyszko, they know Lewis. They are trying out there to force Lewis to meet Stecher or some dangerous foe. Here is an excerpt from the Wichita Eagle:

> "Wrestling fans thus have more admiration for Pesek than for Lewis. Pesek at least will wrestle. Now, if Pesek, a man 40 pounds lighter than Lewis, is to serve as Lewis' buffer and keep the good boys off the 'champ,' why not make Pesek champion? Wrestling fans, much as they dislike Pesek, would a lot rather see a man in there who would wrestle. Pesek at least isn't afraid of them.
> "Imagine Frank Gotch signing up a 195-pounder to carry around with him to keep off the good boys. Gotch wrestled them all. Lewis wrestles only his friends. Were Gotch living and in his prime today it would be impossible for him to get a match with Lewis.
> "Wichita fans are divided on whether Lewis could throw Stecher, or Stecher throw Lewis. But they are all agreed on one thing. There is only one real championship match to be had and that is Stecher vs. Lewis. May the best man win, but at least let 'em wrestle. And until they do, cease calling Lewis or anyone else a champion. There are enough 'cheese' champions anyhow.

* * *

Lewis is capitalizing his title at the expense of good sportsmanship, in our opinion. But he cannot be induced to alter his ways as long as the public helps him earn a millionaire's income by wrestling men he is sure he can beat.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHARLESTON, Mo., Dec. 6.—The Charleston High School football team which will oppose Cleveland High, champions of the St. Louis Interscholastic League at St. Louis on Dec. 13, has won the Big Four High School League title for three successive years. In this league are the high schools of Sikeston, Jackson, Cape Girardeau and Charleston. Each team plays each other member twice and in the six league games in which it participated this season, Charleston lost but one contest.

Sikeston defeated the champions, 3 to 0, early in the season, but Charleston later reversed the verdict, winning by a score of 24 to 0.

Scored 123 Points to 13.

Cape Girardeau tied Charleston, 0-0, and later lost to the champions, 7 to 0.

Jackson was defeated 22 to 0 and 13 to 0.

Thus, in league competition, Charleston scored four victories, was tied once and was defeated once. The champions scored 66 points as compared with three by all opponents.

In nonleague matches Charleston won from East Prairie High, 30 to 0; defeated Poplar Bluff, 20 to 3, and tied Malden, 7 to 7. The total point score for the season was 123 to 13.

The rules which govern the Big Four League are as follows:

1. All players must be regularly enrolled high school students under 21 years of age and must enroll not later than the third week of school.
2. Any student who is not making passing grades in at least three subjects at the time each game is played, is ineligible for that game.
3. Officials are nominated by manager of home team and confirmed by manager of visiting team at least 48 hours before game. Officials must be from towns other than those represented by teams.
4. No student is allowed more than four years Inter High School football. The participation of a player in any game or part thereof is considered one season's playing.

National League, 50 Years Old In 1925, Grew Out of Fight on Gambling Element in Baseb

History of Game Shows It Prospered From Time Club Owners Took Control After Players Had Been in Power.

By John B. Foster.
Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1924.)

The fiftieth anniversary of the National League will be brated in 1925. The league was organized in the city of New Feb. 2, 1876, and since that time has been a foremost influ sport and especially in baseball throughout the United States.

FIRST IN SERIES OF ARTICLES ON HISTOR OF NATIONAL LEAG

THE baseball season of will be the fiftieth seaso the National League. The history of the National L may be regarded as the history of baseball itself.

In commemoration of the niversary John B. Foster writing an interesting serie short articles about the Natio al League. These articles w deal with the history of t league and its founders, t teams of the league, its gr players, its outstanding pit ers, its famous managers, gr est games, early champio ships and development of t rules. The first article in t series is printed herewith.

There had been an organization in baseball prior to the birth of the National League, but it had not been successful largely because the players had too much voice in the conduct of the circuit and because the tendency of that time was to associate baseball too closely with gambling and pools.

The touch of the speculator was still felt in the first year of National League history, but by the determined effort of men who proved to be mightier than the crooks, baseball eventually was freed from its contamination with gambling. From that period it began to ascend in the scale of social recognition.

Two Guiding Spirits.

The position which professional baseball occupies at the present time in the athletic life of the United States is largely due to the stubborn fight waged by William A. Hulbert of Chicago, as an owner and executive, and Albert G. Spalding of Chicago as a player and later as an owner. Both of these men were ruthlessly savage in their attack upon gamblers, upon betting, and upon every source of petty dishonesty that was attached to baseball.

The National League, in its time, has been through many athletic wars but has survived all of them to celebrate its fiftieth anniversary. It was never so near exhaustion as it was in 1889 but even then the forceful presence of Spalding assisted in bringing it through a period which nearly swallowed all its resources.

The league has comprised six clubs, eight clubs, and twelve clubs but its greatest success has been with eight clubs. Of the cities which originally made up the circuit only two—Chicago and Boston—have remained throughout and of the men who started the National League and who helped to make it famous, strong and powerful, there is not one in its organization.

Organized in 1876.

The meeting to perfect a permanent organization of the National League was held in New York City on Feb. 2, 1876, at the Grand Central Hotel on Broadway.

The members accepted for the National League at that meeting were Boston, Chicago, New York Mutuals, Philadelphia Athletics, Cincinnati, Hartford, Louisville and St. Louis. Of these clubs, Chicago and Boston have always retained their memberships. The present New York club with its long championship record did not become a member until 1883 when John B. Day got into the league.

At the first meeting Morgan G. Bulkeley, later Governor of Connecticut and United States Senator from that State, was elected man and Harry Wrigh, secre the constitution, which had prepared at a preliminary at Louisville, was adopted and Bulkeley was made president of organization. N. E. Young, wh quently to become president, made secretary. The salary to Young as secretary was annually until 1885, when it increased to $4000 and Nick," as he was known in his years, received a little rewar all the hard work that he done.

GIBBONS BATTLES NORFOLK IN FIRST BIG BOUT OF SEASON

Defense of White Boxer Likely to Prove Enigma To Dusky Rival, Tuesday

Negro Light Heavyweight Is Powerful and Clever, However, and Is Expected to Prove Dangerous Foe for "Man of Shelby" at New York Ring Show.

By John E. Wray.
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Tommy Gibbons is unique. Fame came to him several years ago, but fortune lingered. The greatest defensive boxer of his inches in the world, and a dangerous man when he chooses to attack, men of standing seemed loath to mingle with him.

For years the "Man of Shelby" battled for pin money. Up to the time of his still memorable battle with Georges Carpentier at Michigan City, he had received no purse larger than $14,000. His championship fight with Dempsey brought him nothing but added popularity and a vaudeville engagement.

His $50,000 inducement to meet Jack Bloomfield in England yielded only $15,000 less expenses. And since that time he has met only pork-and-beaners.

Today finds Gibbons with countless "prospects" in the way of fights, but few takers. He would be an attraction against Greb, Tunney, McTigue and Dempsey, all titleholders; but the NOTHING DOING sign is hung up whenever Tommy calls.

Fighters say the promoters don't want the show. Promoters pass the buck back to the fighters. In any case, although Gibbons has been willing to meet the four champions mentioned, or Firpo, Spalla, Renault, Harry Wills or any other man of any weight. Kid Norfolk, the negro light-heavyweight, is the only boxer that could be found willing to face Tom.

Meet in New York Tuesday.

They are matched to fight next Tuesday 15 rounds to a decision in Madison Square Garden.

This contest, the first big indoor affair of the season, ought to bring out a good house and add perhaps $5,000 to the Gibbons bank roll. We hope he gets it—and more. For there is one thing about this Gibbons boy. He has always been ready to fight anybody ON PERCENTAGE! Tommy contends that he is worth no more than the public thinks of him; and he has always abided by this view.

Negro Has Natural Advantages.

In Norfolk, Gibbons has picked out a tough edifice to wreck. The Kid is as solid as a piece of ebony. He has the primitive African advantages over the white man of long reach, thick skull, low nerve sensibility, rudimentary nasal bones, unusual agility and keen sight. In fact, but for low cranial capacity—which implies inability to think and adapt quickly—the average negro fighter starts the battle with many advantages over any Caucasian foe. And Norfolk is true to type, as his picture, shown elsewhere, indicates.

Gibbons should win. He is the best man of his weight in the world, if he doesn't want to be hit. What will happen if he starts trading punches with Norfolk no man can say.

New Sensation to Appear.

Kid Norfolk will not be the only dusky party on the Rickard Christmas benefit program to interest ringsiders. On the card is one Tiger Flowers, who soon will be rivaling Kid Norfolk for the negro title.

Flowers is one of the niftiest boxers developed in recent years, according to tales from the East. He can box as well as fight and the fact that the Eastern press sounds his praises is proof that he is good enough to have overcome the prejudice of promoters against arranging mixed fights.

Flowers will meet the erstwhile middle champion, Johnny Wilson. If the negro is all that is said of him, his Italian-born opponent will not fare so well.

Never a great fighter, although once champion, Wilson is not an impressive ringman. I saw him beaten for the title and Harry Greb fairly swarmed atop of him, beating him in every round but one. Wilson is not versatile and is a doubtful puncher. If Flowers should stop his opponent he will at once bound into real prominence and the possibility of a match for the title.

Tommy O'Brien and Solly Seamon will box a 10-round preliminary.

Gibbons Remains Favorite; Boxers Complete Training

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—Tom Gibbons and Kid Norfolk finished the strenuous part of their training today for their match here Tuesday.

Gibbons boxed five rounds with Jim Montgomery and Al Roode, two heavyweights, after which Norfolk exhibited his wares in a brief sparring session.

Gibbons scaled 176½ after his workout and said he would have no trouble getting rid of the extra pound and a half before he weighs in before the State Athletic Commission Tuesday afternoon. Norfolk already is under the required 175 pounds.

Gibbons continues to rule a marked favorite among critics, but a strengthening of support for Norfolk has been reflected in supporting odds within the past few days.

Tex Rickard predicted tonight that, on the basis of the advance sale today, a capacity throng would be in Madison Square Garden for the encounter.

Inter-School Mat Meet at W. U.

Six Wrestling Teams to Compete in Novel Tourney Friday and Saturday.

A novelty in Washington University athletic events will take place Friday and Saturday nights, when a wrestling tournament among six schools of the university will be held at Francis Gymnasium.

It is believed that the innovation of a tourney among campus teams will attract a greater number of men to the sport and bring out the best talent for varsity teams.

Wrestling teams from the schools of Medicine, law, engineering, commerce and architecture and the college are entered. The wrestlers have been practicing for several weeks under direction of Coach Al Wasem, a former mat title holder.

There will be 15 preliminary events Friday night, and the finals will be held Saturday evening. Each bout will be of 12 minutes' duration. A fall will count five points, and a decision will score three. Victory will go to the team having the highest total. Gold medals will be awarded the winners in each of seven classes.

Present indications are that the final verdict will rest between the law and medico teams, which seem to be the two strongest outfits entered. The medics' best bet is Earl Brewer, captain of the varsity wrestling team of last year. Brewer wrestles in the 135-pound class. The lawyers have a varsity veteran in Nick Semple, who wrestles in the 158-pound class.

The tournament will be handled by George Baptiste, formerly the world's middleweight wrestling champion, who will officiate as referee.

Vespers Oppose Ben Millers Today

Leaders of Local Soccer League to Get Severe Test This Afternoon.

The Ben Millers, conquerors of the strong Indiana Flooring Co., team of New York, and leaders of the St. Louis Soccer League, will be severely tested this afternoon when they meet the Vespers in the second game of a league doubleheader at St. Louis University Field.

In holding the Indiana club to a scoreless tie last Saturday, the Vespers attained a high degree of defensive skill and proved that they are capable of better football than they have been displaying in regular league contests. They are second in the league standing and with many games remaining, they still have a chance of overtaking the leading Millers.

Joe McCarthy Has Departed.

With Joe McCarthy, outside left forward, playing for the Indiana club, Manager Harry McCarthy of the Vespers will use Gockel at outside left, George Corrigan at center forward and Tracy at inside right. Tracy has played halfback and will probably make a more valuable inside forward than center man. Corrigan has played good ball at center and may come through once more.

In the first game of the program, Harry Ratican's club will oppose the Scullins. Manager Brady of the Scullins, who has rested an injured leg for two weeks, may return to fullback but in the event he cannot play, Jimmy Nolan will again pair with Hitchcock. Leo Diel, the goaltender, is ready to resume his place between the posts, his bruised ribs being sufficiently healed to permt his playing again.

The first game will start at 2 o'clock.

Fall River and Fleishers Tie

National Soccer Champions Held to a 2—2 Score by Philadelphians.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 6.—Fleisher Yarn Football Club held the United States champion Fall River Soccer team to a 2-2 tie here this afternoon in an American League game. Fall River was fortunate to get away with a division of the points, and it was not until the last minute of play that they tied the score on a penaly kick.

Dick Spalding, who played a brilliant game, handled the ball in the fatal penalty area. McPherson was entrusted with the kick, and scored.

Champions Score First.

A determined attack by Fall River produced a goal by Campbell after 25 minutes of play.

From the restart the Yarners put up a furious attack and Kemp, under pressure, handled the ball in the penalty area. McLaughlin converted the kick and the score stood 1-1.

From this point on both teams strained to get the lead.

McGhee shot down the wing and transferred the ball to Purvis, who, amid great enthusiasm, smashed the leather home.

Both teams fought and the pace was killing and the play brilliant. It seemed Fall River would meet with defeat, but it was the last moments that saved them, when McPherson scored through a penalty.

FIREWORKS PROMISED AT BIG LEAGUE MEETING

to the statement that they are parties to it. They called on Johnson to show his proof and Johnson replied that he had it and would place it before the board of directors of the American League on Wednesday.

If he does, there may be some lively times at the joint meeting of th big leagues on Thursday. The minors have representatives at this meeting, too, and they are said to be ready to ask that the gambling accusations be threshed out. The friends of Commissioner Landis see an effort on the part of the friends of Johnson to discredit him and they will fight, too.

Plenty of Baseball Business.

But there should be plenty of basebell business. The National League, for instance, has on its hands the completion of the plans for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the League—really the birth of professional baseball in America. There will be celebrations in each of the National League cities at some special game arranged for beforehand, and a monster dinner next year on the anniversary of the election of Morgan G. Buckley of Connecticut as the first president of the organization.

That will be one thing. Then there will be talk about the player limit of 50 men to a club in the off season and raising of the limit of players to be sent out on option to minor league clubs.

Explosion Is Possible.

There may be an explosion from the friends of Johnson or from Johnson himself, on the bribery case. Along with Barney Dreyfuss, the president of the Pittsburg club of the National League, he made several charges in the heat of the controversy following the Dolan-O'Connell scandal, and it may be that he will be called on to prove them or would be prepared to prove them.

NOTRE DAME ELEVEN WILL PLAY ARMY IN NEW YORK NEXT FALL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6. — Notre Dame's football eleven will play the Army in the Yankee Stadium next year on Oct. 17, it was announced.

Penn State and Georgia Tech will play in the stadium on Oct. 10.

Langford-Johnson Exhibition Developed Into Real Fight

Bout Was Held in Theater and Boxers at One Time Had Heads Sticking Through Scenery Which Fell on Them.

This excerpt from Sam Langford's life story, as told through a representative of the Post-Dispatch, deals with Langford's three-round exhibition with Jack Johnson, in which each tried to knock the other cold.

THE record books say I fought Jack Johnson just once. That's right—and it isn't right. I met Jack only once in a decision fight, but I met him another time in an exhibition match.

That's what they called it on the program. And that's what it was—just an exhibition of two men trying to kill each other with four fists and four boxing gloves. I fought a lot of tough fights in my day, but I never did fight three faster or wilder rounds than those with Johnson, up there in Boston.

On Thursday, April 26, 1906, Jack and I fought that wild 15-round affair up in Chelsea—and Jack beat me. The next day some folks who were arranging a benefit in Boston for the San Francisco earthquake sufferers asked me if I'd appear Saturday night in an exhibition match.

"Sure," I said.

"Anybody special you'd like to box?" they asked.

"Nope," I said. "I'm not particular. But if you could get that Jack Johnson, I'd be much obliged."

And they got Johnson.

Some Popularity Stuff.

Just before the bout began, they halted things while somebody gave Jack a watch and chain and a little speech which said the present was from "admiring friends:" I knew it wasn't. Jack bought that watch and chain himself, according to what I heard, and he was just sort of showing off what a popular fellow he was by having it presented to him.

That made me mad. I was mad, too, because Jack had given out a statement that day saying he was just taking it easy with me in Chelsea. So when they called "time" for the first round, I ran into Johnson, clinched and said:

"This ain't going to be an exhibition tonight. It's going to be a fight. Let's go."

I broke loose from the clinch and then tore into Johnson, both fists flying. Jack tried to hold me back, but I rushed him all around the ring, punching like a wild man. And then Jack, knowing I meant what I said, started to fight back.

There wasn't any ring on the stage of that theater. It was just stage—no ropes, nothing. We battled from one side of it to the other, back to the curtains, forward to the footlights—fighting like two tigers.

I was out to knock Johnson cold, if I could—and he was trying to finish me. We punched, wrestled, mauled, hauled and did everything but knock down the building.

Before the first round was over we had upset the water buckets and our chairs, knocked over the referee and timekeeper, broken about 10 electric bulbs in the footlights and twice, in the cyclonic stuff we were doing, we almost fell into the orchestra pit.

Somewhere in the middle of the second round I drove one home to Johnson's face. I jumped at him to land a follow-up. He backed and, as he did, I just threw myself at him. He grabbed me coming, the two of us bumped into the scenery.

Among the Scenes.

And a second later the scenery tumbled down on us. Some of it landed square on top of our heads. The canvas split and the scenery lay on our shoulders, with our heads sticking out. We shoved it down over our bodies, jumped away as it landed on the floor, and went on fighting wilder than ever.

The house was in an uproar. It continued so all through the third round, while Jack and I fought on a floor all cluttered up with broken scenery. We triped and stumbled over it but always got our balance in time and went right ahead whaling away at each other.

Along about the middle of the round Johnson got me in a clinch and tried to lift me off my feet. I wasn't sure whether he wanted to throw me out among the customers or not. But I thought maybe the customers liked him better and I caught him and tried to drop him out with the spectators.

But Jack was too strong. So we went ahead slugging, wrestling, mauling, butting, until somebody called "time."

And that ended what started as an exhibition boxing bout and turned into the wildest nine minutes of fighting I ever was mixed up in during 23 years of war.

St. Louis Has Best Goaltenders, Viberg Writes

Manager of New York Soccer Team Praises Local Players.

Goaltenders Charles LaBarge and Dave Bartnett of the Vespers and Ben Millers of the St. Louis Soccer League are given high praise by Manager Ernest J. Viberg of the Indiana Flooring Co., team, in an article he has written for the New York Telegram and Evening Mail.

"The goaltenders who played against us in St. Louis surpassed anything we have seen in the American Soccer League," Viberg writes. His impressions of St. Louis soccer are reprinted as follows:

"Indiana Flooring Co.'s soccer team, upon returning from their trip West, expressed surprise at the progress in the game shown by their opponents in St. Louis. Although the floorlayers tied the first game and lost the second, the players felt satisfied, as the trip has been more or less a missionary one. The Mound City teams need the help of the more scientific Eastern teams in perfecting their game, as the American-born players in St. Louis seldom have any out-of-town competition.

"More Than Clever Passing Needed."

The home bred talent out there plays another style of soccer. Their main asset is speed and long passing, while here in the East a more scientific short passing game is in vogue. By beating Indiana last Sunday, the Ben Millers proved that it takes more than clever play to win a game. While the floorlayers were the aggressors during most of the game, the home boys managed to net two goals out of the few occasions on which they rushed toward the New York team's goal.

It has often been said here in the East that the Americans in St. Louis can't play soccer. Their style of play has always been criticised because they don't play as fine a game as the best teams here, mostly composed of players who learned the game in Europe. It seems that the critics forget that the team scoring the most goals wins the game. Soccer is not judged by style. It is goals that count."

"St. Louis a Pioneer."

"No city in the East has made as much progress in soccer among the home-breds as has St. Louis. Most of the players in the big league are professional baseball players in the summer. Nearly every team in this league has a shortstop playing in goal. While we here in the East have marvelled at the fine game played by our goalies in the American Soccer League, it must be admitted that the two goalkeepers who played against Indiana surpassed anything we have seen here.

Viberg proved that his praise of St. Louis soccer players is sincere when he signed Joe McCarthy of the Vespers and offered places to Charlie Oster of the Vespers and Frank Vaughn of the Ben Millers.

U. OF GEORGIA MAN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF SOUTHERN CONFERENCE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 6.—Dr. S. V. Sanford of the University of Georgia was re-elected president of the Southern Intercollegiate Conference at the closing session of that body here today.

The next meeting will be held at Athens, Ga., on Dec. 4 and 5, 1925.

The conference voted to place all college athletics under conference rules.

Baseball furnished the lively subject for debate. Efforts to abolish it as a college sport were defeated but further efforts will be made to purge from their numbers those playing for compensation. No college man may participate in sports if he has played on any team during the summer that has played more than three games a week. Letters will be directed to all college heads asking the names of players who received compensation. Professer Taylor of North Carolina State was frank in stating he believed there were many students playing baseball for money during the summer and doing it with the eyes of the conference wide open. He said it seemed to be the logical conclusion they were not playing for their health.

Yale and Harvard On Brown's 10-Game Home Football Card

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 6.

THE Brown all-home football schedule for 1925 has been completed by agreement of Boston University to meet Brown on Nov. 7 next.

This makes 10 games in all to be played in the new Brown amphitheater now under construction.

The list follows: Sept. 26, Rhode Island State; Oct. 3, Colby; Oct. 10, University of Pennsylvania; Oct. 17, Bates; Oct. 24, Yale; Oct. 31, Dartmouth; Nov. 7, Boston University; Nov. 14, Harvard; Nov. 21, New Hampshire; Nov. 26, Colgate.

athletes to be taken on a trip be increased from 35 to 40. Presumably it was intended to refer to football squads.

Change in Basketball Rule.

The faculty members also removed the restrictions on the number of practice basketball games before the opening of the Big Ten season. Previously the teams had been allowed to play but three practice games, but now they can play as many as they wish. It was agreed that the number of championship basketball contests be cut from 12 to 10, but this year's schedule has already been arranged, so it was decided to put off decision until next year.

The committee adopted a national intercollegiate swimming rule which permit a swimmer to compete in only two individual events, aside from the relay. Under the old conference rules, an individual could compete in three individual events.

The composite football schedule arranged for next fall follows:

Oct. 3—North Dakota at Minnesota, Ames at Wisconsin, Nebraska at Illinois, DePauw at Indiana, Kentucky at Chicago, Michigan Aggies at Michigan, Wabash at Purdue, Ohio Wesleyan at Ohio.

Oct. 10—Butler at Illinois, Indiana at Michigan, Ohio at Chicago, Grinnell at Minnesota, DePauw at Purdue, South Dakota University at Wisconsin.

Oct. 17—Michigan at Wisconsin, Illinois at Iowa, Northwestern at Chicago, Columbus at Ohio.

Oct. 24—Michigan at Illinois, Chicago at Pennsylvania, Notre Dame at Minnesota, Purdue at Wisconsin, Iowa at Ohio.

Oct. 31—Iowa at Indiana, Wooster at Ohio, Wisconsin at Minnesota, Navy at Michigan, Illinois at Pennsylvania.

Nov. 7—Indiana at Ohio, Butler at Minnesota, Wisconsin at Iowa.

Nov. 14—Tulane at Illinois, Dartmouth at Chicago, Ohio at Michigan, Iowa at Minnesota.

Nov. 21—Northwestern at Notre Dame, Illinois at Ohio, Minnesota at Michigan.

ST. PAUL FIVE ROLLS INTO SECOND PLACE IN MIDWEST TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 6.—The St. Francis Hotel five of St. Paul was the only team to break into the ranks of the leaders in the Midwest bowling tournament in session here when the first and second shifts of bowlers completed their games early tonight.

The St. Francis Hotel quintet rolled themselves into the second place in the standings with a score of 2930, displacing the Charles Weber five of Chicago.

By the Associated Press.

LEWISTON, Me., Dec. 6.—Alfred "Young" Tanguay, 19, bantamweight boxer, died today at a hospital here as the result of hemorrhages which followed a bout in Portland a few weeks ago. Tanguay was knocked out in the bout by a blow over the heart.

FILLY VRANA DIES AT LOUISVILLE STABLES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 6. — The filly Vrana of Commander J. K. L. Ross' stable died in winter quarters here after a brief illness of lung fever. The filly was a star for the Canadian turfman as she won six races, finished second five times and was out of the money only three times in 14 starts.

Stars of West Lose to East on A Blocked Kick

Benefit Game at Cleveland Brings Out Thrilling Football—Score 13 to 12.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 6. — Stars of the East and stars of the West fought each other almost to a standstill in a benefit game for the Cleveland Stadium Fund sponsored by the Big Ten Club. Each side made two touchdowns and the East got one point after touchdown, winning by 13 to 12.

The West then tore hard. Stringer, of Carroll, began carrying the ball for gain after gain. The rush started with a short pass from Devine to Stringer, the latter running 15 yards more. Devine and Stringer got a first down and a pass to Bob Fletcher, of Illinois, got another. Stringer carried the ball three times for a first down. Devine made 9 on a fake pass. An offside brought the ball to the 3-yard line. Stringer got 2⅓ yards and Devine went over but Devine's drop kick was blocked.

The West scored first and last. Devine and Belding, of Iowa, gained on the exchange of punts with Crowther in the first period and the West got the ball on the East 29-yard line. A pass, Devine to Anderson, of Illinois, brought the ball to the 8-yard line. Devine got six as the first period ended and went over for the touchdown as the second period started. Rohleder, of Wittenberg attempted a place kick but it was blocked.

The East went ahead before the period ended on a drive that was featured by a 35-yard run by Nardacci, and a 25-yard pass from Crowther to Witt. Crowther and Nardacci did most of the rushing and Nardacci went over on an end run from the 2-yard line. Prevost, of Penn. State, place kicked the point that was to win the game.

Two Kicks Are Blocked.

The East scored again in the fourth period after another long march featured by Crowther and Eckberg, of West Virginia. Nardacci again made the touchdown but the place kick was blocked.

JUDGES PLACE HAYWARD FIRST DESPITE CLAIM OF FOU

Favorite Wins By Crossing in Front of Field

Officials Rule Chances of Contenders Were Not Thereby Jeopardized.

PONJOLA A SURPRISE

Barrett Stable's Entry Defeats Monastery and Naughty Nisba Handily.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 6. — Hayward, owned by Mrs. T. O. Webber, captured the Live Oak Purse, feature race at Jefferson Park, this afternoon, in rather handy fashion, but the backers of the bay colt underwent a severe strain while claims of foul were being heard by the stewards.

In his last previous race Hayward was set back for interfering with horses, and again today he crossed in front of his field, after turning for home; but the officials evidently were of the opinion that the others did not suffer sufficiently to warrant a disqualification.

Hayward was a hot favorite. Will Wells, third choice, was the one to get second money, beating out Benedict Vow, the one most fancied next to the winner.

Form Players Jolted.

Form players received a rude jolt in the St. Bernard Claiming Handicap, secondary feature of the day, when Ponjola, from the stable of A. E. Barrett, was returned the winner over Monastery and Naughty Nisba. The chestnut gelding closed fast on the outside to win going away.

Dust Flower, Naughty Nisba and Miss Kate were the ones most fancied in this race, but Naughty Nisba was the only one of the trio to get any portion of the money. Monastery broke running and seemed a sure winner turning for home, but tired badly in final sixteenth. Benedict Vow tired badly. The victory of Hayward made it a double for Mrs. Webber, as she also won the first race of the afternoon with Escolane.

Outsider Wins First Race.

Escolane, an outsider, stole a long lead in the opener and won, with plenty in reserve, from Firmament and Uncle J. Atomin, the favorite, had a rough journey.

Jaunt Bar ran to his best form in the second race and beat Charles Henry a nose, after a long stretch drive. Poppie, the favorite, finished third.

Another close finish came with the running of the third event. Sea Court finished on the outside and trimmed Carnarvon. The latter set a fast pace throughout, but could not last it out. The Fenian had a rough journey, but got the small end of the purse.

Jefferson Park Notes.

Owner S. B. Rawlins is in jail here charged with the fatal shooting of a negro. Rawlins, who owns Superbum, claims that he fired in self-defense.

Mose Goldblatt departed for Cincinnati on a business trip. He will return the latter part of next week.

W. H. Fizer was an arrival with seven horses which had been racing on the Maryland circuit.

It is probable that the suspension of Jockey Robbins will be terminated after he spends 15 days on the ground.

Perry Winfrey, owner of Lady Bossa and other thoroughbreds, arrived from Dallas, Tex., where he had been visiting relatives.

CATHOLIC HIGH SCHOOL TITLE BASKET TOURNEY WILL BE HELD IN MARCH

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6. — The second annual tournament to decide the national Catholic interscholastic basket ball championship of the United States will be held here at Loyola University March 19, 20, 21 and 22, it was announced today.

First prize, now held by Spaulding Institute, Peoria, Ill., winner of last year's tournament, is the Cardinal's Cup, a silver trophy offered by Cardinal Mundelein. Peoria won the finals, defeating Marquette Academy of Milwaukee, 21 to 7. Several other prizes for runners-up the team showing the greatest sportsmanship and the team traveling the longest distance, are to be put up.

STARS BASEBALL CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

At a reorganization meeting of the St. Louis Stars (negro) Baseball Association, Judge Crittenden Clark was elected president, Dr. G. B. Key vice president, Richard Kent secretary, Ernest Patillo assistant secretary and L. A. Brown treasurer.

The company decided to incorporate for $100,000 and the papers are ready for signatures when Kent, Key and Brown return from the league meeting in Chicago this week. It is understood that only about one-third of the amount will be aavilable for stock buyers.

It is planned to improve the park and also make use of extra ground space owned by the corporation. The complete plans will be worked out after the league meeting.

Alabama to Meet Texas.

AUBURN, Ala., Dec. 6.—The 1925 football schedule for the Alabama Polytechnic Institute announced today shows that Auburn's Tigers will go to Dallas, Tex., Oct. 17, to play the University of Texas.

Art Longworth Tells How To Play the Chip Shot

Mashie-Niblic, Spade or Mashie to Be Used, Depending on Obstacles to Be Cleared—Shot Advised From Edge of Green Back to 75 Yards Away.

By Art Longworth.
Professional at the St. Louis Country Club.

The following is the third of 20 articles on golf by Art Longworth, instructor of the St. Louis Country Club, and champion among Missouri professionals. In these articles Longworth will give advice on the use of all clubs, explain common mistakes by players and tell how to meet difficult situations on the links. In connection with this series, Longworth will answer questions on golf for readers of the Post-Dispatch.

ART LONGWORTH

THE chip shot is played from points at the edge of the green back to about 75 yards and is usually played with mashie niblick, spade mashie or mashie.

The shot is advised where obstacles between the ball and green, such as bunkers, rough or "chocolate drops," make it impossible to play the run-up shot.

In playing the shot it is advisable to study carefully the contour of the ground to be covered, figuring the point where you want your ball to land, how much roll your ball will take after landing on the green. Allowance must be made for the roll of the ground. As the name suggests, the shot is merely a chip.

Use the open stance, with the right foot advanced five or six inches nearer the ball and with the weight equally distributed on both feet.

Grip Is Important.

As in the case of the run-up shot, grip the club with the thumb of the right hand on top of the shaft, as this steadies your stroke and gives firmness and direction.

In taking the club back take the club head back straight and up on an imaginary line, with the left hand. Keep a firm grip, hit the ball with the right hand and follow through so you can see the face of the club.

Do not roll the left hand over the right unless you want run on the ball after it lands.

Straight Left Arm.

Be careful to keep a straight left arm on this shot.

Even for a chip shot of say 75 yards it is not necessary to finish your shot with the club head any higher than your waist.

In addressing the ball, have the hands slightly in front of the club head and hit the ball on the down stroke. This makes the club head "bite" the ball and gives the ball a drag when it hits the green, with very little run.

In playing this shot, choose your club depending on the obstacles between your ball and the green that your ball must clear.

The next article in the Longworth series will be on "The Mashie-Niblic, the Shot-Saver." It will appear in the Post-Dispatch Wednesday.

Stein and Kaley Beat Lambert and Meyer by 20 Pins

Winners Score 7733 Total Against 7713 in 20-Game Doubles Match.

In one of the closest doubles bowling matches ever held in St. Louis, Clarence Kaley and Otto Stein Jr. defeated Wooster Lambert and Rudi Meyer by 20 pins in a 20-game, total pins to count, match. The final scores were Kaley and Stein, 7733; and Lambert and Meyer, 7713. In winning, Kaley and Stein overcame a lead of 97 pins gained by their opponents in the first three blocks.

The final five games rolled at the Washington yesterday resulted in a victory for Stein and Kaley with a total of 2006 to one of 1889 for Lambert and Meyer. Stein and Kaley were the victors in three of the four blocks of five games each.

Kaley Rolls 279.

Kaley was the individual star of the match yesterday with a total of 1022 for an average of 204 2-5. He started with a 279 game. He opened with a double and after the No. 10 pin had stood up in the third frame, he closed with nine strikes in a row. Kaley's other games were 170, 189, 191 and 193.

In the third, Stein came through with a 264 total. He had nine strikes in a row, and in the tenth frame left the 6—10 standing, missing them both on his second effort. Stein counted 984 for the five.

Lambert Consistent.

Lambert bowled consistently for the losers, finishing with 1017, for an average of 203 2-5. Lambert had games of 191, 194, 205, 205 and 222. Meyer, who in the first block at the Washington, counted better than 1100, was able to get only 872, with 183 as his high game.

For the entire match, Stein was the star with a total of 3954. The other individual counts were Meyer, 3941; Lambert, 3772; and Kaley, 3779.

INDIVIDUAL CLASSIC TOURNAMENT WILL BE BOWLED HERE TODAY

An individual classic tournament of five games, total pins to count, will be rolled on the Rogers Recreation alleys today, starting at 2 o'clock. More than 50 local stars have entered in the competition. The entry fee is $5 a man, and the pintopplers will change alleys after each 10 frames.

It is the intention of officials to hold a tourney of this kind the first Sunday in each month. A gold medal will be awarded to the tenthe first three classics.

BOWLING STARS IN AN UNUSUAL MATCH

An unusual special bowling match in which six of the best bowlers in St. Louis will participate was arranged last night. A team composed of Wooster Lambert, Rudi Meyer and "Hap" Vierheller will oppose R. E. Karls, C. F. Kaley and Otto Stein in a series of 16 games, starting Monday afternoon. Total pins will decide the match. The matches will be divided between the Washington and Rogers alleys.

No Havana Racing Today.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 6—No racing will take place at Oriental Park tomorrow as it is Maceo Day, a day of mourning in Cuba. There will be no racing Monday. Tuesday entries close at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning.

1927 Belmont Futurity to Be Worth $100,000

Race Will Be the Richest in the World—Starting Fee to Be $1000.

By G. F. T. Ryall,
Of the New York World Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The Futurity, which will be run at Belmont Park in September, 1927, will be the richest race in the country, if not in the whole world, as it is estimated the gross value will be at least $100,000.

According to the conditions on the blanks that V. E. Schaumberg, racing secretary of the Westchester Racing Association, will send out within the next fortnight, the classic for 2-year-olds will have an added value of $25,000. The starting fee will be $1000.

The Futurity run last September, and won by H. P. Whitney's Mother Goose, has a gross value of $78,150. Of this $10,000 was added by the association and the remainder was made up from nomination and declaration fees of 1390 horses and a starting fee of $250 for 29 runners.

The nominations for the race in 1927, which will close on Jan. 3, 1925, are expected to exceed 1900, which with the increased starting fee and added money, will make the race worth $100,000 or more.

The Westchester Racing Association also will have the honor of offering the richest fixture for 3-year-olds in 1927, as the Belmont stakes of that year will have an added value of $25,000. As the race which will be at one mile and a half, recently closed with 500 nominations, it is expected that its gross value will be in excess of $90,000.

WESTERN HORSES LED THOSE OF EAST IN WINNINGS IN KENTUCKY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 6. — Although Eastern-owned thoroughbreds failed to win 12 of the 19 rich stakes on the Kentucky racing circuit in which that section was represented during the past season, the seven that were successful piled up a total of $124,779.50 in first prizes. This is slightly less than one-half the stake earnings of the Westerners, which amounted to $251,315, exclusive of second, third and fourth place awards.

UNION STATION IMPROVEMENTS EXPEDITE TRAIN MOVEMENTS

Four Tracks at Each End of Train Shed Lengthened to Accommodate the Longer Coaches.

Improvements at Union Station will expedite the movement of passenger trains of unusual length without interference with the arrival and departure of other trains.

Several of the St. Louis lines now operate regular trains carrying 12 or more cars, with an average length of more than 80 feet per car. The Frisco, during the past week, has brought in trains with as many as 15 cars. Changes necessitated by these long trains involved reconstruction and material lengthening of four tracks at the west end of the train shed and four at the Eighteenth street end.

When Union Station was opened 30 years ago the longest track was 883 feet and the average was 894 feet, but at that time passenger cars were not as long as now. Engineers who planned the station track layouts scarcely imagined that passenger trains would come, in time, with as many as 15 cars of much greater length than the maximum sizes of that day in transportation development.

Lengthening of the station tracks, so far completed, involved some engineering problems, as it was essential that the added capacity be supplied without inconveniencing the operation of the shorter trains which had to be moved in and out of the station during the same rush periods. With completion of the program under way, President Henry Miller of the Terminal Railroad Association expects a marked improvement in arrival and departure of these trains.

Temperature Same for 12 Hours.

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 6.—A record is believed to have been made here yesterday when the mercury remained stationary at 36 dgrees from 12 o'clock noon to 12 o'clock midnight. The temperature varied only 4 degrees in the last 24 hours.

CHASE BAG CO. TO HEAD MERGER OF SIX CONCERNS

Manufacturers of Burlap, Cotton and Paper Sacks Will Combine Next Month.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—A consolidation of bag companies, manufacturing burlap, cotton and paper bags, has been formed made up of the following companies:

American Bag Co., Memphis, Tenn.; Buffalo Bag Co., Buffalo, N. Y.; Chase Bag Co. of St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo.; Cleveland-Akron Bag Co., Cleveland, O.; Milwaukee Bag Co., Milwaukee, Wis., and Northern Bag Co., Minneapolis.

Operations will begin Jan. 1 and the organization will be known as the Chase Bag Co., each branch retaining its original identity. Executive officers will be established in New York.

The Chase Bag Co., a Missouri corporation with authorized capital of $1,000,000, has a plant and offices at 4-26 North Main street. Elliott K. Ludington, president, was away form the city yesterday and other officials would not make a statement regarding the consolidation.

WOMAN, CONFESSED SLAYER, GIVES COURTROOM THRILL

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 6.—Mrs. Winona Green, confessed slayer of her husband's father and mother, gave spectators in the Criminal Court here today a thrill when she suddenly leaped from her chair and rushed by her attorneys and the court attaches to seize and caress a picture of a baby which she maintains was born to her six years ago and which she declares she has kept in hiding from her family.

A sanity hearing is in progress to determine whether Mrs. Green was mentally responsible when the killings occurred. Attorneys for the defense, in their opening statement, declared they do not believe such a child exists. The woman has refused to tell the whereabouts of the child.

Mrs. Green's father-in-law was shot to death here and her mother-in-law was killed near Fisher, Ok.

PRESIDENT FAVORS SHOALS PROPOSAL OF UNDERWOOD

If Author of Power Project Plan Agrees to Changes Sought by Mr. Coolidge, It Likely Will Pass.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Administration leaders in the Senate expect President Coolidge to formally indorse the Underwood Muscle Shoals bill, with amendments.

If Senator Underwood agrees to the amendments recommended by the administration, as they expect him to do, the leaders believe the bill will be passed toward the end of next week.

This would send the issue back to the House, which adopted at the last session a bill to lease the property to Henry Ford, who has since withdrawn his offer. With administration support behind the measure, leaders of the majority party believe it will pass the House, and end a controversy that has been raging in Congress for nearly three years.

Underwood said today he was willing to consent to "any reasonable" amendment to his bill. Before preparing it he conferred with Secretary of War Weeks and believes an agreement can be reached on any differences that may exist with the War Department.

Statement by President Monday.

The President is expected to make known his exact attitude on the Underwood bill in a letter to Senate leaders Monday. Secretary Weeks completed the War Department's report on the measure today and laid it before the Chief Executive.

If an agreement on amendments cannot be reached between the administration and Underwood Republican leaders said today that both the Norris and Underwood bills would be voted down and another bill drafted to incorporate the administration principles.

Senator Norris, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, which reported the Norris bill, is determined to fight for the passage of his own measure. He declared today he "Did not understand how any Senator from the South could vote for the Underwood bill."

Senate leaders plan to hold the issue before the Senate until some definite action is taken, and, although the Isle of Pines treaty is slated to come up Wednesday, the Muscle Shoals question will have the right of way. Since a number of Senators have expressed the intention to speak on the subject, it is not believed by leaders that a vote can be taken until after Wednesday.

Republicans Indorse Proposal.

A number of Republican Senators openly have indorsed the Underwood proposal among them being Senators Smoot, Utah; McKinely, Illinois, Fernald, Maine, and Brookhart of Iowa.

Senator Underwood's plan for the operation of Muscle Shoals would dedicate the property to national defense, provide for either Government or private operation for the production of nitrogen for explosives and fertilizer and calls for the construction of dam No. 3.

$52,826 SPENT BY THE DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE

JOPLIN, Mo., Dec. 6.—Missouri Democrats spent $52,826.65 through their State Committee in the 1924 general election campaign, according to the report of G. F. Newburger of Joplin, treasurer of the committee, made public here today. The report showed a balance in the treasury Nov. 25 of $166.50.

Newburger's report covers all receipts and disbursements during the period from Sept. 12 to Nov. 25, inclusive. The committee received from 504 contributors a total of $53,993.15.

The largest sum was spent in St. Louis through the City Democratic Committee. Three appropriations for sum aggregating $21,000 were made by the State Committee to the City Committee of St. Louis for "organization." There was one appropriation of $15,000 and two for $3000 each.

Other principal expenditures were for salaries for clerical work, for printing, postage and stationary. Many items of "expense accounts" also appeared on the tabulated list of disbursements. Among miscellaneous items of expense listed is one of $32.50 as "tips for waiters," at a meeting at the Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis. Oct. 18.

The largest contribution to the expense fund was made by L. C. and J. W. Nelson, who gave $2500. Among other large contributors were: J. T. Blair, $800; Howard Cook, $1500; W. F. Carter, $750; D. R. Francis, $1000; F. A. Guerner $1,500; W. T. Kemper, $1000; E. S. Lewis, $1000; A. W. Nelson, Democratic candidate for Governor, $1000; L. C. and M. A. Nelson, $1000; G. F. Newburger, $1000; H. S. Priest, $1000. D. G. Taylor, $1000, and Ed S. Villamore, $1000.

DEATH FOR INCURABLES PROPOSED IN DANISH BILL

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, Dec. 6. — When the Minister of Justice of Denmark drafted the bill which would permit physicians to end the lives of incurable patients he sought merely to legalize what is a general practice in Scandinavia and Germany.

This was made clear by distinguished physicians here and in Copenhagen last night. A famous German surgeon, who for obvious reasons would not permit the use of his name, said:

"When a physician finds his patient suffering and knows he is beyond all possible medical care, the practice is to summon two colleagues and if they agree with the diagnosis, morphine is administered in such quantities as to assure a speedy and quiet end. We are prohibited by law from doing this, but there has never yet arisen a case in which a physician was prosecuted."

A bill similar to the Danish one was put forward in the Reichstag here three years ago, but the inability of experts to agree when the administration of morphine is justifiable hindered its passage. The New York World and Post-Dispatch's correspondent in Copenhagen reports the bill has aroused little discussion there as yet.

Physicians, with few exceptions approve, pointing out the bill merely legalizes the common practice. Opponents of the bill, aside from those who argue against it from religious grounds, express the fear such power might lead to abuse by the unscrupulous.

FILM TO AID TRAFFIC HERE

Movie Designed to Prevent Accidents Will Be Shown in Theaters.

An educational moving picture film for the prevention of traffic accidents, prepared by the Bureau of Mines of the U. S. Department of Interior, has been received by the St. Louis Police Department for showing in local theaters, beginning next week and continuing through Feb. 15.

Capt. Gerk of the Traffic Bureau, has arranged with the St. Louis Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association to show the film, after which it will be returned to the Bureau of Mines.

WOULD ABOLISH ARMY CHAPLAINS

Dr. Charles E. Morrison Asks Church Council to Quit Activity in Appointments.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 6.—War and race problems tonight were the most important subjects before the Federal Council of Churches, as it brought its business sessions of the week to a close.

Dr. M. Ashby Jones, Atlanta, described the racial question as the "most insistent challenge to Christian religion," but declared "progress is being made in meeting the question of white and colored races in the South."

War was branded as the "chief collective sin of human society," in a resolution offered by Dr. Charles C. Morrison, Chicago, editor of the Christian Century, asking that the Council Committee on Army and Navy Chaplains discontinue "its activity and responsibility in the appointment of chaplains in the officers' reserve corps." Dr. Morrison's resolution, which was immediately sent to the Business Committee without debate, declared that "spiritual guidance to the soldiers and sailors can be better realized by ministers of Christ in their capacity as ministers of Christ without military rank."

"The next great war must be prevented before it is started, former Gov. Milliken of Maine told the delegates. "The churches are the custodians and trustees upon this earth of the only force that will prevent it by substituting love for hatred and good will for suspicion, brotherhood for bitterness, in the lives of human beings, and so in the policies of nations."

Wants Women's Aid.

A greater place for women in the work of the organization today was recommended by the council in adopting the report of its Committee on Policy this morning. The policy report also called for continued and enlarged emphasis on direct evangelism, for more adequate and better equipped relief work by the churches to meet human emergencies, and for the setting forth of the Christian view on such questions of social, racial, economic and international relations as demand consideration by Protestant churches.

At the request of Mrs. John Ferguson of New York, president of the Council of Women for Home Missions, the council adopted an amendment to its report providing for the appointment of committees representing the Federal Council, the Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions and the Council of Women for Home Missions, to study the place and scope of woman's organized work in the church and the relation this work should bear to the general agencies of the churches.

For Broader Relations.

In view of this proposed study, the council suggested that the women's organizations do not promote their work under any new form until such time as the "whole problem shall have been studied and a uniform policy agreed upon." Many leaders interpreted this amendment as a step toward bringing the organizations within the council.

The report also declared "it is clear to us that the coming four years will call for constant study of the broader relations of our American evangelical churches to the churches of other lands. The churches of America associated with the co-operative life and action of the Federal Council must face the call to right relationship and true helpfulness toward the rising churches of Asia and Latin-America, the evangelical churches of Europe and also the Eastern churches."

Last Meal at Old Bismarck Hotel.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Guests of the Bismarck Hotel gathered today in the hotel restaurant to eat their last meal of roast goose and red cabbage, sauerkraut and spare ribs and tree cake, for the old hostelry was to close at 6 p. m. and the building to be razed to make room for a new 24-story Bismarck Hotel. The hotel and restaurant, long noted for the German food, has had clientele distinctly its own for many years.

URGE CLARIFICATION OF ASSESSMENT PRACTICE

Public Officials, Discussing Cotton Belt Case, Say Legislature Should Act.

Public officials have suggested that the State Legislature ought to clarify the relations between State and city assessment authorities in discussing the report of auditors that the Cotton Belt Railway had escaped payment of $106,822.95 in taxes from 1914 to 1921 through conflict in assessment practice.

The audit, which was made as a result of the assessment reduction scandal of a year ago, declared that the State Board of Equalization, which makes original assessments on public utility property, had made no assessments for the years 1914 to 1921, inclusive, on a Cotton Belt warehouse covering three city blocks at First and Lewis streets.

Amounts Lost.

The assessments and taxes held to have been lost by years follows:

	Assess.	Taxes.
1914	$350,420	$8,234.87
1915	350,420	8,234.87
1916	350,420	8,234.87
1917	371.590	8,732.37
1918	446,970	10,503.79
1919	803,480	21,714.05
1920	809,480	20,641.74
1921	809,480	20,526.39

This property was assessed in 1922 and 1923, the report says, but the auditors were not informed whether the 1924 assessment would be made by the State board. The report says that this, computed on the local basis, would be $827,480, with a tax of $20,438.75.

Revenue from railroad assessments is prorated on a basis of main-track mileage between counties in which the railroad operates, and the auditors say that St. Louis did not receive a share of the 1922 and 1923 tax on this Cotton Belt property because the road has no main tracks within the city.

Noted Several Years Ago.

Chief Deputy Assessor Sessinghaus said that he called attention of the State Board of Equalization to the omission of this Cotton Belt property several years ago. A statement issued by the railway yesterday declared that all Cotton Belt property has always been returned properly for assessment and all taxes have been paid promptly. An official of the State board at Jefferson City expressed belief that the audit was wrong in holding the warehouse was not assessed for the eight years mentioned, saying this was probably included with general property. He added that St. Louis gains in the division of railroad taxes on railroads that have main trackage in the city and own valuable property elsewhere in Missouri.

Assessments made by the State board on property in St. Louis are not reported in detail to the city, the auditors said.

JANACEK' OPERA, "JENUFA," SUNG FIRST TIME IN U. S.

Metropolitan Company Gives Czech-Slovakian's Composition Its American Premiere.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—"Jenufa," an opera by Leo Janacek, a Czecho-Slovakian composer, was produced in this country for the first time today, when it was added to the reportoire of the Metropolitan Opera Co. with a matinee performance. Maria Jeritza sang the title role of the opera, which was given in German. Mme. Jeritza, who comes from Hukuald, Moravia, the home of the composer, sang the role when the opera was presented in Vienna, several years ago. It was first produced in Bremen in 1904.

Janacek, who is 70 years old, is almost unknown to American music lovers, but he is well known in his country and throughout Europe. In his compositions he makes the melodic line the backbone of his music, spurning the intellectual elements, such as polyphony, thematic development and elaborate construction. The theme of "Jenufa" is based on Bohemian folklore.

SWEETHEARTS 40 YEARS AGO REVIVE ROMANCE AND WED

Couple Quarreled, Married Others, Reared Families, Now United at 66 and 70.

A romance revived recently, following a sweetheart's quarrel of 40 years ago, culminated yesterday in the marriage, at Springfield, Ill., of Mrs. Letitia Altevogt, 66 years old, of Edwardsville, and James Floyd, 70, a farmer, living in the north central part of Illinois.

After the falling out of two decades ago, at Reno, Ill., their home at that time, both were married to other persons, Floyd moving to his present address and Mrs. Altevogt and her husband, a teaming contractor, to Edwardsville. Floyd's wife died several years ago and Altevogt last year.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Altevogt was summoned to Reno to care for a sick relative, and an old friend, remembering the former friendship between her and Floyd, wrote Floyd of her presence. Floyd, who had not seen his former sweetheart since their quarrel, wrote Mrs. Altevogt and, receiving a reply from her, took the next train for Reno. After their marriage they went to Floyd's farm to live. Both have grown children.

SEVENTH AND LOCUST

Where Business Centers

The steady stream of busy St. Louisans passing the corner of Seventh and Locust are a testimony of its convenience. Within two blocks in any direction, lie the main retail and shopping centers of downtown St. Louis. Most of the large office buildings are within a few minutes reach.

Think what this means to busy men and women to whom time and convenience are of vital importance. Many thousands of them have discovered the value of banking convenience by placing their funds on deposit with the American Trust Company.

In so doing they have at their disposal a complete banking service, in addition to the saving of time, which its location affords.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF A GREAT NAME

"SUPERLATIVES ARE UNNECESSARY"—the phrase so uniformly used in the musical world when speaking of the Knabe—has quite as much significance in the home. There the Knabe needs neither explanation nor praise—the name on the fall-board stamps this Piano with unequaled prestige.

The lasting quality and artistry which are built into every Knabe Pianoforte merit this distinction. Its possession is ever a pride in the home, which it adorns and dignifies with the charm and beauty of music.

WOMAN, ONCE GIVEN THE DEATH PENALTY, FREED

Mrs. Anna Bruzzi Acquitted of Charge of Killing Contractor With Whom She Lived for 7 Years.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Mrs. Anna uzzi, twice tried for the murder f Frederick Schneider, wealthy ontractor, with whom she had ived seven years, was freed by a ury in Bronx Supreme Court early oday.

She has been a prisoner since he was found guilty and sentenced o die in the electric chair in her irst trial June 27, 1923. Prior to hat she had spent 11 months in he death house at Sing Sing rison.

Schneider was shot in his automobile on a lonely road in the ronx. The prosecution alleged Mrs. Buzzi was afraid he would iscontinue relations with her.

Jury Out 6½ Hours.

The verdict of not guilty was eturned six hours and 27 mintes after the case had been given the jury. As the foreman announced: "We find the defendt not guilty," a demonstration hreatened, but was checked by ourt attaches. Women had been xcluded from the court room rior the entry of the jurors. Sevral men who were in the room egan to applaud, but court atendants stopped them.

During the trial the defense reied almost entirely on an alibi, aside from Mrs. Buzzi's own denials f guilt. The principal witness for he defense was Mrs. John E. McGeehan, wife of the Bronx County District Attorney, whose office as had charge of the prosecution. he testified that she talked with Mrs. Buzzi at her home on the telephone within an hour after chneider's death. Counsel tried to prove that a person could not have traveled from the scene of the rime to Mrs. Buzzi's house and ave been in an apparently unrufed mood, as Mrs. McGeehan testied Mrs. Buzzi seemed.

Testified to Confession.

The chief witness for the State as William Turk, Mrs. Buzzi's rother-in-law, who testified that he had confessed the crime to him, xplaining that she had killed chneider to keep any other woman from having him.

Turk also testified that he had nt Mrs. Buzzi on her request the revolver with which Schneider was hot.

Mrs. Buzzi, after her arrest, cooperated with police in attempting o follow clews of a "mysterious blonde" and of a "gun woman" said to have been hired by busiess rivals to slay Schneider.

At both trials Mrs. Buzzi denied Turk's story and insisted that she ad been in the apartment at the ime of the crime. Turk's wife and er sister, Mrs. Sophie Dickie, charged that Turk had threatened o kill Schneider after he had made advances to each of them. Mrs. Minnie Schneider, the widow, accused Mrs. Buzzi of having taken er husband from her in 1914.

COAL MINERS TO GET BACK PAY ON MINE SALE APPROVAL

Wages Totaling $100,000, Owed to 800 Men Since January, 1923, Involved in Court Ruling.

Eight hundred coal miners of outhern Illinois will be paid 100,000 in wages owed them since January, 1923, when the Southern Gem Coal Corporation, a $5,000,000 Delaware corporation operating ines in five Southern Illinois ounties, went into receivership, if approval of the sale of mine properties for $2,000,000 is given by Federal Judge English of East St. Louis. The Gano-Moore Coal Mining Co. of Philadelphia is the prospective purchaser.

Sale of the property, which is wned by the Southern Gem Coal Co., a subsidiary of the corporation, was authorized by creditors at a meeting Friday in the offices of eferee in Bankruptcy Thomas of ast St. Louis, who is one of the eceivers of the corporation. W. S. Wilson, mine operator, of Pinckeyville, is the other receiver.

The miners have been in embarassed circumstances as a result of ailure to obtain their wages. The ines have not operated since the eceivers took charge of the company after their appointment by Judge English. From the receipts f the sale of the mine properties, which includes two mines in ranklin County and 10,000 acres f land in Jefferson County, in addition to mining equipment, a $1,175,000 bond issue of the coal company will be disposed of, and taxes nd other claims, including those f the miners, will be paid, amounting to $225,000. The remaining 600,000 will revert to the receivers o satisfy claims against the corporation.

Quotes "Shylock" In Lawsuit Over Property Lines

Lawyer's Recitation From Shakspeare Is Countered With One From New Testament.

A lawyer quoted Shakspeare's "Shylock" in Circuit Judge Wurdeman's court at Clayton yesterday as a way of explaining to the Judge why his clients were demanding an injunction and $500 damages.

The Judge had been unable to see why Mr. and Mrs. Armand F. Alphonse of 7216 Lindell boulevard should want the damages from and the injunction against Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kiefer of 7214 Lindell boulevard just because the Kiefers had extended a window sill and waterspout two inches over the easement property between their homes. Nor could he see why the fact that the Kiefers' garage took up two inches of the easement space should justify a court trial.

"It seems rather trivial to me," the Judge remarked.

Then stepped Attorney James Hereford to the bar.

"It is the principle of the thing, Judge," he declared. "Remember how Shylock in Shakespeare's 'Merchant of Venice' insisted: 'The pound of flesh which I demanded here was dearly bought; 'tis mine and I will have it; if you deny me it, fie upon your law; I stand for judgment; answer, shall I have it?' That is my clients' attitude."

Attorney Joseph McAtee for the defense then ranged beside Hereford. If quoting was the order of the day he, too, would quote.

"Remember, Judge, how Jesus said: 'Let him that is without sin cast the first stone.' Was Shylock's attitude a noble attitude?"

Judge Wurdeman took it under advisement.

Three Cruises to the WEST INDIES
On the S. S. Reliance sailing from New York January 13, January 31 and February 28

TWO LONG CRUISES

We have operated more such Cruises on specially chartered ships than any other travel company. Those planned for the coming winter bear convincing witness to our thorough knowledge and unrivaled experience. These cruises cover the entire Caribbean and visit coral Bermuda as well. In 26 days they visit 15 ports, which include not only the Greater Antilles and the Windward and Leeward Islands, but such mainland shores as Columbia, Venezuela and Panama. Both cruises will be on the "Reliance." $350 and up. No passports are necessary.

SHORT CRUISE BUT COMPLETE

This new Raymond-Whitcomb Cruise—the latest innovation in the entire field of pleasure travel—lasts only 16 days. $175 and up, depending on the stateroom.

The itinerary includes the three best known and most interesting islands in the West Indies—Cuba, with gay Havana; the British colony of Jamaica. American Porto Rico and Bermuda. Everywhere there will be excursions on shore and the cruise price includes them all.

In every respect it is a typical Raymond-Whitcomb cruise.

Mediterranean Cruise

The 20,000-Cunarder, "Samaria" will carry our Winter Mediterranean Cruise (limited to 375 passengers) to 24 ports and cities, among which are Venice, Tunis, Cattaro, Palermo, etc., often omitted from similar routes. Other features are Nice at Carnival time and an Included Trip to the Alhambra. Sails Feb. 5. Rates $875 and up.

South America Cruise

The most comprehensive South America cruise ever offered—sails January 24 on the great "Resolute," sister ship of the "Reliance." Sixty-five days, visiting Cuba, Colombia, Panama, Peru, Chile, Argentine, Uruguay, Brazil, Venezuela, Trinidad, Porto Rico—the Andes, the Straights of Magellan "B. A.," Rio, the vast Amazon, etc. $925 and up.

Stiff Joints Now Limbered Up By New Oil Formula

Remarkable New Discovery Gives Quick, Soothing Relief for Creaky, Swollen, Painful Joints

German chemistry that has given to the world aspirin for headache pain and novocaine for painless dentistry has now come forward with another discovery that makes enlarged, swollen, pain-racked joints a thing of the past. A combination of certain oils, known as Buhler Oil, has been discovered, which is simply rubbed on and disappears in a few seconds, showing how quickly it penetrates and is absorbed by the tissues. Even in the most severe and stubborn cases, almost instant relief has been obtained.

Swollen, painful and distorted stiff joints whether it be in the ankle, knee, thigh, shoulder, neck, wrist, elbow or fingers of your hand, are due to some infection which has involved the tissue lining of the joints. This, in most instances, can be traced to internal poisons, such as a blind pus pocket in a tooth or a diseased tonsil giving off poisons, which are carried in the blood to the joints thereby setting up an infection of the delicate membrane lining the joints and causing the joints to become enlarged, swollen, creaky and extremely painful. Buhler Oil, when applied to the affected joints, is readily absorbed by the tissues and penetrates quickly to the aching joint, neutralizing the pain-causing poisons in much the same way as Milk of Magnesia neutralizes an acid stomach, giving instant relief.

Get a bottle of Buhler Oil today and try a few applications in one evening. It gives quick results because it is instantly absorbed and contains a special ingredient which at once penetrates to the poison infected membrane in the pain-causing swollen joint. Your druggist has it and we guarantee it to help you or it costs you nothing.

YOUTH GIVEN 7-YEAR SENTENCE FOR ROBBERY

Charles Deibel Convicted of Participating in Holdup in Hyde Park.

A jury in Circuit Judge Ittner's Court yesterday returned a verdict of guilty of robbery in the first degree against Charles Deibel, 19 years old, of 4337 Blair avenue, and sentenced him to serve seven years in the penitentiary.

The youth was convicted largely on the testimony of Frank J. Conley, a railroad switchman, of 4831 Macklin avenue, that Deibel was one of two youths who robbed him at the point of a revolver, of a small sum of money while he was seated on a bench in Hyde Park, the evening of June 21. A few minutes later the two robbers held up Frank and Henry Enste, brothers, of 4217 Blair avenue, at Newhouse and Blair avenues, but the brothers gave fight and Deibel was captured.

His companion, Martin Collins, 18, 824 Wright street, escaped, but was arrested a few days later, and confessed he and Deibel committed the two robberies. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. In his opening statement to the jury, Assistant Circuit Attorney Stack complained that he would have to rely on the testimony of only one of the victims, as the brothers had sent word they would not appear because they were afraid to testify.

State School Attendance Growing.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 6.—That the average daily attendance in Missouri public schools is increasing is shown by figures announced today by the State Superintendent of Schools, Charles K. Lee. The figures show an increase of 33.5 per cent in 1923 over 1913. In 1923 the average attendance was 659,970, while in 1913 it was 494,309. The average dropped to 579,513 last year, due to "bad roads, inclement weather and epidemics." The total high school enrollment increased 115 per cent in 1923 over 1913. In 1913 there were 42,286 in high schools and in 1923, 90,931 and in 1924 98,094.

SCHOONERS HELPLESSLY ADRIFT IN ATLANTIC RESCUED

Coast Guard Cutters Throw Lines to Bluebird and Rachael Stevens Off Cape Hatteras.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The schooners Bluebird and Rachael Stevens have been rescued from their positions of peril in the Atlantic where they have been drifting helplessly, the prey of rough weather.

Coast guard headquarters received radio advices early today that the cutter Seneca had taken the Bluebird in tow, 470 miles off Cape Hatteras, and that the cutter Modoc was standing by the Rachael Stevens, 60 miles off Hatteras at daybreak, awaiting an opportunity to put another line aboard after having had one hawser broken.

Four cutters have been engaged in the attempt to rescue the schooners. The Gresham first went to the aid of the Bluebird, but within 40 miles of her destination was damaged by the storm and unable to make headway against the high seas and the Seneca was sent out. The Mascoutin, which first went out to save the Rachael Stevens, met with mishaps and has been of no assistance since.

BISHOP BRENT FLAYS OPIUM CONFERENCE

Condemns Conclusions of First Meeting for "Lameness and Inefficiency."

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Dec. 6.—Bishop Brent of the American delegation did not conceal his dissatisfaction tonight with which he called the "lameness and insufficiency" of the conclusions arrived at by the first opium conference. A statement from him to that effect will probably be distributed to all the delegates Monday.

Bishop Brent tried to have a plenary session called today, so that he could speak his mind before his departure for the United States. It was found impossible to convene a gathering at such short notice and the Bishop absolved the conference authorities of the suspicion that they were trying to evade the issue. He declared, however, that he would endeavor to present his views on the conclusions of the first conference to the French and British Governments before sailing.

Representative Stephen G. Porter, the chief American delegate, made it known tonight that he would read Bishop Brent's statement as soon as the conclusions of the first conference are embodies in an agreement and are placed before the second conference.

Disagreement on Operation.

A meeting of the business committee this afternoon was largely occupied with discussion of just what persons and which nationalities shall compose the central board for control of the world's opium trade, how the board shall be selected, and under whose authority it shall operate.

There still are divergencies of views. For instance, powers outside the league, like the United States and Germany, are not over-eager to have the board operate under the league secretariat while others, league members, maintain that is the best and most workable solution.

M. Sugimura of Japan, raised an interesting point, saying that Russia must be induced somehow to co-operate in the central board's work. That country must also be consulted, he declared, because the republic now was a great field for opium smuggling, and much opium was entering its territory. This subject, however, was not pursued, because the Soviet's scathing letter of refusal to participate in the work of the second conference is still fresh in the delegates' minds.

The first conference, whose membership is confined to opium-producing countries, concluded its work last night, except for the formal signing of the agreement and protocol, the texts of which have already been published, and both of which were adopted yesterday without a roll call. The documents will be signed at a session to be held Dec. 13, time being allowed the delegates to communicate with their Governments.

Second Conference Monday.

The second conference will hold a plenary session Monday morning which meeting, it is expected, will be confined to general discussions, the chairmen of the various committees presenting the reports on the status of their work. All the delegates hope that the committee and subcommittee labors will be finished by the end of next week, after which the task of co-ordinating the divergent reports will begin.

John Campbell, chief delegate from India, departed for London tonight. Bishop Brent will depart tomorrow night. He plans to spend a day or two in Paris, after which he wil proceed to London, boarding the steamer Leviathan on the fourteenth.

China's unsuccessful attempt to make reservations to the protocol and Japan's success in getting an addition to one of the articles of the agenda were the features of yesterday's session. Alfred Sze, head of the Chinese delegation, disagreed with the protocol's conclusion that in some Far Eastern countries the contraband opium trade equals, and even excels, legitimate trade.

Proposal of Sze Rejected.

Sze asked permission to insert a statement of China's dissent to the protocol's conclusion. Sir Malcolm Delevingne of Great Britain, Mr. Sugimura of Japan and Leon Bourgeois of France reminded him that inasmuch as China was not going to sign that part of the protocol, his proposal was out of order. M. Bourgeois remarked:

"One can sign with reservations, but one cannot make reservations and refuse to sign."

Japan's move to which there was unanimous agreement, was to enlarge Article Two of the protocol which bore the statement that "the sale of opium to minors shall be prohibited." To this the Japanese added "All possible steps shall be taken by the contracting Powers to prevent the spread of the opium smoking habit among minors."

This solution was finally adopted, after M. Bourgeois, objecting to the first Japanese text, created considerable amusement by stating that it was impossible for the French Government to enforce too strict a clause, because birth certificates did not exist in Indo-China.

Sze announced that in all probability he would submit a minority report in behalf of China, along with President Van Wettum's report to the League of Nations Council. He added he would make a formal statement of the Chinese position and the reasons for not signing the agreement and protocol at the final session on Dec. 13.

MARKETS OF WEEK SHOW FIRM TONE

Continued Moderate Hardening in Money and Maintenance of Industrial Revival Also Features of the Period.

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Following are the Associated Press stock averages:

	20 Industrials.	20 Rails.
Saturday	111.28	99.85
Friday	111.56	99.99
Week ago	111.40	98.67
High, 1924	111.57	100.52
Low, 1924	90.27	81.00

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The Evening Post in its weekly copyrighted financial review says:

"Firm markets, a continued moderate hardening in money and maintenance of industrial revival have featured the past week. Steel production now approximates 75 per cent of capacity. The prices of steel, pig iron and coke all have risen appreciably. Buyers evidently are convinced that the character of business has changed and that values are now established on a more secure basis. Meanwhile car loadings still set new high records for the season of the year, while railroad earnings, always an important factor in the industrial equation, are excellent. Nor has the outlook in the agricultural districts deteriorated; grain prices remain high and cotton prices are holding up rather well in the face of a crop that may run materially over 13,000,000 bales. Altogether, there is nothing to suggest that the business revival will be aborted. Economic circumstances are distinctly more favorable than at any time during the last several years, while the experience of the last two springs should preserve an element of caution and prevent a repetition of the bursts of overproduction that led to the industrial reactions of 1922 and 1923.

Money Rate Trend Up.

"Pronounced activity and strength in the securities markets still yield divergent interpretations under different analyses. To some the broad advance suggests an excess of speculation and the potentiality of a severe reaction. To others it indicates that securities as a result of better economic and political conditions and of the cheapness of money, are seeking a new level of values. The question to which view correctly sizes up the situation is a fascinating one, for which time alone can furnish a conclusive answer. It may be noted, however, that whereas during the first two weeks after the election investment buying seemed the dominating factor, public speculation appears to have played an increasingly important part during the past two weeks. Still, available evidence indicates that the speculative public is well equipped with funds and is playing the game carefully. Ultimately the decision will lie with the character of developments in industry and the money market.

"It is abundantly clear that the tendency of money rates has been upward for some time. The fall crop and export movements and the revival in industry have increased the demand for accommodation substantially. The Federal Reserve banks have stood ready to supply additional credits. They have bought rather heavily of bankers' acceptances in the open market, while holding fast to their other earning assets. Were it not for these acceptance purchases the money market would be materially higher than it is. Even as things stand, the acceptances are selling three-quarters of 1 per cent higher than early in August, while time money commands nearly 1 per cent more than at the earlier date. Here again the future is difficult to forecast. The course of business, the extent of speculation, the direction of the international gold movement and the policies of the central banks on both sides of the Atlantic will be important factors in determining the result. These variables obviously furnish a pretty problem in combinations and permutations. We shall simply have to wait and see, remembering that sudden and violent changes are unlikely.

British Exchange Rise.

"Pronounced strength in sterling exchange seems to reflect a belief that the pound is on its way back to parity. While the international movement of funds is a confused and two-sided affair, it would appear that the financial world is becoming increasingly confident of the desirability of London as a place to keep balances. Then there is the supporting influence of the loans that America is granting Europe and the fact that the season of heavy commodity buying in America is drawing to a close. Clearly, it would not be much of a trick to push the pound sterling the rest of the distance that separates it from parity. British financiers realize, however, that such an operation would be useless unless the pound would remain at parity. If the time is ripe for the event, and there are indeed many favorable factors, British acumen may be relied on to seize the opportunity. Certainly the restoration of a free gold market at London would be a financial achievement of tremendous significance."

"On the whole the tone in the stock market was better in today's short session. Buying at the opening, encouraged, perhaps, by a letup in the profit-taking and short-selling before the close yesterday, was sufficient to lift a number of industrials into new high ground. At no time, however, did the recovery take on the proportions of a real rally and profit-taking continued in a goodly portion of the list, including both industrials and rails. While the market receives good support on any set-back, it is becoming more sensitive to profit-taking. This is logical in view of the increase in the past week or so of purely speculative operations. Trading was active, with the turnover approaching the 1,000,000 share mark. Bonds were active without any change in the trend, which means firmness in the railroad speculative departments and ease in the gilt-edged issues.

Foreign Exchanges Steadier.

"The foreign exchange market was quiet and firmer. European rates generally were unchanged or slightly higher. Sterling moved up ½ a cent to $4.68 and French francs were steady at 5.40¾ cents, unchanged from the previous closing quotation. Business was quite moderate and with the European currencies maintaining the status quo for the time being attention of the market turned to South America. Argentine pesos made another spectacular advance, climbing 10 points to 38.60 cents. This is a new high level for the year. The appreciation reflects continued improvement in Argentine trade, as a result of better demand for agricultural exports; but the more immediate cause of the day's gain probably will be found in the recent $30,000,000 loan here.

"The statement of the New York Clearing House as of the close of business Dec. 6, showed the following changes: Loans, discounts, investments increased $1,676,000; net demand deposits increased $31,180,000; time deposits decreased $21,103,000; circulation increased $156,000, and excess reserves decreased $29,875,940.

Cotton Traders Mark Time.

"Commodity markets Saturday did little more than mark time. As is usually the case immediately preceding publication of a Government cotton crop estimate, trading in the staple was almost at a standstill. In the trade the concensus of opinion is that the estimate, to be published on Monday, will place the crop at approximately 13,250,000 bales. Presumably the coming report will be the final for the year to be issued by the Government, and attention of the trade then will center on the size of the next crop and the demand from spinners. While it is felt that the present level of prices for the raw material permits profitable operations by the mills, the ample supply in sight is not likely to bring any great stocking up. An orderly movement of cotton into consumption channels is, of course, desirable for all concerned. January futures, at a late price of 22.92 cents, were 3 points lower.

Review of Metals

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Leading producers of steel are now running at close to 75 per cent of capacity, which gives a concrete evidence of the volume of recent buying. The demand is keeping remarkably well in view of the season of the year and the extent of recent purchases. The undertone is firm, although quotations are still slightly irregular. The daily production of pig iron during November gained 3749 tons over October and producers are blowing in more furnaces to take care of recent sales. The demand is quieting down somewhat, but is still of fair volume.

Copper firm. Demand has tapered off and there has been reactions in European markets. The latter have been offset by advances in exchange rates, however, and no selling pressure has developed from producers or second hands. Most of the larger selling agencies are believed to be booked pretty well ahead and are maintaining full quotations, probably in anticipation of a renewed demand after the turn of the year.

Tin made a new high on moderate accumulation of futures, encouraged by the advance in sterling exchange and anticipation of an enlarged demand from consumers after the turn of the new year. Price subsequently settled back on indications of pressure being exerted in London.

Lead was quotably unchanged, with demand better for desilverized and corroding for prompt and December delivery. Available supplies showed no signs of increasing.

Zinc easier owing to a falling off in the demand and a sharp break in the London market.

Bond Market Review

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Bond prices moved within narrow limits today. Frisco income 6s led an advance in semispeculative rail issues, moving up a point to a new 1924 high at 81¼. Other bonds which worked into higher ground included Wisconsin Central 4s, Seaboard refunding 4s, Wheeling & Lake Erie 4¼s, St. Paul convertible 5s, Chicago & Eastern Illinois 5s and International Great Northern adjustment 6s.

The rise in Mexican Government obligations, predicated on reports that service on the Mexican debts might be resumed, continued today, the 5s jumping 3 points.

—SPECIAL DAILY—

y a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—Today's twoour session on the Stock Exchange rought little change in the general verage price, although trading was active as on any Saturday in reent weeks and operations for the ise in many individual stocks were onducted with renewed vigor. The ains in these instances, however, ere offset by fairly sharp declines n other directions and it was eviant that the market was encounring heavy profit-taking.

Railway shares were next. There as a number of upward moves in rogress while realizing sales in ate favorites among the low-priced peculative issues went on. Missouri, Kansas & Texas common rose riskly to around the 33 level, then et a lot of stock at and just below hat figure. Kansas City Southern rossed 40 again and Gulf, Mobile Northern was up a point or more. & O. led the higher grade rails, hile Northern Pacific was a strong pot across 71. Chicago Northwestrn sold at a new high and the St. auls were in demand.

Philadelphia Co. was the feature f the public utilities. It had closed the previous day just above 52. oday it moved up swiftly and at s best it was more than 3 points igher at a fresh 1924 top. Pittsurg Utilities preferred made a new igh in sympathy. North American as active, although its advance owed down.

Stocks of the specialty type were ost prominent in the industrial ection. U. S. Realty was swept upard again, regaining Friday's loss. ullman sold at a new high on furher talk of a split-up. Coca Cola as at its highest for the year, and ir Reduction, American Radiator, olumbia Carbon, Famous Players nd Allied Chemical all made notble gains. Among the motors Genral Motors, Studebaker and Hudn, although moderately higher, atcted some attention.

The Bond Market.

he attention of the bond market the close of the week was still ccupied with so-called speculative curities. After the reaction late riday prices steadied this forenoon in some cases there were subntial recoveries. For instance, I. N. adjustments, which was one the principal features of the arket Friday, making a new high ove 71 and then dropping to , opened up today a point high-. St. Louis-San Francisco income another feature of Friday's mar, continued to exhibit great ength, selling at practically the t price on record.

Wall Street News and Comment

-SPECIAL DAILY-

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—Today's two-hour session on the Stock Exchange brought little change in the general average price, although trading was as active as on any Saturday in recent weeks and operations for the rise in many individual stocks were conducted with renewed vigor. The gains in these instances, however, were offset by fairly sharp declines in other directions and it was evident that the market was encountering heavy profit-taking.

Railway shares were next. There was a number of upward moves in progress while realizing sales in the favorites among the low-priced speculative issues went on. Missouri, Kansas & Texas common rose briskly to around the 33 level, then met a lot of stock at and just below that figure. Kansas City Southern crossed 40 again and Gulf, Mobile & Northern was up a point or more. & O. led the higher grade rails, while Northern Pacific was a strong spot across 71. Chicago Northwestern sold at a new high and the St. Pauls were in demand.

Philadelphia Co. was the feature of the public utilities. It had closed the previous day just above 52. Today it moved up swiftly and at its best it was more than 3 points higher at a fresh 1924 top. Pittsburg Utilities preferred made a new high in sympathy. North American was active, although its advance slowed down.

Stocks of the specialty type were most prominent in the industrial section. U. S. Realty was swept upward again, regaining Friday's loss. Pullman sold at a new high on further talk of a split-up. Coca Cola was at its highest for the year, and Air Reduction, American Radiator, Columbia Carbon, Famous Players and Allied Chemical all made notable gains. Among the motors General Motors, Studebaker and Hudson, although moderately higher, attracted some attention.

The Bond Market.

The attention of the bond market at the close of the week was still occupied with so-called speculative securities. After the reaction late Friday prices steadied this forenoon and in some cases there were substantial recoveries. For instance, I. N. adjustments, which was one of the principal features of the market Friday, making a new high above 71 and then dropping to , opened up today a point higher. St. Louis-San Francisco income another feature of Friday's market, continued to exhibit great strength, selling at practically the best price on record.

Seaboard Air Line adjustments were again active today but without important change. The refunding 4s failed to equal the high of yesterday. This is one of several cases in which the bonds have lagged behind their respective stock. There is some 12½ per cent back interest accumulated on the adjustments and until this is paid off there can be no dividends on the preferred stock.

With the tractions as with the so-called speculative rails today's market was about steady with some recoveries from yesterday's afternoon lows. In the week this group has divided favor with the rails. New York City tractions have been especially prominent on the theory that the political situation was improving.

Libertys and high-grade rails were little changed today. On the week all the Government loans have been heavily sold following the announcement of the offering of a new long-term 4 per cent issue. Prices recovered especially in the Treasury 4s, however, Friday and today. In the outside market large blocks of savings bank rails have been offered but holders were unwilling to shade prices so not much business resulted.

Foreign bonds have been heavy all the week and with one or two exceptions the same condition prevailed today. United Kingdom 5½s of 1929 have gone upward with sterling exchange and Austrian 7s are high, being within a point of the best price at which they ever sold. On the other hand, such issues as Copenhagen 5½s, Denmark 6s and the French bonds generally are lower. French 7s sold this week at the offering price.

The largest new offering this week was a foreign issue, $30,000,000 Argentine 6s series B. The old Argentine 6s sold down to the price at which the new bonds were offered. The strongest section of all the foreign list has been the Mexicans with gains of over 2 points.

To Oppose Merger.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Minority stockholders of the National Sugar Refining Company today organized a committee to oppose the contemplated merger with the American Sugar Refining Company. DeWitt C. Noyes was appointed chairman of the committee.

NEW YORK CURB

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Following is a list of sales, highest, lowest, closing and previous closing prices of securities traded in on the New York Curb Market today. Sales of stocks are in 100-share lots (except in the case of Standard Oil issues, sales of which are in full) and sales of bonds represent $1000 face value each.

NEW HIGHS RECORDED ON CURB DURING WEEK

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Demand that appeared on the curb exchange today was in sufficient volume to absorb the selling pressure which may have been induced by the previous days' setback in the more speculative issues. While the recovery lacked the vigor of the other recent upturns, the demand was well distributed and gave evidence of underlying strength, observers said.

Radio shares were among the first to rally and moderate gains were reported in public utilities. Commonwealth Power rose to a new high for the present movement. Petroleum shares displayed strength, but lacked any particular feature of market significance. In the bond department Standard Gas and Electric 6½s and Denver & Rio Grande 5s, when issued, continued active at new high levels.

Dealings on the curb the past week were on an extensive scale with buying of many of the various issues in extremely large volume, causing the establishment of numerous high records and lifting the market generally to a new high record for the year.

The greatest importance was attached to the vigorous buying of Lehigh Valley Coal, which touched a new high level. Nickel Plate common was prominent, moving up about 6 points and a gain of 2 points was made in the preferred stock. Radio issues were strong because of expected heavy holiday business and new tops were reached by Thermoidyne and Dubilier. Baking issues were irregular. Continental Baking A moved up over 3 points and there was heavy trading in the two Ward issues. Commonwealth Power rose some 10 points.

The feature of the oil group was the heavy trading in Royal Canadian, which rose to a new high for the year. Standard Oil of Ohio, which was a strong feature in the preceding week, dropped 26 points to 340, but recovered half this loss. Standard Oil of Nebraska fell 10 points.

STRENGTH OF DECEMBER IS WHEAT TRADE FEATURE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The feature of today's wheat market was strength in December. That delivery reached the highest prices on the crop today as a result of changing over of hedges. This kind of trading was the feature throughout the week, in all grains. Deliveries on December contracts were liberal in wheat and rye but when preparations were made to ship the grain carriers were more reluctant to give up holdings. Provisions were sold at new high levels of the season today.

At the close today wheat was 1⅛c to 1⅝c higher than last night and unchanged to 3⅛c higher than a week ago. Trade was not large but shorts in December were somewhat disturbed over the continued changing of hedges to the deferred futures. May was relatively easier than the other months as a result. Today's trading was simply a repetition of that all week. Liverpool cables were not as strong as expected. Seaboard reported only 200,000 bushels of wheat worked for export despite the advance in sterling.

Corn developed strength after a featureless opening and prices were up ¼c to 1⅛c. Gains for the week were 2⅛c to 5⅞c. Argentine news was a factor in the market all week. The poor prospects in that country tend to emphasize the shortage of corn the world over. Rumania surplus was estimated today at 30,000,000 bushels compared with 88,000,000 bu. a year ago. Some rain was reported over Argentina, improving the prospect. Shipping demand was light but only 35,000 bu. sold. The country sold 200,000 bu. corn to arrive and despite the larger offerings buyers were eager and raised their bids a half cent.

Trade in oats was much enlarged this week and strong interests are operating on the bull side. Bulls are basing their operations on the belief that oats are selling too low in comparison with corn. Last prices were ⅝c to 1¼c higher than yesterday and 3c to 3½c higher than a week ago. Shipping sales were 20,000 bu.

Highest prices of the season were recorded in provisions today. Excellent buying by commission houses was experienced and realizing sales were not heavy enough to check the upward trend of values. Lard was up 20c to 30c and bellies 10c to 12½c today. No trade in ribs. Changes for the week showed lard 72½c to 92½c higher, ribs 60c to 82½c higher and bellies $1.07 to $1.22½ higher.

Foreign Exchange

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The Evening Post, in its weekly copyrighted foreign exchange review, says:

"The most important feature of the foreign exchange market during the week was the steady ascension of the position of sterling, which on Thursday sold at the highest price touched since it crossed $4.72 in 1923. With its advance to $4.69, sterling is in a position where attention must be devoted to the growing confidence in the establishment of this exchange at parity within a reasonable time. Bankers were not disposed to discuss the force directing this advance of 6 cents to the pound during the week, but it was a matter of general understanding in those circles that the movement represented organized effort, the objective point of which is the restoration of exchange on London to its parity of $4.8666. The sterling market had been depleted of supply prior to this week's movement and during the greater part of the week the only offerings were those which were based on commercial bills and which did not find their way past the primary banking group. It is natural to assume that that group, with the expected upward movement forced into consideration, cannot be disposed to do more than supply commercial needs at around current rates.

"French exchange showed pronounced strength also during the greater part of the week, but yesterday, after advancing 10 points in the preceding days of the week to 5.52, was unsettled by attention attracted to the proposed settlement of the American debt and dropped to 5.40¼.

"Strength was maintained in the former neutral exchanges, Swiss advancing to 19.38, Holland to 40.50 and Sweden to 26.97, those exchanges now ruling at new high levels for the year and well above parity, but without sufficient margin to induce a gold movement from this country. Other continental rates were generally strong all through the week, making substantial advances. Exchange on Argentine made a new high for the year, advancing to 38.40 up to Friday and more today, the market being directly influenced by the successful financing."

"The foreign exchange market was quiet and firmer. European rates generally were unchanged or slightly higher. Sterling moved up ⅛ a cent to $4.68 and French francs were steady at 5.40¾ cents, unchanged from the previous closing quotation. Business was quite moderate and with the European currencies maintaining the status quo for the time being attention of the market turned to South America. Argentine pesos made another spectacular advance, climbing 10 points to 38.60 cents. This is a new high level for the year. The appreciation reflects continued improvement in Argentine trade, as a result of better demand for agricultural exports; but the more immediate cause of the day's gain probably will be found in the recent $30,000,000 loan here.

CATTLE AND HOGS SELL LOWER, SHEEP HIGHER

COMPARATIVE RECEIPTS.

	Last Week.	Prev. Week.	Year Ago.
Cattle and calves	32,561	26,764	32,981
Hogs	118,629	86,205	120,332
Sheep	8,069	5,294	8,211
Horses and mules	1,749	1,891	3,060
Totals	161,008	120,154	164,584

Declines were recorded in cattle and hogs at the St. Louis National Stock Yards last week, while sheep and lambs closed on an improved basis. Horses and mules were steady on best and lower on the plainer offerings, of which there was an excessive supply. Total receipts were of normal volume, aggregating 161,008 head for the period. This number included 32,561 cattle and calves. The strictly best beef steers and light steers and heifers held to a steady basis, although all other kinds depreciated 50c on an average. Stocker and feeder steers remained steady. Beef steer quality was mostly common to medium, the bulk of sales appearing in a spread of $6.25 to $9 per cwt. Best available consignments registered $10.15, $11.25 and $12.40, with odd head up to $13 and $13.50. The majority of light steers and heifers brought $3 to $7, with canner and cutter classes making $2.25 to $3; best consignments scored around $9, $10 and up to $10.50, the top. Beef cows dropped 25c, the bulk cashing at $3.50 to $4.25. Canner and cutter cows were also hit for a 25c break early in the week, but later regained this loss and closed steady. Cutters late in the week were quotable at $2.50 to $3.25 and canners at $2 to $2.50. Bulls dropped 50c under a narrow demand. Bolognas were valued on the close at $3 to $3.50 and canner offerings at $2 to $3. Some of the best beef animals scored $4 to $4.50. Stocker and feeder steers varied from $3 for a common kind to $7.20 for best. A moderate business was transacted. Veal calves advanced sharply under a good demand. The top and bulk at the close of the week was $10, comparing with $9 to $9.50 at the close of the previous week.

Generous Run of Hogs.

There was a generous offering of swine on sale at this market last week, receipts aggregating 118,629 head. Arrivals during the previous week totaled 86,205 head, this run one day shot by reason of the holiday. For the same week a year ago receipts totaled 120,332 head. There was a good run in regards to quality also, a generous quota of the offerings running up into butcher weights included among arrivals. With a good demand here during the initial sessions of the week, prices showed a stronger trend, Tuesday's deals indicating a sharp upturn in values. Top on that day reached $9.90. This figure by the closing session of the week had dropped to $9.30 for best heavy hogs, showing a drop of 15c from the previous Saturday's high sale. Best butcher hogs averaging from 190 lbs. and over, closed at $8.90 to $9.25 largely, these sales showing a drop of 15c to 25c from the previous week. Salesmen depended on the packers largely for an outlet throughout the week. Light hogs from 160 to 180 lbs. average closed at decline of 25c mostly, sales of these weights in a wide spread of $8.25 to $8.90 largely, depending, of course, on weight and quality. Pigs closed at an unchanged basis for most of the grades, although some kinds showed a weaker trend. Sales of the strong-weight offerings from 130 to 150 lbs. average at $7 to $8 mostly look fully steady, with the 130-lb. kinds and down ranging from $6 to $7 mostly, also steady. Some sales of the plain kinds were occasionally noted as low as $5.50. Packer sows showed a higher trend, with sales at $8.50 to $8.60, indicating an advance of 20c to 25c over a week ago. Stags were about steady at $6.50 to $7.25. Closing quotations on the different classes were as follows: Best butchers 190 lbs. and up, $8.90 to $9; light hogs and shippers, 160 to 180 lbs., $8.25 to $8.90; strong-weight pigs, from 130 to 150 lbs. average, at $7 to $8; medium-weight kinds, from 100 to 130 lbs. in weight, at $6 to $7 mostly, and light pigs and peewees from 100 lbs. and down, $5.50 to $6. Sows at $8.50 to $8.60, and stags at $6.50 to $7.25.

Sheep Sell Higher.

Receipts last week of sheep and lambs were fair in volume, total number of offerings yarded during the six-day period aggregating 8069 head. For the previous week there were 5294 head offered, this figure one day short by reason of the holiday. The corresponding week last year received a quota of 8211 head. Very few strictly choice lambs were included among arrivals during the week, quality taken as a whole running on the medium order. The entire week proved very satisfactory from the sellers' point of view, prices continuing on the upward trend throughout the bigger part of the session. A few fancy lambs established a top of $15, this figure being the hgihest paid at these yards since the month of May. Compared with the previous week's close sales show a sharp advance, comparative prices indicating a gain of 50c to 75c. Choice lambs at present are quotable up to $15 with the big end of the run clearing around $14 to $14.50, an occasional sale of some of the best lambs going to packers as high as $14.75. Medium to good grades areclearing at $12.75 to $13.75 largely with the plain to medium kinds at $10.75 to $12.75. Bulk of the cull lambs sold at $10 to $10.50 with some of the plainest kinds clearing down to $9. Skips ranged in price from $7 downward, depending on weight and quality. The aged classes continued in good demand at strong to 25c higher prices, a fair offering of this class on sale during the six day period. Killers took the big end of the light fat mutton ewes around $8 per cwt., some of the best kinds occassionally goingabove this figure. Medium and heavy offerings sold at $7 to $7.50 mostly. Some yearling wethers this week sold up to $11.75 with others downward to $11.25 and some aged stock at $8.25. Choppers and bucks are selling at $3.50 to $5 with canners at $2 to $3, bulk of this class clearing at $2 to $2.50.

Horses and Mules.

Horses and mules approximated 2000 head at the St. Louis market the past week, of which about 150 horses and close to 1600 mules were on a commission billing. Extra good big horses and nice Southerners, though not high, sold fairly well. There were too many cheap plugs and in-between offerings, however, and these sold on a lower basis.

In mules, the fat, good-haired cotton offerings remained on a steady basis, while the plain, common mules, of which there was an excessive supply, suffered irregular declines. A fair clearance was made in both horses and mules for the week.

COTTON TRADE WAITS ON U. S. CROP REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Beyond further evening up in preparation for Monday's Government crop report, trading in the cotton market today was virtually at a standstill. Fluctuations were correspondingly narrow. After selling early at 22.87c, January rallied to 22.99c and closed at 22.94c, the general market closing steady, net 3 points higher to 2 points lower.

The market opened steady at a decline of 5 points to an advance of 5 points. There may have been a little selling of the near month on relatively easy Liverpool cables, but offerings were light and prices soon steadied on covering for over the week-end. This probably was promoted by a more favorable tone of week-end reports from the goods trade, indicating prospects of increased business next week, but trading remained quiet on the rally which carried December up from 22.73c to 22.83c and March from 23.25c to 23.35c. At these prices the market showed net advances of 3 to 6 points on active positions, but the close was a few points off from the best under renewed realizing or liquidation.

Another private crop estimate indicated a yield of 12,838,000 bales, and estimated the ginning to Dec. 1 at 12,151,000 bales. These figures were within the range of recent reports and evidently had no effect on sentiment.

A canvass made of New York Cotton Exchange members, resulting in 84 estimates, the lowest of which was 12,990,000 and the highest 13,500,000, showed an average expectation of 13,247,000 bales. This was closely in line with the average of the private estimate recently issued and was regarded by local brokers as indicating that a Government report of around 13,250,000 bales was generally anticipated.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 158,000 bales, against 134,000 at the same time last year.

Private cables from Liverpool reported a dull professional market, with a poor spot demand.

Announcing

The first definite interpretation of conditions in the most important market in the United States.

The Brookmire Economic Service, Inc., with which is consolidated Howard-Moorhouse, Inc., announce an Agricultural Research Service in a form similar to the Service rendered by Howard-Moorhouse, Inc., since January 1, 1924.

The staff comprises the present Brookmire staff, backed by a record of twenty years of service, well rendered. The specialists handling the new service include James R. Howard, H. M. Moorhouse, Nat C. Murray, Lloyd M. Graves and C. B. Hutchings, all men with national reputations in this field.

Accurate Information for Practical Use

The service covers the financial position of rural communities in a way to solve the problem of how much cash income the farmer will receive, where his position will be improved and when the cash will be available.

This information is not merely general. It is presented in detail for practical use by Manufacturers, Jobbers, Publishers, Advertising Agents, Presidents, General Managers, Sales, Credit and Advertising Managers.

The Service has already proved of inestimable value in preparing sales and advertising schedules, and planning general policies.

"WHY IS" Beef and Pork Lower ?

BECAUSE—With corn bringing the high price of about $1.25 per bushel the farmer does not care to feed his cattle and hogs on high-priced corn. Consequently he is sending them to market. This makes a surplus market now—which will result in a shortage and higher market later (about 60 days from now).

'HOME-SCHOOLS' FOR WAR ORPHANS WANTED

Campaign for Funds, Starting Here Dec. 12, Will Be Carried on Throughout Nation.

A campaign for funds to provide two "home schools"—one for boys and one for girls—to care for American children made orphans by the World War will be made here Dec. 12-14 by the Children of America Loyalty League.

For the coming year it is expected that 1000 children will be provided for, at a cost estimated at $383 for each child. The location of the schools has not been decided, although several places have been considered favorably. If satisfactory arrangements can be made, these will be accepted and will be ready for occupancy within three months. The institutions are to be called "The Children of America Patriotic Home Schools."

The movement originated with the Children of America Loyalty League, and is sponsored by national civic and patriotic organizations. The appeal, which is being launched in St. Louis, will be carried throughout the United States until enough funds are raised to care for every American war orphan. Their number is estimated at 15,000.

The money is to be raised by the sale of "the Rose of No-Man's Land," little cloth flowers manufactured by disabled war veterans. No price is set upon the flower, the public is expected to give according to its means.

Col. John A. Laird, chairman of the local campaign committee, has asked for workers to assist in making a house-to-house canvass. Headquarters are in the Loew's State Theater Building, Eighth and Washington avenues, where volunteer workers are requested to call and register for service.

"This appal is not a charity," Col. Laird stated; "it is the paying of a debt we, as Americans, owe to these children. It is to our shame that the debt is long overdue. The movement is a stupendous undertaking and will require months of careful study and hard work to perfect the best policy. All we can hope to do in this initial appeal is to bring to the attention of the public the distressing condition of some of these orphans and start the movement, which is sure to result in their proper care."

$9,240,113 FEDERAL AID FOR MISSOURI ROADS UNDER WAY

Only Two Other States Have Greater Allotment for Work Now Being Done.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The ambitious character of the Missouri good roads program is realized in information furnished by the Bureau of Public Roads to the House Committee on Appropriations for its guidance in the framing of the annual agricultural appropriation bill.

The estimated cost of Missouri road projects now under construction for which Federal aid has been allotted is $19,418,957. Of this amount $9,240,113 will come from the Federal Treasury. Only two other states, New York and Texas, have a greater Federal allotment for work now being done. The Missouri mileage which is being improved totals 744 as compared with 668 in New York and 1507 in Texas. In addition Missouri has received Federal approval of 125 miles of projected road building. The Federal Government will pay $1,031,504 on this work, the total cost of which is $2,110,864.

On Oct. 31 last Missouri's share of the unexpended fund for Federal aided State road projects was $1,772,242. During the nine fiscal years in which Federal aid has been given, Missouri's allotment has been $17,940,188 out of a total for the whole nation ow $525,125,000.

The agricultural appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1926, which will be taken up by the House next week, carries an item of $76,000,000 for the continuation of road building under the Federal aid plan. This is $63,000,000 more than was given for the current fiscal year, but $4,000,000 less than the amount recommended by the Budget Bureau.

The total amount recommmended in the bill for all the functions of the Department of Agriculture is $136,978,465. This is approximately $58,000,000 more than the appropriation for the current year, but is about $3,000,000 under the estimates of the Budget Bureau for 1926.

Judge Lindsey Tells of Furious Fight Klan Women Made Against Him in Recent Denver Campaign

Juvenile Jurist Was Hissed and Booed at Meetings and Was Target of Slanderers but He Won.

Ben B. Lindsey is famous throughout the country because of his work for civic betterment as Judge of Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court of Denver. In the accompanying article, written for the Post-Dispatch and New York World, he tells of the character of the campaign in which with many powerful elements against him, he was a candidate to succeed himself. It was the most exciting election in Denver's history and Judge Lindsey won.

By BEN B. LINDSEY.

AFTER the hardest battle I have ever had, even in the days of the beast and the jungle when both political machines were against me because of the part I took in the exposure of the crimes of privilege, I won out for the tenth time in 25 years.

The official count has been delayed for more than two weeks on account of the absentee voters who vote by mail. The returns were not known definitely until the conclusion of the count of this vote, Nov. 19. The president of the Election Commission has just told me that my certificate of election would be issued in due time.

The particularly bitter character of the contest I have just passed through was due in large measure to the fact that I chose to openly and actively oppose the Ku Klux Klan, that became an active political factor in this State during the present year. The klan celebrated its first victory in August with the election of a klan Mayor, whose recall had been attempted. I took part in that fight because, among other reasons, I felt it was the beginning of klan domination in this city and State.

Faced Fury of Klan.

The Ku Klux Klan had swept like a prairie fire. It is said that this is the way of the klan when it is first introduced into some localities and we certainly got our fill of it. It was like the stampede of the herd full-tilt, and it seemed almost as useless to try to stop its mad, head-on rush. There was not rhyme or reason in it. I was the only candidate for any office that bucked this rush by appearing at anti-klan meetings. At some of these meetings, the lights were put out or there were noisy demonstrations, cat-calls, hisses, boisterous and idiotic laughter and every form of insult that could be devised to interfere with the right of free speech.

The conduct of the women at one or two of these meetings cannot be likened to anything outside of that of women before the tribunal at the French Revolution, demanding the blood of their victims.

In 25 years I have been on the bench, I have had the honor, with the help of our people, to write and place on the statute books some 52 items of law for the protection of women and children. Among these laws is that changing the domicile and jurisdiction of nonsupport and desertion cases to the residence of the wife and child instead of that of the husband and father, the mothers' compensation law under which I have managed to keep some 5000 children in their own homes, and the maternity law that has already saved hundreds of unborn children from the abortionists and the mothers from his butcheries. For one of these laws I had given my vacation time in the Chautauqua to get the money to initiate it to the people, in which campaign I furnished the money for such expenses out of my own pocket. Thus I got this law on the statute books. All of this service for women hadn't the slightest effect in stemming the fury of klan women who appeared at some of these meetings.

Slanders Broadcast.

I recall one woman who was screaming in my face, and thus addressing me: "You cur, you dirty cur, you dirty cur!" I encountered this woman outside of a hall and I said: "Madam, why do you call me a dirty cur?" having in mind all that I had done and helped to do for women like that. She screamed in my face: "You are not 100 per cent American, you are not 100 per cent American, you are against the klan." It was utterly useless to reason with such people. They had simply gone stark mad over the klan. They had paid $10 a head to hate somebody, and they were getting their money's worth.

Although I am a Methodist and a thirty-second degree Mason, I was accused of being a Jesuit and in league with Rome to overthrow the republic, all because I would not keep silent about the klan. I was falsely accused of filling the House of the Good Shepherd Laundry full of Protestant slave-girls or otherwise relegating them to a fate too filthy to mention. And then there was the poison-squad of women pole-cats, who knew no limit to the whispering of scandals and lies against both myself and my devoted wife. Thousands of the dim-wit and moronic type that go so much to make up the klan—especially the hoodlum element—in which it so largely abounds—readily accepted all of this filth as gospel truth and they delighted to peddle it from door to door.

In no campaign have I ever seen such stark madness, such bitterness, such hatred. It was mostly working people to whose interest I have devoted so much of my life and whose children have profited most by our legislation, who became the victims and dupes of the klan and therefore did most perhaps to crucify me. Of course they did not know what they were doing. They are the ready victims of that inferiority complex that gives them the feeling of exaltation with its accompanying delusion of grandeur when they read the klan literature and are called "men of the most sublime lineage the world has ever seen, the only sure fire 100 per cent Americans." They went into the klan by the thousands and of course furnished the strength that enabled the charlatans who capitalize their ignorance into money and political offices.

Survived Landslide.

As an evidence of the strength of their organization, they were able to capture the Republican name and organization at the primaries with a few exceptions. These few exceptions they celebrated by indorsing several Democratic. State candidates, notably the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor and Superintendent of Schools who, they claim, have either membership or are in sympathy with them. They were able to elect these in the face of Coolidge's 125,000 majority and the State Republican ticket's 35,000 majority.

Thus, running on the Democratic ticket, I was compelled to buck the Coolidge landslide that overwhelmed us with 125,000 majority, the City Hall machine, the Utility corporation, the Ku Klux Klan with its 40,000 voters in this city, all sworn to their own ticket and the poison-squad of old pole-cats among the type of evilminded women whose complexes and sex repressions have made them hate all other women who have ever been helped in this court because they are normal, even if sinful, as well as the accumulation of enemies of 25 years, two newspapers hammering me, morning and evening, the News and Times How I ever survived is more than I can understand, but whether we

WHEN IS A MAN REALLY DRUNK?

Students of Columbia University Undergo Laboratory Tests to Get Scientific Answer

Occasional Drinker, a Total Abstainer and Athletes Are Subjects of a Series of Physiological Experiments With Real Beer.

Supervisors Conclude General Conduct Type Is the Least Reliable of Three Available Methods Pursued to Determine Intoxication.

BY ERNEST BRENNECKE.
Of the New York World Staff.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.

THE prohibition law is having little effect behind certain locked doors at Columbia University.

In the psychological laboratories of Barnard (women's) College, which swarms with young women seeking refinement and culture, male students and ex-students have been given beer daily—the real article, full of "kick"—of as much as 3.58 per cent alcoholic content by volume, and sometimes as many as nine bottles per individual within a period of 40 minutes.

These young student-subjects have made merry; they have brought banjos and ukuleles to these drinking bouts; on good days they have sung and shouted boisterously. They have staggered around, trying to talk straightly, trying to do stunts—while their drunkenness, the exact degree to which they have become intoxicated, was tested and measured by the grave and solemn professors in attendance. Sometimes, when the doses were large, they became sick, they vomited, dead drunk.

These young people, naturally, have been having a good time. They have enjoyed this sort of training. Moreover, they have actually been paid cash for the time they spent in this way.

This has been going on, not only under the noses, but under the very direction of the university authorities, off and on, for more than five years—ever since 1919.

Why and How They Got Drunk

All this is being done in the name of science and education. It is done in order to find out the correct answers to the following questions:

When may a man be said to be really drunk?

How many drinks will he have to drink before he gets that way?

How can science find out when he is drunk?

When will he himself know that he is drunk?

When will his drunkenness be perceptible to bystanders?

Why can't a drunken man put his key into the keyhole?

What kind of man is most sensitive to alcohol and becomes intoxicated most rapidly?—and

What sort of fellow can best stand heavy drinking?

How can a police officer or a Judge decide whether a prisoner is "intoxicated"?

These questions are, of course, not as frivolous as they sound at first. They are really important—particularly in this country, where liquor traffic is illegal, and particularly in this holiday season, when many persons will be drinking in spite of the law.

Certainly it is important for a scientist and for a physician to know exactly what effect alcohol has on different types of human physique. Certainly it is important, in these days, for any man to know how much liquor he can safely carry inside him. Finally, it is important for a criminologist, and for a justice in a traffic court to know when a man, charged, we will say, with reckless driving, has looked too long and too intently into his bottle.

How can these questions be answered? Obviously, only by direct experiments on people. If we must know how a man (or a woman) reacts to drink, the only way to find out is to fill him (or her) with drink.

Thus reasoned Prof. Harry Levi Hollingworth, Ph. D., of the Department of Phychology at Barnard College, distinguished author of "The Influence of Caffein," "Judging Human Character," etc. And finding himself within the walls of a great institution of learning, he found subjects for such experiments on every hand. It would not do, really, to experiment on the girl students at first—that may be tried later on, and may yield important findings on the flapper question—but there were all kinds of young men in many other schols, more or less intimately conected with the University who would be delighted to submit themselves to these unique tests.

And so Prof. Hollingworth instituted his experiments, perhaps the most curious ever undertaken by a modern scientific school.

Prof. Hollingsworth presented to the writer, for use in the Sunday Post-Dispatch, complete data, prepared for the Journal of Abnormal Psychology, covering the actual experiments already conducted, and a digest of his first report on his results which he read at the university last Monday night. He also freely discussed with the writer his methods and findings. Here follow some of the things I learned:

The students on whom the tests were made were six men, ranging in age from 21 to 30, in weight from 106 to 180 pounds, in height from 5 feet 4 inches to 6 feet 2½ inches. In general health they ranged from a poorly nourished man, with little appetite and a stomach that was easily upset, to a regular member of the university rowing crew, accustomed to strenuous exercise. In general disposition they represented several stages in the range from modest demeanor, quiet attitude and scholarly interests, to argumentativeness, boasting, physical demonstration and boisterous playfulness at the other extreme. From the point of view of alcoholic habits they ranged from a total abstainer to a regular drinker of alcoholic beverages.

No. 1 was an occasional drinker; he was 29 years of age. No. 2 was 25; he took insufficient exercise and was not in robust health; he had drunk only 10 glasses of beer in all his life, and one glass of wine, although he was fond of a thimbleful of Benedictine after his dinner. No. 3, 25, strong and active, had been a total abstainer, never having tasted any intoxicating beverage before these tests. No. 4, the member of the crew, 22 years old, a moderate drinker. No. 5, 22, used to wine, which he drank with every meal during three months in France, gin and whisky in mixed drinks during the last two years, "got an edge on" about once a month, and on one occasion had been "sloppy drunk." No. 6, 21, tennis and baseball player, used to all kinds of alcohol, taking two to five glasses of beer daily during the summer, and four or five highballs weekly.

Each of the six subjects was compensated for giving all his daytime hours to the investigation by being paid a stipulated amount of money if he completed the series of experimental days. It was understood that if the experience involved in drinking large amounts of the beverage should prove too distressing or should produce illness, the subjects were at liberty to withdraw.

The Method of "Investigation"

All of the subjects persisted to the very end, however, though some of the conditions were found to be more exacting than they had anticipated. "A degree of loyalty," reports Hollingworth, "to the purpose of the inquiry and an appreciation of the demands of scientific work were required which cannot be purchased by moderate amounts of money. Only the promise that their records should be anonymously reported prevents a more personal recognition of their contributions to whatever value the study may possess."

The subjects presented themselves at the laboratory at 9 a. m. of each day. They remained under the constant observation of the director and the assistants until 4 p. m. During the morning they received no drink, but their normal behavior was studied.

But at noon, instead of being served luncheon they were served drinks—often on an empty stomach, occasionally accompanied with a few crackers, a few ounces of black coffee or "smokes."

"During the noon drinking hour," says the director, "every possible provision was made to encourage conviviality and drinking. The men were all congenial companions, they were all fond of singing, two of them brought stringed musical instruments, and the hour of drinking was always full of merriment, singing, good spirits and jollity, very similar to the atmosphere of a regular 'drinking session.'

"The subjects knew nothing of the purpose of the investigation, beyond the information that they were to be tested for the effects of different kinds and amounts of beer on their mental and motor efficiency."

Three kinds of drinks were served:

First. Water and lemonade, as much as they could drink. This was to accustom them from the start to imbibing large quantities of liquid.

Second. The "control-beer"—good beer, but totally deprived of its alcoholic content. This they called "near-beer."

Third. Standard beer, the common 2.75 per cent alcoholic content variety. The students unanimously voted it no better than the control beer; they declared it to be "weak" and lacking in "kick." But it was the real thing, delivered to the director in sealed cases. Samples were submitted to the Pease laboratories for analysis and the reports were as follows:

Specific gravity	1.01563
Alcohol by weight	2.79 per cent
Alcohol by volume	3.58 per cent
Extract	5.84 per cent
Maltose	1.06 per cent

The Schedule of Drinking

Here is a typical intoxication-schedule for the psychological drinking parties:

First practice day, employed in learning the method of the tests. At lunch hour tried drinking water as much as possible, along with three small sandwiches.

Second practice day, each man made 10 rounds of all the tests, and at lunch hour drank three or four bottles of lemonade along with three thin slices of bread spread with peanut butter.

First blank day, 12 rounds of all tests were made. At lunch hour each man had three thin slices of bread and one small orange, and was allowed to drink as much of one bottle of water as he cared for.

First control day, each man drank five bottles of the control beer, no food whatever being taken this day.

First beer day, each man drank, during the noon hour, six bottles of standard beer, no food being taken.

Second blank day, same as first blank day.

Second beer day, each man drank four bottles of beer, taking one bottle each 15-minute period; along with three thin slices of bread.

Second control day, each man had two slices of bread, and, except for No. 2 drank six bottles of control beer during the noon hour. No. 2 was made sick and vomited after the third bottle, and continued to vomit thereafter, so he was allowed to quit drinking after the fifth bottle had been swallowed.

Third beer day, each man had three slices of bread and drank, except for No. 2, five bottles of the standard beer. No. 2, who had been uniformly made sick by more than three bottles, was again made sick, and was allowed to take only three bottles.

Fourth beer day, each man had 4 to 6 crackers and a bit of cheese and three bottles of the standard beer.

Last beer day, after making three rounds of all the tests a halt was made for a few minutes while each man drank one bottle of standard beer, at 10:45 a. m. After another round of tests, each man drank a second bottle at 11:15, a third bottle at 11:50. At 12:30 a halt was made for the regular noon hour. During the previous drinking the men had eaten, along with the beer, 3 or 4 crackers each. At the noon hour each man was allowed the three slices of bread and drank

Agreement Signed by Subjects in College's Tests of Drunkenness

BEFORE taking the tests, each of the six subjects in the Columbia University drunkenness test signed the following agreement:

First—That I will abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages, except as prescribed by the director of this investigation, until the termination of this experiment. I will also abstain from all soda fountain drinks, and from all use of tobacco, except as permitted by the director.

Second—That I will observe regular hours of eating and sleeping, and will report to the director the condition of my health and spirits from day to day, in the book provided for this purpose.

Third—That I will appear regularly and promptly at the test hours, and will exert myself in each trial to make the best record of which I am capable.

Fourth—That I will not discuss with anyone outside the laboratory any features of the investigation, and I will hold entirely confidential, until the completion of the experiment, all matters relating to the purpose, method, personnel, results and all other details of the investigation.

Fifth—That failure to continue as a subject in the experiments until the close of the period shall be sufficient reason for forfeiting all compensation.

$482,000 in Interest Paid on $87,000,000 Municipal Bond Issue in Less Than Two Years

Securities of Total Par Value of $14,460,000 Sold, But Only $7,865,000 of This Appropriated Up to Dec. 1.

INTEREST paid and accrued to date on public improvement bonds issued by the city out of the $87,372,500 in bonds authorized by the people 22 months ago amounts to $482,190, up to Dec. 1. The rate is 4½ per cent a year, payable semiannually.

Bonds issued so far have the total par value of $14,460,000, but the addition of net premium brings the total realized to $14,579,753. The Citizens' Supervisory Bond Issue Committee, by the latest compilation (Nov. 10), has approved bills aggregating $12,924,283.94. The Board of Aldermen has not gone that far with appropriations, in the course of handling the bond work, appropriations amounting to $7,865,659.88. The amount actually spent so far is $2,225,743.93.

A considerable offset to the interest charges the city is paying on bonds issued lies in the interest received by the city from the proceeds, in bank, between bond sales and the call for money to pay bills. The banks pay the city 2¼ per cent, just half of the rate the city pays investors in these securities.

Amount of Bank Interest.

The amount of bank interest the city has realized could not be determined without laborious calculation, but the total is less than half the total of interest paid out by the city, because the money does not stay in bank constantly.

One large item in the bonds does not come out of general revenue of the city—the item for building the new Missouri River waterworks. Interest and principal on the bonds for this come from Water Department revenue. The figures for waterworks bonds which are included in the totals given above, are: Interest paid and accrued, $84,375; bonds issued, $4,460,000; bills, approved by Supervisory Committee, $4,306,775.06; amount appropriated, $1,927,751; amount spent, $93[illegible],449.29.

Interest and principal of all the other bond items come from general revenue, through provision of specific sums in the city tax rate.

Premium Another Offset.

The premium from sale of bonds, that is, amount for which they sell above par, provides another considerable offset, along with bank interest, against interest so far paid out by the city. On the $10,000,000 in bonds already sold for various public works the premium was $127,486. The first $2,000,000 in waterworks bonds issued sold at a discount of $40,000, but the next $2,500,000 worth brought a premium of $32,267.

Why are so many bonds issued when such a comparatively small sum has been spent?

Because, says Deputy Comptroller Gunn (and other officials agree with him) of the charter provision that the city may not enter into a contract for which the money is not available to pay. This is a safeguard to make public officials act within the city's visible means of support. Gunn would be opposed to an amendment of the charter (on which the people would have to vote), to remove this ban, because it would allow an inefficient or corrupt administraton to embarrass the city.

Why not issue bonds only as money is needed to pay for work?

Yearly Issue Limited.

Because, the Deputy Comptroller explains, of the charter provision mentioned and the provision of the bond issue ordinance of the amounts of bonds which the Mayor and Comptroller are arbitrarily directed to issue each year, ending in 1933. This schedule, arranged to keep the tax rate from jumping high, follows: 1923, $3,000,000; 1924, $5,000,000; 1925, $6,000,000; 1926, $7,000,000; 1927, $7,000,000; 1928, $8,000,000; 1929, $8,000,000; 1930, $9,000,000; 1931, $9,000,000; 1932, $7,372,500; 1933, $6,000,000. The ordinance says "approximately" these amounts, but this is interpreted to give little if any leeway. Mayor Kiel, himself a contractor, says contractors would not bid if complete funds for payment were not available at the start, and the Mayor doubts if the Board of Aldermen could appropriate money without having the cash entirely available.

Why not amend the ordinance to allow of issuing smaller amounts annually?

Because, says Deputy Comptroller Gunn, experience shows small amounts of bonds cannot be sold in St. Louis and it is not practical to sell them elsewhere; brokers want big lots and pay more for them. Such bonds are taxable in Missouri, so it is chiefly investors in other states who buy. Gunn thinks the State Constitution would have to be amended to remove this tax.

Views to Speed Up Program.

Why not speed up bond projects, as the Associated Retailers suggest, by interpreting the bond issuance schedule to mean the amount of bond money that can be spent each year?

In Gunn's opinion, the two interpretations would mean the same thing. Mayor Kiel agrees with this view. City Counselor Senti suggests that the Associated Retailers' interpretation might cause fear of litigation that would frighten contractors away.

Why not start a bond revolving fund, to facilitate all projects, similar to the $2,000,000 fund for hastening street improvements (another Associated Retailers' suggestions)?

The Deputy Comptroller can see no advantage from this, and wonders if issuing bonds for such a general fund would be legal, when the people voted bonds for specific things. The Mayor thinks such a fund would be helpful, but doubts its practicability, for the same legal reason Gunn suggests. The City Counselor hasn't considered this.

Promise to Voters Kept.

Why not issue more bonds each year, by amending the schedule?

Because, various officials agree, that would raise the tax rate and break faith with the people, who were assured the schedule would be observed to keep taxes down. Gunn figures that each $1,000,000 in bonds issued above the schedule would mean an increase of 1 cent per $100 in the tax rate, or an annual increase of 50 cents in the tax of a modest $5000 home. Counselor Senti voices the feeling that the city should stick literally to its promise to the voters.

Why not authorise the Comptroller to invest idle bond funds in Liberty bonds or other supposedly safe securities, which will yield interest comparable to the interest paid out by the city?

Because, Gunn thinks, such authorization would be illegal.

Bonds have been issued for only two propositions on which no money has been spent. These are No. 11, the municipal power plant, and No. 16, elimination of grade crossings.

Power Plant Delayed.

July 1, 1923, $500,000 of bonds were issued for the power plant and April 1 last an equal amount was issued. Interest on these to Dec. 1 was $46,875. The work has been delayed while the Supervisory Committee debates whether it will be cheaper to buy current for some uses or to generate it, and considers other phases. The plant is to have other features and was originally planned to include a centralized laundry, for which city engineers said funds were insufficient.

The committee has now ap-

Improvement of County Poorhouses.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NOW that the hysteria incidental to a presidential campaign has subsided, it would not be out of place to direct the attention of thoughtful persons to the nation-wide movement now being sponsored by the Loyal Order of Moose to break up the disgraceful poorhouse system now in vogue and group the eleemosynary institutions of each state in a central colony where the unfortunate can be cared for, free from the cold spirit of official graft that permeates the political morals of our national life.

At a recent gathering in St. Louis Secretary of Labor Davis scathingly excoriated the methods employed in caring for the aged, the crippled, the unfortunate, and pointed out the insidious connection existing between the county farm and the political skullduggery that emanates from the average courthouse gang rule.

As now operated, county farms are the choicest plums in the orchard of political patronage controlled by local rings. The superintendency of these institutions is usually vested in the person of a vote-controlling courthouse favorite who dominates his position in a lordly sway over his unfortunate charges and enriches himself at the expense of the old-age comforts provided and paid for by the taxpayers.

Were these miserable refuges of misfortune grouped in one central farm, with homelike features, removed from the influence of local political cupidity, under the government of an administrator with executive ability, the evening of life of the unfortunate inmates could be passed in comparative comfort and tax-drawn money saved to the public.

A year or so ago a St. Louis paper exposed to public contemplation the deplorable conditions existing in Missouri county farms, with the result of a general cleaning up and improved living for the victims of senility.

Illinois is little if any better than Missouri in caring for decrepit members of the community, but there are some model institutions, the most notable being the Macoupin County home, two miles north of Carlinville, on the State hard road, where the inmates, housed in a building erected for the purpose, enjoy electrically-lighted and steam-heated rooms with clean beds and nourishing food, with a clubroom in connection where they can read papers and magazines, smoke their pipes and discuss the stern realities of life that brought them to poverty's goal. Under a watchful supervision exercised by the County Board of Supervisors, a farmer is always placed in charge—one whose conscience is in good working order and whose sense of vision is sufficiently keen to prevent the disappearance of the home's products by "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain."

A study of insurance statistics teaches us that the vast majority of mankind is headed straight for the poorhouse and needs but the Psalmist's allotted three score and ten years to usher them into pauperism's abode. The Moose movement should have universal support for our own as well as others' sake. In the enjoyment of the present we are all prone to neglect the future, and when old age overtakes us we discover with dismay that the "mill will never grind with the water that has passed."

"To Keep the Home Fires Burning."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"KEEP the home fires burning." We heard that during the war. How long will the modern woman do it? The girl of today will be the woman of tomorrow; and as the tree is bent, so will it grow. I live on the Old Trails road, can still see, and am not going through life with my eyes closed; and the Old Trails road is without a doubt a fair sample of all the important highways of the country. We can't help but ponder on what the eyes behold; and the historic old highway is to me a continuous and ever-changing panorama. There is much to be admitted, but also much to be denied. There must be pleasures to counteract the hard knocks; but no such tumult, turmoil, bewildering riot of constant amusements and merrymaking as Ford has brought about with his automobile, unless Nature has changed her plans. And Nature has not changed her plans. Duties are still staring us in the face, and will, to the end of time. All the things that make for a better world are still on Nature's program; but at the gait we are going, Dame Nature must be looking on with parted lips in consternation and amazement.

However, wait and see. Wait and see the means she will employ to bring her people to their senses. Already she has shown what she will do, in the Great War; and she can and will do such things again, and worse. Calamity and affliction have a sobering effect. If it must be calamity and affliction, it is that she will employ.

INCOME TAX PUBLICITY.

To whom does the Government of the United States belong, and whose is the paramount interest to be conserved in governmental policies?

These questions are suggested by the recommendation of President Coolidge that the publicity clause of the income tax law be repealed, and that publicity be forbidden. The President's approval of secrecy in income tax returns makes a definite issue of a question which had been raised by protests against the publication of income taxes.

The ground upon which secrecy is advocated is not the interest of the people; that is, all the people, or of the Government, but of an element of taxpayers who contend that the publication of their incomes might be injurious to their business or to them individually. In short, that so important a thing as income taxation, upon which a large part of the governmental revenues depends, and the justice and equality of which is of vital concern, shall be kept from the knowledge of the people. They are to be kept in ignorance of the taxes paid by each citizen. They are to be kept in ignorance of the entire transaction by which Government levies on the income of citizens and corporations for its support.

Why should any man who honestly pays his legal taxes and who is not trying to deceive anyone object to the publication of the amount of his tax? Why should a legitimate business concern object to publicity of its income tax? Every man's property assessment is open to inspection. Corporations publish their assets, earnings and expenditures.

The theory of free representative government is that it belongs to the people. It is a government "of, for and by the people." The people elect their governmental officials. They have a right to know all about them and their official acts. They have a right to know what revenues are collected by taxation; how the taxes are distributed, and how the money is expended. This information is vital to an informed public opinion with regard to the conduct of the Government.

From the birth of our Government the people have opposed secrecy in any part of the Government or any function of government. They have insisted upon publicity of all governmental transactions and of all governmental records. They knew from history and experience the danger of secrecy in governmental concerns, the opportunity it offered for injustice, favoritism, corruption and inefficiency. The only exceptions to full and complete publicity were negotiations with foreign governments, discussion of foreign affairs and treaties previous to their adoption. This was merely a precaution against offense, but the completed negotiation or treaty was immediately made public and open to discussion.

One of the greatest evils in the history of the civilized world, the one most productive of countless ills, was secret diplomacy. It was the prolific mother of war and international iniquities. One of the most precious fruits of the World War and the organization of the League of Nations was open diplomacy, with the full publication of all treaties and understandings between governments.

If we start on a policy of secrecy with regard to income taxation on the plea that it may be unpleasant or injurious to certain citizens or corporations to have their incomes exposed, where shall we stop? This specious plea might be offered with regard to many governmental transactions. It might serve as a cloak for secrecy in other transactions between the Government and individuals.

It is said that it will be sufficient for the President and administrative officials of the Government to have access to the tax record. But the executive and administrative officials are servants of the people, who may or may not be faithful to their trusts. It is said that it would be sufficient for Congressmen to have access to the records, in order that the people may be protected from injustice, corruption and abuse. But Congressmen are servants of the people, who may or may not be faithful to their trust. How are the people to know whether their officials or representatives are faithful to their trusts, unless they know precisely what they do, unless they have access to all governmental records?

It was found early in the history of parliamentary bodies that their members could not be trusted, without full publicity of all their acts and utterances. It was found that publicity was essential to honest and efficient government. It was found that courts could not be trusted to administer justice and enforce the laws without complete publicity.

The winning of the fight for publicity in all governmental affairs was the beginning of good government. Practically the whole battle for justice and liberty in government was based upon publicity. It was won by publicity.

Publicity is the greatest moral force in the world. It is the greatest force for social order and governmental honesty and efficiency. Publicity! Publicity! Publicity! That is the watchword of a people who are determined to be free and to maintain free and just institutions.

We say without compromise or limitation that every governmental transaction, every governmental record should be open for inspection by the people and in behalf of the people. It should be open for inspection, publication, comment and discussion by the press. We say that if there is any one governmental record that should be open to public inspection, it is the tax record. It is through the taxes levied upon citizens that the Government derives its support. It is through taxes that the burdens of government are distributed among the people. And who can guarantee that the burdens will be equally and equitably distributed under the rule of secrecy? What guarantee can there be except publicity?

A CHRISTMAS TREE FOR EVERY FAMILY.

The American Tree Association has given a fitting answer to a delegate to the National Conference on Forest Utilization who recently urged a Federal law to prohibit the sale of Christmas trees. Charles L. Pack, president of the association, in answer to the proposal, urged a Christmas tree for every family.

To millions of American children, Christmas without a tree would be as barren as one without a visitation by Santa Claus, or the substitution of corned beef hash for turkey.

Mr. Pack points out that the Christmas requirement is about 5,000,000 trees, and refutes charges of waste by showing Christmas trees represent only one-tenth of one per cent of all varieties of trees cut annually. In other words, a forest area of only 10,000 acres is needed to meet the Christmas needs, while American forests are being cut at the rate of 10,000,000 acres a year.

It is difficult to see what benefit could be derived from denying American children this sign of the Christmas spirit.

A DRY CONGRESS.

The Sixty-ninth Congress will be dependably dry, according to the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The board's recording secretary, Dr. Pickett, has completed a poll which shows 319 dry votes in the House as against 111 wet, with five members yet to be classified. In the Senate the drys number 74, the wets 21, with one vacancy yet to be filled. So, the Volstead law is not only safe from liberal modification, but, presumably, it can be made still more rigorous if Mr. Wayne Wheeler, the general counsel of the Anti-saloon League, decides to apply still further pressure.

But does the sentiment of Congress, actual or professed, throw any light on the profoundly important question of the Volstead law's wisdom or practicability? If we are to find a trustworthy answer to that question shall we not have to forget Congress and turn to the nation itself? What would a survey of such magnitude and purpose reveal? Would it show a sounder public morale? A finer air of content? A better standard of morals, an improvement in habits, a higher code of social customs, a truer respect for law?

It was acknowledged by some of the less visionary of prohibition leaders that enforcement of the dry law would at first be difficult. They foresaw a trying period of adjustment. It may be doubted, however, if they even dimly visualized the conditions that have developed.

Whether it would be possible to name a commission of American citizens to conduct a national survey of the results of prohibition that would be acceptable to the liberals and extremists is doubtful. It does seem, however, as if such a survey must ultimately be undertaken. Certainly the present conditions cannot indefinitely be tolerated. The Volstead law, with its constitutional mandate must be enforced or repealed or modified. How many citizens are there who honestly believe that it can be enforced and are ready to follow Henry Ford to the limit of mobilizing the army and navy to effect that enforcement? Surely such extremists are a negligible minority. Must we, then, invite a commission from abroad to make this investigation and submit such recommendations as its findings warrant?

Such a recourse would, indeed, be humiliating, but this is the unhappy fate to which the logic of our folly is beginning to point.

A "dry Congress" means nothing. What we need and must have is a law-abiding people.

THE WILSON PEACE AWARD.

There will be no quarrel with the selection of Viscount Cecil as the first recipient of the annual award of $25,000 by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation for the greatest contribution to democracy, liberal thought, public welfare, of peace through justice. Cecil's achievements have been great. In the selection of an Englishman, moreover, the committee gives concrete proof of its expressed conviction that peace is an international problem, one not confined to America.

Aside from the appropriateness of the selection, another point demands attention. Isn't the modern endowed foundation peculiarly fit to carry on the work of a man like Wilson? It is more, remember, than a memorial. Rather it is the living means of perpetuating a philosophy. Too often we have seen a great principle, promulgated by a great man, fall into eclipse because of ephemeral circumstances. We are in the habit of shrugging our shoulders when this happens, of saying that such a man "was ahead of his times." Rather we should say that his times callously forgot about him. Lincoln was a case in point. All the tolerance, the kindliness, the deep humanity that he stood for vanished when he died, and we fell into a slough of the most shameful brutality.

For a time it seemed as though the same thing might happen to Wilson. We show signs now, however, of remembering the things he taught us. In this process of recollection, of grasping again what once seemed so fine, the existence of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation will be an incalculable help.

MISSOURI'S STARVED LIBRARY SERVICE.

Eighty-nine of the 126 counties of Missouri, representing a population of 2,000,000, are without tax-supported public libraries. The only public library service available to them is that of the State Library Commission with a circulating library of a scant 32,000 volumes. On the basis of the first 10 months of this year it is expected that 125,000 rural Missourians will have been benefited by the service. This represents an increase of 30 per cent over the previous year.

The limits of the available service, however, have been reached. Though the demand for free reading ought to be larger in a State of Missouri's size, the demand has already exceeded the supply of the Library Commission. Requests for information, or the books containing it, on a variety of constructive and educational subjects are being turned away by the score. And why?

The appropriation for the commission was never large enough. At its highest, with $13,350 a year for 1921 and 1922, it was cut for 1923 and 1924 to $11,525 a year. This had to cover the salaries of five people, the purchase of new books, the rebinding of old ones and accompanying expenses. The salary of the chief officer, Secretary Bundy, a college graduate and trained librarian, had to be reduced from $250 to $200 a month.

If Missouri were as liberal to its Library Commission, according to population, as Nebraska it would have appropriated $60,260 for the biennial period. The same comparison applied to North Dakota would give the commission $103,832; to Minnesota, $71,393; to Wisconsin, $109,377; to North Carolina, $73,150. The Missouri commission for the next biennium will ask only $44,475. The commission affords other service than circulating books. It gives aid and advice in the founding of local public libraries and fosters the growth and development of all.

For each dollar expended it probably produces more educational service, more enlightenment and more happiness than any other public agency in the State, educational or otherwise. It affords a rural service which the cities, we are sure, do not begrudge and which the rural districts themselves should be eager to utilize.

Sheltered from change by ancient chestnut trees—
The moon fills all its walks with specters white,
With footsteps of the breeze.
And looking down on these,
And on the garden, riotous with bloom,
The empty windows gaze, as one who sees
Half dreaming in the gloom
The firelit cheer of some dear, remembered room.

Folk pass it by, leaving its peace unstirred,
Through the slow hours of the lagging day,
Till now it is the haunt of bee and bird
And chittering squirrels, gray—
If any ghosts delay
And linger in the dim and echoing halls
I think that they must stay
Because they love these old and friendly walls,
Remembering other days, as twilight falls.

It's true, sometimes the shutters bang and creak
In the sharp east wind, and the trees make moan—
Bull-bats fly out at night to swoop and squeak,
About its tall chimney stone—
And wearying there alone
For once loved footfalls on its dusty floor;
Of life and laughter gone,
The old house dreams, and seems to feel once more
The touch of a dead hand upon its door.

Sir: The Post-Dispatch tells us that this is "Golden Rule Sunday." I understand this to mean that we are to practice the Golden Rule, "Do unto others," etc., which Christ taught in His sermon on the mount.

If this is the intention of the President's proclamation, then is not this a solution of the mystery of the recent election? Christ taught us to observe this Golden Rule every day. (Of course I am not saying anyone has or is going to do it.) He said it was practical all the time. Now after 2000 years we are beginning to discuss it for one Sunday in a year. If we observe it and it works maybe in 2000 years we will try it on Good Friday, and so on until in about 140,000 years we will, if it works, make it an every-day affair, as the Master certainly intended. But, you say, what has this got to do with the election? Why isn't it plain that if it takes 140,000 years to get this sermon in practice it will take more than one year or one campaign for the people to find out that the Democrats saved them from the Mellon bill. It looks like they will have to be saved again soon, and that their real friend was the immortal Wilson who would save them from war. So you see we are progressing! And some day we will laugh out loud about President Coolidge telling the farmers at Chicago that the "real solution of their troubles was in decreased production." Quit raising so much, quit working so hard, and get rich quick. We are progressing!

HE CALLED IT A DAY.

(Monroe County (Mo.) Appeal.)

Harry Lewis, a farmer living near Nevada, Ia., recently kicked at a sow on his place that was nosing her pigs away from the trough, missed her, struck the edge of the trough and tore loose the ligaments in his right leg. The accident caused him to fall and he crushed two of the pigs to death. He limped to the house, tried to crank his car to go to a doctor and the engine backfired, breaking two bones in his right forearm. Afraid to risk the telephone, he called in help, sent for the doctor and then went to bed, calling it a day.

Sir: A gentleman signing himself "A Reactionary" makes a mild flank attack on what I said in last week's Post-Dispatch about Congress and the Supreme Court. He signs himself correctly. He is a reactionary all right. He believes all the people, all the time, are D. F., except the Supreme Court. Well, in this conclusion he is mistaken, some of the time, at least. For we Democrats elect a Congress occasionally and a President every now and then, which is proof that the masses do have a lucid interlude once in a while.

He says, "By what process of reasoning does Selah arrive at the conclusion that Congress knows what the people wants?" The last Congress, he says, assumed that the people wanted honesty in government," etc. He meant to say, of course, that the Democrats and Progressives in the last Congress "assumed that the people wanted honesty in government." It is a rank assumption to say that a Republican Congress is ever much concerned about honesty in governmental affairs. True, one will occasionally stray from the shelter of the fold and vote with the Democrats for a square deal for all the people. Then he is immediately read out of the Grand Old Party for treason.

You ask me, "which branch of government do I believe to be least popular?" I unhesitatingly say, the Supreme Court.

SELAH.

WHEN DEMOCRACY WILL DIE.

When the lion eats grass like an ox
And the fishworm swallows the whale,
When the terrapin knits wool socks
And the hare is outrun by the snail,
When serpents walk upright like men
And doodle bugs travel like frogs,
When the grasshopper feeds on the hen
And feathers are found on hogs;
When Thomas cats swim in the air
And elephants roost upon trees,
When insects in summer are rare
And snuff never makes people sneeze;
When the fish creep over dry land
And mules on velocipedes ride,
When foxes lay eggs in the sand
And woman in dreams take no pride,
When Dutchmen no longer drink beer
And girls get to preaching on time,
When the billygoat butts from the rear
And treason no longer is crime,
When the humming bird brays like an ass
And limburger smells like cologne,
When plowshares are made out of glass
And hearts of Kentuckians are stone,
When sense grows in Republican heads
And wool on the hydraulic ram,
Then the Democratic party will be dead
And this country not worth a d—nn.

as much beer as he could, in addition to the three bottles already drunk since 10:45. The various men drank the following amounts in addition:

No. 1—A bottle at 12:30, 12:40, 12:50, 12:55, 1:00, making in all eight bottles for No. 1.

No. 2—One at 12:30, 12:40, 12:55, making in all six bottles for No. 2, more than he had ever been able to drink before.

No. 3—Seven bottles in all for him, who had always been a total abstainer.

No. 4—Seven bottles.

No. 5—One at 12:39, 12:40, 12:50, 12:55, 1:00, 1:20, making in all nine bottles.

No. 6—Also nine bottles.

Testing the "Drunks."

Three different kinds of tests of drunkenness or intoxication were made, at all stages of this convivial game.

First, the observers, or judges, kept complete diaries, in which they reported any unusual details of appearance or behavior on the part of any of the subjects. These assistants also noted which of the subjects seemed, from their conduct only, to have taken intoxicating liquor.

Second, the subjects tehmselves kept complete records of their own sensations; they noetd when they had felt unsteady, etc.

Third, the subjects were given a series of clever scientific tests. They were given metal pencils and asked to hold them steadily inside small holes punched in a metal board without touching the sides. Every time the pencil touched the side of a hole a counter clicked. The steadiest hand registered the least amount of clicks; a drunken hand registered many.

They were also asked to take the pencil and accurately punch it into a series of small holes, as rapidly as possible. This was just like finding the keyhole to one's door with one's key after a night of carousal. The number of misses naturally grew with the number of glasses of beer that had been drunk. They were also asked to name the colors on a chart with many different colored squares printed on it; when they were far "under the influence" they stumbled, stammered and mumbled thickly, pronounced "orange" as "oransh," and frequently were unable to distinguish between different colors. A subject "seeing double" because of an overdose of beer was not likely to perform very well here.

"These experiements established several important facts," said Prof. Hollingworth. "They showed, for instance, that previous use or abstinance from intoxicants had little to do with a subject's power to make good records after beer drinking. What does matter is the subject's general intelligence. The more intelligent man, the man with the more highly developed brain, will invariably carry his drink well and will show the very least signs of intoxication. Whereas the person of low intelligence becomes drunk very easily.

Summary of Results.

"Furthermore, I feel that we are now at last on the road to a solution of the problem, "When is a man really drunk?" which comes up so frequently in legal and criminal cases. In general, I may now say that we may distinguish between the effects of:

"Minute doses—about 13 cubic centimeters of alcohol, the amount contained in one bottle of standard beer.

"Small doses—29 to 52 cubic centimeters, or three or four bottles of beer.

"Large doses—65 to 78 cubic centimeters, or five or six bottles of beer.

"Now, observation of general conduct, such as is mostly relied upon in court testimony, detects accurately only the effects of the largest doses. Introspective reports (that is, the feelings of the subjects themselves) detect accurately the presence of small doses, as well as of large. But the minute doses can be detected only by the technical tests with the metal stylus.

"In all cases, whatever the size of the dose, scientific measurements were more accurate than introspection, introspection was more accurate than observations of general conduct and appearance, which in turn were the least reliable and accurate of all the methods of determination. Alcohol affects technical measures of proficiency before it affects the feelings, and it affects the feelings before it shows its influence in general conduct and appearance.

"Whether a man is intoxicated therefore, depends first of all upon the method used for observing his condition. And it is quite possible that a degree of intoxication that is too slight to show itself in one's general appearance and behavior may yet be very clearly revealed by technical measurement, and entirely sufficient to affect his responsibility in such performances as running an automobile, handling a gun and the like.

"My main contribution is not so much in pointing out this fact, with which perhaps all would agree, but in demonstrating it under experimental conditions, measuring it, and showing in exact terms just the order of accuracy which the three methods of judging intoxication possess.

Chief Methods of Judging.

"My main contribution is not so much in pointing out this fact, with which perhaps all would agree, but in demonstrating it under experimental conditions, measuring it, and showing in exact terms just the order of accuracy which the three methods of judging intoxication possess.

Chief Methods of Judging.

"In my home town there were three churches. They disagreed radically, but the sole point of difference seemed to be on the question, 'When is a man truly baptized?' One church held that a man was baptized when he had submitted to a specified technical ceremony; another recognized baptism only when a man's neighbors were able to observe 'good works' or behavior on the part of the candidate. The third church insisted that only when a new and holier impulse was introspectively felt by the man was he truly baptized.

"Here are three chief methods of judging: First, technical test; second, general overt conduct observed by witnesses, and, third, introspective feeling. Much the same controversy exists with respect to the question, 'When is a man truly intoxicated?' There are in the main just three modes of decision. These modes we have examined through our drinking tests at the university.

"We do not raise the question as to what should be the legal criterion for intoxication. Obviously there are degrees of this state, and the psychologist's definition may not agree with that of the policeman. The usual testimony introduced into the courts in cases of alleged drunkenness is that of the general conduct type. The testimony is likely to take some such form as 'I was present throughout the evening and none of the men showed the least sign of intoxication. I observed their manner, their gait, their conversation, their appearance, and none of them showed the slightest impairment of any of of his mental or bodily functions.'

"The experiments I have reached show that of the three available methods, this is the least reliable, the coarsest and least accurate of them all. Only extreme degrees of toxic influence show themselves by this method. Below this degree there are other clearly measurable degrees of toxic influence. So that the testimony that 'not the slightest symptom was present' is quite meaningless unless we bear clearly in mind just what kind of observation was employed.

$482,000 IN INTEREST PAID ON $87,000,000 MUNICIPAL BOND ISSUE

proved expenditure of $400,000 from the hospital bond item for a big laundry on the city sanitarium grounds, in which insane patients will help with the work.

April 1 last, $65,000 in bonds were issued under the grade crossing item for the city's share of a viaduct over the Terminal Belt tracks in Penrose Park. This has been held up because the Terminal and the city cannot agree on the plan to be followed. Interest to Dec. 1 was $1950.

Figures on Interest Paid.

Due to intricacy of accounts, the amount of interest paid out on money in other items that has lain idle cannot be determined without involved calculations. Total of interest paid on other items, and amounts of unappropriated cash balances in each follow:

Item.	Interest.	Balance.
No. 1	$67,020	$436,816
No. 2	4,320	40,442
No. 4	7,500	105,583
No. 6	76,072	1,277,854
No. 8	2,700	....
No. 9	12,468	171,074
No. 12	73,950	653,287
No. 15	10,083	33,250
No. 20	80,000	933,508

No. 1 is for new streets, including a $2,000,000 revolving fund; No. 6, for sewers; No. 7, for inclosing River des Peres; No. 8, for parks and playgrounds, bonds issued having been used to buy Lemp's Park; No. 12, for hospitals and other institutions; No. 20, for Union Market, which has been started.

The next bonds the city sells probably will be offered at a lower interest, rate, 4 per cent.

THREE MEN FOUND GUILTY OF BANK HOLDUP AT FREEBURG

Three men were found guilty at Belleville Friday of robbery while armed with a deadly weapon in connection with the robbery last August of the First National Bank of Freeburg, which was robbed of $10,500 by five men.

Two of the men convicted—James Breen, 22 yeras old, and Ralph Southard, 28—were arrested in Jonesboro, Ark., a few days after the robbery, and the third man, Floyd Flood, 24, was arrested here.

Officials of the bank identified the three as participants in the robbery in the trial, which started Monday afternoon. Flood was the only one of the defendants to offer a defense, several witnesses testifying he was at home at the time of the robbery. The jury deliberated four and one-half hours, some of the jurors voting on the early ballots to acquit Flood. Circuit Judge Crow has not set the date when the men will be sentenced. The penalty for the crime is from 10 years to life imprisonment.

'CHRISTIANITY PUT IN PRACTICE IN AMERICA'

College Head Says U. S. Has Done More in 50 Years Than World Did in 1900.

"Within the last 25 years America has put more Christianity into real practice than was done by the whole world in the 1900 years preceding."

This statement was made by Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll College of Waukesha, Wis., in an address before members of the Commercial Club at the St. Louis Club Friday night. He added:

"If we go on for three-fourths of a century more at the same or an accelerated rate, in less than 100 years from now humanity, without the change of a cog, without the stopping of a wheel, without the quelching of a smokestack, without the overthrowing of a constitution or overturning of an institution, will have moved forward and upward from the valley of despair and the swamp of misery into the tableland of prosperity and still onward into the city of happiness on the plains of peace."

Dr. Ganfield said the future of the country lies largely in its schools. He observed: "If I had all the teachers of the schools under my charge, I'd say three things to them: I'd tell them to first find all the hidden secrets of the world; second, to banish illiteracy and bring the blessings of endless knowledge to every one, and, third, I'd impress them that I was not one-half so scared of the shortage of ideals in the schools as the possession of corrupt ideals."

The United States has passed through three stages of national growth, he continued. The first period, when the nation was struggling to live, was placed by him at from 1763 to 1815. The second period, from 1827 to 1873, was concerned with the questions of the rights, privileges and responsibilities of the states within the union and of the citizens within the states. The third period, he went on, began in 1893 and has increased in intensity until this hour, with the nation "trying to think in terms of our economic conditions and the social welfare of the members of our great state." And even while many problems of this period are yet to be solved, he said, the nation is "thrust into the unhappy position of trying to grapple with problems that belong to the fourth period, the international period."

STANDARD OIL DIRECTORS MEET WITH EMPLOYES HERE

Conference on Affairs of Indiana Concern Attended by About 500 Persons.

The 10 directors of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana met 500 employes of the St. Louis division of the company in a sales conference at Hotel Statler yesterday morning. T. J. Thompson, who started as a tank wagon driver 40 years ago, and is now a director and general sales manager, presided, and talks were made by each director.

The purpose of the meeting was for employes and executives to become better acquainted. The plans, purposes and policies of the company were explained by the directors. The meeting was not open to the public.

Following the conference, the directors went to Wood River, Ill., as luncheon guests of the Standard Oil Refinery, employes there. They returned to St. Louis in the afternon, and last evening all but four departed for Fort Worth, Tex., to attend the convention of the American Petroleum Institute, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Director Thompson is not the only one who began low on the company's ladder. E. G. Seubert, now a vice president and secretary-treasurer, started as a mechanic's helper and Edward J. Bullock, director of purchases, as an office boy. Others began as stenographers, timekeepers, clerks and chemists. President W. M. Burton began as a chemist, and Chairman Robert H. Stewart as a lawyer.

COL. DAN MORGAN SMITH TO SPEAK HERE NEXT SUNDAY

World War Veteran Now Advocating Law Enforcement and World-Wide Prohibition.

Col. Dan Morgan Smith, who commanded the First Battalion of the 358th Infantry, Ninetieth Division, in France, will speak at the Third Baptist Church at 3 p. m. next Sunday, under the auspieces of the Missouri Anti-Saloon League and the World League Against Alcoholism.

Col. Smith's subject will be "The Spirit of America—Who's Running This Country?" Col. Smith is an attorney and formerly was connected with the Model License League. Since joining the prohibition forces, he has been speaking in various states, pleading law enforcement and world-wide prohibition.

Christmas Plans to Be Made.

The St. Louis Public School Patrons' Alliance will complete plans for its annual Open Air and Special Schools' Christmas celebration at its meeting tomorrow night in the assembly room of the Board of Education Building, 911 Locust street. About 800 children will be given Christmas presents by the association Dec. 23.

TEETH EXTRACTED FREE AT CLASS IN ANESTHESIA

Children Under 16 Years Not Accepted for Treatment Wednesday Evening.

Teeth will be extracted free of charge at a meeting of the Conductive Anesthesia class, composed of graduate dentists, at St. Louis University Infirmary, Grand boulevard and Caroline street, Wednesday evening from 8 to 10 o'clock. The class will be equipped to operate on 100 persons, but children under 16 can not be accepted.

The class is part of the St. Louis Study Club an organization of dentists the purpose of which is to study advanced subjects in modern dentistry. It has been in existence five years.

Program of Sacred Music.

A program of sacred music will be given by St. Peter's Chorus under the direction of William F. Moritz, organist, Sunday at 8 p. m., at St. Peter's Evangelical Church, St. Louis and Warne avenues.

BOY, 12, CRUSHED TO DEATH

Caught Under Wheel When Playing Between Two Wagons.

Roy Hamilton, 12-year-old son of John Hamilton, 5067 Claxton avenue, was killed at noon Friday when run over by a wagon used in construction work near a street grading camp at Kingshighway Northwest and Harney avenue.

The boy was playing between two wagons which were chained together and drawn by a team of mules. The driver, Harvey White, a negro, said he had just started the team when he heard a scream and found the boy had been crushed beneath a front wheel of the rear wagon.

Church to Give Pageant Tonight.

A pageant, "The Striking of America's Hour," will be performed at 8 o'clock tonight at University Presbyterian Church, 6186 Delmar boulevard, by 60 young women from the Y. W. C. A. The Rev. Dr. James Hardin Smith will preach at 11 o'clock this morning.

THE COMING OF SANTA CLAUS

A DESCRIPTIVE CHRISTMAS NUMBER ON CONNORIZED PLAYER ROLL

Xmas Eve—children sing "Oh Christmas Tree" while being put to bed.

They drift into slumberland with thoughts of Santa Claus to the melody of "Silent Night."

Clock Strikes Midnight, Chimes "Adeste Fidelis."

"Jingle Bells" Santa heard coming from a distant village.

Xmas morning children gleefully sing "The Christmas Tree" and "Oh, Thou Holiest" as they dance around tree with their toys.

At breakfast all give thanks, "Praise God, From Whom All Blessings Flow."

Arrival of guests filled with Christmas cheer.

Uncle Bob sings a solo, guests and children join in chorus.

BANK LOSES SUIT AGAINST SANTA FE R. R. FOR $24,610

Failure of Counsel to Perfect Appeal in Statutory Limit Cause of Decision.

Failure of counsel for Boatmen's Bank to perfect an appeal within the time allotted by statute resulted yesterday in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals dismissing the bank's appeal from a jury verdict against it in a suit to collect $24,610.90 from the Santa Fe Railroad.

The verdict was returned before Federal Judge Faris on Feb. 1, 1923, and the time for filing a writ of error and perfecting the appeal expired on the following Sept. 4. However, the appeal was not perfected until Oct. 17, at which time by stipulation of counsel it was dated as of Sept. 4. The Court of Appeals, in an opinion by Judge Stone, holds Judge Faris had no power to extend the statutory time limit.

The bank had sued to collect the money on bills of lading representing oil shipments to the railroad by an Oklahoma company, which discounted the bills at the bank. The railroad refused to pay, alleging the oil had not actually been delivered, and the jury returned a verdict in its favor.

CHRISTMAS CAROLERS TO HELP CHILDREN

Funds Obtained This Year by Singers Will Buy Gifts for Poor.

Thousands of children and young people, enlisted as carol singers, will respond to the light in the window on the night of Christmas eve this year, according to an announcement by the Community Christmas Carols Association, recently formed to perpetuate this form of Yuletide celebration. In groups ranging in number from half a dozen to 30 or 40, they will traverse every section of the city and will stop beneath all windows displaying the traditional signal.

In former years the Christmas singing of the carolers has been directed by the Children's Aid Society, this method being used for raising funds for the organization's charitable work. As the society is now a participant in the Community Fund, the need for funds from this source no longer exists, but officers of the new organization deemed it inexpedient to discontinue the practice lest children lose their interest in service for a worthy cause. The money collected by the carolers, therefore, will be used as Christmas gifts to children in the poorer sections and will be apportioned without regard for creed or race.

It is planned this year to continue the practice of singing in the downtown hotels and restaurants on the day before Christmas. Miss Louise Kroeger is chairman of the noonday groups and Miss Carolyn Bailey is assisting as chairman of the committee on hostesses and helpers who will accompany the singers in the downtown activities.

The association urges that all groups and individuals able to assist in the program indicate their willingness to serve by telephoning Olive 5724 or calling in person at the organization's headquarters, 602 Chamber of Commerce Building.

Benjamin Gratz is honorary president of the association, which is to be city-wide in its membership and activities. Other officers are Lansing F. Smith, president; Mrs. Joseph W. Lewis, vice president; W. H. Danforth, treasurer; Fred B. Denby, secretary, and Walter J. Stradal, executive secretary.

POTATOES AFFECT EDUCATION

Prices So Low Growers Can't Pay Taxes and Schools May Close.

By the Associated Press.

HOULTON, Me., Dec. 6.—Reports that schools in some parts of northern Aroostook County may be compelled to close because of failure of potato farmers to pay their taxes, were causing uneasiness here today. It was said that the situation arising from the failure of the farmers to dispose of the season's crop of potatoes were becoming critical.

Potato growers here said that it had been many years since Aroostook County had suffered so severely. The present price for potatoes is 90 cents a barrel, which producers declare, fails to cover expenses.

Thyrsus to Give Three Plays.

Thyrsus, a dramatic society at Washington University, will present the following plays Friday night and Saturday afternoon and evening, in the courtroom of January Hall: "Wonder Hat," by Ben Hecht; "The Trysting Place," by Booth Tarkington, and "Tea," a one-act piece by William G. Carson of the department of English.

OVERCHARGE OF $5214 IN COUNTY AGAINST ESTATES

Auditors Report Condition Arose in Probate Judge's Office Over Varied Interpretations of Law.

OTHER OFFICES IN GOOD CONDITION

Examination Instigated by Citizens Last July Completed and Recommendations as to Fees Made.

The audit of St. Louis County books, for which 367 citizens petitioned State Auditor Hackman July 10 last, was filed in County Court at Clayton yesterday. The auditors find the county books in generally good condition, but report that during 1923 estates in Probate Court were overcharged $5214, under the Auditor's interpretation of the law.

Because the law on the charging of fees in Probate Court as well as in other county offices is capable of varying interpretations, however, the auditors recommend that steps be taken to insure uniform charging of fees in county offices throughout the State. In the case of the Probate Court of St. Louis County the figure $5214, which the auditors interpret as an overcharge, represents no profit to any individual.

At the time the audit was sought the sponsors of the move remained in the background, but it was rumored that figures would be revealed that might bring discredit on several candidates of the Clean Election League who hold county offices. The only books to which the auditors take substantial issue, however, are those of Probate Judge Hodgdon and in his case the issue arises through a variation in the interpretation of the law.

Report on Audit Voluminous.

The audit was made by Cornell & Co., accountaints, with offices in the Arcade Building. Prepared under the direction of C. F. Mayer the audit is contained in a volume of 323 pages, most of which are doubled to accommodate balance sheets. Preparation of the audit report consumed about five months.

In the office of Probate Judge Hodgdon the auditors found that in 1923 a total of $16,745 was collected as fees from estates. The auditors fix the proper charge under the law, as they interpret it, at $11,531, a difference in favor of the various estates of $5214.

The Probate Judge is paid from fees, his maximum salary being $6000 a year. In addition he pays the salaries of office help, and office expenses from fees. Surplus funds revert to the county so that an overcharge against an estate would either be used in salary expenses or would go to the county.

Cases of Small Estates.

Auditors found that in some instances letters of administration were granted to estates the value of which did not justify such an expense. One $10 estate, for example, is assessed administration costs of $20.45.

In commenting on the Probate Court the auditors recommend a uniform system of records for all county offices as well as a uniform system of assessing fees. Similar recommendation as to bookkeeping systems has been made in previous audits.

The County Court records, the auditors find, are "full, complete and in good condition." The office of Treasurer Eble, it is stated, "has been kept for the year 1923 and the three quarters of 1924 in the same efficient manner as it had been for the period of our first examination." (In 1922.)

The records of County Clerk Tiffin are found to be in good condition and balance with those of Treasurer Eble and the books of Public Administrator Terry are also checked as in good condition, although the auditors remark that the costs in some cases "would seem rather excessive, especially in the matter of attorney's fees." The auditors add, however, that these charges are to be decided upon by the Court and may have been justified by work done.

Report as to Sheriff.

Beyond a few suggestions for improvement in the details of handling the accounts, Sheriff Willmann's books are found to check substantially. The condition of the records of Circuit Clerk Kirchner is found to be "greatly improved to what it was at the time of our last examination." On the last examination auditors found a discrepancy of $11,358 in the accounts of Circuit Clerk A. D. Willecken, for which he was indicted. He was later acquitted.

Other offices which the auditors examined and found properly kept are those of Collector Rudder, Assessor Herpel, the Board of Election Commissioners, Recorder of Deeds Schmid, Highway Engineer Elbring and Elbring's successor, Roy Jablonsky.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physisian examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

DIVIDEND SUIT AGAINST TRUST COMPANY LOST

Appeals Court Holds Title Guaranty Board Right in Rescinding Dividends Declared on Book Values.

Dividends declared on book values and not based on actual values of a corporation's assets may be rescinded by the Board of Directors after they have been declared, the St. Louis Court of Appeals held yesterday in finding against the suit for a $3200 dividend brought by George Benas, president of the St. Louis Box Co., against the Title Guaranty Trust Co.

The Court finds that such a situation represents an exception to the rule that a dividend, once declared, becomes a debt of the corporation.

The case involves the action of the trust company in March, 1915, in having its stockholders agree to a decrease of $1,500,000 in its $2,500,000 capital stock. It promised that upon the acceptance of this agreement it then would distribute as a dividend $1,147,000 in stock of the American Trust Co., which it then owned.

This stock has been sold since to a syndicate headed by William R. Compton, now president of the American Trust Co. and of the William R. Compton Co., investment bankers. The two companies have no connection now.

Testimony in the case showed that in a statement filed with the Recorder of Deeds, after stockholders of the Title Guaranty Trust Co. had agreed to the decreased capitalization, the assets of the Title Guaranty Co. were placed at $3,023,414, including a valuation of $1,200,000 placed on its title plant.

Testimony in the trial of the case eight years later brought out the fact that the real value of the title plant ranged between $500,000 and $600,000 because of duplications in it which occurred when the Title Guaranty Co. bought up competitors, some of whose plant properties were identical with those already possessed by the Guaranty company. While $1,200,000 represented the actual cost of the plant, the testimony showed, its actual value was about half that figure or slightly less. The further fact was pointed out that the company lost $228,000 in the sale of the Title Guaranty Trust Building at Seventh and Chestnut streets.

Decrease Approved by Stockholders

James M. Rohan, former vice-president of the Title Guaranty Co., said yesterday that he signed the statement of capitalization decrease which placed the value of the company's plant at $1,200,000 after it had been given him by the auditor. He said the directors rescinded the action when a stockholder called attention to the fact that such a dividend would "impair the standing of the company."

"We then withdrew it," Rohan said. "It would have been bad business to let the dividend go through in the light of actual values."

The stockholders approved the decrease in stock on April 13, 1915, and the following day the board of directors met and rescinded the dividend. The State Banking Commissioner approved the decrease in capitalization April 20.

The case was first tried in the Circuit Court, which found against Benas, who then appealed.

The Court of Appeals, in its opinion, finds that the actual asset value at the time of the reduction in capitalization was $2,196,534 and its liabilities $2,887,182, or a deficit of $690,648. After reducing the capitalization $1,500,000, as was done, the surplus of the company became $809,351.75. However, even with this surplus, payment of the $1,147,000 dividend, the Court found, would have impaired the capital of the Title Guaranty Co. $337,648.25.

Holds Action Eminently Proper.

"The action of the Board in rescinding the dividend was not only within its power but was eminently proper," the opinion says.

"The value of assets as shown in the statement of proceedings for a reduction of the capital stock was such as to show a surplus amply sufficient to care for the dividend without impairing the capital stock as reduced. Appellants say its books and statement are conclusively determinative of the value of its assets and may not be contradicted or impeached by subsequent oral evidence.

"Respondent's say that if this be true any board of directors might give themselves power to declare dividends in the absence of profits by placing on the books or in documents signed by its officers, either by mistake or otherwise, false values of assets. The mere statement of consequences of such a rule is to show that it does not exist.

"Cases showing that a corporation must pay declared dividends are clearly distinguishable from the instant case upon their facts and the principles involved in them and it is obvious without discussion that they lend no sanction to the proposition that directors may confer upon themselves or the corporation the power to do that which the law forbids; that is, to declare a dividend out of capital by the simple and easy process of writing into its books and documents fictitious values of its assets."

BUSSES ON MAPLEWOOD LINE EXTEND ROUTE TO TWELFTH

New Schedule Will Give Lindell Boulevard Five-Minute Service East of Union.

Starting tomorrow morning the Waterman - Skinker - McCausland bus route will be extended from Maplewood to Twelfth boulevard. Previously buses on this route have stopped at the Union boulevard-Pershing avenue intersection.

Under the new routing all Maplewood buses will continue downtown by way of Lindell boulevard and Locust street. They will run at 10-minute intervals, which, with the Locust-Lindell route buses already running, will afford five-minute service between Union and Twelfth boulevards. The new arrangement will also enable passengers to ride from Twelfth boulevard to Maplewood without transfer.

MANY CRIPPLED CHILDREN CURED IN SHRINE HOSPITAL

In Eight Months Since Opening, 157 of 254 Admitted Have Been Healed or Materially Relieved.

Figures—cold numerals—tell the story of how the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children, Kingshighway and McKinley avenue, in eight months since it was opened has taken the distorted figures of children—stunted bodies—and healed and straightened them. All service is free, and only those unable to pay are admitted.

The institution was opened April 8 as the base unit of the Shriners' series of orthopedic hospitals across the country, and since then its specialists have examined 355 youthful applicants for admission, of whom 254, nearly all less than 15 years old, were admitted. The number discharged as healed or materially relieved was 157, up to Dec. 1. Orthopedic operations to the number of 329 were performed.

There is a brace shop in the hospital that manufactures needed appliances, and it has made 338 appliances. Special shoes fitted numbered 109 pairs, though the aim is to correct feet to fit regular shoes instead of fitting special shoes to feet that are not normal.

On the waiting list are 51 children, and 249 others have been treated in the out-patient department. More than half of the patients have been sufferers from infantile paralysis. The hospital staff held that 95 per cent of the deformities they suffered as a result were preventable; correction of the deformities was undertaken at the institution.

Aggravated Cases Handled.

Some of the cases handled are declared to have been the most aggravated ever reaching the physicians' attention, especially cases of club feet. Those few patients who were not entirely cured of this defect were aided so greatly as to remove future handicap. The treatment process embraces not only correcton of the deformity, but stabilizing of the corrected parts and creation of normal muscular functions. Sometimes, especially with a very young patient, this is a matter of only a few months, but others may require as long as a year, though all that time need not be spent in hospital.

After the main surgical treatment has brought the child to the point where muscular training starts, the physiotherapist takes charge of it. This branch of the corrective process takes place in the gymnasium, where massaging of the muscles is scientifically done and the child taught how to walk. There are, in fact, specialists for every branch of the work. Upon admission the patient is given a general examination by a medical expert in children's diseases, and occasionally one is found who is a germ carrier. Isolation of such a one is enforced until all danger to the other children has been removed. For a similar reason no one under 16 years of age is admitted as a visitor to the institution. Following the general examination specialists look into the condition of children's teeth, eyes, ears and noses. Where attention to any of these is needed it is given in the institution, entirely free, provided consent be given by the parents or guardians.

Education Not Neglected.

Treatment of children is coupled with close attention to their education. As soon as the patients are able to take up studies each is provided with books and capable instructors by the Board of Education. In this way loss of opportunity in this direction is wholly prevented.

Children who have been admitted were distributed as follows, as to residence: St. Louis, 43; elsewhere in Missouri, 46; Illinois, 62; Kansas, 32; Indiana, 19, and the rest scattered between Arkansas, Colorado, Kentucky, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas and West Virginia. Race, creed and color are not considered, but there must be a possibility of correcting the deformity.

Miss Estelle D Claiborne, superintendent, says it would be difficult to find a more cheerful and generally responsive lot of patients than the children in her charge. Their spirits are buoyant with hope of being made sound and well. Few cases of tuberculosis of bone and joint have been found, probably because of improvement in the quality of milk sold.

The St. Louis Shrine hospital is the base one of the group of 12 or 14 that will exist eventually, because it is planned to give the most intensive treatment here, and because of the proximity to Barnes and Children's hospitals and Washington University medical school, with which the Shrine institution is affiliated. The Shrine hospital has 107 beds and will be able to handle 3500 or more cases a year when operated at capacity.

Other Shrine hospitals for crippled children are at San Francisco, Cal., Portland, Ore.; St. Paul-Minneapolis, Minn.; and Shreveport, La. Three under construction are at Chicago, Philadelphia and Springfield, Mass. Mobile units are stationed at Cumberland, Md.; Salt Lake City, Utah, and Honolulu, H. I.

Approach of the Holiday Season Speeds Up Plans for Parties For Out-of-Town Visitors

Return of School Set for Christmas and Entertainment by Some Debutantes of Former Classmates Will Increase Usual Social Gayety—Some Invitations for Functions Have Been Issued.

WITH its Thanksgiving festivities just completed, society is now in the midst of a maze of Christmas planning. As the day draws closer, out-of-town guests, whose presence is an excellent excuse for parties, announce the date of their arrival and calendar becomes more crowded as a consequence. The school set is preparing to for the brief two weeks allotted to it as a respite from their studies.

Married sons and daughters and their families return to be with their parents for the season, and the debutantes invite former schoolmates to share honors at their func-

Miss will give a theater party for her Dec. for which invitations already have been Miss Katherine Stockwell of Cleve- will be the holiday guest of Miss Mar- Little, debutante daughter of Mr. and Alden H. Little. Miss Dorothy Claggett, bud, is entertaining Miss Phyllis am of Cleveland, and Miss Trimble Hob- has as her guest Miss Dorothy Achilles troit. Miss Price will give a small tea rrow for both visitors, and last night Hoblitzelle gave a dinner for Miss les at the Country Club.

Two attractive young women, Misses Bar- and Deborah Ware of New York, will ar- the middle of the month to visit their Mrs. Champe Carter Conner Jr. They will share honors at a buffet supper given by their hostess, Dec. 21, with Miss Elizabeth Foley. Miss Deborah is a student at Smith and Miss Barbara at Sweetbriar, Va.

Mrs. Theron Catlin of Brentmoor will have as her guest her sister, Mrs. William Weakley of Clarksville, Mo., until after the New Year. Mrs. Weakley and her small daughter are expected Wednesday and Mr. Weakley will arrive later for a shorter stay. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blumer of Boston, the latter formerly Miss Nancy Scott, will arrive a week before Christmas with her small daughters, Priscilla and Nancy Scott, to spend the Christmas season with her mother, Mrs. Henry Clarkson Scott of 31 Westmoreland place. Mrs. Henry Fenimore Cooper of Boston is expected this week for a month's visit with her father, William Evans Guy of 10 Portland

One of the most fashionable of the midwinter weddings will be that of Miss Anne Shepley Lionberger, daughter of Mr. Isaac H. Lionberger of Westmoreland place, and John F. Lehmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Lehmann of Benton place, which has been set for Jan. 7. Dean Scarlett of Christ Church Cathedral will officiate, at the Lionberger home at 4:30 o'clock. Mrs. J. Austin Amory of Boston, who was Miss Louise Lionberger before her marriage, will be her sister's only attendant, and Sears Lehmann will serve his brother as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Cutler, the latter formerly Miss Margaret Lionberger, will come from their home in Boston for the ceremony.

Conspicuous in the week's weddings was that of Miss Mattie Lou Maddox, daughter of Mrs. George Sherwood Maddox of 5103 Washington boulevard, and Gurdon Gilmore Black of 3737 Washington boulevard, which took place at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Maddox home. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. John W. MacIvor of the Second Presbyterian Church. The guests were limited to members of the family and close friends. Virginia Locke, young niece of the bride, and Genroy McDonald, held the ribbons through which Mr. Black and his bride passed, and were the only attendants.

Mrs. Black wore an ensemble suit of platinum mauve, trimmed with squirrel, and a hat to match. Her flowers were orchids. She and Mr. Black have departed for the gulf and Florida resorts on their wedding trip and will occupy an apartment in the Chesterfield, 414 North Union boulevard, upon their return. Mrs. Black is a graduate of Mary Institute, and was a debutante several years ago. Mr. Black is an alumnus of Washington University, and is an influential member of Beta Theta Pi.

Pre-Wedding Parties For December Brides Interest Society

Principals in Mauran-Mullikin, Brown-Niedringhaus and Rule-Day Weddings Will Be Honor Guests at a Series of Pre-Nuptial Festivities.

SOCIETY just now is turning to the December bride, whose parties, gowns, attendants and ceremonies are of paramount interest. The Mauran-Mullikin, Brown-Niedringhaus and Rule-Day weddings, all within the next fortnight, are interesting topics, and prenuptial festivities given in their honor will occupy many hours in the next few days.

Miss Evelyn Brown and Francis Niedringhaus, who will be married at St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Dec. 17, will be the guests of Miss Eppes Hawes at dinner Wednesday, Dec. 10, at the home of her parents in Vandeventer place. The following evening Miss Grace Wallace will give a similar affair, and Friday Mr. Niedringhaus will give his bachelor dinner. The same evening Miss Brown and her attendants and Miss Elizabeth Mauran, Charles Mullikin, her fiance, with their bridal party, will attend a dance to be given by Miss Eleanor Simmons for her debutante cousin, Miss Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. Hayward Niedringhaus, brother and sister-in-law of Mr. Francis Niedringhaus, will have a table at the Saturday night dinner dance at the St. Louis Country Club for the bridal party and the following evening Marion Niedringhaus will have a buffet supper for his brother and Miss Brown at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Niedringhaus, 10 Westmoreland place. Miss Mauran and Mr. Mullikin will share honors at the latter affair. Mr. Niedringhaus will take his bride to Bermuda for their wedding trip and they will make their home in New York.

Miss Mauran and Mr. Mullikin will be married Tuesday, Dec. 16, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence Mauran, in Vandeventer place. The ceremony will be followed by a reception. In addition to the parties given jointly for both wedding parties, Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson Lambert will give a dinner at the Country Club Saturday night, and Monday there will be a rehearsal at the Mauran home, followed by a buffet supper.

Mr. Mullikin and his bride will occupy the Mauran summer home at Dublin, N. H., for their honeymoon, and will visit Miss Mauran's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wil-place. Miss Evelyn Guy, another daughter, has gone to California for the winter. Mrs. James Russell Forgan of Chicago, the former Miss Ada Johnson, and her young daughter, Joan, will be with Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Johnson, and Mrs. Frank Mayfield of Denver and her small son will visit the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melville L. Wilkinson.

H. T. T. Smith of 55 Kingsbury place will entertain his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Y. West of Little Rock, Ark., and Mr. and Mrs. Pierpont E. Ervine of Muncie, Ind. Mrs. Henry W. Bond, who is still considered a St. Louisan, despite the fact that she has made her home in California for some time, will remain in St. Louis for Christmas with her son, Thomas Bond and his family. Mrs. Bond has been at the Buckingham Hotel for the past month.

Miss Frances Chase, daughter of Mrs. Henry Leverett Chase, is expected home from Radcliffe College later this month and will bring Miss Genevieve Barnickel, a student at the Emma Willard School in Troy, N. Y., to be her guest.

iam van Voast Warren, in Boston, en route home. Mrs. James H. Nolan and Mrs. Carter Mullikin Lockwood of Boston, mother and sister of the prospective bridegroom, will be the guests of Mrs. C. Hunt Turner Jr., sister of the former, during their stay in St. Louis. Mrs. Walter J. Hock of Detroit, a member of the bridal party, will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Simmons.

The marriage of Miss Amy Rule and Morgan Colt Day, Friday night, at Christ Church Cathedral, will be preceded by a number of parties. Tomorrow night they, with their bridal party, will be honor guests at a theater party given by Mr. and Mrs. Vincent L. Price and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson; Tuesday night, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gardner will give a dinner for the bridal party, and Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Rule will entertain them at a buffet supper, following the rehearsal.

News has reached St. Louis of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Jean Allison, daughter of Mrs. Brainard Allison, formerly of Washington boulevard, St. Louis, and Lieut. Julian Brown, U. S. M. C., now on duty on the S. S. Pittsburg, cruising in foreign waters. Mrs. Allison and her daughter went to Europe 18 months ago and have spent much of their time in Florence, Italy, where Miss Allison has been studying voice culture. She met Lieut. Brown during her residence there, and the wedding will be solemnized in Florence this month.

Miss Allison is a graduate of Monticello Seminary. She is a granddaughter of John Pilcher and a niece of Mrs. Emmett M. Myers.

Mrs. George W. Perry of 60 Vandeventer place and her daughter, Miss Marguerite Perry, returned a few days ago from Europe, where for the past four months they have traveled through England, France, Holland, Switzerland and Italy.

Mrs. Daniel Upthegrove of 5128 Westminster place departed Friday for Poughkeepsie, N. Y., to visit her daughter, Miss Elizabeth, a sophomore at Vassar College. Miss Upthegrove played a leading part in the college play, "The Cassilis Engagement," produced Friday and last night.

The Perry Alumni Association met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. Stanford, 7357 Maryland avenue. A play, "Wrong Numbers," directed by Mrs. Stanford, was presented by Mrs. James S. Warren, Mrs. Oliver Blackinton and Mrs. John H. Watson, all of Webster.

Miss Myra Schutz gave the book review on the "Craftsmanship of One-Act Plays," by Percival Wilde.

Members of the alumni gave two programs in November. On Nov. 6 a program was given at the Kingshighway Methodist Church by Mrs. Ed Teuscher, Mrs. Watson and Miss Ottilie Sauter. On Nov. 7, Mrs. Teuscher and Mrs. Dwight L. Holmes gave a program at Harlem Place Methodist Church.

FUR-TRIMMED COATS

Express the Latest Style Trends

$45	$59	$79
Sizes for Misses	Sizes for Women	Extra Sizes

So new in styling and so excellent of fur and fabric that they can be relied upon to serve two Winter seasons. Newest materials, newest and most popular furs are used for their fashioning. Rich shades of brown, including penny, cinnabar and Moroccan; red, featuring cranberry, oxblood and hinoki; black, gray—are all well represented with furs selected for their harmonious blending.

The Styles

Straight, slender lines are accentuated by rows of buttons, by horizontal pleats and by fur trimmings that trace their lines from collar to hem.

The Values

It would be difficult to adequately tell of the extreme values that are provided in these feature groups. But the shrewd shopper will recognize them herself.

Others Are Priced From $36 to $195

WEDDINGS OF THE WEEK AND COMING

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Alice Darst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Darst of 4531 West Pine boulevard, and Benjamin Franklin Thomas Jr., of Laclede avenue. The wedding will take place Jan. 15 at St. Louis Cathedral. Miss Darst is a graduate of the Sacred Heart Convent at Maryville and Mr. Thomas of St. Louis University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mrs. Beulah B. Hellman of 4930 Washington boulevard, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Inez Marguerite Hellman, and Fred Feibelman of Terre Haute, Ind. The wedding will take place this winter.

The engagement of Miss Frances Sandperl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sandperl of 736 Eastgate avenue, and Henry Bry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Bry of 46 Washington terrace, was announced yesterday at a tea given by Mrs. Sandperl for her daughter. Guests were young women friends of the prospective bride. The wedding will take place this winter. Miss Sandperl is a student at Washington University, where she will be graduated in June. Mr. Bry was educated at the University of Pennsylvania.

The betrothal of Miss Vera Trampe, and Clarence G. Quermann was announced Thanksgiving Day at a dinner given at the home of Miss Trampe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Trampe, 3519 Palm street. The prospective bride and her fiance are graduates of Washington University. Mr. Quermann, who is the son of Herman Quermann, 4039 Greer avenue, is a member of the Theta Xi fraternity.

Mrs. L. J. Cohn of 22 Washington terrace, will receive friends of her family Wednesday evening, Dec. 10 from 8 to 11 o'clock at the Columbian Club in honor of the marriage of her daughter, Miss Helen Cohn and Milton Price, whose wedding will take place at 6 o'clock the same evening. No cards will be sent.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Frank of 5824 Theodosia avenue announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nettie, to R. Milton Sachs of Desloge, Mo., at a dinner given last Sunday.

The wedding of Miss Mabel Harrington, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Harrington of 5447 Vernon avenue, and Leo Coyne Scott, took place Thanksgiving morning at 9 o'clock at St. Rose's Church, Maple and Goodfellow. The ceremony was performed by Father McGlynn.

Mrs. Loretta Leidel, sister of the bride, served her as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Misses Anna Harrington, sister of the bride, and Antoinette Humkey. Alice Matthews and Merlyn Baumgarten were flower girls; Claude Kahman, ring bearer. Harry Scott, brother of the groom, served as best man, and the groomsmen were E. Leidel and Farrell J. Ruane.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. E. T. Harrington.

The ceremony was followed by a breakfast and later a large reception at the home of the bride.

The bride was gowned in white brocaded velvet on chiffon, and carried a shower bouquet of Killarney roses and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor wore coral chiffon velvet and the bridesmaids orchid chiffon velvet. They carried white chrysanthemums.

The flower girls wore dresses of apple green satin and carried baskets of roses. The ring bearer was dressed in a black velvet and white satin outfit. He carried the ring on the petals of a rose.

The wedding of Miss Carolin Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Higgins of 5521 Wells avenue, and Walter C. Huonker, son of Mrs. Lee Huonker of 3123 Rutger street, took place Thanksgiving evening, the Rev. Jones officiating. Miss Helen Boyle was maid of honor, and Elmer T. Huonker best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Soffer of 6003 Bartmer avenue, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ida Soffer, and Herman Lott, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lott, Nov. 17 at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was followed by a dinner. The couple have deferred their honeymoon until June.

Mrs. Ida Weinbach of 5157 Cabanne avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Sophia, to Lester M. Levin, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Levin of 4102 West Florissant avenue. Mr. Levin attended Washington University and is a member of the Phi Beta Delta fraternity.

Indoor Parking Facilities

A Special Service Without Charge to Our Customers

IN order that the patrons of this store who drive automobiles may have the convenience and protection of indoor parking, we have provided space in the new Commodore Garage, located at 920 North 7th Street, just north of Franklin. This new arrangement is in addition to our regular parking space already provided on 7th Street. Customers are to drive their cars into the garage and park—where an attendant will issue checks. These checks are to be returned to the attendant in the garage when cars are required.

A reception at which a number of prominent women interested in occupational therapy will be hostesses, will be held in the "Cheer Shop" of the city hospital, 1500 Lafayette avenue, Tuesday, from 2 to 4 p. m., and tea will be served. It will be in connection with the exhibition and sale of handicraft of patients of the hospital, made under the direction of hospital therapists. There will be toys made by the children, woven rugs and baskets by the men, and children's dresses and other needlework by women.

Visitors will be taken through the hospital by a committee under the direction of Miss Agnes Sturgis. The hostesses include Mmes. Elias Michael, G. O. Carpenter, Isaac Morton, Nelson Cunliff, A. J. Avery, A. J. Johansen, Anthony F. Ittner, C. J. Fritz, Oscar Blumeyer, Edwin Schieck, F. Feineman, G. W. Myers and Miss Emily Brockmeyer. Those who will pour tea will be Misses Marguerite Vellner, Helen Winter, Edith Hoffstot, Margaret Byrne, Dorothy Conzelman, Edwina Schieck and Ella Jens.

A luncheon from noon until 2:00 o'clock will be one of the features of the Christmas sale by women of St. George's Episcopal church Wednesday which opens at 11 o'clock and closes at 5 p. m. in the parish house, Olive and Pendleton avenue. The Girls' Friendly Society will have the candy booth and also serve tea during the afternoon. Mrs. Goodman King, Miss Lydia Crump, Mrs. Charles McC. Thompson and Mrs. Charlton Messick will be in charge of the table of food delicacies, including salads, cakes and breads. Mrs. R. G. Alexander, Mrs. J. A. Reinholt, Mrs. G. W. Brown and Mrs. W. L. Henry will be luncheon chairmen, and others interested in the sale which includes Christmas gifts, toys, aprons and novelties, include Mmes. W. H. Burritt, M. C. Younglove, J. P. Williams, L. E. Denison, Roy Gabel, Edward Baker, Gardner Smith, J. P. Hankins, Thomas H. Garrett, and Misses Ada Winston, Josephine Martin and Ella Eoff.

Preparations for the Christmas sale and card party to be given at Rosati-Kane High School Building on Friday and Saturday are complete. A feature of the sale, which is under the direction of Mrs. Vincent A. Bayer, will be luncheon sets embroidered by the Sisters of St. Joseph and hand-decorated Christmas cards and calendars done in the studios of the Sisters. The novelty booth will show handwoven baskets and articles in beadwork sent to the sale by the Pima Indians of Arizona as a tribute to the Sisters, who teach in their schools. The proceeds of the sale and card party are to go toward the library of Montbonne College for Women being erected by the Sisters at Pennsylvania and Wydown boulevards. Supper will be served both evenings.

A nart bazaar for the benefit of the Sibley Memorial scholarship will be given at Lindenwood College, Friday afternoon, Dec. 12, by tsudents of the art department, who will show their own work, in the art studio of Roener Hall.

The annual Christmas bazaar of the St. Louis Altenheim will be held at the home at 5408 South Broadway on Saturday, Dec. 13. There will be quilts, aprons and fany work. Lunch will be served.

J. D. ROCKEFELLER JR. BEHIND 'GARDEN TENEMENTS' SCHEME

Block of Wage-Earners' Ideal Home to Be Constructed on East Side in Manhattan.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—John D. Rockefeller Jr., it was announced today, is behind a movement headed by the Empire Mortgage Co. to bring the first "garden tenements" to Manhattan by constructing a block of wage-earners' ideal homes in the East Side.

Each of the experimental tenements will face on a garden with a playground for children and the homes so arranged that every room will get sunshine and fresh air and each family will be provided with one or two bathrooms.

It is planned to keep the rentals near the level now paid by tenants in New York slums.

DELEGATES TO AD MEETING INVITED TO STOP HERE

St. Louis Club Appoints Committee to Take Care of Visitors on Way to Houston.

Delegates to the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World at Houston next May have been invited to stop over in St. Louis. The Advertising Club of St. Louis has appointed a reception and entertainment committee to take care of the delegates. Rooms for 250 have been reserved at hotels here.

SEEKS HOMES FOR 24 CHILDREN

Board's Charges Range From 6 Months to 13 Years in Age.

The Board of Children's Guardians seeks to place 24 healthly children, boys and girl, Protestant and Catholics, ranging in age from six months to 13 years, in good homes before Christmas. Members of the board hope to find homes for several brothers and sisters together in order to preserve family ties.

Application to see the children may be made to Miss Susan Bain, assistant agent of the board, room 237, Municipal Courts Building. All homes will be investigated before children are placed.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY PLANS AFFAIRS FOR HOLIDAYS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Gen. Pershing has left Washington again on a diplomatic mession to South America. Before he left he was much pleased to learn that he had been awarded a silver star citation for gallantry in action in Cuba while a First Lieutenant of Tenth Cavalry on July 1, 1898. Gen. Pershing has a collection of decorations from all lands, but it is certain that he will treasure this as one of the most precious because it commemorates his youthful gallantry. The General will return to Washington by Christmas, when he will be joined by his sister, Miss Mary Pershing, of Omaha, for the holidays. The General's son, Warren Pershing, is in school in Switzerland, and will not return to America for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells Blodgett Priest will arrive in Washington Dec. 15 from St. Louis, to be the guests of Mrs. Priest's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Irving Cox, over the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant entertained informally at dinner last evening at her residence on New Hampshire avenue in honor of General and Mrs. John L. Hines, and also will be hostess at dinner tomorrow night.

Mrs. Grant and her granddaughter, Princess Bertha Cantacuzene, will leave Washington shortly for Florida to pass the Christmas holidays with her son-in-law and daughter, Prince and Princess Cantacuzene, who are living there.

Mrs. Dwight Davis of St. Louis, wife of the Assistant Secretary of War was among the box holders for the drill at Fort Myer yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Davis was also in the receiving line before the drill began.

The United States Minister to Sweden and Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss formerly of St. Louis who have been in America for the past two months on leave sailed on Saturday for Europe. Their beautiful $1,000,000 chateau, formerly the home of John C. Calhoun in Georgetown, a historic suburb of Washington, has been closed until their return in spring when they will give a series of notable entertainments.

Mrs. James M. Thomson, formerly Miss Genevieve Champ Clark of Missouri, who now lives in New Orleans, will come to Washington in January to attend the meeting of the Democratic National Committee, of which she is a member from Louisiana.

The December meeting of the Missouri State Society is always a gala occasion and plans are being made for the one to be held on Dec. 15 by the president of the society, Cleveland Newton. The hostesss for the evening besides Mrs. Newton will include Mrs. Joseph Manlove, wife of the first vice president of the society; Mrs. Bessie Parker Bruggemann, second vice president; Mrs. James L. Baity, wife of the third vice president; Mrs. Stanley L. Ridings, wife of the secretary; Mrs. Horace J. Phelps, wife of the treasurer; Mrs. E. H. Andrews, chairman of the reception committee; Mrs. Charles P. Keyser, chairman of the finance committee; Mrs. Frank Hagerman Jr., chairman of the membership committee; Mrs. Otis J. Rogers, chairman of the hospitality committee; Mrs. W. C. Stierlin, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Mrs. A. L. Newmyer, chairman of cards.

In the receiving line at the reception will be Senator and Mrs. James A. Reed, Senator and Mrs. Selden P. Spencer, Representative and Mrs. L. C. Dyer, Representative and Mrs. C. C. Dickinson, Representative and Mrs. Thomas L. Rubey, Representative and Mrs. M. A. Romue, Representative and Mrs. Charles L. Faust, Representative and Mrs. Harry B. Hawes, Representative and Mrs. Sidney C. Roach, Representative Jacob L. Milligan, Representative and Mrs. Sam C. Major, Representative and Mrs. Clarence Cannon, Representative and Mrs. James C. Fulbright, Representative and Mrs. Henry L. Jost, Representative and Mrs. Ralph L. Lozier, Representative and Mrs. Joseph Manlove and Representative and Mrs. J. Scott Wolff.

Mrs. James W. Witten, Mrs. George A. Ross and Mrs. W. N. Holmes will preside at the refreshment table.

A musical will be given by Madame Henriette Coquellet, coloratura soprano, accompanied by Miss Marguerite Bowie Grant.

Mrs. John B. Henderson will give a dance during Christmas week for her debutante granddaughter, Miss Beatrice Henderson, and other debutantes of the season.

"A human Mah Jongg set" composed of women and girls prominent in Washington society will be played by the two expert Mah Jongg players, Mrs. Leigh C. Palmer and Mrs. Harry New, wife of the Postmaster General, for the benefit of the Belleau Wood Memorial Fund Feb. 21. Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. New will play the American game while four members of the Chinese Legation will play the Chinese version of the game. Mrs. Coolidge will be the only patroness.

Mrs. Palmer introduced Mah Jongg into Washington and practically into this country when she returned with a set and her head full of rules from the orient three or four years ago. She is one of the women in Washington who have given up their bridge playing for Mah Jongg, although she finds time for philanthropic and work for national defense as well.

Mrs. Howard L. Hodgkins will preside at one of the Christmas service Bible study meetings to be held at Keith's Theater at the noon hour during the Christmas holidays. She is also a member of the committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs of the district in charge of this worthy project.

GRAY HAIR IS DOOMED IN LATE FASHION EDICTS

Social Leaders Set Pace in Proper Care and Treatment of Bobbed and Flowing Tresses.

It's not often that good Dame Fashion becomes real stern in her decision of what is and what is not socially proper.

But her latest edict shows no mincing of words. She comes right out and says in a decided and firm tone that gray or discolored hair—especially that gray hair which is shorn—is out of taste, in fact, as much so as a frayed or discolored gown on a ballroom floor.

Fashion leaders say there's no excuse for a woman to appear ten or fifteen years older than she really is because of hair discolored or prematurely gray. They point out that science has found a way to preserve the original color and beauty of a woman's hair. To refuse to take advantage of that method, they add, is to commit the social error of neglecting one's personal appearance.

The new preparation that makes gray hair so out of date is known as Graynix. It's a clean, colorless liquid to scientifically stimulate the hair roots and nourish the hair back to health and natural color.

Graynix checks falling hair, eliminates dandruff and other scalp diseases, and at the same time invigorates the scalp and promotes a luxuriant growth in a remarkably short time. Graynix is guaranteed to do these things. If you feel it doesn't bear out our claims for it, you have only to return the empty bottle to your dealer, who is authorized to return your purchase price of $1.25.

Graynix will save your hair. Start using it today.

TEACHER'S JOB DEPENDS ON BLOOMERS OR POOR ENGLISH

Iowa Superintendent of Instruction to Decide Which Caused Girl's Discharge.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 6.—Miss May E. Francis, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, was called upon today to decide whether the wearing of gymnasium bloomers, an imperfect knowledge of the English languare or a local political quarrel at Kimballton, Ia., was responsible for the cancellation several weeks ago of the teacher's certificate held by Miss Marie Midtjard.

Miss Midtjard suspended gymnasium teacher at Kimballton, a town composed almost entirely of Danish residents, will continue in that position if Miss Francis finds its knowledge of English is sufficient. The question is the basis given for for her suspension by the Audibon County Superintendent of Schools.

To refute the charge the head of a teachers' agency here, laid before Miss Francis in the hearing today, a letter from Miss Midtjard, written in perfect English, giving her views on American schools. Miss Madtjard has been in this country only one year. Her friends declare Kimballton politics and objection to her appearance on the gymnasium floor in bloomers, form the real basis for the case, which has divided the Kimballton residents into two hostile camps.

Molnar's "The Swan" And Emery's "Tarnish" Adorn the Playhouses

Eva Le Gallienne Stars in Comedy by Author of "Liliom," and Edith Taliaferro Is Featured in Drama by American Playwright.

THE theaters turn this wek from revue and musical comedy to the spoken drama, and offer two works in this field of outstanding reputation. "Tarnish," by Gilbert Emery, opens tonight at the Shubert-Jefferson, and "The Swan," a comedy by Ferenc Molnar, author of "Liliom," brings Miss Eva Le Gallienne to the American tomorrow evening.

"The Swan," a three-act play, is presented by Charles Frohman. The plot concerns a noble family fallen on evil days, the fortunes of which an ambitious mother seeks to repair by marrying her daughter to the Crown Prince of a neighboring State. But the daughter is austere and cold, and the matchmaking has not prospered although the Prince has been a guest for some days in the impoverished palace.

The mother, in despair lest the match fall through, hits in a daring expedient, which has to do with a toutor who dares love the frigid little Princess. When the play was produced at the Cort Theater, New York, in October, 1923, it was said to give every indication of becoming one of the conspicuous successes of the season—which it did. The mood is romantic and ironic, and the vitality and freshness of the incidents are said to be remarkable throughout. "The wit," wrote one reviewer, "is of the prettiest, the sentiment subtly conceived and silky in the rich suggestion of reticence. Eva Le Gallienne makes the little Princess a performance fit to stand with her work in 'Liliom.'"

Directed by Gilbert Miller.

In support of Miss Le Gallienne, who has been seen here in "Not So Long Ago" and "Liliom," will be several of the original company, including Basil Rathbone as the tutor, Alison Skipworth as the managing mother, and Halliwell Hobbes as a sentimental sophisticate. In the cast also are Reginald Owen, Richie Ling, Henry Warwick, Cart Hertberg, Paul Jones, Jasper Jones, Henrietta Watson and Winifred Fraser. Elaborate settings are promised. The production was made by Gilbert Miller, managing director for the Frohman enterprises.

Gilbert Emery, author of "Tarnish," had previously written a play called "The Hero," which received honorable mention in the Pulitzer prize play contest, but was unsuccessful financially. "Tarnish" was refused by four New York producers, and was finally accepted by John Cromwell, director for William A. Brady. It was produced at the Belmont Theater, New York in October, 1923, with Ann Harding and Tom Powers at the lead of the cast. The company playing here is the Chicago cast, with Miss Edith Taliaferro featured, and including Frederic March, Marion Benda, Clifford Dempsey, Edith Shayne, Grayce Connell, Dorothy Chase and Lou Ripley.

"Through an ingenious and plausible set of circumstances," wrote Heywood Broun concerning the New York performance, "we have a second act in which the heroine, Letitia Tevis, finds the hero, Emmett Carr, in the room of a cheap woman. Only an hour before, this man had told Letitia that he loved her, and so she will listen to no explanations. It doesn't even matter to her that there is nothing of significance or moment in his visit. It is enough, according to her standards of morality, that he was intimate with this Nettie Dark.

"It is Nettie Dark, the tawdry girl herself, who turns upon the heroine and tells her that her sense of outraged virtue is actually as mean a thing as mere jealousy, and that ideals which have no basis in

New Music Box Revue Colorful And Tunable

By HEYWOOD BROUN,
Drama Critic of the New York World.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.

SMOOTH, fast and highly competent is the new Music Box Revue, which was presented Monday night at the Music Box Theater. Care and ingenuity have gone into this production. John Murray Anderson has staged the show and displayed his familiar taste in line and color. A few seasons ago Mr. Anderson was regarded as an innovator, but by now his notions have become if not conservative at least thoroughly sound.

Indeed, there is just a little too much of the accepted verities in the Music Box Revue. With the exception of one surprising mechanical effect whereby an entire chorus suddenly turns black before the eyes there is nothing particularly startling in this show. The dark hue is only a passing shade and does not get into the very rhythm of the performance. The pace is spirited, but it stops quite a bit this side of abandon. Even a real, live grizzly bear which is introduced in one number is observed to be perfectly tamed.

Picture Dramas From Popular Novels on The Movie Screens

"Captain Blood," "East of Broadway," "Manhattan," "So This Is Marriage" and "Dangerous Money" Among Week's Offerings.

RAFAEL SABATINI'S popularity with motion picture producers brings another of his novels to the Grand Central, West End Lyric and Capitol Theaters this week in screen form—"Captain Blood." J. Warren Kerrigan, who returned to the screen in "The Covered Wagon," is the swashbuckling hero of "Captain Blood," and Jean Paige is the heroine. Insofar as atmosphere is concerned, "Captain Blood" is similar to "The Sea Hawk." "Captain Blood" is an English physician who is accused of being a traitor to the Crown. He is sold in slavery and sent to the West Indies, where an English girl prompts her father to buy him. The slave's skill as a physician ultimately frees him from the tortures that his comrades endure. Later there is the opportunity to escape and Blood becomes a sea fighter, famous as a relentless enemy and equally famous as a dashing lover. The naval scenes of the picture are said to have been wonderfully produced and to provide real thrills.

"East of Broadway" is playing at the Delmonte this week with Owen Moore in the role of Peter Mullaney. Mullaney's sole ambition is to get on the New York police force. It is easy enough, getting his application accepted, but it is another thing to get on the force, for he is under the minimum height required. It is up to him to prove that stature hasn't much to do with the qualities of brain and brawn. In the cast with Moore are Mary Carr, Ralph Lewis and Marguerite de la Motte. "East of Broadway" was taken from the Saturday Evening Post story, "The Tropic of Capricorn." On the stage the Delmonte has two vaudeville attractions, and an Andy Gump comedy.

Advertised as "Jazz Week," Loew's State offers a feature picture and three stage attractions. The screen presentation is "So This Is Marriage" and features Eleanor Boardman, Lew Cody, Conrad Nagel, John Boles, Clyde Cook and Edward Connelly. The role of the jazz-time wife, as portrayed by Miss Boardman, is in striking contrast with the waltz-time husband, Conrad Nagel, and the situations allow Lew Cody to assist in the stumbling when the marriage partners fail to keep step. The stage attractions include Borrah Minevitch, harmonic soloist; Dana Claudius and Lillian Scarlet presenting "Melodies of By-Gone Days" and the "Joe Thomas" Sax-o-tette.

The Missouri Theater presents Richard Dix in "Manhattan," adapted from Jeffery Farnol's novel "The Definite Object. Richard Dix has the role of Peter Minuit whose great-great-great-grandfather purchased the Isle of Manhattan from the Indians, and Peter is all for giving it back to them. He becomes tired of the "pink teas" and the so-called fast life of New York's Great White Way and determines to find excitement some place at any cost, Reading of the notorious gang fights in Hell's Kitchen in New York's lower East side, Minuit decides that's the place for him. His insatiable appetite for excitement is satisfied beyond his wildest dreams when he falls in love with Mary and arouses the ire of notorious Bud McGinnis, the most feared gang leader in New York. Peter Minuit decides the only way to win the girl is to whip the gangster, and to make it more convincing Minuit even goes to his lair to try to accomplish his purpose. The second edition of the Stereoscopiks, entitled "Lunacy" will also be shown. On the stage Louise Loring and Marion Armstrong, two singers, will be heard in a cycle of songs and Happy Harry Philwin, A. E. F. entertainer will present his act. There is also a new Mack Sennett comedy featuring Ben Turpin.

In "Dangerous Money" Bebe Daniels appears as a poor little girl, living on an old homestead with an avaricious aunt. The aunt dies, the property is sold for an unheard of sum, and the little girl immediately becomes wealthy. The wealth goes to her head. She hurries through a "finishing school," and then departs for Europe, under the chaperonage of the calculating head of the school, to absorb the final polish. Newly rich ideas come natural to her. She affects a boredom, plays around with love and with her money in such an alarming way that her old sweetheart, played by Tom Moore, is rushed over to the scene to bring order out of the chaos.

The Rivoli Theater is holding "Dante's Inferno" over for a second week.

Orchestra Will Picture London Life in Music

THE Symphony Orchestra will resume its series of regular concerts on Friday afternoon and Saturday afternoon, at the Odeon, with a program presenting Michel Gusikoff and H. Max Steindel as soloists, and proffering, for the first time in St. Louis, a work entitled "A London Symphony," by Dr. Ralph Vaughan Williams. Gusikoff and Steindel will repeat the Brahms double-concerto for violin and violincello, which they played, under the direction of Mr. Ganz at the symphony concerts of Feb. 3 and 4, 1922.

Dr. Williams' opus was composed in 1912-13 and performed in 1914. He revised it twice, and its first American performance in the final form was given by the New York Symphony Orchestra on Dec. 30, 1920, under the baton of Albert Coates.

The first movement begins with a description of the Thames, flowing calm and silent under the gray dawn and shrouded in mystery. The scene changes to the Strand, in the midst of the bustle and turmoil of the morning traffic. Newsboys shout, messengers whistle, and a costermonger chants a raucous refrain. Then the music passes to the part of London known as the Adelphi, with its shabby old streets haunted by beggars and ragged urchins. Again we are back on the Strand, caught up in the gay, careless and noisy life of the metropolis.

A Fog in Bloomsbury.

IN the second movement the composer paints the regin known as Bloomsbury, at dusk. It is the damp and foggy twilight of a late November day. In front of a "pub" stands an old musician playing a fiddle. Up and down the street, now nearer, now farther, goes the cry of "Sweet Lavender; who'll buy sweet lavender?" The movement ends with the old musician still playing his melancholy tune.

In the third movement, we are sitting on the Temple embankment of the Thames, near the Houses of Parliament, listening to the Saturday night noises from the slums on the opposite side of the river. The streets and alleys are crowded as if at a fair; coster girls at street corners dance the double-shuffle jig to the accompaniment of a mouth organ. A concertina plays, and then a hurdygurdy. The music changes suddenly as one of London's fogs comes down, and the picture fades into silence.

"Hunger March" of the Poor.

THE last movement deals with the cruel London of the unemployed and unfortunate. There is a "Hunger March"—a ghostly march of those whom the city crushes and grinds. We hear again the noise and bustle of the streets, now depicted as a nightmare seen by the suffering. The music ends abruptly, and we hear "Big Ben" chiming from Westminster tower. An epilogue pictures the soul of London, vast and unfathomable, and the symphony ends as it began, with Old Father Thames flowing calmly and silently past. The program in full will be as follows:

1. Overture to "Benvenuto Cellini," Op. 23 ....Berlioz
2. Concerto for Violin and Violincello With Orchestra, in A Minor, Op. 102 ....Brahms
   I. Allegro.
   II. Andante.
   III. Vivace non troppo.
3. "A London Symphony" ..Williams
   Lento—Allegro risoluto.
   Lento.
   Scherzo.
   Andante-Allegro; Epilogue.
   (First Time in St. Louis.)
4. Symphonic Poem, "Finlandia," Op. 26 ....Sibelius

Irma Goebel Is Soloist Today.

TODAY'S popular concert at the Odeon will present as soloist Miss Irma Goebel, pianist, who is the daughter of Prof. Julius Goebel, head of the department of German at the University of Illinois. Following her graduation from this institution, Miss Goebel studied four years at the Chicago Musical College under Alexander Raab and Felix Borowski. She was a pupil of Harold Bauer in New York, and studied two years in Berlin. She has played with the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, and has recently returned from a conecrt tour of Greece. The program follows:

1. Overture to "Allesandro Stradella" ....Flotow
2. (a) Minuet; (b) Turkish March —Beethoven
3. Concertstuck, for Piano and Orchestra, Op. 79 ....Weber
4. Adagio Pathetique ....Godard
5. Waltz, "Blue Danube"....Strauss
6. "Coronation March" from "Sigurd Jorsalfar," Op. 56..........Grieg

The second of a series of five children's concerts under the auspices of the Symphony Society will be given at the Odeon at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Mr. Ganz will demonstrate the woodwind family of instruments, including piccolo, flute, oboe, English horn, clarinet, bass clarinet, bassoon and contra-bassoon. The children will sing two numbers with the orchestra, Gruber's "Silent Night" and Mendelssohn's "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." The instrumental program will include Schubert's "Military March," the second movement of Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony, Beethoven's "Turkish March," Mortimer Wilson's "Ant's Industrial Parade," the fifth Hungarian Dance of Brahms, and the overture to Rossini's "William Tell."

Miss Amie Guth Punshon, St. Louis contralto, will be soloist at next Sunday's popular concert, and an orchestral program, without a soloist, is scheduled for the regular concerts of Dec. 26 and 27.

Will Sing "The Messiah."

THE Pageant Choral Society, under the direction of Frederick Fischer, will give its annual performance of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," at the Odeon on Tuesday evening, Dec. 30. With the possible exception of a soprano, the soloists will be St. Louisans. The chorus will be supported by the Symphony Orchestra, piano and organ.

Ernest K. Kroeger will give a pianoforte recital Thursday night at the Progressive Series Recital Hall, 4521 Olive street. He will play works by Beethoven, Haydn, Emmanuel Bach, Mendelssohn, Chopin, Rubinstein and other composers, including Kroeger's own creation, "The Humming Bird."

Nathan Sachs will give a pianoforte recital Tuesday evening at Sheldon Auditorium, playing works by Arthur Foote, Saint-Saens, Chaminade, Sgambati, Albeniz, Grieg, Rachmaninoff, MacDowell, Dett, Leschetizky, Paderewski, Liszt and Raff. Sachs will also play his own Theme and Variations in F Major.

William Theodore Diebels will give a free organ recital this afternoon at the New Cathedral, assisted by Daniel Coppin, boy soprano. The program will be chosen from works of Handel, Wagner, Yon, Franck, Bizet, Sir Arthur Sullivan and others.

R. S. Stoughton's recently published cantata, "The Woman of Sychar," will be sung for the first time in St. Louis at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon by the choir of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, under the direction of Charles Galloway. The soloists will be Miss Marie Becker, Miss Margaret Stille, Ben Easton and Arthur Brigham.

The Orpheus Mixed Quartet will give a concert Thursday evening at the Sheldon Auditorium. I is composed of Mrs. Karl Kimmel, Mrs. Maud Covington, Lewis Williamson and Thomas L. Spahn. They will be assisted by Mrs. Bessie Bown Ricker, reader, and Ernest Prang Stamm, accompanist.

Sunday Organ Recitals.

THE first of a series of free Sunday recitals on the new organ at the Scottish Rite Cathedral will be given at 3 o'clock this afternoon by O. Wade Fallert. The program will include Schubert's "Military March," Nevin's "Venetian Suite," the Gavotte from "Mignon," Massenet's "Elegie," and the grand march from "Aida." Fred W. Sultan will provide violin numbers.

The Tercentenary Shakspeare Society will give a musicale at Vandervoort Hall at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The boys' choir of St. George's Church will sing Christmas carols. Those taking part in the program of vocal and instrumental numbers will be Mrs. George W. Coffman, Mrs. Victor Stempf, Eugene Schreiber, Madeline A. Mattingly, Mr. and Mrs. John Eggert, Ruth Kelso Renfrow and O. Wade Fallert.

A musical vesper service will be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Pilgrim Congregational Church, under the direction of Vernor Henschie, organist. The choir consists of Mrs. Helen Traubel Carpenter, Miss Olga Hambuechen, F. Bloemker and E. Holscher. The Morning Etude Junior Club will meet at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Divoll Branch Library, Eleventh and Farrar streets. Three papers on "What I Know About an Orchestra" will be read. The National Federation of Music Clubs will conduct a contest for young pianists, violinists and singers. The preliminary State contest for Missouri will be held next April at Moberly. The State chairman is Mrs. David Kriegshaber, 4939 Washington boulevard.

truth are themselves more dirty than sin."

"Saint Jean' 'on Dec. 28.

FOR the week of Dec. 21 the American announces "Plain Jane," a musical comedy, and for the following week no less an event than George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan,' with Julia Arthur in the title role. Walker Whiteside, in "Sakura,' is booked for next week at the Shubert-Jefferson, and will be followed by a return visit of "Blossom Time."

The Woodward Players at the Empress begin today a week of "Whispering Wires," a mystery play by Kate L. McLaurie and Henry Leverage, which was seen at the Shubert-Jefferson last February. In the cast are Hazel Whitmore, J. Glynn McFarlane, Edward Schilling, Raymond Brown, Bobby Reed and others.

Russian Dancers at Orpheum.

A MUSICAL and dance troupe called the Russian Imperial Players is headlined at the Orpheum, and is heralded as one of the most elaborte acts in vaudeville. Featured are Philip Pelz, orchestra director; Vlasta Maslova, dancer, and Olga Kazanskaya, singer. Also headlined is Frankie Heath, singer and impersonator. On the bill are the Walters, ventriloquists; the Ghezzi, acrobats; Stuart Casey and Mildred Warren, in a dramatic sketch; the Keller sisters and Frank Lynch, musicians and dancers; and Marie Lo's Tableaux Petites. Cissie Loftus will head next week's offering.

Those appearing at the Rialto will include James Coughlin, Val Harris and Vera Griffin, the Royal Gascoignes, O'Rourke and Kelly, and Flo and Ollie Walters. The bill beginning Thursday will present, among others, Frankie Kelcey, Joe Browning, Benny Burt and Wallie Lehmann.

The announcement of the Grand Opera House comprises "Minstrel Memories," the Golden Gate Revue, Charles Kenna, Shean and Phillips, Olka Kane and Bittly Baskette, Evans and Pearl, the Sallardo Trio and Ray C. Wynne. The show at Liberty Music Hall is entitled "The Rainbow Follies." The Columbia's third venture in melodrama is "Hearts of the Blue Ridge," a thriller about a North Carolina feud. Frances Farr, soubrette, will be seen at the Garrick in "Make It Peppy."

What They Are Doing in Movie Studios

be in the last contingent to return, according to Miss Meredyth.

William Powell has been signed by Jesse L. Lasky, vice president of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation in charge of production, for a leading role in support of Richard Dix in his next picture, "The Maker of Gestures."

Helena d'Algy, one of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's recently signed players, will make her first appearance for the company in Frank Borzage's production of "A Man's World," which is to be started shortly. Ford Sterling has also been added to the cast, which is headed by Alice Joyce and Percy Marmont. "A Man's World" has been adapted to the screen by Kenneth Clark from Zoe Akin's play, "Daddy's-Gone-a-Hunting."

Adolphe Menjou, having finished work in "The Swan," Dimitri Buchowetzki's production for Paramount, has gone to California for a short vacation. He was accompanied by Mrs. Menjou. They will return to New York soon to be ready to work at the Long Island Studio in "A Kiss in the Dark," which Frank Tuttle will direct from an adaptation of Cyril Maud's stage success, "Aren't We All?"

Eileen Percy, who is working under Joseph Henabery's direction in "Tongues of Flame," Thomas Meighan's forthcoming picture, played the leading role in Henabery's first picture, "The Man From Painted Post," produced on the West Coast in 1918.

Otis Harlan has been working overtime at the Vitagraph studios in Hollywood recently. Besides having the role of a negro hostler in "Pampered Youth," David Smith's picturization of Booth Tarkington's "The Magnificent Ambersons," he impersonates a typical Frenchman in J. Stuart Blackton's "The Redeeming Sin." The two pictures were in process of production simultaneously and the directors had to rearrange their schedule repeatedly so that Mr. Harlan might portray both characters concurrently.

John B. Rock, general manager of Vitagraph, in an address before the Film Board of Trade of Atlanta, recently, told of the production by Vitagraph in 1897, of the first motion picture ever publicly screened. It was a 50-foot film, "The First Cigar." The principal character was a small boy, who wasn't required to act at all. All he had to do was take a few puffs at the cigar and leave the rest to nature.

Casting was completed last week for Gasnier's next production, "The Triflers," by Frederick Orin Bartlett. In the leading roles will be Mae Busch, Frank Mayo, Elliott Dexter, Walter Hiers, Eva Novak, Dorothy Revier and Lloyd Whitlock. The script was written by Eve Unsell and John Goodrich.

Rose Tapley, who portrays a French aristocrat in the J. Stuart Blackton production, "The Redeeming Sin," has played in a host of Vitagraph pictures, having been with the company, except at brief and rare intervals, for many years. The role she is playing now is her 514th for Vitagraph, but many of the early films were, of course, one and two-reelers.

Clara Bow will play the lead in the screen version of Belasco's play, "The Boomerang."

"Now Toys," Richard Barthelmess' new production, will mark the star's first appearance in screen comedy in six years. Long before Barthelmess scored his resounding hit as the Yellow Man in that tragedy of Limehouse, "Broken Blossoms," he had won a large measure of popular success as a cinema comedian.

One of the last pictures finished under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince was Charles Ray's second feature for Pathe release, heretofore called "The Desert Fiddler." After some thought, Ince decided to change the title to "Percy," as he considered that a more logical name for the central figure in the story. The cast includes Barbara Bedford, Betty Blythe and Charlie Murray.

Lawrence D'Orsay, who has been identified with the legitimate stage in England and America, is a member of the cast of "Miss Bluebeard," starring Bebe Daniels for Paramount. He plays the role of "Col. McKaig."

Betty Compson has begun work in "New Lives for Old," under the direction of Clarence Badger. Wallace MacDonald is Miss Compson's leading man. Besides Miss Compson and MacDonald the cast includes Theodore Kosloff, John Joyce, Margaret Seddon, Joseph Dowling, Gail Henry and Helen Dunbar. "New Lives for Old" deals with Paris and America in wartime and concerns a famous dancer who sacrifices love and reputation for the sake of her country.

Wonderland ballet is amusing, and this is perhaps the high spot of novelty in the performance. However, there is never any lack of bright and agreeable color. Humor is supplied well, but less than bountifully. The Charlot system of the brief dramatized anecdote supplies several good numbers, but a few turns of humorous intent remain which do not quite come off.

The most successful comedian of the piece is Bobby Clark, but no material is provided for him by which he can break new ground. Fanie Brice is funny, but here, too, the spectator cannot help the feeling that just a shade of standardization has come over her antics.

The music is exceedingly well sung. Grace Moore has not appeared to such good advantage in any other issue of the Music Box. Oscar Shaw is also extremely useful to the performance. The best of Irving Berlin's score is a song called "Tokio Blues," and the mounting of the number is one of the most gorgeous events of the evenings. I do not think that this time there are many hits which will be heard round the world. These are thoroughly pleasant and workmanlike tunes, but there was none which seemed at first hearing inevitable.

Dancing Is First Rate.

THE dancing is altogether first class and the best of it is done by Carl Randall, Hal Sherman and Ula Sharon. In this department there was one number with a true touch of inspiration. "Ballet Dancers at Home," danced by Mr. Randall and Miss Sharon, is as humorous a conceit as I can remember.

All in all, the Music Box is a well-balanced revue. To be sure, it depends for the most part on fairly familiar ingredients of entertainment, but they are all of the best quality.

"Close Harmony."

THE bitterest of the current comedies and one of the brightest is "Close Harmony," by Dorothy Parker and Elmer Rice, which was produced by Arthur Hopkins Monday night at the Gaiety. The authors have managed to present life as it goes on in the average land and at the same time preserve the singularity and specialness of the individual.

And so, with the exception of a few scenes, "Close Harmony" never falls into that dull territory where the spectator is moved to exclaim, "This is all very true, but what about it?"

The most conspicuous merit of the play is its humor. The dramatists have been able to edit the casual talk of a number of dull people in such a way that it bristles with provocation for laughter and yet never strains credulity.

Emotional Vitality.

BUT it is still another quality which gives dramatic vitality to the comedy. The emotion which smoulders beneath it is deep grounded and genuine. Maybe the dramatists do not always dig all the way down to this molten core, but they go far enough to leave the spectator continually aware that under the most casual and commonplace lives churns the lava.

And so, in spite of the hot hatred which goes into the play, it is no drab belittlement of existence which is spread before us. Quite evidently Miss Parker feels rather violently about much of life as it is now administered in suburban communities, but she never falls into a tired disdain. Her reflexes are agile. Cut her sharply across the knee joint with a good wife and mother and out flies her foot.

Indeed, it would be fair to say that "Close Harmony" is by no means a general attack against sweetness and light on all fronts. Miss Parker has merely asked that before the battle begins she be allowed to choose sides all over again. Thus in "Close Harmony" the villainess of the play, to use a convenient term, is a woman who never neglects to perform a single duty or to talk about it. And our hero is a scrubby commuter who is moved by a fine burst of his highest instincts to contemplate running away from home and leaving his wife and child in order to throw in his lot with the wife of the man next door.

He Loses Courage.

HE doesn't do it. His baser nature is too strong for him and in the end he sticks to his villa in Homecrest, which is only 47 minutes from the Grand Central Station. There have been 13 years of it, which makes it too long for him ot turn over a new leaf.

And this realignment of the traditional virtues is wholly persuasive. You, too, will feel the sting of the tragedy when the man from Homecrest decides to fight it out on that line. He has been drawn with warmth and affection. Perhaps, he is even sentimentalized a little, which is less than a crime. And on top of all that, the role is played according to every dictate of heart's desire by James Spottswood. It is a beautiful piece of work.

Co-operating with Spottswood is Wanda Lyon and by the most inspired sort of team work they make every scene in which they appear together shine and sparkle.

Acting Good and Bad.

AND though in the end Ed does not get his Belle the mood is not wholly one of bleak despair. The great adventure of escape has come to him in every respect but actuality. You will not see much to move you more than the final curtain of "Close Harmony."

The remainder of the cast is several cuts below the two principal players. Arline Blackburn plays an unpleasant child with high efficiency, but Georgie Drew Mendum as the good wife and mother lacks a certain necessary suavity. The character is wholly sold on her own benevolence, and Miss Mendum introduces a rather distracting factor of disbelief. Quite bad is Robert Hudson in a pretty thankless part. He is the husband of the wife who would be free, and the one dull spot of the play is a protracted quarrel scene between himself and Belle at the beginning of the second act. Frederick Burton is excellent in the small role of a doctor.

"Close Harmony" is a fine and sensitive transcript of life from the pen of one of its ambivalent members.

"Lady, Be Good."

IT began well, got better and ended up just about the best musical comedy in town—"Lady, Be Good," by Guy Bolton, Fred Thompson and George Gershwin, which was offered Monday night at the Liberty. The music was bright and sometimes brilliant. The comedy crackled under the quick, creative fire of Walter Catlett, and Fred and Adele Astaire attended to the dancing.

Added to these important assets were a series of strikingly tasteful sets by Norman Bel-Geddes and a chorus that looked, dressed and danced with distinction and consummate efficiency. Lest this discussion degenerate into a hopeless eulogy, let it be noted that there wasn't a good voice in the crowd. But that didn't matter. Every one had an amazingly good time.

Possibly some will be interested in the plot. It dealt with a poor girl who impersonated a Spanish heiress to collect $4,000,000. Adele Astaire played this insidious imposter. Fred Astaire played her brother whom she was trying to save from an impossible marriage. The Astaires have long been absent entertaining London. London's loss is one of the local season's longest gains.

Walter Catlett had the manner and material that made him a formidable competitor for the first comic honors of "Sally." Smaller but immensely satisfactory additions were rendered by Kathlene Martyn, Patricia Clarke and Gerald Oliver Smith. Cliff Edwards brought the proceedings virtually to a full stop with his ukelele. Sammy Lee supervised a collection of active and attractive dances.

"The Magnolia Lady."

THE new musical comedy at the Shubert, "The Magnolia Lady," is not very good. It is founded on "Come Out of the Kitchen," which was first a novel and then a play. The producer has hit upon the idea of engaging actors rather than musical comedy folk for the venture, and this innovation proves unwise.

There is, for instance, Miss Ruth Chatterton, who scored a great success a few seasons ago in the legitimate version of this slight story. She is an actress of many abilities, but her equipment of talents includes few of the qualities essential for musical comedy. She sings only passably and her dancing is less than distinguished. Unfortunately, "The Magnolia Lady" requires her to sing and dance a great deal.

Miss Chatterton undertakes to supply her deficiencies in these two minor arts by a liberal use of an aggressive and determined charm. It does not quite suffice.

Score Is Feeble.

IT may be that there is more than one tune in "The Magnolia Lady," but to an insensitive ear the differentiation among the numbers is all too slight. This is an inbred score and feeble. Nor are the jokes in any wise lusty.

Ralph Forbes, a young Englishman who lately played in "Havoc," is an agreeable and personable member of the cast, although he seems to be somewhat at a loss about what to do with himself when the singing and dancing begin. It may well be that one of the chief duties is to enable Miss Chatterton to keep her feet in a broken field, and in this he failed signally upon one occasion last night. However, no damage was done by the tumble, and the loudest applause of the evening greeted Miss Catterton's determination to go on with the game and die for the dear old Magnolia Lady.

Richard Gallagher is moderately amusing, and Minor Watson, who was so good in "That Awful Mrs. Eaton," does well enough in this new field. But, like the rest, he seems to be pining for a real play, rather than this generally dreary stopgap.

"Princess April."

THE most agreeable singing voice in American musical comedy, with not more than one exception, was heard from the stage of the Ambassador Theater Monday night in a new play. "Princess April" is a score faintly sweet and a libretto amazingly inefficient. Miss Tessa Kosta, the prima donna, sings well everything she attempts. But then this dainty and graceful young woman is given nothing to do which she could not accomplish and keep on bidding her hand.

In the program it is set forth that here is a musical comedy "vitalizing the American girl." It may truthfully be recorded that the chorus, though small and only occasionally beautiful, is lively, frisky and all that. But it seemed a little person very like Miss Mary Hay, by name Miss Dorothy Appleby, was much the firiest figure on view. "Cute" they will call her, with her black hair and black eyes and a voice that is changing by the hour. Much applause went to Harry Allen, acting the part of an Irish father. He sang a colleen song, and it was only with difficulty that the show proceeded.

The tunes for Miss Kosta are generally acceptable, and the dancing arrangement is worked out with some precision. The costumes and settings are all right.

All things considered, it is a fair show.

"Badges."

MAX MARCIN, who seems to have cornered the Broadway melodrama market, has now added to his holdings. The new thriller, written in collaboration with Edward Hammond, is called "Badges,' and it was produced Wednesday night at the Forty-ninth Street Theater. It is a pace behind "Silence," which still allows it plenty of room for entertainment.

Indeed, the intent is quite dissimilar. In "Silence" the melodramatic story is filtered through emotion. 'Badges" bids for attention through humor. It will be difficult to convince the reader just how funny this new play is. It will not do to begin by saying that it tells the story of an awkward young man who studies to be a detective in a correspondence school and then finds himself plumped into the middle of a mysterious plot.

However, since I have blundered into that introduction I hasten to add, before anybody can interrupt me, that I am fully aware of the fact that is not a new idea. I will go so far as to confess that it has come to be one of the most familiar of theatrical devices. You will have to take my word that this does not detract at all from the enjoyment. The notion is utilized very shrewdly and the role of the amateur detective is played with enormous skill by Gregory Kelly.

Gregory Kelly and Lotos Robb.

ALTHOUGH much of the fun is broadly farcial, Kelly gets most of his effects in building up extremely minute detail. He manages to make subtle inflections and half-suggested gestures carry over with all the tumult of a tumble downstairs. He puts a precision into his performance which would honor the most delicate of light comedies. And for that matter it is by no means wasted in "Badges."

Playing opposite Gregory Kelly is Lotos Robb, herself an adept disciple of that good school of acting which mops up all the seemingly minor matters in the creation of a character. Accordingly the spectator is privileged to watch the bright flash of the most spirited and glittering sort of fencing within a play without violent incident.

Perhaps the happiest quality in "Badges' 'in the fine sprint which it manages to put on for the third and final act. This is the point where most melodrmas grow a little breathless. Indeed, there is a suggestion by the end of the second act that the best of "Badges" has passed. You have a feeling that even Kelly's admirable performance may not quite rivet the attention through one more act. At this point the plot thickens. Incidents multiply and the fun grows furious.

Cat Jumps From Safe.

THE plot is far too involved to be related here, but it concerns a missing treasure, a haunted house and a Postofice Inspector who isn't a Postoffice Inspector at all. Of course, there are crooks, and you may be interested to know that in the end the hero gets both the girl and the reward.

I don't like to give away secrets but nervous spectators may profit by being warned in advance that when the door of the secret safe is opened a cat jumps out. Possibly the cat was pushed, but at any rate he (she) gave an entirely adequate performance and marched off the stage immediately upon creating her (his) effect. If you want to know just what the cat lived on during two years of imprisonment I can't say. But on the whole "Badges" plays fair and most of the incidents scan when the plot is examined in retrospect.

Louis Bennison plays well as a crook who is not so bad, and Felix Krembs is excellent as another criminal who is just terrible. Eleanor Woodruff also upholds the honor of a good cast.

Voice of Union Labor and the Radical Press

The Post-Dispatch herewith extracts from editorial or other articles in organs of labor unions and the Socialist and Communist Parties showing the tendency of thought on public questions among those bodies of citizens.

SPOTLIGHT ON INCOME TAX.
(From the Upholsterers' Journal Labor.)

For the first time the American public has a chance to review the great American fortunes paid in income tax by our Morgan and Rockefellers, big and small. The newspapers have published lists of income tax returns, causing cries of anguish from monopoly heads, privilege interests and other profiteers, whose enormous incomes were thus laid bare before the eyes of working people.

The figures show the gross inequality of incomes and reveal the reason of unrest in the country.

It is a fact that the majority of the 110,000,000 people of the United States do not receive enough to require them to pay an income tax. However, the handful that do pay sums so staggering as to make it hardly believable.

The Ford family paid a tax of...$19,000,000.00
John D. Rockefeller Jr. 7,435,169.41
Julius Fleischmann 827,384.80
Geo. F. Baker Jr.. 687,664.16
Geo. F. Baker Sr. 660,371.52

To get a proper grasp of the enormity of these figures we recommend the following comparison. Ford is supposed to pay a standard wage of $6 per day to his wrokers. Under the six-month probationary system a large number of Ford employes receive a great deal less. But at the $6 rate each worker receives for a five and one-half day week $33. This weekly wage for 52 weeks amounts to $1716, and this amount divided into $19,000,000 income tax of the Ford family goes 11,072 times. In other words, it takes 11,072 Ford slaves a whole year of hard labor to receive in wages what Henry pays in income tax.

When we analyze this we feel reassured that any social system under which such unjust conditions exit is very much in need of a change.

It should be plain to all who lay claim to sanity that no man, by his own labors, can produce such wealth. And if they do not earn it by their labors, and since wealth does not grow on trees, it is plain the major portion of the wealth of these men have is created by the labor of other men, and that these useful and industrial workers are robbed of the fruits of their toil.

SIX YEARS AFTER THE ARMISTICE.
(Editorial Service of the League for Industrial Democracy, Socialist.)

Again the nations have observed Armistice day. In Paris, after the gorgeous formal parade of officials and military forces, came a ghostly parade of thousands of the living casualties of the war. The lame, the maimed and the blind aided one another and were aided by their friends. The primary purpose of the parade was a demand for a higher pension for these living sacrifices to the god of war. We hope that the French parade will serve its immediate purpose.

Today the tension in Europe is somewhat relaxed. Yet no sane man can believe that the danger of war is at an end. Nor will it be at an end while loyalty to the State is put in place of loyalty to humanity, and each nation struggles with its neighbor for prestige and profit.

Only the workers by hand and brain in farm, and mine, and office and factory; the workers of all land who share the same toil, the same hopes, the same aspirations, who pay the same terrible cost of military pomp and the imperialists' dream can save the peace of the world. And they can do it only when they organize for peace and fraternity, when to a conscious hatred of war they add a conscious hatred of the imperialism out of which war grows.

LIBERTY, WHAT FOR?
(From the Toledo Union Leader.)

August Claessens, the well-known Socialist and Labor man of New York State, has an original way of driving home his arguments. Here is how he regards the subject of liberty:

"The labor-hating editors are right when they say that unions interfere with a workingman's liberties. They positively do! If there was only one workingman in this whole world, it would be his complete liberty to work his head off at 6 cents an hour for 26 hours a day and under any condition that would suit his fancy. But, ye gods and little whale hooks! There is more than one workingman in this world, and particularly in this Tea Pot Dome country.

"Decent human beings should have decent working conditions, a just reward for their labors and their fair share of the leisure made possible by modern invention, power and labor. The ignoramus that does not demand these things cannot be allowed to enjoy his conception of liberty. It's either the liberty of the union man to live half-way decently or it's the liberty of the fool to slave. These two kinds of liberty cannot hang around the same neighborhood at the same time. It is either the one or the other. Organized labor has the one ideal of liberty. And if the unorganized and the scabs have the other kind they can go to the lower regions together with the boss and the open-shop advocates. There they have absolute liberty. Maybe? Who knows?"

Christmas and the APOLLO Reproducing Piano

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

CHRISTMAS MORNING with the APOLLO! What a Christmas that will be! Just a touch of a button and the music starts. The dash and fire of Paderewski in one of his most inspired moods; the snap and sparkle of the newest Broadway fox-trot played by a master of syncopation. You will never know the joys music holds until you have an Apollo which brings the world's finest Piano together with the masters of the piano's keyboard to play for you.

Of course you intend to own this modern, up-to-date type of piano which offers so much more than any piano of the past. Do not put it off. Let this joy be yours on Christmas morning.

The Apollo far surpasses all other reproducing pianos. Only the Apollo possesses the power to strike any note at any time with any required degree of intensity. Other pianos may reproduce tempo and phrasing correctly, but in its ability to reproduce an elaborate crescendo or diminuendo or subtle variations in intensity of tone color, the Apollo stands absolutely alone. A demonstration will show the difference.

Come in one day early this week—bring a friend or two and hear how perfectly the Apollo plays your kind of music. You will not be urged to buy—there is no obligation whatever.

Apollo Reproducing Pianos are priced very reasonably—$1200 to $3200. Pianos are taken in exchange at liberal valuation; convenient time payments arranged.

MENCKEN OBSERVES RISE OF A NEW AND SOUNDER ARISTOCRACY IN SOUTH

Says Scattered Rebellions in Land of Cotton Prove Minority Is Emancipating Itself and Looking Facts in the Face.

BY HENRY L. MECKEN,
Co-Editor With George Jean Nathan of the American Mercury, and Our Foremost Literary Critic.

FUNDAMENTALISM, Ku Kluxry, revivals, lynchings, hog wallow politics—these are the things that always occur to a Northerner when he thinks of the South. They are all he sees when his eyes are cast across the Potomac. It seems to him that civilization is completely dead down there—that an empire almost as large as Western Europe, and as rich as the Byzantium of the Isauman, is snoring through the cultural night of Albania or Guatemala. He reads about the grotesque doings of Coca Cola bishops, of hordes of imitation Billy Sundays, of whole hierarchy of imperial wizards and illustrious goblins. He observes that Cole Blease has been elected to the United States Senate, that Ma Ferguson is Governor-elect of Texas, that William Jennings Bryan has willed his bones to Florida. And he shrugs his shoulders.

In all this disdain there is some justice. The South, at bottom, deserves it. All over this great and puissant nation, of course, frauds and fanatics flourish, but nowhere else are they taken so seriously as in the late Confederacy. I try to think of a Governor of Massachusetts or New York inviting a tin pot evangelist to the executive mansion and holding public orgies in the State reception room. It is impossible to imagine it—yet it happened in North Carolina. I try to think, again, of the president of a State university—say, in Michigan or Pennsylvania, or even in Nebraska—serving on a committee to welcome Billy Sunday. Again I buck—but it happened in South Carolina.

The South, indeed, still suffers from the goose-stepping that went with slavery. It still puts too much trust in yrestige, position, authority. A plowhand admitted to holy orders instantly becomes an expert upon all ethical and sociological questions, however abstruse. A pedagogue is full of learning ipso facto; a bishop is divinely inspired. In most parts of the North a United States Senator enjoys a rank somewhat like that of a banker or a bootlegger: he is under suspicion, but has the benefit of the doubt. In the South, despite the examples of a dozen Vardamans and Bleases, he yet carries around a certain antebellum dignity, and his views upon foreign exchange, the diversification of crops, and the destiny of the human soul are accepted with gravity.

II.

SUCH is the South as the North sees it. The picture in its main outline, is probably correct enough. But important details are overlooked. What the North misses, in brief, are the scattered rebellions that now arise all over the land of cotton—the gallant efforts that small but pertinacious minorities make to break through the cultural fog, and let in some sanitary sunlight. Such minorities exist in every Southern state, even the most backward. In some they still struggle desperately for a mere foothold, but in others they are out in the open, battling gallantly and effectively, and in a few they have already done excellent execution.

The excesses of the neither mob, in fact, forced them into action, and they are resolute in proportion to the density of the imbecility to be combatted. The South produced the klan, but the South was also the first to fall upon the klan. Is it so soon forgotten that the wizards and dragons swept Maine at the last election, and lost Texas? Or that the fight against the Invisible Empire in the Democratic national convention was forced and led not by the delegates from New York but by those from Alabama—that the most devastating of all the attacks made upon it from the floor came from a man from South Carolina? Or that its wave of malignant balderdash, striking two Southern states, Virginia and Maryland, instantly broke and washed back?

In this department, of course, the battle has been mainly political—that is, it has been between rival job seekers—and sometimes the foes of the klan have been almost as bad as its own kleagles, kligrapps, furies, terrors, and genii. But in other directions the division between the Davidsbund and the Philistines has been more clearly marked—so clearly, indeed, that the Philistines of all wings have massed for the common defense. Nowhere is that defense effective today. All over the South the minority is emancipating itself and having its say, and in more than one state it is making cruel practice upon the poor whites and their pastors. What one observes is the rise of a new aristocracy, and it is sounder than the old one because it is based upon better brains.

III.

IT would be possible to call an impressive roll of enterprises and personalities, taking in almost every state south of the Potomac—the appearance of the Reviewer at Richmond, of the Double Dealer at New Orleans; the revival of the Texas Review as the Southwest Review at Dallas (its first number contained a truly astonishing treatise on Texas politic by a Methodist preacher!); the multiplication of poetry magazines and other small Tendenz journals; the massive phenomenon of Cabell; the rapid recovery of the more intelligent southern newspapers from the Ku Klux, fundamentalist, and prohibition terrors; Mrs. Peterkin's rediscovery of the Negro in fiction; the new school of realistic history set up by Prof. John D. Wade at the University of Georgia; the sudden appearance of negro writers of genuine dignity, notably Walter F. White.

But the whole movement may be best observed, perhaps, in one salient example—the launching of the Journal of Social Forces at the University of North Carolina, with a Georgian, Dr. Howard W. Odum, at the helm. This Odum was slow in coming to maturity and rebellion. He took his degree at Columbia 15 years ago, and for a long while he was known only as the author of a single remarkable dissertation, "The Social and Mental Traits of the Negro." It was a book of real distinction, but it had no immediate successors. The author had disappeared into his native fastnesses, and was apparently lost with all hands. Nothing whatever came from him; nothing was heard of him. But finally, four years ago, he was called to the University of North Carolina, and there, in a short while, he began to make a stir. First he set up a school of public welfare, and began to make a realistic study of the state of Christian culture among the Tar Heels. Then he began to gather students about him, and to put them to the same work. Then he got help from outside the state. And then he established the Journal of Social Forces.

IV.

THIS journal comes out four times a year, and is bound in a drab paper that makes it look like a Government report. But inside it is full of dynamite, for what it presumes to do is to upset all the assumptions [illegible] which the thinking of North C[illegible] olina, and indeed of the w[illegible] South, has been grounded [illegible] the Civil War, and to set up [illegible] new theory of the true, the g[illegible] and the beautiful upon a foun[illegible] tion of known and provable [illegible]

What Is Neuritis?
Neuritis is an inflammation of the nerve that produces sharp, darting pains very similar to that of rheumatism. In fact, the disease is often mistaken for rheumatism and treated as such, with the result that the sufferer gets no lasting relief.
Neuritis is usually brought on by colds, bruises, nervous exhaustion, malarial poisoning or infectious diseases. The pain may be confined to one spot or may move from place to place. Sometimes it is accompanied by soreness in the muscles, numbness in the hands or feet, lame back, stiff joints, eye strain or severe headaches.
The only way to obtain permanent, lasting relief is to heal the affected nerves—get rid of the inflammation. Eopa, Neuritis Tablets are compounded for that very purpose. Harmless, pleasant and effective. A trial package will convince you. $1.00 at Leading Druggists or sent direct from the makers on receipt of price. C. O. D. if preferred. To Keep Hair Wavy, Lustrous, Beautiful

The hair can be kept beautifully wavy and curly to any extent and in any form desired, by using the simple silmerine method. Liquid silmerine should be applied to the hair before doing it up, using a clean tooth brush. A very pretty "natural" wave and curliness result and the effect will last for days and days.

Liquid silmerine is really beneficial and is not sticky nor greasy. Some experts are of the opinion that bobbing causes hair loss and in this connection the following, from Dr. W. H. Morse, 449 Zion St., Hartford, Conn., well-known physician and chemist, is interesting: "Liquid silmerine which is so remarkably excellent in conserving the ladies' ear muffs, crimps, waves and other arrangements of the hair, is a first-class hair tonic. The laboratory examination shows it cannot be otherwise, and the ladies who are using it are testifying to its tonic action."

Silmerine costs not to exceed 20 cents an ounce at any drug store.

During 1923 the Post-Dispatch printed 31,050 Situation "Wants"—6443 more than the THREE other St. Louis newspapers combined.

MENCKEN OBSERVES RISE OF NEW SOUTHERN ARISTOCRACY

For the first time there is a complete end to cant and sentimentality. For the first time the South is getting a whiff of the true scientific spirit.

I daresay Dr. Odum had some uneasy moments during the first days of his venture, but it was not long before he began to attract recruits, and now he has a band of earnest and competent workers about him, and his Journal is the most comprehensive and interesting publication of its kind, and by long odds, in the whole United States. One of the first collaborators he found was Gerald W. Johnson of Greensboro, one of the best journalists the South has produced in years. The result is that the Journal is not only soundly scientific but also well written. More, it is widely read, and the University of North Carolina is officially behind it, and so it seems likely to survive.

Its appearance is a phenomenon of the first importance, for what it reveals is the collapse of the old morbid sensitiveness of the South and the rise of a disposition to examine its problems anew and in a realistic manner. Dr. Odum is by no means a mere muckraker. He remains a thorough Southerner, wholly devoted to the South. What he has introduced down there is simply the doctrine that the ancient evasions, the timeworn platitudes, the hoary sentimentalities have outlived their protective usefulness—that the South can now afford to look the facts in the face, and go about seeking remedies for its troubles without pretending idiotically that the patient is in the pink of health. It is a significant sign of the times that a Southerner should have thrown himself into the propagation of that idea. It is a sign of far more significance that it should have been received not with yells for the police but with applause.

Other Odums hatch out day by day all over the late Confederacy. The very heat of the fundamentalist and Ku Klux fury is hurrying them out of the egg. I advise the nobility and gentry of the North to keep an eye on those regions, so black and desolate only yesterday. There are watch fires burning, and brave spirits ready for the barricades.

CONCORDIA TURNVEREIN TO OBSERVE 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Pageant Commemorating Part Played by Germans in American History Planned Jan. 10.

Concordia Turnverein is to celebrate its fiftieth anniversary on Jan. 10 with a pageant commemorating the contribution of Germanic blood to the development of America. The pageant-drama is written by George Voges, 4165 Cleveland avenue, and consists of 12 scenes which reach a climax in the capture of Camp Jackson in which Generals Lyon, Frost and Jackson and Frank B. Blair are commemorated together with the Turner regiments which were active in saving Missouri for the Union. Other historic characters of that time represented in the pageant are Carl Shurz, Franz Sigel, Friederich Hecker and Franz Hassendeubel, who were leaders of the Turner regiments. The action of the pageant-play begins with the arrival of the first German settlers in America with Pastorius at their head, and includes scenes from the war of the Revolution. The final tableau is symbolical of Concordia Turnverein and will show gymnastic groups at work under instructor Otto Eckl.

HARE, RABBIT AND MUSKRAT FUR SOLD UNDER 30 NAMES

Cape and Clipped Seal, Coney, French Sable, Some of Fake Designations.

By the Associated Press.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Dec. 6.—Fur-bearing animals the world over are steadily decreasing in number, but it will be possible to purchase some 30 varieties on the market, by name at least, as long as there are plenty of rabbits, hares and muskrats obtainable, according to officials of the Federal biological survey here. The survey is undertaking a campaign against the misnaming of furs, the movement having been started to protect the public against unscrupulous dealers.

Hares and rabbits, say the officials, are being sold under the names of American seal, Arctic seal, Cape seal, cat, chinchilla, clipped seal, coney, ermine, fox, French sable, Geller seal, La Meuse seal, new seal, Baltic fox, Baltic seal, Semeuse seal and sable.

Muskrat appears on the market, it is claimed, under such alluring titles as Aleutian seal, electric seal, Hudson Bay seal, mole, real seal, Red River seal, river mink, river sable and Russian otter.

No fault is found with names that merely fail to call attention to the fact that a particular fur comes from the back of a cat, rabbit or hare, but objection is made, officials explain, to fake names meant to deceive the buyer and to induce him to pay an unfairly high price.

40,000 MILES IN RANCH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON.—Sir Sidney Kidman, the Australian cattle king, who is disputing a huge claim for £156,000 in land taxes, owns what must surely be the world's largest farm, for the aggregate area of his holdings exceeds 40,000 square miles, roughly equivalent to the whole of England less Yorkshire and Devon.

As a stockholder, however, Sir Sidney has to yield premier place to Don Luis Terraza of Mexico, whose farm in Chihuahua embraces 8,000,000 acres, for, as against the Australian's 100,000 horses and cattle the Mexican claims over a million head of cattle, 700,000 sheep and 100,000 horses.

Third in rank probably comes Mrs. King of the United States, whose ranch, fenced with 300 miles of barbed wire, supports 200,000 cattle in addition to vast flocks of sheep.

CLAIMS PENDING BECAUSE OF U. S. RAIL CONTROL

Most Claims Have Been Settled, but Many Individual Cases Are Unadjusted.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Director General of Railroads Davis expects, soon after Jan. 1, to make a complete report regarding adjustments with railroads as a result of Federal wartime control.

Railroad claims are practically closed, but there remain to be disposed of some 10,000 cases which individuals have brought against the Government.

A substantial reduction in the force of Davis' office already has taken place, but the wind-up of the United States Railroad Administration awaits termination of the individual claims.

This settling of millions of dollars in claims between the railroad and the Federal Government, Davis calls "the largest liquidation of a single commercial interest ever undertaken."

The adjustment of claims filed by railroads, the director general declares, was accomplished by the payment to the creditor roads of $243,647,196, and collecting from the debtor roads $193,446,209, making the net cost of this adjustment, exclusive of the overhead, $50,200,987, or less than 7 per cent of the face of the claims as finally presented. After Federal control the roads filed claims against the Government for use of their property and undermaintenance of way and equipment totaling $1,014,397,446.

The total cost of Federal control of the country's railroads is placed at $1,696,000,000 by Davis.

COURT DIVIDED, G. O. P. WINS

Pennsylvania Supreme Court Decides Election Contest Against Democrat.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—The State Supreme Court, in a three-to-three decision, today found in favor of Anderson H. Walters, Republican, in the election contest in the Twentieth Congressional District, with Warren Worth Bailey, Democrat. The decision, if it is not upset by further action, will give Pennsylvania a solid delegation of 36 Republicans in the next national House of Representatives.

The question before the Court was the legality of the opening of certain ballot boxes. On the face of the return sheets, Walters had a slight lead, but when 12 of the 156 ballot boxes in the district were opened and the vote counted, Bailey had a lead of 14 votes. Walters contested the legality of the opening of the boxes. The two Judges of the Computation Court were divided in their opinion and a third Judge was called in, who upheld Walters' contention, and a certificate of election was issued to him. The case was then appealed. Six Supreme Court Justices heard the appeal and as they were equally divided in their opinion, the certificate of election stands as issued.

BRITISH POLICY STIFFENED UNDER NEW GOVERNMENT

Chief Aim of Conservatives Is to Make Empire Strong and Self-Sufficient From Every Side.

EVENTS IN EGYPT HELD OPPORTUNE

"We Mean What We Say; Not Going to Allow Tolerance to Be Considered Weakness," Neville Chamberlain Says.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1924.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—There can no longer be the slightest doubt that the chief occupation of the new British Government is to make the empire strong and self-sufficient from every point of view. There are two fundamntally and diametrically opposed types of mind in Great Britain. One type is liberal and the other conservative.

One believes that men are naturally good and indefinitely perfectable; the other is skeptical of human beings in the abstract and doubtful of moral progress. One has faith in the practical efficacy of mere good will; the other thinks force, active or potential, more important.

One favors free trade, home rule, self-determination, pacifist and humanitarian reforms, is opposed to imperial preference and makes the League of Nations a sort of new religious creed; the other favors protection, a strong hand in the colonies, imperial preference, is not much interested in pacifist or humanitarian reforms, feels that the self-determination theories are being carried to absurd lengths and wants prudently to restrict the activities of the League of Nations.

Types Overlap.

These types of mind overlap somewhat yet in general remain distinct. It should be remarked, however, that even the conservatives are impressed with the necessity of presenting policies to world opinion in a way which will win world approval.

The language which the allies adopted during the war and which since then has been adopted universally except by the communists, is the language of liberalism. Consequently even when conservative goverments carry out conservative measures, they use liberal language in addressing the public, thereby creating great ambiguity in the meaning of certain ordinary words and confusing to some extent the people.

Conservatives' Program.

It is now the conservative type of mind which prevails here. Liberalism is discredited. The program of the Baldwin government includes the following intentions and tendencies:

Revival of the project to construct a great naval base at Singapore. Immediate development of imperial wireless or "all-red" service so as to link all parts of the Government together without dependence as at present on American or other foreign relays.

Imperial preference in matters of foreign trade, and protection of British industries though the word "protection" is avoided and the phrase "safeguarding the industries against unfair competion" is substituted.

Strengthening of the imperial emigration policy. Protection and the artificial stimulation of the agriculture of Great Britain as a measure of self-defense in case there is ever another war.

Revision in a conservative sense of the present self-government regime in India and annexation of the Sudan and the re-establishment of a virtual protectorate over Egypt though leaving Egypt certain outward forms of independence.

Continued strengthening of the imperial finances, first by improving the sterling exchange and second, by possibly trying to pay off the debt to the United States in a much shorter time than is required by the existing agreement.

Force Must Be Shown.

Viewed in the light of this general state of mind the recent events in Egypt are easily understood. The conservatives think that home rule and self-determination theories applied to Moslem lands lead to every kind of trouble. They fear Pan-Islamic nationalism. They know from long experience that force underlies the whole Moslem philosophy and must be shown if prestige is to be maintained. They are determined, finally, to keep control of the defenses of the Suez Canal and the great Nile cotton region by which they are gradually freeing the British mills from dependence upon American cotton.

The murder of the sirdar, Sir Lee Stack, merely precipitated and intensified the application of a policy which is any case would have resulted sooner or later from this conservative mentality. Force has been displayed with a vengeance. The Egyptian Government has been overthrown and a new Government established which accepts all British demands. Military reinforcements have been rushed to Egypt. Custom houses have been seized and a sort of martial law enforced.

Protectorate Re-Established.

Several deputies have been arrested and the Egyptian Parliament suspended and an indemnity of $2,500,000 is being exacted. The last of the Egyptian troops have been forcibly expelled from the Sudan and the British protectorate over Egypt has been re-established by the device of retaining the duty of protecting foreign interests. Finally, the frontier of the Sudanese cotton region will be revised at Egypt's expense to suit British interests. Commenting on this action, Neville Chamberlain, brother of the Foreign Minister, has declared:

"We mean what we say. We are not going to allow tolerance or leniency on our part to be misinterpreted as weakness. We are not going to allow the British name to be dragged into the dust and we are not going to allow British officers to be murdered with impunity."

Whatever may be the ultimate effect, the immediate effects of this policy are undeniable. Egypt has yielded and order already has virtually been restored.

MUSSOLINI BOUND POLITICALLY BY LIBERAL PARTY

His Reading Out of Fascist Extremists Ties Him to Giolitti-Orlando Policies.

OPPOSITION IS NOT VIOLENT

Overriding of Law More Likely to Come From Expelled Members of Premier's Party.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1924.

ROME, Dec. 2 (By Courier to Paris, Dec. 6).—The censorship of the press here makes it difficult to give a true picture of the crisis and indicates that it is more serious for the Fascist Government than appears on the surface.

The Italian censorship is a curious institution and unlike any other this side of the Balkans. Officially it does not exist. Nevertheless it periodically is abolished," reappearing later in another form.

Various reasons are given occasionally for the stoppage and delay of press telegrams at moments of political crises and sometimes no reasons are offered. The correspondents are notified of the stoppage or mutilation of their dispatches a day later, a fortnight later or never, and repeated protests elicit only the assurance that no censorship exists or that Premier Mussolini has just given orders that it shall be abolished.

Breeds Fantastic Stories.

Consequently, fantastic stories about Italy gain circulation, like the report that Garibaldi was organizing an army in France to invade Italy.

The recent sharpening of this concealed censorship suggests that the Fascisti are in a nervous state following Mussolini's blunt orders that they desist from taking the law into their own hands.

His brutally clear statement that "all the old parties are not anti-Fascist," and his orders to expel from the party all "professional thugs, grafters, and individuals who cannot satisfactorily explain their source of income" appear to have driven these elements into a mood of desperation. Seeing their careers threatened, they have circulated fantastic rumors of imminent trouble, perhaps seeking to excuse or to justify their existence.

Nothing in the general state of the country justifies these stories. The opposition parties, although they are extremely aggressive (as shown by the meeting in Milan on Sunday) and confining their activity to strictly lawful grounds. If violence comes, it must come from the lawless and profiteering elements of the Fascist party, whom Premier Mussolini denounces in his circular.

Fascism's Last Chance.

The truth is that they all realize that this is Fascism's last chance to retain an important share in guiding the peaceful development of the country. If Mussolini is able to enforce his recent promise to make the Fascist party subordinate to law like the other parties and to make the black-shirted militia a national, and not a party institution—in other words, to demobilize militant Fascism definitely—the party can continue to exercise an important influence on public affairs despite its past mistakes. If not, Fascism will have virtually the whole nation opposed to it and it will have to dissolve.

Mussolini, if he can detach himself from the Fascist extremists, will continue strong, but he is now politically a prisoner to his Liberal allies, who support him solely on the condition that he accept the program outlined by them.

Thus the three reforms by which the extreme Fascisti boasted they would "conquer the Italian state" will probably tame affairs down. The Liberal leaders, Giolitti, Salandra and Orlando, who are reputed to enjoy the confidence of the King, recently served notice on Mussolini that his projected reform of the Constitution must confine itself to the minor details and not touch the fundamentals.

Liberals to Protect Press.

Likewise they will not permit any serious limitation of the freedom of the press in the projected reform of the press law. Finally, they will not permit any new army reform bills to impair the efficiency of the army as compared with the militia.

In other words, Mussolini must henceforth function as the Premier of a moderate, Liberal coalition. If he attempts to enforce any detail of the extreme Fascist program, or if the Fascist extremists start any trouble, serious dangers are held.

Luzon Tobacco Crop Best in Years.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

MANILA, Nov. 5.—The greatest tobacco crop produced in the last 20 years in the Philippines will be harvested in the Cagayan and Pampanga Valleys of Northern Luzon this year, according to advices to the Bureau of Agriculture. Most of the tobacco which reaches the United States as Manila cigars is grown in the Cagayan Valley.

FITTING POCKETOOKS TO NEW SIZE OF GERMAN MONEY

Frequent Changes Have Caused Difficulties, But at Last a Standard Is in Sight.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—The lack of a standard size, of recent years, for German paper money, or rather of a standard that could be expected to endure, has made difficulties for the manufacturers of pocketbooks. They never knew what size to trim their leather.

The new paper money of today, the renten mark, has approximately the shape of the American greenback, but is a little smaller. Its performance seeming well assured, the billfold makers are going ahead full blast to meet an active demand.

GOLDEN RULE SUNDAY TO AID RELIEF FUND

Simple Dinner Today to Permit Donations Toward Near East Work Suggested.

International Golden Rule Sunday is being observed today in St. Louis, as in other cities throughout the United States and 19 other nations, to provide funds to be used in Near East relief work. The local Near East Relief Association is sponsoring the movement here.

In observing the day, persons are asked to provide for their Sunday dinner approximately the same simple menu as is provided for the children in Near East relief orphanages, and then contribute the difference between the cost of the dinner and the customary Sunday dinner to the Near East Relief Association.

The menu recommended for today consists of a stew, macaroni, cocoa, brown bread and apricots.

$100,000 For District.

While no definite quota has been set the Rev. Lewis B. Arvin, Near East relief director for Eastern Missouri, hopes to obtain $100,000 in this district.

Appeals for support locally of the movement have been made through the churches and various other agencies, including the Chamber of Commerce, civic organizations and business houses.

Gov. Hyde has issued a proclamation asking for support of the movement and President Coolidge has endorsed it in the following language:

"I believe that the international observance of this day may not only save lives of thousands of destitute, but may possibly have an even greater benefit in the way of reflex influence upon those who thus observe the Golden Rule and help to establish it as a reality in daily living. . . . The international observance of this day might well contribute materially to the betterment of international relations and abiding world peace."

$5 From Average Family.

John M. Atkinson, an attorney, chairman of the local International Golden Rule Committee has stated that approximately $5 should be contributed to the fund by each family of four as he estimates that amount would be the difference between the usual Sunday dinner and the dinner such as is given the orphans of the Near East.

"We eat 1095 meals each year and surely we should be willing to make one of them very simple to help such a worthy cause," he declared.

Persons wishing to contribute to the fund are asked to mail their contributions to the Near East Relief Association offices, 1104 Chemical Building, or give their donation at church services today when contributions will be received for the fund.

REFUGEES FROM MACEDONIA PLACE BURDEN ON BULGARIA

Special Radio to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
Copyright 1924.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Dec. 6.—The numerous refugees who continue to enter Bulgaria from Greek Macedonio constitute a grave moral and financial burden upon this country. Winter is settling in and it is almost impossible to find shelter for the refugees who wait at the frontiers and suffer from exposure and lack of food.

Recently at the border town of Svilingrad eight refugees died and the local authorities are at a loss to know what measures to adopt. The League of Nations delegates, who are in part responsible for the welfare and supervision of the Greek and Bulgarian minorities, are now in Athens trying to prevent further emigration during the winter.

Unfortunately the heavy immigration of Bulgarian refugees entering this country caused Bulgarians to adopt a hostile attitude toward the Greeks living in Bulgaria and these in turn decide to emigrate. The root of the trouble probably lies in the fact that Greece is so crowded with refugees from Anatolia that she wants to clear out all Bulgarians and is virtually forcing them to leave.

Jewish Society to Name Officers.

The St. Louis Chapter "Hadassah" will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon, 2 o'clock, in the B'nai Amoona Auditorium, Vernon and Academy avenues. The annual election of officers will take place and there will also be a "linen shower" for the hospitals in Palestine.

HEAD STUFFED BY CATARRH? USE A HEALING CREAM

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing inflamed, swollen membranes and you get instant relief.

How good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, snuffling, dryness or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure.

Snake Oil

STOPS PAIN

From coast to coast men and women are singing the praise of "Snake Oil," a most powerful, penetrating pain-relieving liniment. It will penetrate thickest sole leather in 3 minutes. Mrs. B. Werner, New Orleans, La., writes: "Thanks to your wonderful penetrating oil, it relieved me of Rheumatism and deep-seated chest cold after other remedies failed."

"I had rheumatism so bad I had to walk on crutches for nine years," says H. C. Hendrix, old soldier of Minneapolis, Minn. "After three months' treatment with 'Snake Oil' laid off my crutches and now can walk like a boy."

J. B. Moore, Pittsburg, Pa., railroad man, says: "'Snake Oil' is the only liniment that ever gave me relief from rheumatism. I use it regular after being exposed to bad weather." For rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, stiff joints, pain in back and limbs, corns, bunions, chest colds, sore throat, "Snake Oil" is said to be without an equal. Refuse imitations, nothing like it. Get it from your druggist.

Telling How and When to Use Trustworthy Products and Reproducing Extracts of Patrons Letters Relating to Cadomene, Balmwort, Sulpherb, Arbolone, Su-thol, Mentho-Laxene, Minyol, Hypo-Nuclane, Vilane, Etc.

Dr. Lewis Baker

Mrs. McK. R. writes: 'Our family has used Mentho-Laxene for coughs and colds for many years and think it the best. My oldest son is afflicted with rheumatism in muscles, and I am asking you for a remedy which might help him."

Answer: I suggest that your son try Cardiol tablets to help in relieving the system of the acids and poisons which cause his trouble. Where the pain becomes agonizing, also take 5-grain Su-thol Tablets.

W. D. asks: "Two years ago I had a sickness and have never been strong since. I catch cold easily and often. I am nervous, don't sleep well and seem to be weak, tired and full of aches. Am thin and pale with cold hands and feet. What do you think would help me?"

Answer: Many who have gone through a siege of sickness or surgical operations are beset with an anemic condition of the blood, causing much distress and symptoms which may be corrected by the aid of Cadomene tablets as a blood and nerve tonic to be taken regularly for several months if necessary.

R. K. B. asks: "I have backache-pain and pain, burning when voiding urine, which I am compelled to do very frequently, especially at night; and I tire easily and am quite pale and not much ambition. What do you recommend?"

Answer: I suggest Balmwort tablets for relief of the kidney and bladder irregularities, to be taken in conjunction with Cadomene tablets as a general system tonic.

Mrs. D. L. A. asks: "I frequently have painful little pimples on my tongue and seem to be bilious, which causes severe headache. Also have breaking out between shoulder blades which itches and nearly drives me frantic. Have been troubled with boils, too. Can you help me?"

Answer: Begin taking three-grain Sulpherb tablets and continue taking regularly as a laxative blood and skin medicine. To relieve headache use 5-grain Su-thol tablets.

M. C. D. asks: "Will you please tell me of a good fat reducing treatment? I am much too large in arms, shoulders, stomach and hips."

Answer: I suggest you adopt the caloric system of diet. Arbolone tablets are very effective in most cases, and being a non-secret formula, are very widely used by intelligent, cultured people.

Mrs. V. G. asks: "I have a large family and many relatives, too, so that almost every day we have need of a remedy to stop some kind of pain such as toothache, neuralgia, headache, grippe and rheumatic pain also. Is there safe pain remedy free from habit-forming drugs?"

Answer: Yes. Scientists have found a simple formula which is very quickly effective in the relief of such pain, and it leaves no weakening after effects. Ask for 5-grain Su-thol tablets (pronounced soothe-all); inexpensive; with full directions.

O. M. M. asks: "What is good to loosen up stiff, sore joints? Ordinary liniments don't help me."

Answer: The peculiar pain relieving quality of triple strength Mentho-Laxene Salve is widely used, and gives very quick relief after annointing any painful spot.

Mrs. K. L. B. asks: "My children, age 6 and 9, are often subjected to spasmodic croup every week or two in winter and spring. Then they cough and cough night after night. Please advise a remedy."

Answer: Use essence Mentho-Laxene and triple strength Mentho-Laxene Salve. The former used as per directions is generally quickly effective, stopping the coughs due to colds and often wards off repeated colds and coughs which culminate in spasmodic croup. Apply the Salve to chest and throat, lightly, twice daily.

Answer to Miss P. J.: I have repeatedly recommended plain yellow Minyol to correct scalp troubles such as falling hair, itching scalp and dandruff. Many grateful persons testify to its goodness.

NOTE: For many years Dr. Lewis Baker, Medical Director, The Blackburn Products Co., 312 College Bldg., Dayton, Ohio, has been recommending trustworthy medicines to millions of people through the medium of the newspapers, and doubtless has helped in relieving the ailments and minor infirmities of the public more than any single individual in the world's history; and by an inexpensive method. The medicines mentioned by him are pure and free from habit-forming drugs. They represent the combined wisdom and experience of physician and chemist. Progressive druggists can supply them. By reading his answers to others you should find a case similar to your own.

A copy of Dr. Baker's great guide book, "Health and Beauty," will be mailed to anyone sending ten cents (coin). Thousands have written him expressions similar to the following:

LETTERS TO DR. BAKER

BRADDOCK, PA.: Mrs. J. F. S., 822 Lillie Ave., writes: "I have taken Arbolone tablets for two months and have in that time reduced from 176 to 156 pounds, with absolutely no ill effects whatever. Have recommended to a few friends and they, too, have been benefited. Very truly."

FARMINGTON, MICHIGAN: Mrs. R. S. Perry, R. R. 2, Box 126, writes: "For nearly two years was in a very run-down condition. Could not sleep, no appetite, irritable and at the least bit of noise or excitement could scream, because of my nerves. I had tried many things to no avail, when a lady advised me to try Cadomene. Have taken two boxes and can truthfully say that I have not felt better in two years. Can eat anything, sleep well and no noise bothers me. Have gained six pounds and everyone notices the great change in me, etc."

MARSEILLES, ILLS.: M. Vallero, 754 Lincoln St., writes: "Have had wonderful results from Sulpherb tablets for pimples (acne). I cannot praise them too highly, etc."

LAWRENCE, MASS.: Herve A. Morel, 438 Haverhill St., writes: "After being treated by two doctors for an itching rash all over my body without any results, I took just one box of Sulpherb tablets and find myself well. I will always have them in my home, etc."

SYRACUSE, N. Y.: Mr. Frank Giddings, 805 N. State St., writes: "I have given quite a number of book coupons to friends to try to do good, as I consider the medicines you advise are all good. Have used them myself for the past four years, especially Cardomene, Casca Royal Pills and Triopeptine. Thanking you, etc."

ROSE CREEK, MINN.: Geo. B. Smith, Box 45, writes: "I have been troubled with a bad case of dandruff and falling hair for some time; and after using several varieties of scalp and dandruff remedies to no avail, I ordered plain yellow Minyol, and I am highly pleased with it as a scalp treatment. In my experience Minyol is the only one that has given me relief. Yours, etc."

LAWRENCE, Mass.: Stanley Glotch, 53 Woodland St., writes: "Before using Casca Royal Pills my bowels moved only once in two days and my stomach seemed to weigh a ton. Now I have two to three movements a day. It is a great relief. Also used Mentho-Laxene Salve and it took just one day to get rid of a bad cold. I never used anything half so good as this salve for a cold. I think every person should have one of your Health and Beauty Books, etc."

CHELSEA, MASS.: Mrs. G. V. McCarthy, 27 Spencer Ave., writes: "I am 26 years of age. I was getting so stout I could scarcely breathe at times. I heard of Arbolone tablets for obesity. I took 3 boxes and lost 20 pounds. They are easy to take and done me no harm whatever. Thankfuly yours, etc."

Information: If your regular druggist does not supply the medicines mentioned by Dr. Baker, the following can do so: Wolff-Wilson, Judge & Dolph Drug Stores, Johnson Bros. and all good druggists everywhere.

EXAMINATION FOR DRIVERS TO CHECK FATALITIES URGED

Secretary of St. Louis Safety Council Would Have License Law Provide for Mental Tests.

An appeal for vigorous prosecution of traffic law violators and for a license law providing for a strict mental and physical examination of automobile drivers as the first moves toward reduction of motor vehicle accidents in St. Louis was voiced by Girard C. Varnum, secretary-manager of the St. Louis Safety Council, in a recent address before the East St. Louis Optimists' Club.

Varnum declared that with an efficient license law and with 75 to 100 motor cycle policemen patrolling the streets day and night, accidents in the city which have taken a toll of 169 lives so far this year might be reduced by 50 per cent. He also urged punishment for pedestrians who ignore traffic regulations, pointing out that the majority of deaths and injuries are due as much to the negligence of the victims themselves as to the motorists.

The speaker cited the record made by Judge C. L. Bartlett of Detroit in 1921 as evidence of the value of jail sentences in curbing the devastation of the speeder.

Sentenced Young Dodge.

"Judge Bartlett took office on Oct. 26, 1921," he said, and for two months conducted his office as other Judges had done, imposing small fines here and there, and then his attitude suddenly changed. He was on his way home one day when he noticed a crowd gathered about an ambulance in the street. Working to the edge of the crowd, he saw the mangled body of a small girl who had just been run over by a driver who approached the intersection at high speed and then fled from the scene of the accident. The Judge resolved upon his course.

"Three days later a reckless motorist in his court admitted speeding through a safety zone and narrowly missing two women. The Judge imposed a jail sentence, and announced that all similar offenders would be treated likewise. This was something unheard of and many prophesied defeat for him at the next election.

"About that time John Duvall Dodge, son of the millionaire automobile manufacturer, was arrested for driving 32 miles an hour through one of the city's main streets. Money was bet in large amounts that he would never go to jail, but he did and spent three days shoveling coal. Bankers and business men in all walks of life had to take their medicine. The laws were enforced for rich and poor alike and when the primaries came Judge Bartlett headed the ticket with a majority of more than 40,000. Records showed that at the end of his term speeding had been greatly reduced and accidents proportionately.

"In addition to jail sentences, Judge Bartlett introduced a practice of compelling offending motorists to accompany him to the receiving hospital and morgue to view the mangled bodies of automobile victims. The number of offenses took another decided drop when this was put into practice."

Varnum also pointed to the results obtained by Judge Alva R. Corlett of Cleveland.

"In the last six months of 1921," he related, "there were 88 traffic deaths on the streets of Cleveland. On Jan. 1, 1922, Judge Corlett took the bench and announced that during his terms jail sentences and maximum fines would be imposed on all convicted of reckless driving. As a result, the first six months of 1922 showed only 44 deaths. Later Judge Corlett again served four months in the Traffic Court—from November, 1923, to April, 1924. He pursued his former policy and, as a result, there were 42 deaths for that period, against 89 for the four months preceding."

"In order to keep street accidents down to a minimum," the speaker continued, "there must be complete co-operation between the courts, the prosecutors and the police, and, of course, it is largely a police problem. Daily there are perhaps thousands of violations that never come to the attention of the police because there are not enough policemen. The tardiness of the public to recognize the seriousness of the problem, together with the city's lack of funds, has resulted in an insufficient force for traffic duty.

"Certainly, so far as traffic violatons are concerned, the most potent deterrent is the presence of the motor-cycle officer just behind the reckless driver or speeder. I am convinced that if we had in St. Louis an adequate license law for drivers and 75 or 100 motor-cycle officers on the streets at all times, traffic accidents could be reduced 25 to 50 per cent.

"The time is not far distant when every state will have a license law to eliminate unfit drivers —and why not? If an otherwise intelligent and substantial citizen carries a revolver to protect his life and property he is liable to arrest and imprisonment, while drunken and insane men and confirmed criminals of any and all kinds may obtain licenses to drive cars with which they do infinitely more damage. With a license law in effect, many crooks could be picked up with stolen cars before they had opportunity to commit more serious offenses."

In urging education of the "jay walker," Varnum declared that careless pedestrians constitute a problem almost as great as that of the careless drivers. Primarily for their own protection, he said, the careless walkers should be punished, as well as the reckless motorists.

OUTLINE PLANS FOR COLLECTING GAS TAX

State Heads Discuss Problems of Putting New Law Into Effect on Jan 1.

Collection of the 2 cents per gallon gasoline tax, to be charged against users of motor vehicles on public highways in Missouri, beginning Jan. 1, will occasion no inconvenience to the motorist, except as reflected in his bills for gas. Nor will it be of appreciative consequence to the 5000 or 6000 retailers in Missouri, who sell motor oil and gas, if the plans of the tax-gatherer—in this instance, the State Inspector of Oils—are followed.

But, to the 260-odd jobbers of oil products in Missouri the new taxation device will mean an important innovation in their bookkeeping and business practices, for they have agreed voluntarily and virtually without exception, to assuming the onerous burden of paying the tax and then passing it on to the trade.

Conference Held.

This happy consummation of what promised to be a most troublesome problem resulted in a conference in St. Louis last week, attended by State Oil Inspector Asa W. Butler of Albany, Chief Highway Engineer B. H. Piepmeier of Jefferson City and representatives of the larger oil companies and distributors.

As is known, the gasoline tax was incorporated in Amendment No. 5, approved by the voters Nov. 4, which also increased motor licenses 50 per cent. By the gasoline tax alone it is hoped to add to the revenue for highway construction about $3,000,000 annually.

But the language of the amendment being necessarily broad, the details of collecting this large sum devolved upon the ingenuity of State Oil Inspector to devise the simplest method of collection. Hence, the suggestion of the taxation of the source of distribution —in this instance, the jobbers. And, at the conference here, a standard form of report of stocks on hand and sales was agreed upon, and various details of the law interpreted.

Must Make Report.

To put the law into effect, it was agreed that every dealer, whether wholesaler, jobber or retailer, must make a report to the State Oil Inspector of stocks on hand Jan. 1, all of which is subject to the 2-cent tax. Forms will be furnished the dealers, or may be had on application, and must be certified in duplicate to the State Oil Inspector. This report must be supplied not later than Feb. 15, and the bill for the tax must be paid by Feb. 25. Else, a penalty of 50 per cent will be added, and an interest charge of 12 per cent.

To the retailer, this will apply only to stocks on hand, for afterward, in making new purchases from the jobber or distributor, it is hoped that the plan of the jobber paying the tax will have come into general practice.

The law applies only to the sale of motor propulsion fuels used by motor vehicles on public highways. Thus, farm tractors, gasoline engines and the like are exempted. Here, a farmer, using motor fuels for all these uses, is entitled to exemptions. To claim these exemptions, he must fill out an affidavit form, which will be furnished him, and attach to his claims the invoices of his purchases. When his claim is allowed, he will receive a warrant from the State Treasurer, approved by the State Auditor, for the sum allowed. In case of false representation, he would face prosecution for perjury.

LONDON WOMEN ADOPT "ETON CROP," A CLOSE-CUT, NOT BOB

Modish Mayfair Exhibits Latest in Feminine Lock-Shearing Styles.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The "Eton Crop" has appeared among London's ultrafashionable women and bids fair to become popular in modish Mayfair.

As the name indicates, it is a style which has been traditionally popular in England's public schools. It is essentially masculine in appearance. The hair is cut short and shaved from the nape of the neck, the ears are entirely exposed and their lobes colored carmine, thus dispensing with earrings.

The cut is considerably shorter than is usual for a boy, with the hair widely parted on the left and brushed back severely. Women with naturally wavy locks are using a special straightening machine to iron out their kinks.

WALES PLAYING THE UKELELE

And the King's Subjects Working Cross Word Puzzles.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The Prince of Wales is learning to play the ukelele and thousands of his father's subjects are taking up the cross word puzzle craze, which has only recently crossed the Atlantic. The Prince, who is somewhat of a jazz dilettante, recently took a few tips on thumping the banjo from an American maker of that instrument who happened to be performing in a London cabaret. He has been beating the snare and bass drums in syncopated manner for some time, and now finds leisure to pluck away at the ukelele.

Constipation
—the penalty of civilization

IF we could all lead the healthy, active lives of natives of the South Pacific, constipation would be uncommon.

Yet, even with the sedentary habits of civilization, most people can conquer constipation and its disturbing effects upon health, by taking Pluto Water periodically.

Time counts when you need a physic. Pluto is the harmless water physic that acts in 30 minutes to two hours—gently but insistently. Never gripes after using. Why trust to uncertain, overnight cathartics that may disturb your sleep or interfere with your business duties?

Pluto Water is prescribed by physicans, sold by druggists and bottled at French Lick Springs, Indiana.

TESTS SHOW VACUUM VAULT KILLS MOTHS

Tilden Orcutt Forms Corporation to Manufacture Device—Also Fire and Burglar Proof.

The moth—bane of housewives—which has been serenely surviving with the fittest in the face of cedar chests, camphor balls and all manner of chemical deterrents, may yet go down before the latest scheme devised for its extermination in the form of a vacuum vault invented by Tilden W. Orcutt, a storage company official, and declared effective by Government entomologists.

The vault, eight feet square, is constructed of non-porus cement, with walls eight inches thick. A roto-vacuum pump situated on the outside of the room empties it of air in 20 minutes. When the vacuum is produced, the outside air pressure is so great that the inch-thick steel door bends inward perceptibly. Soon after the vault was completed, Orcutt conducted several experiments intended to show that it was fire, rat and insect-proof. An oil lamp was placed in the chamber and as the air was being pumped out, the flame expanded for a few minutes and then as the supply of oxygen became exhausted, flickered out. Two rats underwent the same experiment and died within 10 minutes.

Extensive tests then were made with moths and other insects. A Government entomolgist, R. T. Cotton of Washington, placed a varied collection of these in the vault, each in a little box equipped with its special kind of food, scraps of wool, apricots and corn, and observed their condition from time to time through the round portholes in the walls. After several hours they began to lose interest in their food, and within 24 hours they were dead. When examined they crumbled like cork on being touched.

The vault is also burglar proof as long as the vacuum holds, as the pressure on the door and wall is more than 10,000 pounds per square foot. The air pump works automatically. As soon as the vacuum begins to lessen, the pump starts of its own accord.

Orcutt has formed a corporation for the manufacture of his device, and intends to equip his storage house with 15 of the vaults, each to be 16 feet square.

He Won the Bet

"I was skeptical of all medicine and doctors. A friend advised me to take Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and assured me it had cured him of his stomach trouble. I didn't take any stock in it and he bet me $50 that it would be equally successful in my case. He won the bet." TO SPEAK AT CHURCH FEDERATION DINNER

REV. D. J. EVANS.

CHURCH FEDERATION TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Rev. David J. Evans, Pastor of Kansas City Church, to Speak.

The largest annual gathering of the Church Federation of St. Louis will be held at the City Club at a dinner on Tuesday evening, when in addition to the usual annual meeting the fifteenth anniversary of the organization will be celebrated. A number of former presidents and executive secretaries will be present as honor guests.

The anniversary speaker will be the Rev. Dr. David J. Evans, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Kansas City, teacher of the largest men's Bible class in the world, and noted as a pulpit orator. Past achievements and future progress will be the basis of other addresses.

Past Presidents.

Honorable mention will be made of past presidents, now dead, as follows: Bishop Daniel S. Tuttle, the Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Niccolls, pastor for more than 50 years of the Second Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Dr. William J. Williamson, former pastor of the Third Baptist Church; the Rev. Dr. James W. Lee, who held a number of important posts in the Southern Methodist Church, including the pastorate of St. John's Methodist Church, the presiding eldership and the chaplaincy of Barnes Hospital.

The living past presidents who will participate as honor guests are: The Rev. Drs. William Wirt King, Carroll M. Davis, B. A. Abbott, William Robert King, Samuel H. Woodrow, Benjamin Young, Ivan Lee Holt, John W. MacIvor and George A. Campbell. The Rev. Dr. William Crowe of Westminster Presbyterian Church is now president of the organization, and the Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Armstrong, executive secretary. Former executive secretaries who will be present are the Rev. Dr. Clair E. Ames, now pastor of Lindell Hills Congregational Church, Minneapolis, and the Rev. Dr. J. Marvin Culbreth, now secretary of the Board of Education of the Southern Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn.

Founders of Federation.

Those who are credited with being the founders of the federation are Dr. Niccolls, the Rev. Dr. William C. Bitting, the Rev. Dr. James H. Garrison, formerly pastor of Union Avenue Christian Church, now living at Los Angeles, and the late George Warren Brown. Bishop Tuttle was the first president.

The dinner will be attended by delegates and visitors from each of the 400 churches in the federation. The usual annual attendance is about 1000, but a much larger attendance is expected this year.

ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICE TO BE HELD BY ELKS TODAY

Rev. MacIvor to Deliver Address at Christ Church Cathedral.

The annual memorial service for the St. Louis Lodge of Elks will be held at the Christ Church Cathedral today at 2:30 p. m. The Rev. Dr. John MacIvor will deliver the memorial address.

An organ recital of four selections, given by Arthur Davis, organist, and choir director, will open the program, followed by ritualistic service by members of the lodge. The Rev. R. D. Putney of Kirksville, Mo., will give the invocation. Several musical numbers will be offered by the Cathedral choir, Anton's string sextette, the Elks' Quartet and solos by Mrs. Karl Kimmel and Mrs. Oliver T. Covington.

Members who have died during 1924 are: August Apel Jr.; Henry W. Belding, Henry F. Doerr, John W. Dunn, Daniel J. Dwyer, Arthur Faget, C. W. Gillham, Arthur Gogel, E. H. Henschen, C. F. Jacques; Felix J. Jezierski, Frank Kasper, N. J. Konz, John P. Martin, Ben W. Miller, F. T. Neal, William Recker, Arthur J. Rice, Thomas L. Rider, Emil A. Roebke, John E. Royal, Edwin Schaberg, Peter J. Singer, Randolph Smith, George W. Stoops, A. S. Swimmer, A. F. Williams, Walter B. Woodward and William H. Young.

Osgood to Address Engineers Here.

Farley Osgood, president of the national organization of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, will address the St. Louis section at a dinner in the Chamber of Commerce Building, Wednesday evening at 6:30. In addition to the address a program has been arranged for the evening.

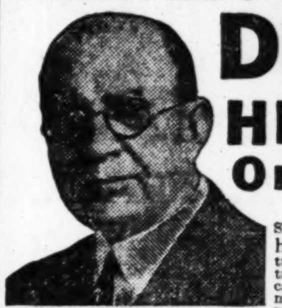
WANTED! 15,000 SUFFERERS FROM DEAFNESS HEAD NOISES Or Nasal Catarrh



DR. W. O. COFFEE, Noted Catarrh and Deafness Specialist

I want the names of 15,000 people who are suffering from cartarrhal deafness, dullness of hearing or head noises. I have an original home treatment for these distressing conditions which I want you to try without cost or expense. I suffered for many years with catarrh, deafness and head noises, tried many different treatments. Had two surgical operations all of which failed to give permanent relief. I began experimenting on myself and finally found a treatment which completely healed my catarrh, restored my hearing and stopped the terrible head noises. I want you to try this splendid treatment entirely at my own expense.

15,000 TREATMENTS TO BE GIVEN THIS MONTH FREE!

I am so proud of my treatment and so anxious to help others suffering with deafness, head noises or catarrh that I will have packed and ready for shipment 15,000 demonstration treatments which I will give away in the next 30 days absolutely free. I want to prove that my original home treatment will give relief from catarrhal deafness, head noises or nasal catarrh. The results are quick and convincing. You feel the difference the first day. This treatment costs you nothing whatever. Simply write and say that you are suffering with deafness or head noises or catarrh I will gladly send the free treatment. It is the best treatment I have ever found in over 40 years daily practice as eye, ear, nose and throat specialist. I want every sufferer with deafness, dullness of hearing, head noises or catarrh to try it free.

Don't Neglect Deafness

Catarrhal deafness, head noises and catarrh when neglected gradually grow worse. Authorities claim that 90% of all deafness is caused primarily by catarrh of the head and air passages. Others state that catarrh causes indigestion, rheumatism, catarrh of the stomach and many other diseased conditions.

Try It Free

I don't ask you to send one penny for this treatment. I send it free to you prepaid without cost. I am doing this to quickly introduce my original home treatment to sufferers of catarrhal deafness, head noises or catarrh. I believe I treat more cases of deafness, head noises and catarrh than any physician in the United States. I know this treatment is the best I have ever used. Send your name and address today. State whether you have deafness or head noises or just have catarrh. This notice may not appear again so write me at once.

ORTHODOX JEWS PLAN $5,000,000 COLLEGE

The Yeshiva of America, in New York, to Follow Art of King Solomon's Era.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The style of architecture which flourished during the golden days of King Solomon's range, 3000 years ago, in the Holy Land will be followed in the five buildings to be erected for the Yeshiva of America, an Orthodox Jewish institution of higher learning, to be built by the Rabbi Isaac Elchanan Theological Seminary, Samuel Levy, chairman of the executive committee of the building fund of the seminary, announces.

Two months ago a site for the Yeshiva was purchased, consisting of two city blocks on the east side of Amsterdam avenue between 186th and 188th streets, New York. Later an additional city block was purchased on the west side of Amsterdam avenue, between 186th and 187th streets.

Five buildings will be erected to provide for the initial needs of the Yeshiva of America, Levy says, a seminary, a college, giving degrees and courses similar to other American institutions of higher learning, which will be the first Jewish college established in America; a senior high school, library and students' dormitory.

Example of Jewish Art.

"The central building, the Yeshiva Seminary and Teachers' College, is designed in part after a section of King Solomon's Temple and will be an impressive example of Jewish art as it flourished during the golden days of Jewish history," Levy stated. "It will be the largest building and will provide for more than 2000 students. It will be flanked by the college building on the right and the senior high school on the left. Behind this group of three buildings will be the athletic fields, playgrounds and stadium, overlooking the Harlem River.

"Another striking example of Jewish architecture of King Solomon's era will be the library, which with the dormitory will be built across the street. The library, topped by a massive dome, resembles somewhat the plans for the Hebrew University at Jerusalem, designed by Prof. Patrick Geddes.

Seek Fund of $5,000,000.

A fund of $5,000,000 to be raised over a five-year period, will be utilized in building the Yeshiva of America and in providing a maintenance and endowment fund sufficient to bring to its faculty the great Jewish scholars of Europe, whose centers of learning have been ruined by the war. When completed—and it is our hope that the first group of three buildings will be finished within a year—it undoubtedly will be the greatest center of higher Jewish learning in the world—attracting world-famous Jewish scholars to New York.

"Jewish learning has been dealt a severe blow by the World War as the centuries-old institutions of higher learning, famous throughout the ages, have been largely wiped out. The Yeshiva of America will, when completed, make America, instead of Eastern Europe, as heretofore, the world center of Jewish learning, and will give these famous scholars of Europe the opportunity to continue their researches and their studies.

"The establishment of a senior high school and college in connection with the seminary will give an opportunity to young men to obtain training in Jewish history, philosophy and religion at the same time that they complete their education in the arts and sciences.

Seminary Now Overcrowded.

The Rabbi Isaac Elchanan Theological Seminary was founded 40 years ago on the lower East Side. It is now located at 301 East Broadway. Within the last few years, under the presidency of Dr. Revel, it has outgrown its present quarters and has a waiting list of approximately 500 students, unable to enter because of its limited facilities. Its present enrollment is 600, including students from all over the United States, Canada and Europe.

Rabbi M. S. Margolies, dean of Orthodox rabbis in America, is chairman of the Campaign Committee. The vice chairmen are: Judge Otto A. Rosalsky, Mendel Gottesman, Nathan Lamport, Jos. Polstein, Nathan Roggen and G. S. Roth and Abraham Levy. Samuel Levy is chairman of the Executive Committee., Harry Fischel and Jacob Levy, vice chairmen. The committee which obtained the site and drafted the proposed plans for buildings consists of Harry Fischel, chairman; Jacob Levy, vice chairman; Samuel Bayer, Louis Gold, Mendel Gottesman, Paul Herring, S. A. Israel, Nathan Lamport, Jacob Leitner, Abraham Levy, Samuel Levy, Joseph Polstein, G. S. Roth and Meyer Vesell. Joseph Durst is treasurer of the campaign and Harris L. Selig, director.

German Lumber Trade Revived.

By the Associated Press.

STUTTGART, Dec. 5.—Germany's lumber business, which has been in the doldrums, is rapidly getting back to normal, according to a recent announcement of the trade. Many of the mills and other lumber plants are running at nearly full capacity. The wooden shoe factories of the country have been operated on full time recently.

Fund of $15,000 to Be Sought Again This Year To Conduct the Work

Will Include Providing Toys and Gifts for 12,000 Children, and Dinner Baskets for Unfortunate Families.

FIFTEEN thousand dollars will be the amount needed this year, as for the past three years, if the aim of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival—to make sure that no man, woman or child in St. Louis not otherwise provided for, shall be lonely or uncheered on Christmas Day—is to be achieved.

Preparations for the annual Fes- val, which will be the twenty- th conducted by the committee, ave been under way for some me. Toys and gifts for the 12,- 00 child guests of the association ave been purchased, foodstuffs to ck the Christmas dinner baskets ve been contracted for, and prac- ally the only part of the work hich is yet undone is the raising the fund which provides this e-day hospitality for the city's fortunate. Contribution lists will sent to offices and business es- blishments during the coming k and the invitation to share one of the hosts in the Festi- l will be offered to all.

The Executive Committee of the st-Dispatch Christmas Festival sociation held its first meeting the season at the City Club last ednesday, following a luncheon which members of the commit- e were guests of the Post-Dis- tch. The meeting was the larg- t ever held in the quarter-cen- ry of the organization's existence, ing attended by all committee mbers and their helpers. While ly four of the original Festival mmittee remain on the roster, e enthusiasm and spirit of the ristmas work continues to grow d endure, despite the changes ected by time in the personnel the association.

Old Officers Re-elected.

A. M. Roth, chairman; George Johns, honorary chairman; H. Bube, vice chairman, and J. R. Cooke, treasurer, were unanimous- y re-elected to their offices on the mmittee. The membership of the Executive Committee continues the same as last year with the ex- ption of Col. William Andrews, who succeeds Brigadier David E. nham as representative of the lvation Army, following the ansfer of the latter to another ld of army activity.

Last year the Association dis- buted 3005 Christmas dinner skets at an approximate cost of 42 each, or a total of $7270, and is estimated that the cost of ch basket this year will be about e same, while the number to be tributed probably will be 3500, increase of nearly 500 baskets r last year. More than 50,000 at a cost of $4972 were given the child guests of the Coliseum stival last Christmas and this r's gift budget will likely be ap- imately the same figure. Pipes d tobacco will again be sent as ristmas gifts to the homeless of the city who are guests of municipal and benevolent in- itutions at Christmas dinner. year's Festival plans will be ch the same as those of last , and the estimated cost will t least $15,000.

During the 24 years of its stewardship the Post-Dispatch has received and disbursed approximately $227,229, every penny of which has been devoted to the cause for which it was given, that of providing Christmas hospitality for those who would otherwise lack holiday cheer. In addition to making a donation of several hundred dollars to the fund, devoting numerous columns of space to publication of subscription lists and fund activities, the entire administration expense of the Festival to the last detail is paid by the Post-Dispatch.

A committee of busines men carefully audit all receipts and expenditures of each Festival. The following report of the Audit and Finance Committee of the 1923 Festival shows clearly the uses to which the fund money was devoted last year:

Audit Committee Report on the Post-Dispatch 1923 Christmas Festival Fund:

To the Executive Committee, the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Fund:

As chairman of the Audit and Finance Committee of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Fund, I submit the following statement of receipts and disbursements for the festival for the year of 1923:

Receipts—

Balance from last year with interest	$1969.20
Post-Dispatch contribution	500.00
Other contributions ...	15,693.05
From Post-Dispatch to pay administration expense	2529.39
	$20,691.64

Disbursements.

Baskets, $7270.55.

Festival expense, $3464.58.

Toys and gifts, $5271.29.

From Post-Dispatch to pay administration expense, $2529.39.

Balance on hand, $2155.83.

Total $20,691.64.

I have examined the books and accounts of the treasurer of the fund, Mr. Dumont Jones, cashier of the Post-Dispatch, and find them correct. All contributions to the fund were received, entered on the books and acknowledged in the columns of the Post-Dispatch.

All supplies, labor and other necessaries for the festival were ordered on requisition of the chairman of the committees and ordered by the chairman of the Supply Committee and on the approval of the Executive Committee.

All bills were approved by the chairman of the committees and paid on vouchers signed for the Executive Committee and the Post-Dispatch by Miss Mabel Denison and Mr. George S. Johns.

Every dollar expended is accounted for by an approved bill and signed and approved voucher.

Besides its contribution of $500 the Post-Disuatch paid the expense of the administration, including salaries of office help, solicitors, etc., typewriting, stationery, postage and committee expenses, which amounted to $2529.39. Thus all of the money expended from the fund was applied to the actual necessaries of the several divisions of the Festival.

It is gratifying to note the efficient system on which the Festival is conducted and the economy and accuracy with which the fund is administered.

It gives me pleasure to state that despite the increases of expenditures due to greater cost of materials there is a balance of $2155.83 deposited at interest to the credit of the fund.

J. R. COOKE,
Cashier Third National Bank.
Chairman Audit and Finance Committee.

History of the Festival

A brief summary of the history of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Association should not be amiss in connection with the announcement of its plans for the current season. Organized a quarter-century ago, it is managed by an Executive Committee comprising well-known citizens and representatives of the leading charitable organizations of St. Louis. The association members are appointed by the executive chairman to preside over various minor committees, and each subcommitteeman assumes responsibility for a certain department of the festival work, choosing as many helpers and associates as he deems needful to administer effectively the details of his particular department.

The Christmas Festival Association is not identified with any single organized charitable agency, although it works in co-operation with all, regardless of creed or standard. It is merely a one-day institution which has for its sole object the business of making certain that no person in the city, young or old, regardless of race or religion, shall lack the means of escape, for one day, from the surroundings and conditions which contribute to misery and downheartedness. It is particularly eager to reach those families in which there are small children, even those whose physical needs are fairly well met on other days, but who on Christmas day, were it not for the Christmas Festival, would not have the little "extras" which mean so much to childhood. The Post-Dispatch serves as the agent of publicity and the medium by which the Executive Committee and its associate workers are brought into co-operation with thousands of volunteer contributors and enabled to do their work.

Basket Dinners Distributed.

All legitimate requests for basket dinners are certain of being cared for, and any person knowing of a family that is in need of a Christmas dinner is urged to advise the Post-Dispatch before Dec. 18, at which time the list must be closed to permit the purchasing of supplies and packing of the baskets. No one will be refused consideration.

The Executive Committee members who have charge of the various divisions of the Festival's work and direct the expenditures and activities through their subcommittees include: A. M. Roth, chairman, William L. Igoe, representing the St. Vincent de Paul Society; Emil Steger, representing the Provident Association; Miss Margaret Fleishman and Maurice Weil, representing the Jewish charities; Col. William Andrews, representing the Salvation Army; Louis Nolte, Fred W. Pape, William Yorger, Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Sippy, Robert D. Corlett, Nelson Cunliff, C. J. Kehoe, Henry J. Bube, Oscar Stifel, Samuel J. Russack, Herman Spoehrer, J. R. Cooke, Col. A. T. Perkins and George S. Johns.

At Wednesday's luncheon meeting the following subcommittee chairmen were appointed:

Food buying and distribution, Louis Nolte.

Basket packing, Mrs. A. H. Sippy.

Gift buying and distribution, R. D. Corlett.

Entertainment, Fred W. Pape.

Ticket distribution, William Yorger.

Transportation, A. T. Perkins.

Hall, H. J. Bube.

Door, Oscar Stifel.

Lost children, S. J. Russack.

Finance, J. R. Cooke.

Pipes and tobacco, C. J. Kehoe.

Medical, Dr. A. H. Sippy.

Police and fire protection, Wm. L. Igoe.

Tree and decorations, Nelson Cunliff.

Basket list, Herman Spoehrer.

Automobile transportation, Maurice Weil.

Crippled children, Miss Margaret Fleishman.

Distribution of Tickets.

Tickets for the Coliseum Festival will be distributed again this year from several depots in various parts of the city, at a time which will be announced later. Through the courtesy of the United Railways carfare coupons will be attached to each ticket, providing free transportation to and from the Coliseum for the child guests of the Festival.

The distribution of subscription lists for the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Fund will commence tomorrow when a force of nearly 50 young women workers will begin to place blanks at business establishments throughout the city. About 17,000 lists will be sent out this year.

Accompanying each contribution blank is a letter from the Post-Dispatch asking that the list be so displayed that anyone wishing to contribute may do so. The young women workers will not ask for money, either on their first or "follow-up" visits and they have been particularly instructed not to insist upon leaving a list in any place where it is not wanted, since it is the desire of the committee that the blanks shall go only to places where they are welcome.

Small Donations Desired.

A special appeal is being made for the smaller donations this year—the quarters, nickels and dimes—which if faithfully given by a large number of the St. Louis community family, will not only distribute the financial responsibility of the festival, but will permit every man, woman and child to participate in the service of giving Christmas hospitality to less fortunate brothers and sisters.

Through the courtesy of the management of the Arcade Building, the Subscription List Committee will have the use of office 517. Bell telephone service is being provided without charge by the Bell Telephone Co., and the St. Louis Toilet Supply Co., 800 North Jefferson avenue, is furnishing towel service. Acknowledgment is due the City Club for the donation of one of their Eleventh street stores during the last two weeks for headquarters for the subscription list revision workers.

Subscription List Committee.

The personnel of the Subscription List Committee of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Association follows:

Mrs. Marguerite Hopkins, chairman; Mrs. E. H. Booth, first vice chairman; Mrs. Kirk Keller, second vice chairman; Mrs. Ralph Zork, secretary; Miss Eleanore Atkins, Mrs. R. C. Badger, Mrs. F. B. APPLICATIONS FOR DINNER BASKETS SHOULD BE MADE IN WRITING

APPLICATIONS for Christmas dinner baskets should be sent in writing, if possible, or given in person at the Information Desk, First Floor, Post-Dispatch Building, between the hours of 9 and 5 o'clock. All requests must be in the hands of the committee by 5 o'clock the evening of Thursday, Dec. 18.

This time limit has ben fixed because of the work required to cross-check lists of names to prevent duplication of giving and to make proper investigation to insure that all deserving families will be provided with Christmas cheer. Time must also be allowed for the purchasing of the basket supplies and the packing of the baskets.

The list of persons to whom Christmas dinners will be sent by the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Association will be handled and checked by a special bureau, assisted by a staff of investigators from the Board of Children's Guardians.

SOLICITORS FOR CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL FUND NOT AUTHORIZED

THERE are no collectors of contributions for the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Fund.

As in former years, subscription lists will be distributed by young women workers, where that is practical, and elsewhere by mail. These lists are sent out with the request that they be so displayed that anyone wishing to do so may subscribe and give any sum, large or small. This request will be made by the young women wherever they distribute the lists, and these helpers will make further visits to see that the opportunity to contribute has not been mislaid or overlooked, but none of them will ask for or receive money.

When a list has served its purpose it may be returned to the cashier of the Post-Dispatch by mail or messenger, or, if that be not entirely convenient, a telephone request will bring a representative of the Post-Dispatch with written authority to receive and receipt for the list and money.

Except through subscription lists, donations can be made only in cash or by mail to the cashier of the Post-Dispatch. Acknowledgment will be made in the Post-Dispatch of every contribution, accompanied by the donor's name, unless a request for anonymity is made.

FREE SHOW AT MISSOURI THEATER FOR CHILDREN

"Peter Pan," the Child Who Never Grew Up, to Be Main Picture on the Program.

When Robert D. Corlett, chairman of the Gift Purchasing Committee of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Association and his first assistant, George A. Menkel, went shopping with Santa Claus the other day they purchased a huge number of gifts for the 12,000 boys and girls who will be guests at the big entertainment in the Coliseum on Christmas morning. Not in lots of tens or hundreds as for a small or medium-sized community family, but in thousands and tens of thousands as befits an immense family such as the one which annually gathers to enjoy the elaborate production presented by the Playground Children. Red-striped horns and rubber balls, picture and story books, a doll for every little mother, and candy and warm skating-caps for all.

After a buying orgy like that you'd think most anyone would have felt their preparations for Christmas were ended. But, according to Mr. Corlett, Santa Claus wasn't satisfied.

Theater Director's Proposal.

"We need something more," he said, wrinkling his nose and stroking his beard. And he thought and thought and thought.

Just then along came Herschel Stuart, managing director of the Missouri Theater.

"I know," exclaimed Santa. "We'll give all the boys and girls between the ages of 7 and 14 a nice big party at the Missouri Theater on the morning after Christmas and show them 'Peter Pan,' the child who never grew up."

So arrangements were made for an immense special show at the Missouri Theater on Friday morning, Dec. 26, at 10:30 o'clock. Tickets for this show will be distributed along with the other presents at the Coliseum on Christmas morning. There will be a number of other features in this show which the Post-Dispatch will tell you about later.

Of course by now everyone has heard of the filming of the Barrie classic, one of the most lovely of modern plays, with 17-year-old Betty Bronson in the title role, immortalized on the stage by Miss Maude Adams. And most everyone knows the story of "Peter" the cutest, cleverest little fairy who ever slipped through a nursery window to take children on a visit to Fairyland. "Wendy" and "Captain Hook" and "Nana," the funny-eyed dog, together with the pirates and Indians and all the other folk in the story will be in the picture. Only child guests at the Coliseum who might otherwise not be able to see the picture will attend the Friday morning show.

JOHN JACOB ASTOR GIVES HIS VIEWS ON NEWSPAPERS

Chief Shareholder of London Times Says Truth Alone Should Guide Them.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1924.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Maj. John Jacob Astor, the chief shareholder of the London Times, speaking on modern journalism before the American Women's Club, said:

"Newspapers should give the newest and truest news and present it in the most attractive way. Great newspapers should give their own opinions on it and the test is not whether one agrees with these opinions, but whether an ordinary, air-minded individual is prepared to admit that these opinions are honestly held and soundly and sensibly presented."

The newspaper, he continued, can do much to elevate the nation's taste, sharpen its conscience and help it to form sound political judgments. Newspapers, however, should steer by the compass of truth and not by the weathercock of public favor. Newspaper men, he said, must have not only facile pens, but character and knowledge. The position of a great foreign correspondent, he declared, is not unlike that of the diplomat and not far behind it in importance.

LITTLE TIN SOLDIERS VANISH FROM GERMANY'S TOYLAND

Instead, Toymakers Are Turning Out Acrobats, Mechanical Dolls and Radio Sets.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

NUREMBERG, Nov. 17.—The little tin soldier for this year's Christmas in Germany has given way to acrobats, black and white mechanical dolls, various kinds of toy radio sets and miniature housekeeping outfits with kitchens, dining room, living room, bedroom, parlor and bath complete.

What a few soldiers one sees are made of wood, owing to the high cost of metal. Although their uniforms of paint are just as bright as ever, and the officers and soldiers just as stiff and pretentious looking as it is possible for the wood carver to make them, the fighters and their equipment of side arms, cannon and swords are not as popular by any means as they were prior to 1914.

One of the season's novelties is a colored boy, made for export chiefly to the United States, which plays a mouth organ when one squeezes his body.

There has been an unusual call for mouth organs, especially from America, dealers say, and German manufacturers worked overtime last summer to supply the demand.

Field-Taylor Tribute Dinner.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—To the memory of Eugene Field and Bert Leston Taylor will tribute be offered by many of their admirers and contributors who will sit at a dinner in their honor to be given Monday night by the Allied Arts Association. Several selections from the writings of Field and Taylor will be read by Mrs. Marian Chase Schaeffer.

College Gives Radio Course.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MARYVILLE, Mo.—The great strides made by radio has caused the Northwest State Teachers' College of this city to establish a course in radio activity and electric theory for the winter students.

MACHINES TO CODE SECRET MESSAGES IN FUTURE

Army Expert Declares Mechanical Devices Are More Efficient Than Present Methods.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Secret messages for military purposes in the future will largely be mechanically coded, transmitted and decoded in the opinion of William F. Friedman, Army code expert. This will overcome the present drawback of slowness and tediousness, and eliminate the high degree of error incident to the difficulty of the work.

The code and cipher section of the office of the chief signal officer is examining various types of secret message sending devices, and compiling codes and ciphers for possible use in war time.

Friedman, who is a captain in the signal officers' reserve corps, says there are certain types of simple ciphers that can be solved mechanically, but the complex sort of cipher requires a high degree of analytic skill, patience, experience and hard work, and takes a peculiarly constituted type of mind. By a trick use of a certain enciphering and deciphering machine in the code and cipher section, it can be made to translate and write various foreign languages.

"A well-constructed machine can be relied on not to make many errors, and will function very much quicker than man," Friedman said. "What is required in a machine is that it should produce cryptograms difficult to read without the key and that it should be very rapid in its operation with the key. It should be simple mechanically, not bulky, easily repaired and transported and [illegible]tical in its operation."

During the war Friedman [illegible]rected a course of instruction [illegible] codes for army officers and [illegible] went to France to solve Ger[illegible] codes and ciphers.

READY FOR SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS

First Week of Intensive Campaigning Will Begin Tomorrow in Schools.

The first week of intensive campaigning for the seventeenth annual sale of Christmas Health seals will begin tomorrow when the one-cent seals issued by the Tuberculosis Society of St. Louis will be placed on sale in all public, private and parochial schools, and at special booths to be opened in all department stores, postoffices and public buildings. The sale will continue until Christmas eve, the proceeds to be used, as in years past, in the society's fight against tuberculosis.

Tuesday has been set aside as "School day," when special health plays, four-minute speeches by pupils, movies and posters will be used to help stimulate the interest of the children in the sale of seals. All the money derived from school sales will be devoted to open air school work, it was announced.

The week of Dec. 14 will be observed as Health week. Industrial establishments will concentrate on the sale of seals this week, many pastors will make "Health" a topic for a sermon, and literature will be distributed in the churches. This week the workers will also concentrate on the hotels and restaurants.

Dec. 13 will be "Movie night" and Dec. 20 "Theater night," when society matrons and young girls will sell seals in the picture houses and theaters.

According to Homer Hall, president of the society, the campaign will be largely one of education during which four-minute speakers will deliver health talks on all possible occasions stressing the importance of education in the prevention of tuberculosis.

The Perfect Gift

There are Christmas trees and Christmas letters, Christmas candies and Christmas cakes; but best of all there is the Christmas House.

What is it, do you ask?

It's a house out in the residential section or in the suburbs, where snow gleams whitely on the roofs, where the air is fresh and clean.

There's a hedge-bordered path that leads to a charming door. The instant you step inside the door, you sense that this is a home, and upon closer inspection you know.

There's a large living room with a log blazing merrily on the hearth. The dining room is a picture and the kitchen is a delight. Upstairs are bedrooms, in which you sleep quietly and awake clear-eyed and rested.

This is a Christmas House—a house that combines home health, happiness.

If you are still trying to think of the ideal gift — one that will give complete HAPPINESS and yet be PRACTICAL.

If you have a wife, a son, a daughter, or someone else in whose future welfare you are deeply interested—

If you want to give your own little family a gift that will make, not alone THIS year, but every FUTURE year happier—

If you are trying to think of something that will never fade, never wear out, never go out of fashion, but grow more valuable every year—

If THAT'S the sort of gift you want to give, watch the "Real Estate" columns of the Post-Dispatch.

For there is only one gift like that.

It's a HOME—or a LOT upon which to build a home.

Choose it from the offerings which you will find in the Real Estate columns of the Post-Dispatch. Here the most and the best are to be found regularly.

SAYS EDUCATION IN TRAFFIC IS NEEDED

Committee Reports to Hoover That Ignorance Causes Auto Accidents.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—"Accidents are primarily the result of ignorance," says the Committee on Education of the Conference on Street and Highway Safety in its report to Secretary Hoover, and claims for this reason that "any national program having for its purpose a reduction of the traffic accident rate presents a fundamental problem of education."

Thirty of every 100 persons killed in street and highway accidents are children. Nearly 6000 children were killed last year in motor accidents alone. Conservation of the lives and limbs of the children through safety education, therefore, becomes a paramount issue.

The highest grade of technically-trained men is required to deal with the traffic problem, and the committee believes "the time is not far distant when engineering schools will find it not only desirable, but necessary, to plan an entire curriculum to meet the needs of those who wish to follow this career. A crisis in traffic conditions has come upon the American public unawares and it is to be hoped that engineering schools will be fully awake to the situation."

Much Work to Be Done.

"Not every policeman," says the report, "has the personal qualities necessary to succeed as a traffic control officer. While the training of these traffic officers may be said to be peculiarly the functon of the police departments," the committee believes that "any co-operation that may be given them by either this conference or the general public will be both welcome and beneficial. Much pioneer work has been done in this regard by the police departments of the larger cities, and it has been considered a subject of first importance by the police associations."

Selection of drivers of common carriers or commercial trucks, "is of the utmost importance to the public, and care in this selection is of itself an accident prevention measure," says the report. The committee includes certain requirements which it believes to be fundamental for employers to observe. After selection, it is recommended that safety instruction should follow, with subsequent recognition of the competent and careful driver, and immediate action upon evidence of incompetency or recklessness. It has been found that the bonus system for safe driving has been of value.

Newspaper Help Effective.

The daily newspaper is one of the most effective methods of reaching the public, the report points out, citing the co-operation of 217 newspapers with the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce in reporting an analysis of accidents in their communities. Editors throughout the country are willing to co-operate wholeheartedly, it was declared. Motion picture and radio interests have already shown an interest, while safe drivers' clubs and other forms of organization are of value. Safety programs in parent-teachers and citizens' associations arouse interest in the responsibility of citizens to the community. Safety as a part of good citizenship and as one expression of spiritual life has a definite place in the church.

Women's organizations, with their close contact with matters pertaining to the home "are of inestimable value in any educational campaign having to do with safety," says the committee. "It is these local organizations first of all which reach the mothers of children, and perhaps no form of organization is equal to them for presentation to parents. They should not only be encouraged and urged to make safety education a major activity, but their attention should be called to the fact that the very nature of their organizations places upon them the responsibility of so doing."

33 WAR OF 1812 WIDOWS STILL DRAWING PENSIONS

Bureau Paid Out 6,577,171 Checks for $239,004,814 During Past Year.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Preparation and mailing of 6,577,171 checks for an aggregate of $239,004,814 was an item in the year's business of the pension bureau. The bureau's annual report today said it has 525,539 names on its pension lists, as against 539,756 a year ago.

Pensioners now on the roll include 146,815 Civil War veterans; 253,136 Civil War widows; 85,038 Spanish War veterans, and 16,104 Spanish War widows. Still surviving are 31 Mexican war veterans and 33 widows of soldiers of the war of 1812. During the past year death removed from the lists 21,808 Civil War veterans and 11,444 Civil War widows. These decreases were largely offset by a gain of 16,645 in the Spanish War soldier roll and 2937 in the Spanish War widow roll.

TO EXHIBIT FISK FLAG

Sacred Concert Tonight at Church Which Gave It to General.

The battle flag presented to Gen. Clinton B. Fisk, Union officer, by women of the Union Methodist Episcopal Church during the Civil War will be exhibited at the church, 3610 Delmar boulevard, tonight at a sacred concert by the Fisk Jubilee Singers.

The flag was presented to Gen. Fisk in 1862, and it is reported that 11 bearers of the standard were killed while carrying it in action with the 33d Missouri Volunteers. It is now part of the exhibit at Jefferson Memorial. The Fisk Jubilee Singers are from Fisk University, founded by the General after the Civil War.

ALBERT BLOCH, whose fascinating expressions in paint and in words are indelibly impressed in the memories of many St. Louisans has lent a collection of his pen and ink drawings to the art department of the Central Public Library, where they are now on exhibition until Jan. 1.

A perfunctory examination of these singulars drawings is nearly an impossibility, for, having seen them, one is irresistibly drawn to a closer consideration of their content in much the fashion that one is helplessly attracted to something fascinatingly hideous. Surely Mr. Bloch's drawings do not charm by their abounding beauty. They are, on the contrary, extremely unbeautiful, gruesome and grim, and writhe in one's memory with a reptilian agility. Their messages are often biting, heart-rending and sarcastic, and the terms in which they are pronounced are correspondingly scatching.

Inconsistency indicating the rapid changes and developments of viewpoint and idea is found among the number of drawings comprising this colection. From caustic observations of some of life's ironic situations, we come abruptly to the literalism in his "Cycle of the Creation" that utterly belies the alleged synicism. We believe that in his several pictures, "In the Beginning," "And There Was Light," "The Sixth Day," etc., he has thought to cvrystallize the abstractness of the idea of creation. What it seems to us that he has really done is to interpret a homely faith in the letter of the scriptural verses which are safely ambigious and sufficiently veiled to afford protection to the customary conception of their significance.

Looking at Mr. Bloch's picture-ideas is like listening to interesting theories pungently articulated. That you disagree is of no moment and in no way lessens the stinging force of his arguments and opinions.

"THE ANGUISH OF JOB," "John the Baptist," "Christ and the Pharisees," etc., never can be eradicated from our memory. The cadaverous figures, wryly expressive, provoke the sensation that Mr. Bloch has disinterred the mortal remains of the first century prophets and is dangling the macabre exhibits before our twentieth century eyes. As if to personify the immortality of their benignity, he has preserved on their faces the identical smiles with which, no doubt, they died.

Contrasting with the weird feeling of the majority of his drawings are two that stand out clearly in our mind as being gentle and soft and delicate: "House in Winter" and "Two in the Garden" (the Seventh Day in the Cycle of Creation). "The House in Winter" is charmingly simple—just a funny little boxy hut with a suspicion of landscape, but so fluffily drawn that one instinctively feels the security of its blanket of snow and the warmth and snugness of its interior. "Two in the Garden" is a suggestion of leafy loveliness where the unspoiled tranquility of the two figures is complete.

The annual thumb-box exhibition of the St. Louis Art League will be held this year in the main hall of the Central Public Library. The display will be installed Monday, December 8, and will continue until Jan. 1.

CHAUNCEY RYDER, Carl Krafft and Henry MacNeil have been selected to constitute the jury of award for the Twelfth Annual Open Competitive Show at the Artists' Guild. The decision governing the award of the $300 Artists' Guild Prize for the best work of art is going to prove most significant. To us it seems that the chances lie between Oscar Berninghaus' "Autumn Days," Carpenter's "Return of the Hebrews From Babylonian Captivity" and Kajiwara's "Lucretia."

Mr. Carpenter's painting is a magnificent work of art. With "Brangwynian" sense of color volume and pattern, Mr. Carpenter's composition consists of the numerous figures of a moving caravan in brilliant tropical landscape. A burst of fluid color appropriate to the Oriental subject and tendency of the picture happily bears close scrutiny and with distance blends into a rich enseble heavily spiced like Far Eastern perfume.

In the lower left portion of the canvas is an extraordinarily strong and certain bit of painting. Many moving figures are seen pressing forward, one upon another, reminiscent of the suggested throngs in "The Landing of Columbus" at the City Art Museum or in the "Venetian Market Scene" exhibited a year ago at the Kocian Gallery or in the "Wedding Procession" owned by Mr. W. K. Bixby.

KAJIWARA'S "Lucretia" is one of the most successful combinations of "portrait" and "picture" that we have ever seen. It has many of the distinct qualities of either and it also has the combined blend of both. The merging of the two types of work has a corresponding fact in the combination of Oriental and Occidental influences. Before a Japanese screen of three sections whose divisions form the beautifully proportioned background, "Lucretia," a tall, blonde American girl in a marvelously toned flame-colored frock is portrayed. First, let us examine the figure, demonstrating the Occidental influence. At once we notice the model chosen is characteristically fair and Saxon in opposition to brunette Oriental beauty. Next we see that the treatment is according to American and European standards. It is thoroughly, seriously and extremely well done and would stand comparison with work by painters having given many more years to its study.

Now let us look at the background. With what facility have the light mountain contours of the little Japanese landscape been indicated! The ease and dexterity born only from the native and accustomed use of the soft brush in executing intricate Oriental chirography account for its finesse. The sense of design and decoration which distinguishes Japanese art is amply present.

Combining these contrasting elements, the painting assumes a half decorative, half portraitive aspect. Long after it ceases to be an actual portrait (by reason of time's changes in the model) it will continue to be a beautiful picture, lovely in design, color and technique.

Beauty

A Gleamy Mass of Hair

35c "Danderine" does Wonders for Any Girl's Hair

Girls! Try this! When combing and dressing your hair, just moisten your hair-brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through your hair. The effect is startling! You can do your hair up immediately, and it will appear twice as thick and heavy—a mass of gleamy hair, sparkling with life and possessing that incomparable softness, freshness and luxuriance.

While beautifying the hair "Danderine" is also toning and stimulating each single hair to grow thick, long and strong. Hair stops falling out and dandruff disappears. Get a bottle of "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter and just see how healthy and youthful your hair appears after this delightful, refreshing dressing.

STATE AUTO CLUB GOVERNORS ADOPT PROGRAM TO URGE ON LEGISLATURE

Say Enforcement of Existing Laws Is Greatest Need—Want More Police and Traffic Court in St. Louis and Uniformed State Road Patrol.

The policy as to motor vehicle legislation to be advocated before the coming session of the Legislature by the Automobile Club of Missouri has been formally decided by the club's board of governors. Its salient points are outlined in the following statement by Roy F. Britton, president of the club:

"The board realizes that some means must be found to reduce the appalling toll of death and injury to persons and damage to property taken daily by motor vehicles, and will support any measure which will bring this about. Much of the legislation which has been proposed, however, deals with the situation only superficially and will not accomplish results. The board believes the greatest need is constant, vigorous and uniform enforcement of the motor vehicle laws.

Need of Law Enforcement.

"If the laws we now have were enforced automobile casualties would be reduced to the minimum. A few instances will suffice to prove the contention. The law prohibits children under 16 from driving, yet many minors under that age are driving cars in St. Louis without molestation until they cause accidents.

EUROPEAN CAR MAKES 40 MILES AN HOUR ON LOW GEAR, 70 ON SECOND

A SPORT MODEL of a European car, with four-speed gear box, has guaranteed speed of 40 miles an hour on low gear, 70 on second gear, 85 on the next and 90 on high gear. It has racing body, and is similar to the same model that was raced on several European tracks this year.

MORE STRINGENT TIME PAYMENT RULES URGED

A conference of representatives of banks and corporations that finance time payment purchases of automobiles will be held in Chicago Dec. 10-11 to devise a standard plan for eliminating abuses and to agree on a schedule of down payments and time limits.

It is not likely that any action will be taken that will affect the average buyer of cars on the installment plan. But one object of a number of those attending the conference probably will be to put an end to long-drawn-out payments. These men are expected to insist that the only financially sound method is to require a car buyer to pay at least a third down on delivery and then pay off the remainder in 12 months. Certain finance companies, it is stated, accept as little as 20 per cent down and permit the balance to be paid in 18 months.

Many cars have been sold this season with payments running as long as 18 months, because the dealers had the cars on the floors and wished to move them, it is said. Opponents of long time limits say the experience of the trade has been that more than 12 months has been too long, because the buyer who cannot pay for his car within the year usually cannot afford to buy it, and also his car may be badly worn before the payments are all made, with the temptation to turn it back and default on the remaining payments.

DRINKING DRIVERS LOSE LICENSES IN NEW YORK STATE

More Than 800 Suffer This Penalty in Five Months —180 Inspectors Watch for Offenders.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—In an effort to live up to its slogan, "We cannot keep the drinker from drinking, but we can keep the drinker from driving," the New York State Motor Vehicle Department has taken more than 800 licenses from drivers in the five months since Commissioner C. A. Hartnett was appointed July 1. Highway inspectors have been instructed to recommend taking away licenses whenever they believe road safety will be increased thereby. The commissioner is working under the law which makes it mandatory to suspend licenses on conviction of homicide or assault in an automobile accident, driving when intoxicated, leaving the scene of an accident or a third conviction of speeding.

180 Inspectors on Roads.

He now has 180 uniformed inspectors on the highways of the State. The chief duty of these inspectors, says Commissioner Hartnett, is to "assist in purging the roads of those drivers who are responsible for the steadily mounting total of automobile casualties. I am prepared to act upon their recommendation that a license be indefinitely revoked or suspended for some specified period. A peace officer is expected to take a dangerous weapon from a person who flourishes it menacingly. There should be similar procedure when it is obvious that an automobile is being handled in such a way as to endanger life and limb.

"The Motor Vehicle Bureau can

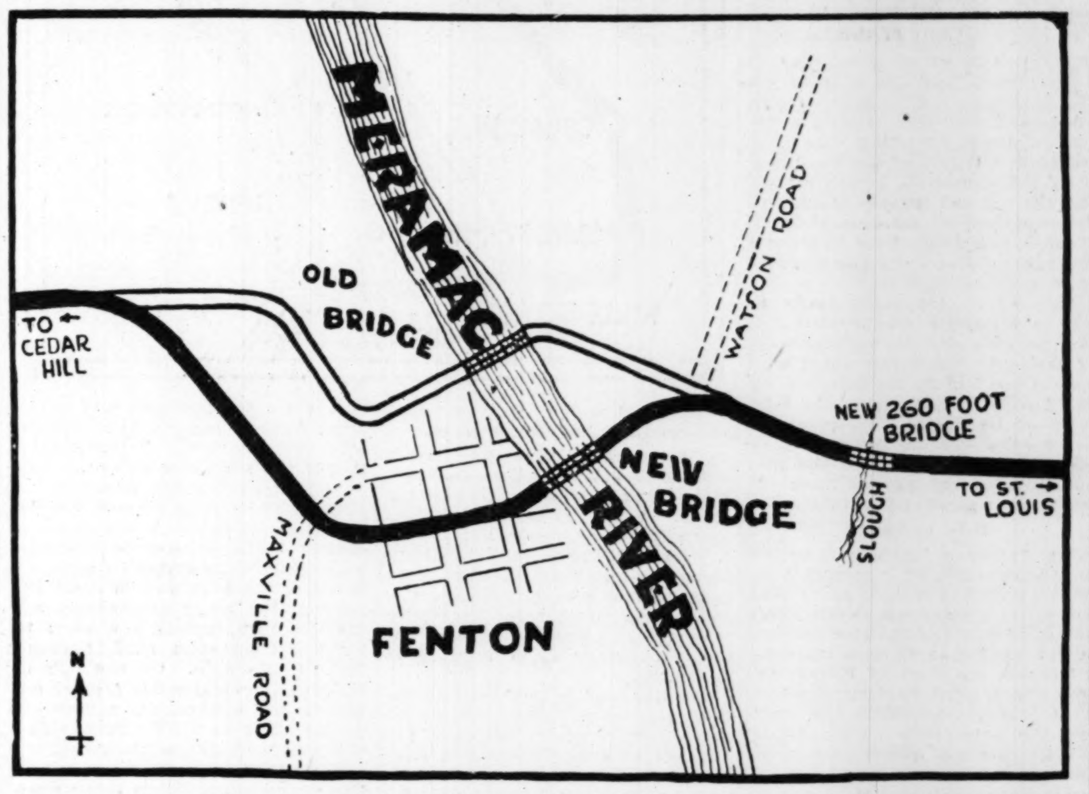
Rebuilding Gravois Road in Fenton District Is Big Construction Job

Bridge 660 Feet Long Over Meramec River, One 260 Feet Long Over Ditch, Relocation of Highway Around Fenton, and Causeway 8 to 17 Feet High Across Bottom Land, Are Features.

ONE of the biggest highway construction jobs in Missouri is that now under way from the end of the concrete on the Gravois road across the Meramec River bottoms, over the river on a new bridge, through the outskirts of Fenton and to the Jefferson County line. This stretch of road is only about three miles long, but its cost, including the expenditure for the bridge, will total around $200,000, or nearly $70,000 a mile. Much of this expense is due to the necessity of putting the roadway high enough above the bottom land to prevent its being flooded in times of high water.

Big Fill and Two Bridges.

For a mile to a mile and a quarter across the bottoms, the road has been graded on a fill, or sort of causeway. Beginning at the first house at the foot of the hill, just beyond where the concrete ends, the fill maintains a level grade clear across the bottoms, its height above the fields gradually increasing from 3 to 9 feet. About 1000 feet before it reaches the river, the road will cross a 260-foot concrete pile and trestle bridge that will span the drainage ditch. A few hundred feet beyond this ditch, the fill begins climbing up to the level of the new bridge, where it is a full 17 feet above the bottom land. This grade up to the bridge rises about 8 feet in 450 feet, a pitch of one foot in 56.



MAP showing construction work from the present end of the concrete on the Gravois road through Fenton to the Jefferson County line. The heavy line shows how the relocated concrete road will run over a new bridge and the parallel lines show the present road and bridge. The big fill across the river bottom also is indicated by the heavy line.

Work has started on the bridge, and the footings for both piers are up to the water line. The bridge, which will be 660 feet long, is to be of the steel truss type, and is to cost about $100,000 complete.

Beyond Flood Danger.

The relocated highway will swing around the southern edge of Fenton, avoiding the right-angled turn on the present road just beyond the bridge and the abrupt left turn in front of the church.

It is expected that the fill will be ready in the spring for concreting, but it hardly can be completed to the Jefferson County line before August. It is doubtful if the new bridge can be finished before Oct. 1.

When the concrete is completed, the Gravois road through the Meramec bottoms will be two feet above the level of all floods, except the high water of 1915. The new bridge will be six feet above the 1915 flood level. Thus the highway, engineers believe, will be passable under any flood condition.

During construction the detour for anyone going straight out Gravois road is from Sappington over the Denny and Watson roads to Gravois road just this side of the old Fenton bridge.

The two miles of the Gravois road from Fenton to the Jefferson County line is under contract. At present the Gravois road is being used from Fenton, although the roadbed is considerably torn up between the Smizer Mill road and the Jefferson County line.

In the spring this stretch of the

WHAT STATE ROAD BUILDERS HOPE TO DO IN 1925 THAT WILL AID ST. LOUIS

Construction Work on Virtually Every Road Out of City Under Contract or Planned — Plans for Routes to Springfield, Mo., and Jefferson City.

BY JIM LANCE.

The coming spring and summer will see real achievement in State road construction in all directions in Missouri from St. Louis. Following is a summary of the road work in this region under way or contemplated during 1925:

It is hoped that it will be possible to extend the concrete on the Manchester road beyond Gray's Summit. If this is done, the State highway, which divides some distance beyond the latter place into No. 12 to Jefferson City and Kansas City and No. 14 to St. Clair, Cuba, Rolla, Springfield and Joplin, will swing north around Gray's Summit to avoid the long, steep hill which now is such a vexation to motorists.

By Jan. 1 next the grading of No. 14 probably will be finished to a point beyond St. Clair. The stretch of No. 14 from Sullivan to Cuba has been let for grading and the State Highway Department hopes to let more grading. Most of this is relocation work, so traffic along the present highway will seldom be interfered with.

If the commission can get 20 to 25 miles of No. 14 concreted this year around Gray's Summit and

WORLD'S SPEED TROPHY OFFERED BY ITALIAN CLUB

Competition Open to All Auto Factories, Will Include Indianapolis Race and Two in Europe.

By Mail to the Post-Dispatch.

ROME, Nov. 24.—A trophy to which it plans to attach the world's championship is offered by the Automobile Club of Italy to all automobile manufacturers whose cars appear in at least two of three selected events—the 500-mile race on the speedway at Indianapolis, Ind.; the French Grand Prix and the Italian Grand Prix. In addition, there will be a money award and also a prize equivalent to 20,000 francs for the driver of the winning car.

The trophy will be competed for on the basis of total low scores made by the various makes of cars in the three selected races. The winner in each race will be awarded one point; the make scoring second, 2 points, the third, 3 points and 3 points will be awarded to each manufacturer of a car which finished behind the first three. Four points will be imposed for each race in which a make has not competed.

For example, if a Duesenberg or a Miller Special (the two leading American cars made especially for speedway racing) came in first in two races and was not in the third race, its score would total 6. Another make which came in first in one race and was second in the two other races would have a total score of five, so would beat the make that was first in two races.

The Italian Grand Prix, which will take place at the Monza speedway Sept. 6, will be the final event in the competition, and immediately after it the Automobile Club of Italy plans to announce the world's champion make of automobile.

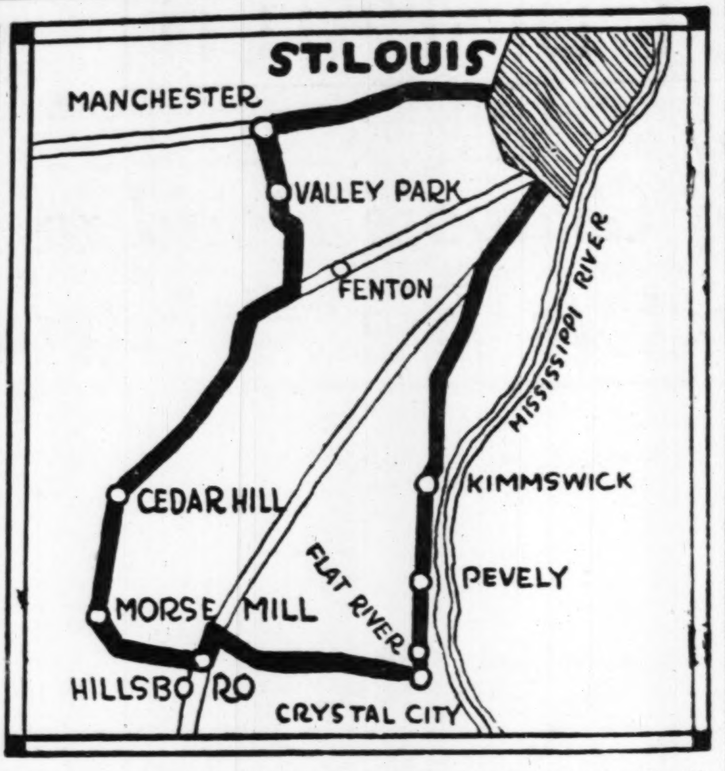
Tour on Jefferson County Roads

Ninety-Mile Circuit on Good Highways, With Pretty Scenery and Places for Making Coffee for Winter Picnic in the Open.

> * * *Jefferson County, where nature is bold
> And the hillsides are gleaming with purple and gold.
> —R. ARBRECOUR: Log of the Road.



DO you want an ideal day of gypsying 'mid the hills of old Missouri, with good roads, woods and free air? Here's a circuit of about 90 miles, chiefly in Jefferson County, where the beauty of the scenery is breath-taking, and the big and little hills quicken the imagination; where a shifting, beckoning purple haze pervades the distances and the sun changes from gold to scarlet.

The route suggested leads as far as Hillsboro and Festus, but can be extended in various ways by the ambitious driver aided with a good road map, for instance, by going a little farther, to the busy town of De Soto. Numerous side roads offer detours for loafing or the picnic lunch—and no one who hasn't picnicked in the open in winter knows what fun that is.

How to Start.

Six or seven hours will suffice for the journey, with enough time for loafing, but a little more time will allow greater relaxation. Don't put alcohol in the radiator because of the grades to be encountered.

Suppose we start at Kingshighway and Lindell boulevard, which good Missouri highways are making the crossroads of St. Louis. We go through Forest Park to Skinker and Clayton, west to Bellevue avenue, Richmond Heights; south to Manchester avenue, Maplewood (watch boulevard stops there and elsewhere in Maplewood), and straight out Manchester to the county town bearing the same name—about 12 miles out, mostly on concrete.

Turn south on the Valley Park road and at Valley Park cross and leave behind the Meramec River. Straight south, up the hill, on Vandover road, then at the first cross road, with a school house on the right, turn right, and a little farther take the left turn and continue south. This is on Hawkins road, a fact you'd never guess from any signs visible, but the rustic thoroughfare is quite passable. After wandering around some hills a bit you'll strike Gravois road just inside of Jefferson County.

Interesting Things to See.

Ah ha! you cry, Gravois road! Why didn't they say so in the first place? Well, you can get on that highway (State route No. 30) in any way you choose, but the itinerary given keeps out of the beaten path as much as possible, and if you started straight out Gravois in the city you'd have to make an unpleasant detour from Sappington to Fenton.

Gravois road in Jefferson County is good gravel and rock, sometimes a little rough in spots, but it won't hurt any one but a confirmed "boulevard driver." Just keep on going out Gravois, through High Ridge, House Springs, local (try to find it), Cedar Hill and Morse's Mill. Along about High Ridge you'll begin to realize you're in a different part of the world—the farm buildings are mostly many decades old, the people—a good-natured satisfied, homebound lot, mostly—are of an interesting type, and the hills—well, it's the beauty of the hills we started out to see. From High Ridge to House Springs is a long, long descent. There is a jog right and left through House Springs.

At Cedar Hills the Ozark-like abundance of cedar trees comes into view. Here the city annually obtains trees for Christmas. In this country city people too often invade private property and ruthlessly destroy evergreens which do not belong to them. You won't do that if you truly like nature.

Across the Big River.

The Big River is crossed for the first time at Cedar Hill and again at Morse's Mill (there are old-fashioned grist mills at both places, by the by). As soon as you cross the river at the latter place, turn left for Hillsboro, unless you want to try the right-hand road, through Ware to De Soto. On the way to Hillsboro, several miles farther on, there is one confusing junction—do we go right or left? Turn right, and pass a church on the right.

Hillsboro is the county seat and there are several hotels serving acceptable meals. Here we strike Lemay Ferry road and turn north on it for a mile, thence east on the Festus road. There is one fork, where we turn right, to go through Silica. Adjoining Festus is Crystal City, where there is a big glass plant, and beyond that lies the Mississippi, which will never be far away on the return trip.

Go north from Festus on State route No. 9, through Herculaneum, where there is an interesting lead smelter, and through Pevely. Five miles, from Festus to Pevely, is none too good, but is being improved with lead slag. If there has been bad weather, it probably will be well to go from Hillsboro to Goldman on the Lemay Ferry road, then east to Pevely. More hills.

End of a Perfect Day.

"No. 9" is concrete from Pevely home. It is an excellent example of the fine work of the State Highway Commission. An interesting turnoff from it is to go a mile or two east from Barnhart to Sulphur springs, nestling on the river bluffs, where there was a railroad disaster some time ago. We're still in the hills. No. 9 strikes the Lemay Ferry road a mile south of the Meramec River and St. Louis County. Follow it to the city, then over Alabama, Ivory and Michigan avenues, Bates street and Grand boulevard.

step in and suspend a license even if a Magistrate has imposed a lesser penalty. An example of this occurred recently. Twenty-five persons were fined for driving while intoxicated. State highway inspectors, believing that this punishment was inadequate, recommended that the bureau suspend their licenses, and, after an adequate review of the cases, this was done. When the licenses are restored to the offenders it is not likely that they will drive while under the influence of liquor.

Leniency Thing of Past.

"This bureau has taken the position that any motorist involved in a serious or fatal accident should have his license suspended at once. There has been a tendency in the past to treat the driver as a victim of circumstances and not as some one faced with a charge of considerable consequence.

"If our inspectors are of the opinion that some physical or mental disability of a driver renders him unable to operate a machine in perfect safety, they can suggest suspension. We can ask for the surrender of the permit of an operator who has been convicted of a felony. We can consider revocation in the case of drivers who are chronic violators of the motor vehicle law, the general highway traffic law, or local traffic ordinances.

REBUILDING GRAVOIS ROAD IN THE FENTON DISTRICT BIG JOB

Gravois road will be shut off for construction, and the detour will be a problem. The natural detour would be from Weber's store, in High Ridge, on the Gravois road, to Valley Park and then to the Manchester road and to St. Louis or to the Smizer Mill road and Fenton.

But this High-Ridge-Valley Park road is narrow and rough in places and expenditure of much money on it would hardly be justified. Also, it could be used only four or five months at the most, because by that time construction work on the two miles of concrete under contract now in Jefferson County, and on several miles more that probably will be let, will make it necessary to shut off this detour.

Grades Offer Difficulties.

The State Highway Commission, it is understood, figures on concreting the Gravois road at least as far as House Springs and possibly to Cedar Hill. The problem of establishing practicable grades on this section of the Gravois road is serious; in fact, there is a question whether it will be possible to get good grades except at prohibitive expense. A 6 per cent grade on concrete is figured as the absolute maximum and one of 5 per cent is really too steep, for the engineers must calculate the pitch of the roadbed so that traction for trucks and other vehicles will be assured.

Relocation of the road, to avoid the long, difficult Medley Hill grade between House Springs and Cedar Hill, is a certainty.

The Gravois road is a part of the secondary State Highway Route No. 30, which swings aside just beyond Cedar Hill and goes through Dittman, Oermann, Grubville and Lone Dell to St. Clair, where it connects with No. 14 to Cuba, Rolla and Springfield. As No. 30 is regarded as a secondary road, the Highway Department d feel under the same need to p construction as on the pri routes, despite the importa the Gravois road to St. Louis torists.

VELIE

The perfect Christmas Gift to those you love, because its pleasure-producing qualities last longest, is a motor car.
And when you look at a car for them, be sure your money buys—
1—A good car.
2—A liberal trade-in if you have a car now.
3—Service.

Velie is the ideal Christmas Gift, a product of sixteen years' experience. Velie is an unmatched value. In making deals for Velies we always endeavor to allow a fair trade-in value for the used cars given as first payment. We don't expect to make money on used cars, hence this policy.

In serving our customers, we, at Benjamin Motor Co., always keep in mind one thing— to satisfy—and we do. Just ask our Velie owners.
To these things we attribute the increase in St. Lonis Velie sales, many times what they were a few months back. Velie is the perfect Christmas Gift.

Handsome and Stays that Way

GLASSMOBILE design permits a thinner construction than is obtainable any other way. Built entirely of double strength glass, rust-proof steel and top fabric, there is nothing about it to get out of order.

This type of construction, together with harmonious design and careful workmanship, has produced a glass window that improves the appearance of any open car.

Handsome appearance is only one of the many advantages of Glassmobile. Scientifically ventilated, durable, snug-fitting, always with the car, on or off in four minutes without tools, Glassmobile is the ideal all-year glass window for open cars. Just as useful in the summer as in the winter.

It combines closed car comfort and convenience with open car economies at a fraction of sedan cost and improves the open car's appearance while doubling its utility.

Built for More than Fifty Models of Cars Including:

Metropolitan Sedan DeLuxe in Luxor blue or sagebrush green Duco, with balloon tires and Fisher V&V Windshield—Price $2195 f.o.b. (Cleveland)

NOTHING could be more logical than the preference women are showing for this newest Chandler.

Its body, by Fisher, is characterized by an aristocratic beauty and a minute perfection of detail that satisfies the subtlest feminine demand for luxurious surroundings.

And in its performance, they discover those qualities that all women instinctively expect in their personal car:

Unfailing dependability, flawless smoothness, and a wealth of power such as the famous Pikes Peak Motor alone can provide—

Easy steering—sure brakes—

And the simplified, noiseless, unfailing gear changing made possible by the Traffic Transmission—an exclusive Chandler feature.

It is no exaggeration to say that the woman who drives this newest Chandler sedan gains an entirely new idea of motoring satisfaction.

(The Traffic Transmission is built complete in the Chandler plant under Campbell patents)

BELGIAN CAR HAS SLIDE VALVES IN CYLINDER WALLS

Two British Cars, Running Virtually as Stock Models, Make High Speed on Long Runs.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—An unusual four-cylinder car, just come from Belgium, has slide valves, operating in grooves in the cylinder walls, for both intake and exhaust. It is named the Imperia. While the bore is only 2.6 inches, and the stroke only 3.2 inches, yet this car shows a power far beyond that to be expected from its engine dimensions. It has a four-speed gear box, and makes 60 miles an hour on highest speed and 45 on the next lower gear. The Imperia is said to do 35 to 40 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

A British car, the Alvis, has averaged 88 miles an hour for 700 miles steady running on the Brooklands track. One lap of the track was made at 96.6 miles an hour. The car was virtually stock. Only a few days ago a six-cylinder A. C. car, also virtually stock, made 528 miles was run by this A. C. at the 8.14 miles an hour. The first 150 miles wasb run by this A. C. at the rate of 91.94 miles an hour.

These two records compare with the recent feat of a Lanchester car in running 12 hours at an average speed of 94 miles an hour the entire distance.

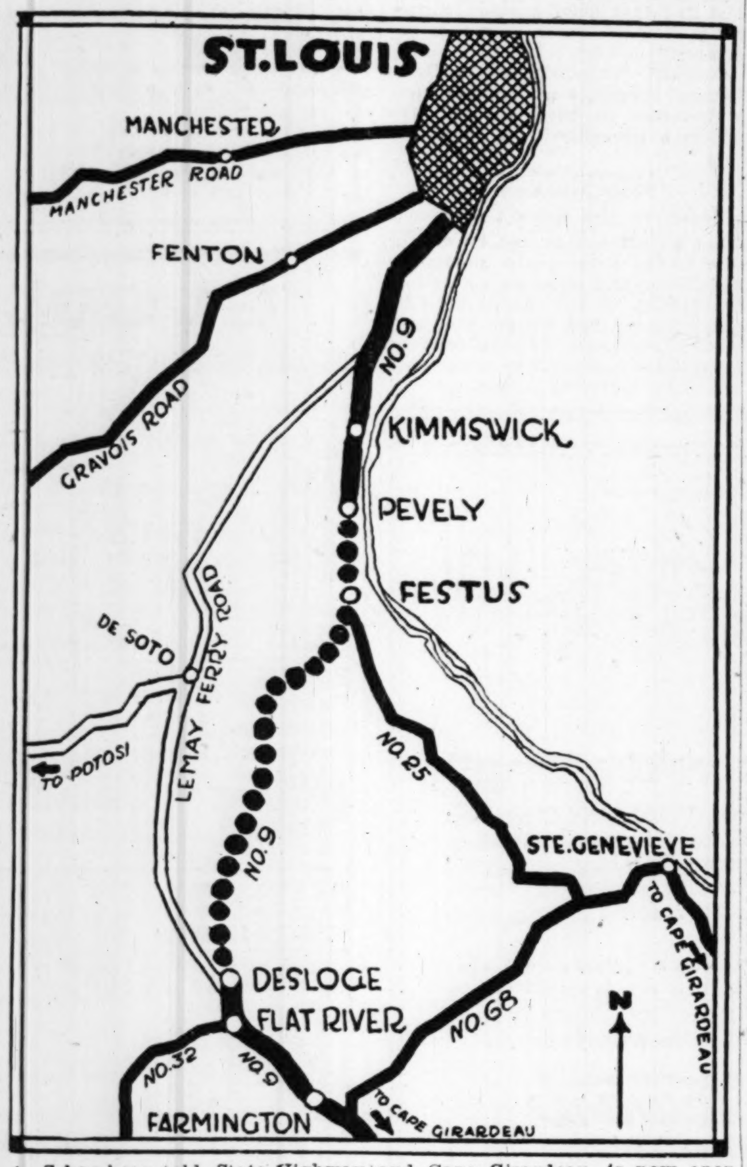
Concrete to Flat River by Dec. 1 Next, Probability



As has been told, State Highway No. 9, which turns south from the Lemay Ferry road between the Meramec river and Maxville and runs to Kimmswick, Pevely, Flat River, Farmington, Jackson and Cape Girardeau, is now open on concrete to Pevely. A stretch of the highway from the Meramec River past the junction of No. 9 and the Lemay Ferry road is still operated on a one-way basis, but latest information is that this stretch will be thrown open to traffic on a two-way basis by Dec. 10.

A contract for concreting the 40 miles of No. 9 between Pevely and Flat River has been definitely let. Work on this concrete will start as early as possible in the spring, and 50 per cent of the grading for it is completed. The road is usuable between Pevely and Festus, as it is being conditioned for the winter with slag from Herculaneum, but a detour will be necessary when concreting begins.

If rain does not delay the contractor, the concrete should be open from Pevely to Festus by July 1, next. It should be open all the way to Flat River by Nov. 1 or Dec. 1.

From Flat River to Fredericktown there is 25 miles or so of good chat and gravel. A contract has been let for concreting the stretch from Fredericktown to Jackson, the county seat of Cape Girardeau County. From Jackson, No. 9 is an all-weather road to Sikeston and New Madrid.

So prospects are that before next winter St. Louis and Southern Illinois motorists will have a high speed, all-weather highway down the Missouri side of the Mississippi river to compete with the hard surfaced route via Belleville, Ashley and Cairo.

No. 23 is now an all-weather road from Fredericktown to Poplar Bluff, and No. 16, which intersects No. 23 at Poplar Bluff and No. 9 at Sikeston, is all-weather from the Bird's Point ferry (opposite Cairo) beyond Poplar Bluff. With the Poplar Bluff-Jefferson City and Poplar Bluff-Springfield roads likely to be made all-weather before next Summer, as is told elsewhere in this section, another motoring field of alluring possibilities will be opened.

TOMMY MILTON DRIVES 129 MILES AN HOUR ON TRACK IN CALIFORNIA

TOMMY MILTON, holder of the world's speed record of 156 miles an hour, has just turned a lap of the new Culver track in California at the rate of 129.31 miles an hour. As this is claimed as a world's record for a track, it will add fuel to the fire of controversy between British and American racing partisans, the former claiming as high or higher speeds on the Brooklands track and inclining to support the assertion of Capt. Maurice Campbell, a noted English driver, that American speedways are shorter than supposed to be. The former American track record was 128 miles an hour, made by Bennett Hill on the new track at Charlotte, N. C.

WHAT STATE ROAD BUILDERS PLAN THAT WILL HELP ST. LOUIS

Cuba, it should be possible to have the highway concreted all the way from St. Louis to Cuba before the end of 1926. Much depends on the amount of money that must be spent on the difficult and expensive work on No. 14 in the Laclede County region.

No promises have been made, but it is likely that the eight miles of road from No. 14 to Washington will be concreted, except for a mile and a half that already is rock asphalt.

Indications are that by the end of next summer No. 12 will be a good, fast, all-weather highway from St. Louis through Franklin, Gasconade, Osage, Cole, Moniteau, Cooper, Pettis, Johnson and Jackson counties to Kansas City, except for a few stretches, including a place or two in Gasconade County. And the entire highway may be all-weather by that time.

Every effort is to be made in 1925 to finish graveling the east end of No. 12 in Franklin County to Union. At the same time work will be pushed on graveling the west end of the road in Franklin County from Leslie on through Gasconade County.

Present plans are to complete the stretch betwen Rosebud and Drake before the end of 1925. This work will include bridging a number of rivulets and small creeks which now must be forded or crossed on so-called high-water bridges, which consist of rough timber tracks onto which cars must mount and pursue a cautious way across.

It is safe to predict that within the next 48 months there will be a wide graveled road all the way from Union to Mount Sterling, at the western edge of Gasconade County. From Mount Sterling to Jefferson City the road now is good gravel. Beyond Jefferson City, Johnson County has most of the bad places on No. 12. It is expected that the highway across that county will be hard-surfaced during 1925.

Outside the so-called airline route from St. Louis to Kansas City—Route No. 2—which is to be concrete the entire distance, Nos. 12 and 14 will be of the greatest benefit to motorists of St. Louis and vicinity, for they will open up the Ozark region and that section between No. 12 and the Missouri River. Completed, and with cross roads put in better condition, they will afford tours and combinations of tours such as few parts of this country can boast.

Before the end of the year, there will be concrete on No. 2 through St. Charles, Wentzville, Warrenton and probably pretty well through Montgomery County.

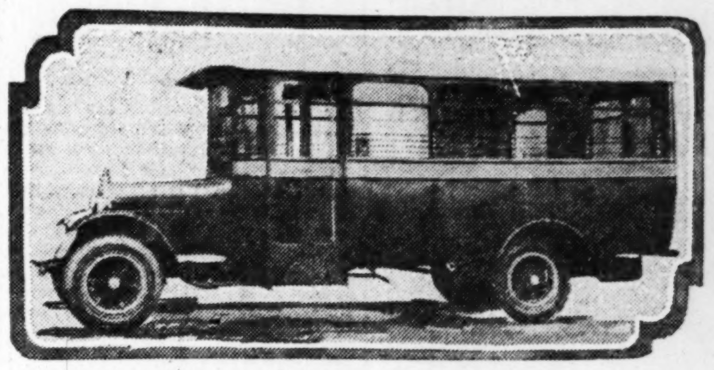
No. 9, north from St. Louis to Hannibal, takes the same route as No. 2 as far as Wentzville. It now is being surveyed north of Wentzville for a relocation of the two or three miles. There is reason to hope for some concrete on No. 9 the coming year.

Considerable work will be done on No. 94, which runs from St. Charles through Boshertown to the West Alton ferry. A contract has been let for resurfacing with rock asphalt about 4¼ miles of old macadam from St. Charles on the Boshertown road to a point about 2¼ miles beyond Boshertown. It also is possible that 2 or 3 miles of the 5 miles of dirt approaching the West Alton ferry will be graveled.

The condition of the Lemay Ferry road through Hillsboro and De Soto is for the counties it traverses to worry about, for this is not a State highway. As is generally known, this is an all-weather road.

Construction plans and progress on No. 9, the State highway south from St. Louis to Flat River, Fredericktown and Cape Girardeau, is told by map and story elsewhere in this section.

This Bus Carries 21-Passengers



The new 21-passenger, street car type Dodge bus, which is being shown by the Tate Motor Co., Inc., and is in service on bus routes in and around St. Louis. This bus, which has 158-inch wheelbase, has the Dodge engine and is built on a chassis by Graham Bros., now a division of Dodge Bros. It is operated by one man.

Two of these busses are being operated on half-hour schedule by the Ferguson Motor Bus Co. between Wellston and Ferguson. Another is in service on the route operated by the Gray Line Bus Co. from Maplewood via the Big Bend road to Webster and Kirkwood.

NEW OAKLAND COACH IS HERE

Model Just Introduced in City Has Custom Built Appearance.

The new Oakland coach, which was first displayed in St. Louis last week by the Mississippi Valley Motor Co., is a handsome car of custom-built appearance, with low sweeping lines, gracefully rounded corners and a distinctive sage green color scheme in permanent Duco finish.

It has a full five-passenger body, low hung and comfortable. The body frame is of selected hardwood with the same kind of construction as is used in the sedan. Metal is used for the back, not fabric.

The body, hood and disc steel wheels are finished in sagebrush green with orange striping; the fenders, running gear and upper structure in black. The interior is lined in dark green upholstery of high-grade worsted.

Two large doors permit easy entrance, from right or left side. Front seats are of the Pullman type, heavily upholstered and folding forward to allow passengers unobstructed passage to the rear seat.

Roominess and unobstructed vision are two features. There is ample room for three in the rear seat while the two in the front seats have ample elbow and leg room.

Two large windows, each side, with a one-piece windshield in front, afford a range of vision that may be considered the maximum in a closed car.

Automatic windshield cleaner, rear view mirror, crank type quick action window lifts on doors and rear windows are standard equipment in addition to four-wheel brakes, centralized controls, five disc wheels and automatic spark control.

Pneumatic Tire Born in 1888.

Thirty-six years ago—on July 23, 1888—the first pneumatic tires were built by Dr. John Boyd Dunlop, a veterinarian of Belfast, Ireland. In 1923 the sales of tires amounted to $623,166,000.

MAY RELOCATE PART OF LINCOLN HIGHWAY

Many Complaints of Congestion on Section Just West of Pittsburg, Pa.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 6.—Because of increasing complaints of congestion between East Liverpool, O., and Pittsburg, another effort is being made to have that stretch of the Lincoln Highway relocated south of the Ohio River. A conference of Lincoln Highway and Pennsylvania State officials is to be held here.

This change has been discussed and rediscussed for six years, but because of a number of elements having bearing on the situation, no definite progress has been made. In the meanwhile, conditions on the present Lincoln route west of Pittsburg have become steadily worse until a change is imperative.

The present route of the highway lies through the numerous small municipalities along the north shore of the Ohio River. This route, in addition to being roundabout, is more or less congested and the tourist is under the added disadvantage of having to travel over roads that range from fair to poor. Between Beaver and East Liverpool, 14 miles of dirt road are encountered, this being the only stretch of dirt on the highway in Pennsylvania.

To avoid this and some reconstruction under way in Ohio, highway officials have established a detour between Rochester, Pa., and Canton, O.

To avoid congestion and bad paving, Lincoln Highway headquarters and the automobile clubs here have been advising tourists to use a south-of-the-river route via McKees Rocks, Neville Island, Coraopolis, Woodlawn and Monaca, returning to the highway at Rochester.

Battery in New Headquarters

THE building and service station of the Battery Service Co., 2120 Locust boulevard, which has taken the St. Louis district distributorship for U. S. L. batteries. The company, of which W. O. Suhre is president and G. C. Fisher secretary, has expanded so rapidly since its organization nine years ago that it has had to move twice. It first located at Locust and Twenty-third street, then moved to Olive and Twenty-third street, and finally, in 1920, to its present place at 2120 Locust. Its service station is one of the largest and most completely equipped in the United States. In addition to handling and servicing U. S. L. batteries, the station recharges and repairs all other makes of batteries.

DEVICE SHOWS ENGINE CONDITION

Wasson Motor Check Seen for First Time in This City.

A device for showing exactly the condition of an automobile engine within an hour's time by testing the car "as is" has just arrived in St. Louis and is being exhibited in the showrooms of the Newell Motor Car Co. It is called the Wasson motor check. If an engine is all right, the Wasson check says so and shows why. If it is operating at less than maximum efficiency, the check again shows just what is wrong. It also affords an absolute test as to whether a repair or reconditioning job has been done correctly.

The apparatus includes a rigidly built steel stand onto which a car can be run, with devices for locking front and rear axles firmly in place. The rear wheels set on two drums, mounted on a shaft. There is an adjustable brake controlled by rope friction which can be regulated to duplicate any driving load condition. A tachometer and scale connected with this record speed and horsepower.

A gasometer, attached to the breather on the crank case, measures the slippage of the explosive charge past pistons in cubic inches a minute. A flowmeter, connected with the gasoline line, measures fuel consumption at all speed ranges in miles the gallon or pounds the horsepower.

There is a still in which crankcase oil can be distilled in seven minutes into its separate elements so as to measure dilution. There also is a gauge for measuring cylinder compression and a spray valve and condensing plate for determining at what motor speed oil is "thrown." Another gauge measures back pressure and establishes condition of the muffler, and there is an apparatus for analyzing exhaust gas to determine the amount of fuel and power wasted.

While a car is on the device it can be tuned up to concert pitch or the repair shop can find out exactly what must be remedied.

The check is of great value to a dealer, because it will show just how good or how bad a used car is. It is of as great value to the car owner, because it enables him any time, within an hour, to learn the condition of his engine, to make minor adjustments with exact accuracy and to make sure after repairs are completed that they have been done in a workmanlike manner.

The Wasson check was accompanied here by James H. Frazier, sales manager, and H. C. Brown of the engineering staff of the T. N. T. Engineering Co., which makes it. The check is being generally installed by Paige and Jewett distributers throughout this country.

PRICE CUTS ON 4 MAKES

LOWERING of prices on Ford, Dodge and Durant cars, following the recent cut by Hudson and Essex—the third in a relatively short time—has been the feature of the week on Auto Row.

The Ford price cut, it was stated by Edsel Ford, was made possible by greater efficiency of manufacture. Cuts on Ford cars are: Fordor sedan, $25; Tudor sedan, $10; coupe, $5; touring car, $5; runabout, $5; chassis, $5; truck chassis, $5. The reductions affect all enrolled in the Ford weekly purchase plan, as those who have not taken delivery of cars automatically benefit by the cut. No price reduction of Fordson tractors or Lincoln cars is contemplated.

The following reductions in Dodge car prices were announced by the factory and Tate Motor Co., Inc., distributor in St. Louis: Touring car, $30; roadster, $30; B coupe, $60; B sedan, $175; A sedan, $150. Balloon tires are standard on the models affected. The cuts were effective last Monday. Prices of Dodge commercial cars are not affected.

The Spalding Motor Co., distributer of Durant and Star cars, announced the following substantial reductions on Durant cars: Touring car, $60; sedan, $175; 4-passenger coupe, $180; business coupe, $100; coach, $125.

The latest reductions of Hudson and Essex cars, announced a week ago, were: Hudson—Coach, $50; 7-passenger sedan, $355, 5-passenger sedan, $355; Essex—Coach, $50. Previously, on Oct. 24, the price of the Hudson coach had been cut $105, and that of the Essex coach $55. Today both Hudson and Essex open cars sell for more than the closed models.

New Factory for Hup Eight.

Manufacture of the Hup straight eight is to begin soon in a new plant adjoining the persent factory, which will continue to turn out Hup fours. About $1,250,000 is being spent on the straight eight factor yas a starter. The two lines of cars are for different markets. The eight should be on display at the Weber Implement and Automobile Co. in St. Louis before long.

Factory Official in City.

Lynn McNaughton, general sales manager of the Cadillac Motor Co of Detroit, was in the city Thursday visiting the Cadillac Automobile Co, of St. Louis. He was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the local Cadillac organization at the Chase Hotel. McNaughton said business this fall has ranked with the best Cadillac ever has had, especially since the new custom built models were announced. These models have increased sales beyond utmost expectations. He said everything warranted belief that 1925 would be a big automobile year.

Tire Dealers to Meet Friday.

The Associated Tire Dealers of St. Louis will hold their monthly meeting at the Hotel Claridge at 7:30 o'clock next Friday night. Members who attended the recent National Tire Dealers' convention will tell their experiences and how they won the 1925 convention for St. Louis.

Go to See How Car Is Built.

E. N. Hardy, assistant manager of the Ford branch in St. Louis, and L. T. Hudson, special Lincoln representative of the Lincoln branch of the Ford Motor Co. in St. Louis, have just returned from a special trip to Detroit, to familiariez themselves with the processes of manufacturing Lincoln cars. Both speak enthusiastically of the exactness with which every step in building Lincolns is carried on.

Resigns to Operate Garage.

Milton B. Strauss, treasurer of the Anderson-Strauss Motor Co., announces the resignation of H. L. Bagley, director of service, to operate and control the Pershing Garage, Pershing and Clara. Bagley has been in the automobile business here since 1909 when he was sent from the Ford factory to be service manager under W. C. Anderson, then Ford branch manager. Bagley previously was final tester at the Ford factory and made the final tests on Nos. 1, 2 and 3 of the model T Ford.

Elated Over Climbing Feats.

Harrison Goldsmith, Western sales manager of the Cleveland Motor Co., spent Friday here at the Cleveland Motor Sales Co. He was elated over the breaking of the records for climbing Mount Diablo and Mount Wilson, in California, by a Cleveland six driven by Ralph Mulford.

New Factory Sales Director.

Charles Gould, in charge of service policies of the Gray Motor Corportation, has been made director of sales, service and advertising of the corporation, succeeding L. R. Martell, resigned.

Neskov in New Position.

J. M. Neskov, well-known on auto row as distributer and car manufacturer, has become general manager of the Princeton Motor Sales Co., 6912 Gravois avenue.

Beat of Two Motors.

Ever notice that when you pass another car on a hill, particularly if it has more or fewer cylinders than yours, your own car seems to make a most peculiar beating noise? This is simply the difference in the speed, firing and vibration of the two engines, and is no reflection upon the perfection of your own. Just a case of two motors that beat as two.

PROPER USE OF SPOTLIGHT ON COUNTRY ROADS NOT ILLEGAL

The idea that it is unlawful to use spotlights is a mistaken one, according to City Counselor Oliver Senti, who is quoted as saying that it is lawful to use them any time on public highways outside of municipalities, but that the law says that in driving the spotlight must be directed downward below the level of the lamps and at no time must shine in the eyes of another person.

Spotlights also must be so constructed that their beams and direction can be controlled easily from the driver's seat when a car is in motion. There are spotlights that can be controlled from inside car even when windows are closed or curtains are up.

The correct way to use a spotlight when meeting other cars at night is to direct its beam on the right-hand edge of the road in front of the car. Then it cannot shine in the eyes of the approaching motorist, yet it will show the user where the road ends and the ditch begins, or any objects ahead on the side of the road.

Mayor Kiel is quoted as saying: "I have had spotlights installed through windshield of my cars and find that driving over country roads is much safer with this accessory."

Sheriff Willmann of St. Louis County expresses a similar view and refers to the spotlight as "more a necessity than an accessory."

Noisy Accessories.

Much of the noise that comes from an old engine can be attributed to the water pump, generator, distributer and other accessories to the engine. If the engine is to be overhauled a few dollars worth of parts to replace worn parts of these accessories is invariably a valuable but often neglected investment.

How to Drive Safely.

Discussing accidents, a writer in L'Auto relates that his father, in teaching him to drive many years ago, inculcated the following precepts, which he was always to have in mind:

"Behind every turning lurks a hay wagon with a drunken driver.

"The man crossing the street in front of you has quarreled with his wife and seeks forgetfulness in death.

"The driver of the machine approaching us has just come out of the lunatic asylum.

"The fat woman sitting on yonder bench will start across the road as soon as you reach her. The brakes may fail to act."

WAR OF COACHES' BIG THING TODAY IN MOTOR WORLD

With Six in Field, as Many More Planned and Price Cuts, Competition Is Intense.

By a Special Correspondent.

DETROIT, Dec. 6. — The biggest thing in the automobile world just now is what might be termed "The War of the Coaches." Coaches are the thing today, and competition in coaches is strong and soon will be fierce—all very much to the advantage of the buying public.

Six months ago, there were just two makes of coaches on the market. Today there are six. Five weeks more and there will be a dozen to choose from.

Certain auto manufacturers don't tell all their secrets, and it isn't chancing too much to say that there may be even more than 12 on hand when the New York auto show opens Jan. 2.

First Coach Made in 1921.

The first coach was manufactured by the Hudson Motor Car Co. on an Essex four chassis, Nov. 1, 1921. The price was $300 above the Essex open car price. After the introduction of the Essex coach at the New York show, the Hudson coach was introduced at the Chicago show.

Chevrolet was the third to build the coach, introducing its model this summer. Olds followed fourth, and the Buick coach three weeks ago made the fifth.

Oakland has not yet formally announced its coach, but the car is being shown by the Oakland dealers in St. Louis and Pontiac, Mich., where the factory is located. The announcement probably will be made at the New York show.

Meanwhile prices of Hudson and Essex coaches have been reduced twice, the most recent cut coming a week ago, so that both are now priced well under the open cars.

Three more of the best known factories are scheduled to announce coaches within the next four or five weeks, one of them in the high-priced field. Still another well known factory is reported to be considering a coach for the New York show.

So it can be seen that "The War of the Coaches" is no fiction.

Turning Point for Open Cars.

The coach is the outgrowth of the widespread demand for a low-priced closed car. The man of moderate means, with a young family, is the principal supporter of the coach.

He requires a car. It must be a closed car. It can't cost too much. The body must be so arranged that children will be safe, alone, in the rear seat.

The definite arrival of the coach in public favor marks the turning point for the open car. With the opening of 1925, the closed car, for the first time, will assume dominance over the open car in production. This will be due to the arrival of the coach.

What the Coach Is.

Just what is a coach? The Society of Automotive Engineers, some months ago, defined the coach as:

"An enclosed single compartment body, similar in general appearance to the sedan, with two close coupled cross seats for four passengers. There is a luggage compartment or space for a trunk at the back of the body. There is no glass in the rear quarters. The conventional type has two doors only, the forward seats being divided and the right hand seat tipping forward to give access to the rear cross seat. Some models have two doors on the right-hand side, there being two fixed cross-seats."

It is very likely that the S. A. E. will revamp this definition at its winter meeting in January.

Anyway, the coach is here to stay. More than that, it promises to run the touring car a pretty race for honors next year.

John Smith and His Car

by FREDERICK RUSSELL

Fighting Depreciation.

IT was with quite some surprise the other morning that I found Smith actually polishing the nickel on his bumper. He has taken reasonably good care of the car, but I had never seen him taking quite such an interest in its appearance.

"Going to a wedding?" I greeted him.

"Trying to save my investment," he explained. "I never saw anything depreciate as quickly as a motor car."

"That is because you have never before owned anything so useful," I retorted. "A piece of furniture is something to look at, and occasionally to use. An automobile gets the roughest kind of use all the time, whether you run it or not. If you use it constantly, Old Man Friction plays havoc with the working parts; if you put it away in storage Old Man Rust has his fling. But a car that is run constantly, and cared for, will outlast one that is stored away. You must remember, too, that a motor car that is used produces tangible results, and because it saves you money and enables you to make money, you can hardly expect the investment to last forever. By fighting this depreciation, however, it is possible to make a car last twice as long as the average."

"That's why I am doing a little polishing," Smith replied. "The trimmings have been getting rusty of late."

"Yes," I said, "and when you remove the rust you will probably find that the nickel has been eaten away, too." I pointed to a place he had just finished polishing as evidence. "This is just a warning to get after a lot of other things before it's too late."

"I've been polishing the body regularly, if that's what you mean," Smith said.

"I see you have. The body looks a lot better for it. But the paint isn't everything. I wonder what valuation you would place on a car if the owner offered it to you with a cracked windshield, three curtain fasteners missing, a bad dent in a rear fender, the window light in the back curtain broken, the floor mat stained with grease, the bumper out of line, one headlight bulb burned out, a license plate loose, the speedometer broken and valves out of adjustment. You would hardly care to buy such a car unless you happened to be in the business of snapping up used cars at a bargain. If you did by any chance buy it, you would insist on bargain terms. Yet the actual cost of removing all these evidences of depreciation would amount to very little."

I stopped to point out several things about Smith's car which needed attention. The first was the number of rust spots on the fenders and the aprons, where they are joined to the running board. I had told him how to remedy this by means of a brush and a can of black enamel, so he promised to touch up the abused parts of the body as soon as he had attended to a few more important things.

"Now, this fender," I said, indicating two deep dents, "looks pretty bad. The next time you are down on Twelfth street, drive into that repair shop. They'll pound out these dents in no time. The car will look decidedly better.

"This torn rain curtain can be sewed in five minutes' time, so bear that in mind when you pass a place where they make tops and curtains. Your horn sounds as though it was singing its swan song. You can remedy this yourself by first removing the cover and then turning the adjusting screw at the end of the horn motor shaft. One of your spring bolt grease cups is gone. Of course, you can get along without it, but you can ward off a lot of depreciation by paying the nominal charge for new cups and screwing them on. I could go on making a lot more suggestions, but you see what is needed."

"True enough," Smith replied. "The trouble is it takes so much time to keep things in order. I have been trying to do a little at a time."

"That's the only way to care for a car,' I agreed. "Only be sure you do that 'little' often enough."

Whereupon Smith began putting his tools away. "Guess that's enough for today," he said. "No one can beat depreciation, but I'm going to put up a stiff fight and see how many miles—not necessarily years—I can get out of the car."

He wasn't to know that a little carelessness was going to put him at a great disadvantage in a coming "bout." But Smith wouldn't be interesting as a motorist if he wasn't human.

Next Week: CAR CATCHES FIRE.

STATE AUTO CLUB GOVERNORS ADOPT POLICY ON LAWS

report all convictions under the motor vehicle law to the Secretary of State so he may have a record of careless drivers and revoke their licenses on conviction of a third offense, but the Courts ignore the plain mandate of the law and do not make these reports. The other day a driver was fined $50 in the Police Court on a second conviction of driving an automobile while he was intoxicated. That is a pentitentiary offense under the State law. The case was given wide publicity but no action was taken by the State officers, although a death had been caused a short time before by intoxicated drivers.

"The board believes enforcement is the heart of the problem, and we will vigorously support any measure to bring about adequate enforcement.

For More St. Louis Police.

"We recommend an increase in the numerical strength and the pay of the police force in St. Louis. Our police department is undermanned and underpaid. We have about the same number of police on duty at one time now with over 125,000 cars in the city as we had 20 years ago when there were only 200 cars here. It is absurd to expect this force to properly cope with the situation when every car is a traffic problem, any many of them in the hands of criminals and the careless are police problems.

"There should be a decided increase in the size of the force and the pay should be advanced so that intelligent and efficient men can be employed.

"The board again recommends a Traffic Court for St. Louis along the same line as proposed two years ago and defeated by the vacillation of city officials, who first indorsed, then denounced, then indorsed the bill again, but too late for passage. It provides for another Circuit Judge before whom all automobile offenses—violation of State laws and city ordinances would be tried.

Would Have City Traffic Court.

"Such a Judge would become an auto drivers' censor. With responsibility centered on him, he would become a real law enforcing factor. He would be familiar with the repeaters; if any city case was not severe enough for the offense, he could call attention of the State authorities to it and the offender would still be before him; he would have a policy and on this policy would depend the safety of our streets.

"Under the present system, these cases are tried in eight different courts before eight different Judges with no organized system; responsibility is divided, publicity is scattered and escape in this maze is often easy for the constant offender with someone to 'front' for him.

For State Road Patrol.

"Enforcement in the country is as necessary as in the city. The board recommends a State road patrol. This should be a specially trained body of efficient men, mounted on motor cycles or horses depending upon the area to which they were assigned to patrol the roads and enforce the motor vehicle law, prevent commission of crimes with automobiles, apprehend criminals who commit such crimes and to protect the State highway from abuse by overloaded and oversized trucks.

"The law should provide that the State road patrol be used for no other purpose. They will be busy enough if their duties rae performed along these lines alone.

"No extra tax or lenicse can be levied on automobiles to pay the cost of such a force. These fees and the new gasoline tax are committed to the payment of the principal and interest on the road bonds and for the construction of State highways. The force should be paid from the general revenue of the State.

Motor vehicle law enforcement in many parts of the State is now in the hands of petty fee grabbing officials and "roadside courts," who are more interested in collecting costs from law abiding motorists than in punishing flagrant violators and apprehending criminals.

"Laws which invade private rights but do not tend to accomplish results have been proposed. Among these is the proposal that all drivers of automobiles shall pass a physical and mental examination in order to secure a license to drive and the recommendation that an offender's car shall be impounded as a penalty.

"The Board of Governors is opposed to both propositions. It is contended that the examination brings the drivers under the discipline of the authorities and that the most severe penalty a court can impose is to deprive a man of the use of his car. But the Judges have that power now. They may, and sometimes they do, impose severe prison sentences and then parole the defendants on condition that they do not use their cars for certain periods. So we get back again to the question of enforcement. Why add to the thick tomes of our statute laws while those already on the books are not enforced?

"The machinery for the examination of from 600,000 to 1,000,000 drivers in Missouri would entail an enormous expense and set up a political machine of inefficient job holders.

Examination Not Effective.

"The right to drive a lawful vehicle in a lawful manner on the streets and highways is a right and not a privilege. The proposed examination invades that right. It presupposes that the applicant will violate the law. It presumes him guilty instead of innocent, as the Constitution directs. If any good were to be accomplished, this objection might be waived, but it seems obvious that many overconfident and impudent drivers who now cause accidents could easily pass any mental or physical examination which could be given. Carelessness is a state of mind and examination will not reveal it in advance. The fear of punishment is the greatest deterrent, and if punishment were speedy and sure in every case, the careless would soon be reformed.

"It is contended that in some of the Eastern States where examination has been in effect for some time, accidents have been reduced, but the statistics do not prove it. We have repeatedly asked for figures to bear out the extravagant statements made in support of these laws, but they have not been furnished. But a table recently released by the Department of Commerce is most illuminating.

"Connecticut, Maryland and Massachusetts have required examination for several years, yet for 1923 the rate of death by motor vehicles per 100,000 of population in Connecticut was 16.9, in Maryland 16.1, and in Massachusetts 15.2, while in Missouri it was 11.6. The three first named States are all above the average of motor vehicle death rate of the United States, while Missouri is below the average. It is quite apparent that the burden and expense of examination on careful drivers is not the means of eliminating the careless ones.

"The Board of Governors does believe the law should facilitate the bringing of offenders within the easy control and discipline of the enforcing officers and the courts.

Propose License Law.

To accomplish this, the club will recommend a law with the following provisions: A driver's license should be issued by the Secretary of State on application to every person making an affidavit setting forth the applicant's general description, a record of all convictions for violations of laws or ordinances and the length of time the applicant has driven a car and setting forth any physical defects. In case the affidavit reveals any physical or other defect which common experience has established as affecting the safe operation of a motor vehicle or if the application shows conviction for a serious offense or inexperience, then an examination may be authorized by competent examiners.

"No fee shall be charged for a driver's license to any owner of a registered motor vehicle and a fee of 50 cents should be charged for applicants who do not own cars. A rejected applicant may appeal to the courts to have his case reviewed. All convictions for violations of the State law or city ordinance shall be indorsed by the Judge or the Clerk of Court on the driver's license and the Court shall have power to revoke or suspend the driver's license for certain offenses. Such a law would bring all drivers within the control of the authorities without invading private rights and setting up expensive political machinery."

BEING GOOD FELLOW AS MOTORIST REQUIRES ONLY CAREFUL DRIVING

AN automobile driver can make friends by driving carefully. He can make friends of traffic policemen on the corner, the ones he passes every morning on his way to work or on his way home in the evening. He can make a pedestrian in the street say, "He's a good fellow; thoughtful of others." He can make the driver of another car say, "There's a decent driver; I wish there were more like him."

CASTOR OIL BLEND FOR AUTO ENGINES PERFECTED

Just as commercial genius devised a way to tempt the world to actually cry for the castor oil that is detested, so has the automotive world now concocted a blend of castor oil with mineral oil that will enable the car owner to enjoy the advantages of castor oil as a lubricant without its disadvantages when taken "straight." Car owners who have ridden behind engines that were slopping around in straight castor oil have seen such wonders of performance as to await the day of the commercial possibilities of castor oil for auto engines with keen anticipation. But straight castor oil has its disadvantages for engines that do not operated constantly at top heat. The motorist has known this, and like the youngster who weakens at the very mention of castor oil, he steers clear.

THIS MAY SAVE A LIFE.

Always keep the horn motor, button and connections in such condition that the horn is sensitive to the briefest touch of the button. In an emergency one has little time to sound a warning, and whatever brief touch of the button is given must produce immediate results. Clean the commutator of the horn motor, oil its bearing and see that the brushes are clean.

HOW TO CONSTRUCT TUNED RADIO SET

Hook-Up of a Circuit Which Worked Wonders in International Reception Tests.

While the present day tendency of radio fans is to purchase fully assembled sets of tried and attested merit, there are still many who prefer to construct their own receivers, taking as their models the hook-ups of manufactured sets of proved efficiency.

Those who are not appalled by rather intricate wiring and who have the necessary skill and patience will no doubt welcome a chance to try their hands at constructing a very high-class type of five-tube set with two stages of tuned radio frequency, detector and two stages of audio amplification.

The hook-up printed herewith is that of the Melco Supreme, made by the Amsco Products Co. This set as turned out by the manufacturers is a real marvel of selectivity and distance-getting ability.

In the recent international tests it was tried out in the Post-Dispatch radio laboratory and brought two British stations in one evening and three British stations in another. It was no trick at all to put CYL, City of Mexico and KFI, Los Angeles on the loud speaker.

When starting to lay out this circuit the reader should carefully follow the layout of the equipment on the wiring diagram.

Assemble all of the parts on the panel and baseboard and mount the terminals on a small terminal block on the rear of the subpanel. We are now ready for the wiring. Start with the antenna and work through the set. The antenna post is connected to a small condenser, C1, from the other side of this condenser a connection is brought to the No. 1 terminal on the Telos variometer marked input. A small fixed condenser C2 is shunted across the No. 1 and No. 2 terminals on the input variometer.

The values of the two small condensers mentioned are determined by the value of the condenser connected across 1 and 2 of the Telos variometer. For example, if a .000050 condenser is used across 1 and 2 then the capacity to be used at C1 will be .000025 mfd. Should one connect a .000040 condenser at C1, then the capacity across the variometer should be .000040 mfd. These condensers are specially made by Amsco Products, Inc., New York City.

Connect terminal 2 to terminal 4 on the Telos variometer. Now an additional connection is taken off the No. 1 terminal and brought to Y on the compensating condenser CP. Next connect the grid post on the second tube socket from the right to the wire running to the No. 1 post on the variometer.

Choosing Fixed Condensers.

Before going any further let us consider the small fixed condensers C3 and C4 which are connected across the No. 3 and No. 4 terminals of the Telos vario-transformer VT1 and VT2. The choice of these condensers is shown on the wiring diagram. If a .000060 mfd. condenser is connected across 3 and 4 of the vario-transformer VT1 then a .000070 mfd. condenser should be connected across terminals 3 and 4 of the vario-transformer VT2. Should a .000070 mfd. condenser be connected across 3 and 4 of vario-transformer VT1, then a .000080 mfd. condenser should be connected across 3 and 4 of the vario-transformer VT2. These condensers are C3 and C4 respectively.

From terminal 3 on the variometer bring a connection to the No. 4 terminal on the vario-transformer VT1. This same wire also makes connection to the No. 7 terminal on VT1 and also X on the compensating condenser CP1. Terminal 6 on the variometer VT1 is connected to Z on the compensating condenser CP1. Terminal 5 on the VT1 is brought directly to the plate terminal on the second tube socket to the right. Incidentally this socket is for the first radio frequency tube.

Next connect the G post on the third socket which is the second audio to the No. 3 terminal on VT1. From this connection a wire is also brought to the Y1 terminal on the compensating condenser CP2. No. 2 terminal on VT1 is connected directly to the No. 2 terminal on VT2. From the No. 2 terminal on VT2 a connection is brought to the amplifier B battery post. No. 1 terminal on VT1 is brought to No. 1 terminal on VT2 with a branch taken off to the X1 connection on the second compensating condenser.

To complete the wiring of the first vario-transformer bring a connection to the F terminal on the first audio frequency transformer. Terminal 3 on VT2 is connected to one side of the grid condenser and the other side of the grid condenser to the grid of the detector tube. The grid condenser should have a capacity of .00025 mfd. with a 2 megohm grid leak shunted across it. Connect No. 4 terminal on VT2 to the positive filament terminal on the detector tube socket, then continue this connection to all of the positive filament terminals on the vacuum tube sockets. This connection is called the positive filament bus. Bring a connection off this bus to the positive terminal for the A battery. No. 5 terminal on VT2 is connected to Z1 on the second compensating condenser. Terminal 6 on this transformer is brought directly to the plate terminal on the third socket from the right.

Now a word about jacks. The jacks shown in the wiring diagram are the type that have the normal making contact to the lower spring. Should one secure jacks that have the normal making contact to the upper spring as shown in the illustration the connections should be reversed. The illustration has the springs numbered so that the reader may reverse the connections without any guesswork. For example, if a connection is made to spring 1 on the old type jack, then with a new type jack the connection would be made to the upper spring which would then become No. 1. This part of the wiring should be followed carefully.

Let us finish the wiring of the second vario-transformer VT2. Terminal 7 is brought to one side of the .0005 mfd. fixed condenser and the other side of the fixed condenser is brought to the plate post on the detector socket. Now a branch is taken off the plate lead and brought to the lower spring of the old type jack D. If the jack is of the new type the connection is then made to the upper spring. The center spring of this jack is connected with the P terminal on the first audio frequency transformer. The G terminal on this transformer is brought directly to the grid post of the first audio frequency socket. The upper spring of the old type jack D is brought to the detector B battery post. If the jack is of the new type the connection will come off the lower spring. The first jack is now wired. This enables us to listen-in on the detector.

Connecting the Rheostats.

Three rheostats are used. One controls the radio frequency tubes, one the detector tube and the other the audio frequency tubes. The detector rheostat, R1, should have a resistance of 20 ohms and the two amplifier rheostats should have a resistance of 15 ohms. First connect one side of all the rheostats together and continue this connection to a switch and from the switch bring a connection to the minus A battery post. This connection is the negative bus.

Before going further take a branch off the negative bus to the lead connecting the F terminal on the first audio frequency transformer. Then another branch is taken off at this point and brought to the F terminal on the second audio frequency transformer. Next connect the free terminal on the detector rheostat to the negative filament terminal on the detector tube socket.

Before connecting the radio frequency rheostat connect the minus terminals on the radio frequency tube sockets together. [illegible] the second and third fro[illegible] right. When these terminals [illegible] been connected together bring [illegible] lead from this connection to [illegible] free end of the radio frequency rheostat R2. The audio frequency negative filaments are [illegible] in a different manner.

The lighting circuit of [illegible] tubes is connected through [illegible] ment control jack. The first [illegible] from the top on this jack A[illegible] connected to the negative fi[illegible] terminal on the second [illegible] socket. The second spring [illegible] the top is brought to the fre[illegible] of the audio frequency rheostat [illegible]

A branch is taken off this lead [illegible] brought to negative filament [illegible] minal on the first audio [illegible] The third spring on jack A2 is [illegible] nected to the upper spring on [illegible] A1. If jack A1 is new type [illegible] connection should be brought [illegible] the lower spring. This connect[illegible] is then continued to the ampli[illegible] B battery post and a [illegible] taken off to the B terminal [illegible] the second audio frequency [illegible] former. The center spring of [illegible] A1 is brought to the P terminal [illegible] the second audio frequency [illegible] former. Next the P terminal [illegible] the first audio socket is con[illegible] to the lower spring of jack [illegible] Now, should A2 be of the [illegible] type, the connection will have [illegible] made to the upper spring [illegible] lower spring on jack A2 is con[illegible] nected directly to the P termi[illegible] on the second audio socket. [illegible] minus B battery post is con[illegible] to the positive A battery post [illegible] the negative A battery post is [illegible] nected to the ground post. [illegible] ly the one-half microfarad [illegible] condenser C7 is connected [illegible] the amplifier B battery post [illegible] the positive A battery post. [illegible] set should now be wired and [illegible] for operation.

Insert the tubes in the [illegible] first making sure that the [illegible] stats are turned down. Plug [illegible] loud speaker into jack A2 and [illegible] connect the antenna and [illegible] We have assumed that the [illegible] connections have been made. [illegible] ly adjust the compensating [illegible] densers until the receiver [illegible] cillating. Now adjust the [illegible] tuning dials until a station [illegible] heard. Should squeals [illegible] the station when it is tuned [illegible] is an indication that the com[illegible] sators need a slight adjustment [illegible] remove the squeal adjust the [illegible] pensators until the squeal [illegible] pears and the speech or [illegible] cleared. If one desires to [illegible] long distance the [illegible] dials should be slightly [illegible] of adjustment. This allows [illegible] to oscillate, thereby pl[illegible] ceiver in a more de[illegible] tion for long distance [illegible]

OW NAVAL SERVICE CUTS MESSAGE TOLLS

hile Not Competing With Commerical Stations It Saves Money for Government.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The aval Communication service hich is virtually all radio, is a g factor in governmental eco- mies these days. Adding what it ually earns by handling com- ercial accounts and what it saves transmitting official messages, total approaches a million dol- s a year.

During the past fiscal year the val stations collected $315,000 commercial messages sent, pared with earnings of $262,738 1923 and $1,095,842 in 1920 turally the navy does not com- te with commercial radio stations ly operating where and when mercial stations are not available or able to handle traffic.

An estimate of the saving to the vernment in 1924 on official ssages sent by radio, compared th the cost if the messages had en sent at Govxernment rates commercial stations, approxi- tes a half million dollars. The ck on messages handled and on is not comparable to com- rcial systems, however, due to k of Naval necessity and per- nnel. Of course the saving is paper." Actual official traffic ndled for the Navy and other vernmental departments in the st fiscal year, nevertheless, ows a grand total of over ninety illion words. Seventeen million rds were sent and received by Alaskan division, the great lume being due partly to the lure of the government cable ring that time. The Washing- office, known as Radio ntral, handled twelve million rds during the same time; other tricts making up the grand al. Messages sent and received, tween two stations are counted ice, however, as each station nts the traffic handled.

Primarily the Naval Communica- Service is maintained to pro- a means of communication be- en the seat of Government and various naval units, as well as ween these units, both in time peace and war. The handling of er Government business is inci- tal, and the transmission of mmercial traffic is only under cific conditions defined by law. ay the naval radio net includes primary stations, with ranges ween 2500 and 5000 miles; 23 rmediate stations varying in e from 1000 to 2000 miles; 72 tal stations reaching about 1000 s, and 55 radio compass sta- s. Besides these there is a io station on every ship and air- ft, and three experimental sta- s such as the Naval Research boratory at Bellevue. Besides tions in all our insular posses- the navy also operates a sta- in Pekin, China; Managua, aragua; Port au Prince, Haiti, re Marine Corps detachments located.

Both the Naval Bureau of Engi- ring and the Naval Communica- Service have extended congrat- tions to the Marine Corps per- nel which operates the Naval dio Station at Pekin, China, one the most isolated stations in the vice. Over 500,000 words of traf- were handled without interrup- last year.

By a recent decree of Egyptian Government, the is- ce of experimental licenses stopped, but it is believed only porary.

CLASS B PROBLEM A CROSSWAVE PUZZLE

Reallocation of Wave Length Without Increasing Interference Causing Officials to Burn Midnight Oil.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The problem confronting the Department of Commerce in finding channels for class B broadcasting stations is getting worse, although from the point of view of radio officials, it is just about as bad now as it could be.

The trouble lies in providing wave lengths for the new stations which are expected to be ready to operate by the first of the year. At the time of the Third National Radio Conference, it was thought that the total of class B stations would not exceed 88, and a plan was devised to care for that number.

However, reports from inspectors soon indicated that the total number would go beyond 88.

Under the reallocation of wave lengths by the Third National Radio Conference, there are 51 class B channels, four of which have been assigned to Canadian stations. This leaves a total of 47. With every station dividing time two ways, this is sufficient to care for 94 stations.

Reports reaching the Department of Commerce during the last week indicated that the class B total may reach 10 by January. Around 10 of these stations will be located on the Pacific Coast and can be assigned to same wave lengths as Eastern stations, due to the distance and difference in time.

This leaves 100 stations among which must be divided 47 wave lengths. Obviously, unless some new arrangement is made, some of these stations will be compelled to divide time at least three ways.

Solicitor S. B. Davis and Radio Supervisor W. D. Terrell are burning midnight oil in an effort to devise a scheme to meet the situation. Plan after plan has been considred only to be discarded as impractical.

From present indications, it seems that one of three things may result. These three plans are:

1. New class B stations may be assigned class A wave lengths until there are vacancies in class B.
2. Class B stations may be required to divide time two, three or even four ways, so as to allow the new stations to come in on the air.
3. Stations may be placed closer together on the wave-length band, thus creating new channels.

Among the objections to the first plan are that class A channels should be reserved for class A stations. To the second, class B stations will naturally object. The third plan, it is feared, may result in increased interference.

Just what will be done, radio officials will not say. Whatever the result may be, they are determined to keep interference down to the lowest possible minimum so that the local program may not be spoiled for the owner of crystal or other small sets.

For the Notebook.

Condenser or coil should be replaced if weak.

A long aerial will pick up more static than a short one.

Variometer shafts should be of brass or copper, not of iron or steel.

DX stations can be picked up on a one-tube set if regeneration or reflex action is used.

If signals are mushy and stations hard to get, reverse the leads on the grid coil. High and low potentials may be fighting each other.

Variable condensers, for one thing, should never be oiled. Oil is an insulating liquid and can make some types of condensers inoperative.

The largest radio reproducing instrument in the world is 11½ feet high and its mahogany bell contains more than 2500 individual pieces of wood. The aluminum base is larger than an ordinary car wheel.

NEW ARRIVALS ON THE RADIO MART

The meloformer is a type of audio frequency transformer for which it is claimed that it will silence all interstage noises and bring in broadcasting without distortion.

The distinguishing feature is a special alloy used in the core and case, which are split longitudinally to their center, thereby providing a better path for the reproducing flux circuits. It is said to be adapted to all stages.

Mohawk selectune dials are on display. These are said to be supersensitive because of the specially designed delicate gears contained within the knob. There are two controls working concentrically. The smaller vernier knob gives a rotation ratio of 25 to 1, a sufficiently high ratio to give very selective tuning control.

For crystal set users one of the season's novelties is the Little Giant in a new and compact form. Outwardly it looks like a book, but when it is opened a small, but workable set is found between the covers. This should make an attractive gift for a radio beginner.

NEW GOVERNMENT DIVISION TO HANDLE RADIO PATENTS

More Than 2000 Applications Are on File and the Inventors Are Still Busy.

In recognition of the great progress being made in radio, the Patent Office has created a new division to handle applications for patents on inventions dealing with it. The new division, which is known as the "Radiant Energy Division," will be headed by C. D. Backus, who for 14 years has been in the Electrical Energy Division. Dr. William A. Kinnan, first assistant commissioner of patents, will supervise the new division.

The new radio division has 12 examiners, and is the farthest in arrears of any division in the Patent Office. It is hoped that with the change, the Patent Office can catch up on radio inventions.

At the present time there are pending around 2000 applications for patents on radio apparatus. To date, about 2500 patents have been granted dealing with radio, while in the neighborhood of 10,000 applications have been turned down.

There has been a tremendous increase in applications for radio patents during the last year. At present they are fairly raining into the Patent Office. The first important radio patent was granted to Marconi in 1896.

Mr. Backus, the head of the new radio division, is around 55 years of age. He started in with the Patent Office as the lowest grade examiner. He little dreamed when he began to get the odd jobs of looking into the few radio applications that some day it would grow into one of the biggest jobs of the Patent Office.

BOY BUILDS A COMPACT SET

Edison Senniger, 14 years old, of 4827 Gardenville avenue, has built an ingenious crystal outfit in which the crystal is neatly mounted on the back of a headphone used in listening to the broadcasting. It is only necessary to make the aerial and ground connections, adjust the catwhisker and hold the phone to ear. The inductance is 40 turns of wire wrapped around the headphone.

MORE SKILLFUL TUNING WILL STOP INTERFERENCE

Government Will Not Listen to Complaints Unless Receiving Set Is Fully Described.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—With the coming of the winter months with better radio reception and more listening-in, Department of Commerce officials point out that super-sentitive sets which are not super-selective must be cured, if interference is to be avoided and trouble in reception minimized. The fans themselves can better reception, it is believed, by improving their sets, and learning to operate them properly. Due to this fact the departmental supervisors and inspectors may be expected to refuse to consider complaints unless sets are described. There is nothing doing if poor receivers are used. If a receiver is like a sponge absorbing everything, the department could do nothing to relieve interference unless it caused all except one station to close. There are thousands of nonselective crystal sets on the market and in use, which are impractical for anything but local reception where one station only is on the air at a given time. If a set is not a two or more circuit set it will probably pick up everything. Practically all crystal sets are of the single circuit variety. In this way many small sets pick up a lot of preventable interference such as the so-called man-made interference from legitimately operated electrically driven machinery and apparatus. Many manufacturers using electric power and apparatus emitting electrical interference, are trying to eliminate their radiations so as to decrease the broadcast listener's troubles. But it often costs considerable money and is frequently unsuccessful.

By the use of simple wave traps, considerable local interference from other stations and electrical devices may be eliminated, it is pointed out. So it is up to the fan to aid his brother fans and the Government by improving his own set.

Some fans will find that by using a two-circuit set or a tuner that they can select either of two local stations operating simultaneously, with a reasonable separation between their wave lengths, as is used in the present wave length assignment. Otherwise they will find it impossible to listen in when two or more stations are operating at once. Unless fans learn to tune their sets, they will get even the amateur stations on the short waves below 200 meters.

Censorship of radio programs is being seriously considered by the French press. The German plan of controlling all broacasting stations is cited as an example. In several French homes children have been severely scared and shocked by the insense realism of unannounced Radio dramas. This is one of several reasons given.

HELPFUL RADIO HINTS

It is sometimes a good plan to put the binding posts on the panel in such a way that all the connections are made from the inside of the set. By doing this and boring holes in the back of the cabinet it is possible to keep all wires away from the front of the panel.

Turning the loud speaker so that the opening is facing a corner of the room may improve the quality of reception considerably. The edge of the speaker should just miss the walls.

A short circuit in a condenser is usually quite easily located by the scraping of the rotary plates against the stationary ones. This is not always so, though, because sometimes the contact is so light that it makes no noise at all. This is the worst kind of a "short" and the hardest to locate. Placing a white piece of paper under the condenser with a strong light on it will sometimes allow the fan to locate the touching plates, if he looks through the condenser sidewise. It is usually cheaper to buy a new condenser than to attempt to fix one which has become damaged in this way.

The crystal in any reflex is apt to become dead after being in use for some time and it is a good plan to have another on hand ready for use.

Radio sets may be successfully worked in tall buildings by simply attaching a wire to the metal window sash. The ground is made in the usual way to the water or steam pipe.

The use of spaghetti tubing will not improve the reception of broadcasting in the slightest, but it sometimes greatly improves the looks of a set. Not only that, but it will positively eliminate the possibility of a short circuit of any kind, which might damage the vacuum tubes.

If a local station is too loud on two steps and not loud enough on one step, leave the jack in the second step and control the volume by slightly turning out the signal.

For Perfect "Ground."

Aluminum paint is made of powdered aluminum and oil, and for this reason the aluminum paint of a radiator or cold-water pipe to which a ground wire is connected should be scraped off before the wire is attached. Aluminum is a good conductor of electricity and is likely to insulate the wire from the actual ground contact. Scrape the pipe clean and make the connection firm by means of a ground clamp. Signals will be louder and tuning sharper.

CANADA HAS GREAT BROADCAST CHAIN

Nine Stations Already Built and One Near Completion Will All Be Under One Management.

With the opening of the new Moncton radio broadcasting station on Friday, Nov. 7, the Canadian National Railways completed the ninth link in the greatest chain of broadcasting stations in the world under one management. One more link—Vancouver, B. C.—remains to be added, and then the chain is complete from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

This radio service of the National Railways of Canada, unique among transportation services, is the outgrowth of careful experimentation, careful thought and much hard work. Yet the organization has been so complete and the plans so perfectly laid, that in only a matter of 18 months this feature of service offered the public has developed from an idea to its present physical magnitude.

Radio experimentation by the railway may be said to extend back as far as 1902, when Sir Ernest Rutherford, then a professor at McGill University, carried out successfully the transmission of signals by wireless to a moving train on the Grand Trunk Railway system between Toronto and Montreal, now part of the Canadian National Railways.

It was early in 1923 that radio on the railway really came into being. A party on its way across Canada on a special train from New York, Brooklyn, up-state and New Jersey. It was decided, as a novelty, to broadcast them a message of welcome to Canada as their train left Montreal and to tell them something of the journey. Their observation car was fitted with a receiving set and W. D. Robb, Vice President, delivered the address. In that event the radio service of the railway was born.

How Idea Was Developed.

It was left to Mr. Robb to organize the department and to develop the general lines of policy. He gathered about him capable radio engineers, headed by W. H. Swift Jr., who was appointed radio engineer for the system. Negotiations were entered into with companies in Montreal already operating broadcasting stations, several trains were equipped with receiving sets and on New Year's Eve, 1923, the radio program of the Canadian National Railways became an established fact with a broadcast from CHYC, Montreal.

The next step was the erection of a broadcasting station in Ottawa, which became the site of the most powerful broadcasting station in the Dominion. Stations were added in Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Toronto and finally in Moncton. Novel experiments were carried out. The Montreal and Ottawa stations were "tied-in" and the same concert broadcast simultaneously from the two stations. Before the establishment of the Winnipeg station, Sir Henry W. Thornton, sitting in his room in the Fort Garry Hotel, spoke into the long distance telephone and his voice was broadcast instantaneously from the radio station in Calgary.

While this was going on the work of equipping trains with receiving sets was not neglected. Difficulty was experienced in securing the types of sets necessary for the successful reception of concerts on board a moving train, but this has been overcome and today 16 transcontinental trains for the eastward and westward daily movement of passengers between Montreal and Vancouver have been equipped. Two trains between Montreal and Quebec have been equipped also, and the next train to receive attention will be the National, which operates between Toronto and Winnipeg. These sets are placed in the compartment observation cars, and parlor-library cars. They the fitted with a number of individual headphones, as well as loud speaker, so that when it is not advisable to use the loud speaker, those desiring to listen may do so through the phones. All hotels of the system also have receiving sets.

Morocco Gives Up Call.

Another important feature to be considered was that the various stations used different call letters, none of which had any relationship to the railway. It was discovered that Morocco was using the call letters CNR, and as these letters happened to be the initial letters of each of the words that make up the name of the Canadian National Railways, it was decided to ask Morocco to relinquish these call letters to the company. The cooperation of the Government of Canada, the British Foreign Office and the French Government proved successful, and early this summer the Canadian National Railways came into possession of the call letters CNR. To these was added another letter indicative of the place of broadcast. Montreal has CNRM; Ottawa, CNRO; Winnipeg, CNRW; Calgary, CNRC, and so forth. Difficulty arose in the case of Moncton, where, had the same plan been carried out, the call letters would have clashed with those of Montreal. It was decided, therefore, to name the Moncton station CNRA, the "A" symbolizing the Atlantic region of which Moncton is the headquarters.

The broadcasting of music and entertainment is only part of the policy. The real policy lies in the dissemination of information about Canada. Every program has a short address with this end in view. Information on Canada has been broadcast from every radio station of the Canadian National Railways, and during the past year more than 30,000 applause cards have been received, even from Great Britain, New Zealand and Honolulu. Officers of the radio department estimate the nightly audience at more than two millions.

Try Interchanging Tubes.

A set that is equipped with three or more tubes will work better if the tubes are changed from one socket to another. The amplification factor of a given type of tube is generally said to be the same for all tubes of this type, but actually the amplification factor, like other individual characteristics of a tube, varies slightly for each tube.

Tube Sockets.

When using special tubes which require special sockets it is best to use the type of socket necessary for the tube and, when possible, avoid adapters placed in standard sockets.

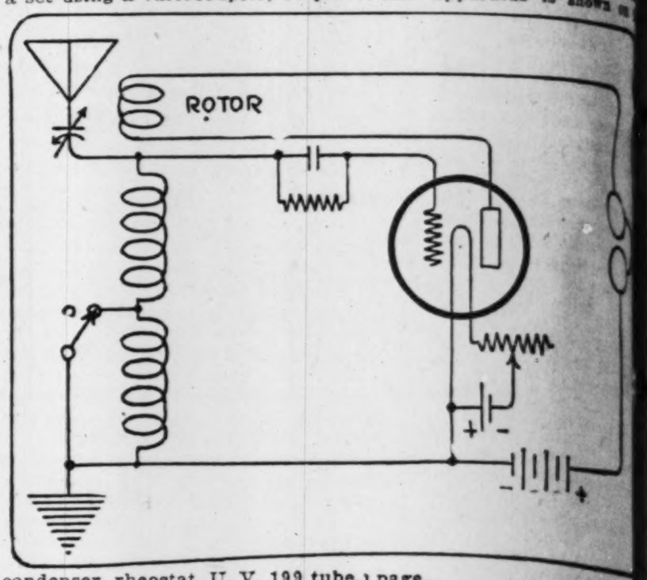
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Post-Dispatch Radio Department cannot underta[ke] to answer questions by mail.

Q. A. M. asks for the circuit of a set using a variocoupler, 23-plate condenser, rheostat, U. V. 199 tube, B battery and A battery.

A. The circuit of a good set this apparatus is shown on page.



Q. I was told that B batteries last from four to six months, but mine only lasted 10 weeks. What causes them to discharge so quickly? J. H.

A. The life of a B battery is dependent upon the amount of current that is drawn from them. Multi-tube sets draw a greater amount of current from B batteries than do single tube sets.

However, there are two main causes for B batteries not lasting as long as they should. One is a failure of many constructors to use the proper C batteries in amplifier circuits. The other is the short circuits that so often occur in sets where the wiring is not properly insulated.

Q. Miss A. K. is using a single circuit regenerative receiver of the type that has but one control besides the filament rheostat. She hears local stations and other stations that operate on the wave lengths above 450 meters. (No stations are to be heard above 546 meters, as this is the longest wave length used by any station in the United States.) She also reports that the set will not oscillate and no stations can be heard on the wave lengths below 450 meters.

A. The trouble which prevents the reception of the short wave lengths could be either in the design and construction of the primary of the coupler, which also serves as the plate or feed-back coil, in the antenna used, with the set, or in the operation of the controls.

The design of the circuit would be difficult to change without rebuilding the set. The antenna used may be too long.

It is possible that the correct adjustment of the filament rheostat for the short wave lengths has not been found.

Q. A. R. H. wishes to know how to test audio frequency transformers to determine whether or not either of the coils are burned out.

A. This test is made by donnecting first the primary and then the secondary of the transformer series with a pair of phones loud click is heard in the ph when the last connection is m the coil is intact. If no click heard the wire in the coil is bro However, do not be deceived by fact that the click is stronger w the primary is tested than the secondary is connected battery and phones. The of wire, and therefore the ance, in the primary is less that wound on the secondary the test click is always louder.

Q. A. B. Co. asks for advice concerning a good receiving set will pick up St. Louis broad stations in a locality 165 miles St. Louis.

A. There are so many types of sets that would serve purpose that it would not be sible to list them here. In radio section you will find names and addresses of a of St. Louis dealers who will you reliable information.

Q. Mrs. M. T. states that her ceiving set picks up distant tions, but that the quality of music and voices heard is poor.

A. This could be caused by construction of the set, by poor or B batteries, by loose con tions or by the incorrect oper of the controls. All but the of these may be found by inspec and tests. Test the batteries a voltmeter or by comparing with new batteries. Look over wiring in the set for poor tions. Poor A battery conne at the battery terminals often a great deal of noise.

In tuning a regenerative er, never try to tune past the ting where the tube starts to late. The point of regeneration where the signals are strongest just before the tube is set oscillation. After the tube has made to oscillate, undesirable are heard and it is impossible tune in a station so that the and voices are clear and dis

L. W. Eberle, acting Secretary of the Navy, has made public excerpts from the report of the commanding officer of the U. S. S. Shenandoah on the ship's transcontinental flight, in which he stated that radio communication had been established with approximately 250 amateur and commercial stations in 39 states.

At no time was the ship entirely out of communication on the short waves, he said, even in the remote section of the Southwest. The announcement was made in a letter to Hiram Percy Maxim, president of Hartford, Conn., as follows:

"I wish to mention the great assistance rendered by the hundreds of amateur stations throughout the United States who relieved the Shenandoah of a great amount of work that would otherwise have been necessary on the high-power set. This work was conducted over the super short-wave transmitter and, although in several instances communication was not entirely satisfactory, due to swinging, fading, etc., it was found that satisfactory means of communication could almost always be established over the short waves.

"The amateur stations worked are so numerous that it will be impossible to mention each one individually, but it may be stated that satisfactory communication was carried on for about 18 hours out of 24 during each day, and at no time was the Shenandoah entirely out of communication over the super short-waves, even in the most remote section of the Southwest; while flying over the mountains and deserts of New Mexico and Arizona, it was possible to keep up communication.

"In many instances messages of 1000 words or more were transmitted through these amateurs and some of the finest operators worked during the entire trip were amateurs. This is no reflection on the Army, Navy and commercial operators.

"During this flight the Shenandoah flew over 25 states and the District of Columbia. The states flown over are as follows: New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Oregon, Washington, Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Approximately 250 amateurs and commercial stations were worked in the 39 different states. Stations in Mexico and Canada were worked."

Amateur transmissions have been restricted in Ireland since the outbreak of war in 1914. However, those who had applications filed with the Irish Postoffice have now received new application forms and details of the conditions under which transmission will be permitted. These conditions are virtually identical with those imposed in Great Britain. So far as Northern Ireland is concerned, all radio communication there is under the control and supervision of the British postoffice.

The new Barcelona post is now conducting trials with the call signal KAJL on a 325-meter wave length and with a power of 100 watts. These trials are made between 6 and 7 and between 9 and 11 p. m. As soon as the trials are ended arrangements will be made to broadcast the operas given at

As soon as the trials are ended arrangements will be made to broadcast the operas given at the Licco Theater of Barcelona.

Among the more noteworthy improvements during the year are included the commissioning of five new lightships, placed on important stations on the Atlantic Coast, a new tender for the Ohio River and tributaries, the commencement of the important new light and fog-signal station at Cape Spencer, Alaska, and completion of light and fog signals at Guard Island and Point Retreat, Alaska, and completion of light and signal on Sabine Pass Jetty, Texas. Two additional mine planters were converted into efficient lighthouse tenders, with material savings. The new lightships referred to are the last word in design and construction of this type of vessel, and have proved very efficient in operation under severe stress of weather.

There is a new amateur station on the air, IMK, American Radio Relay League headquarters at Hartford, Conn. The station was installed by F. H. Schnell, traffic manager of the A. R. R. L., following the urgent request of amateurs in various parts of the country. IMK is equipped with four five-watt tubes. The farthest two-way communication was with an amateur in Texas.

Signals sent out by the naval dirigible Shenandoah, while moored to her mast at San Diego, using her low power short wave set, were picked up by the U. S. S. Canabus cruising in the Pacific 4400 miles away.

PHOTOGRAPHY BY RADIO TO SPEED UP MESSAGES

Military Expert Sees Great Possibilities in New Method of Transmitting Diagrams and Maps.

Military communications may be revolutionized by the radio-photo invention of C. Francis Jenkins, according to Major-General C. M. Saltzman, Chief Signal Officer of the Army, in his annual report to the Secretary of War.

"Looking into the future of signal communication," says Gen. Saltzman, "it appears that the basic method of breaking messages into words, words into letters, letters into dots and dashes, and then passing these through the wrist of an operator, as has been the practice since Morse's fundamental invention of electric telegraph, seems to be nearing the end of a cycle. Mechanical transmitters with higher speed qualities are becoming stabilized and American invention seems to be making further and rapid progress in associating photography with radio, which bids fair to revolutionize fundamental methods of transmission. The message of the future, whether it be written, printed, or mixed with diagrams and photographs, including the signature of the sender, will it seems certain, soon be transmitted photographically by radio frequency at the rate in 10 times faster than was ever possible by the dot and dash methods of hand transmission. Military messages of the future, particularly in active operations, may contain diagrams and sketches, or even entire sheets of maps, all transmitted as part of the same message and by means by which detection or listening in will be reduced to a very low mininmum. The Signal Corps in keeping abreast of this progress and will undertake experiments to establish the military value of this invention."

BIG RADIO SHOWS ARE BEING PLANNED

New York's Exposition Is Said to Have Exceeded All Expectations of Its Promoters.

The third Annual National Radio Exposition, which closed in New York on Nov. 8, with an attendance that taxed every inch of space on the huge ground and mezzanine floors of Grand Central Palace, broke many exposition records. In lavishness of decoration, in vastness of display and in unique entertainment and educational features, the radio exposition just concluded in New York stands as an unprecedented achievement.

Harold Bolster, managing director of the exposition, in a statement summarizing the extraordinary results achieved this year, announces that in view of information received from prominent American radio manufacturers indicating that leading exhibitors will desire to announce at the fourth Annual National Radio Exposition in New York many striking novelties and improvements to be placed on the market in the early fall, the exposition next year will open either the latter part of August or the first week in September.

The entirely new standard of appeal in radio exhibitions, set by the third Annual National Radio Exposition this year, has led to negotiations initiated by important radio manufacturing interests in the West to stage a de luxe radio exposition in Chicago. The exposition in Chicago, it is stated by Mr. Bolster, probably will take place early in October, 1925. The exact date will be announced when negotiations are completed for a desirable exposition auditorium.

"From the splendid public support received by the Third Annual National Radio Exposition, as well as from the remarkable manner in which the radio industry backed our efforts this year," declared Mr. Bolster, "it is evident that radio has taken on a new meaning and a new dignity. Previous efforts had proved that so great was the interest in radio per set that a merely 'workshop' exhibition of radio products was sufficient to draw hordes of interested school boys, radio amateurs and others to any well-advertised radio exposition. But an exposition given upon an entirely different plane was necessary to bring out men and women of the home, interested in radio primarily from a musical, artistic and educational point of view.

"The exposition in Grand Central Palace proved conclusively that the finely-made 'roadsters of the air' can no more be exhibited in settings that would do for the humble 'flivvers' of radio, than that quality motor cars can be exhibited in purely 'shop' expositions. It was the distinct achievement of the Third Annual National Radio Exposition that nearly 50,000 women of the home came to view the exhibits there.

"It is possible that for some time there may continue work-bench 'radio shows' of the variety so often held in the past. But the best efforts of the industry, it is now clearly indicated, must be reflected in 'class' expositions, of the standard set by the National Radio Exposition this year, featuring not only the most notable demonstrations of the radio art, but also the latest and greatest contributions made by the radio industry to the nation and to the home."

Estimates of attendance figures at the National Radio Exposition this year disclose that over 200,000 people visited the radio exhibition at Grand Central Palace during the week. The banner attendance record for any one day was 37,000, on the closing day.

The business concluded at the Exposition, in point of future orders placed, it is asserted by Mr. Bolster, from estimates already made will total well over $8,000,000, most of the business done being in the finer cabinet sets. The following figures issued by Mr. Bolster indicate the enormous extent of the exhibits as well as other features of the exposition:

Total attendance estimated over 200,000.

Record daily attendance, 37,000 on Nov. 8.

Over two miles of exhibits were on view at the exposition.

About $75,000 spent by the show management and exhibitors in decorations.

Over 200 radio manufacturers were represented by exhibits.

"The Fourth National Radio Exposition," Mr. Bolster's statement declared, "will occupy the first three floors of Grand Central Palace. Leading radio scientists in this country and abroad will participate in a series of remarkable demonstrations of the radio art. Noted interior decorators will be engaged to create unique settings and S. L. Rothafel—the famous "Roxy"—who will have charge of the entertainment and program features next year, promises to install lighting effects of unparalleled beauty. In short, no expense will be spared in creating a background for the exposition that will surpass in magnificence anything ever attempted along similar lines."

RADIO DEVELOPMENTS MADE IN PAST YEAR

Class "A" Stations Increase to 378; More Sales Reported Than Ever Before.

Evidence of the rapidity of the growth in radio interest is indicated by the fact that in 1923 one large manufacturer sold $22,465,090 worth of equipment, compared with $11,286,489 in 1922 and $1,468,919 in 1921, according to the Department of Commerce. The cost of radio work of the department in the past fiscal year was $206,738, compared with $139,200 the preceding year, but more examinations were held and more operators licensed, and nearly a thousand more ships and stations were inspected.

Broadcasing Service.

It seems probable that broadcasting is permanently established as a public necessity and may be considered as indispensable in the average home as the telephone. The broadcasting of the proceedings of the Democratic and Republican conventions demonstrated its value in enabling the public to keep in immediate touch with important events of general interest.

The number of Class B stations increased during the fiscal year from 42 to 54, resulting in some difficulty in providing satisfactory operating channels for them within the wave-length band reserved for this class.

During the fiscal year class A stations increased from 203 to 378. This increase was offset by the change in class C, which was reduced from 327 to 101. Class D stations number 2. On June 30, 1923, we had a total of 573 broadcasting stations. On June 30, 1924, we had 535, a decrease of 38.

The question of who will pay for broadcasting does not appear to require immediate consideration. The public will probably continue to contribute liberally through cost of equipment purchased. At present there does not appear to be a more equitable way of distributing the cost, while on the other hand, such stations must have considerable advertising value justifying the expense of operation where owners are not benefited through sales of radio apparatus.

The broadcast listener is an unknown quantity. Dependable figures indicating the number of persons deriving pleasure and benefit from this new and fascinating service cannot be furnished. Its effect cannot be forecast, nor its value estimated. An accurate expression of its views is unobtainable.

Prior to the establishment of the broadcasting service radio inspection work was confined almost entirely to the marine service. The advent of broadcasting not only necessitated inspection and careful adjustment of the broadcasting stations, but required an extension of this work to other stations to prevent interference and insure as far as possible satisfactory reception by the broadcast listeners.

During the fiscal year 1923 there were 6933 inspections made of ship stations; in 1924 the number increased to 7727. There were 1577 inspections made of voluntarily equipped ships.

M. Pierri Louis (8BF), working on 44 meters, has been received in both Philadelphia and in Fall River, Mass., "phones on the table," with one detector tube and one stage of audio-frequency amplification. He was using an untuned antella about 570 feet long.

A Protector for Tubes.

To protect expensive vacuum tubes from burning out, place a 15 or 20-watt electric lamp of the common 110-volt type in series with the "B" battery, so that the current must pass through the lamp before going to the set. This will protect the tubes in case of a short circuit.

NAVAL APPARATUS BEING MODERNIZED

Elimination of Interference and Increased Efficiency of Transmission From Aircraft Assured.

Elimination of interference to broadcasting stations and increased efficiency in radio communication are the objects of a rather elaborate schedule of modernization of transmitting and receiving apparatus which is being worked out by the Navy Department.

Among the work already done by the Navy Department has been the conversion of the navy yard set to straight C. W. operation, the installation of a C. W. tube at Arlington and the erection of new antennae at Annapolis and Arlington.

During the near future, the Navy Department plans to install a 50-watt, 30-meter tube set for controlling by radio relay the 1-k. w. high frequency transmitter at the Bellevue laboratory so that it can be keyed from radio central.

Given modern receivers, with the tube trasnmitters now or shortly to be available, it is confidently expected that the Navy Department communication office will be able to maintain direct communication with all the larger vessels of the fleet cruising anywhere along the Atlantic or Gulf coasts of the United States. Reports on the comparative tests of the Arlington and navy yard tube sets, received from ships located at points all along the coast, indicate the feasibility of this project.

Aircraft of the Navy Department are being equipped, as rapidly as possible, to shift radio transmitting frequency in flight so that they will have a choice of several frequencies and can conduct radio communication in the same manner as ships.

At present, however, most aircraft cannot change their sending frequency while in flight. It is, therefore, desirable that some frequencies be reserved free from other communication, on which such aircraft can communicate. The Third National Radio Conference, in recognition of this fact, reserved the bands from 500 to 550 kilocycles and from 2250 to 2500 kilocycles for aircraft. In these bands, 550 kilocycles has been chosen as most suitable for navy aircraft. Its use is restricted to aircraft and a few shore stations designated and equipped for their service, thereby insuring a reasonable certainty of aircraft communication. Naval aircraft, are, of course free to use other frequencies permitted for naval vessels, in addition to 550 kilocycles.

RADIO IN EUROPE

Englishmen so liked the London Zoo broadcast not long ago, that a repetition of the program was given recently.

Senator Paul Dupuy of France has erected a private broadcasting station on the top of Pic du Midi, in the Pyrenees, and intends to study radio phenomena. He broadcasted his inaugural address recently.

Station EAJL, Barcelona, Spain, is now conducting tests on 325 meters, using 100-watts power. These are made between 6 and 7, and 9 and 11 p. m., Barcelona time. After completing the trials, the operas given at the Liceo Theater, Carcelona, will be broadcast.

The Minister of Posts and Telegraphs of the Irish Dail has prepared complete plans for an Irish broadcasting service, and is now only awaiting funds to carry it through. Amateur transmitting regulations have been made less strict and practically parallel those of England.

A 300-meter, 200-watt broadcaster is planned for Agen, in the department of Lot-et-Garonne, France. Concerts, lectures and news will be a part of the program.

The Lausanne, Switzerland, radiocast station was reopened recently, after being temporarily closed for repairs.

Holland has several private and two State radiocasting stations. For all these, there are only about 20,000 listeners. There is no license fee for receivers.

Soviet Russia is striving to keep pace with the United States, England and France in radio communication. Nearly a score of powerful land stations are now in course of erection in various parts of Russia, which will link up not only the scattered spaces of the huge republic, but will bring other parts of the earth into closer contact with Russia.

The principal of these stations are located in Transcaucasia, Siberia and the Kirgistan Steppe. Two stations already have reached completion on the River Ob, in Siberia; three have been finished in the Kirgistan Steppes, in the Volga region, and two are in course of construction in the Caucasus. These are adapted both for radio telephony and radio telegraphy.

In Moscow a powerful sending and receiving station is being built on the Khodynka Fields, which will have communication with Annapolis, Long Isanld and other American stations. In the meantime inter-European communication is being carried on by other Government stations in Moscow with the British stations at Carnarvon and Leafield, and with all important German, French and Italian stations.

Zurich has started radiocasting on 650 meters. Concerts are being transmitted at 8:30 p. m. daily, and it will be interesting to see if listeners in the Midlands can receive the Swiss station, which, on the coast, will be hopelessly jammed by shipping.

The new wireless directional station at Niton, Isle of Wight, is being completed with all possible speed, and will probably commence operations before the end of October. Other stations are contemplated to assist navigators to find their position during fog weather; and the excellent service rendered to shipping by similar installations at Fire Island, Nantucket, and the approaches to New York, will soon be ready.

AERIAL WAVE LENGTHS

The readings below show approximate wave length for two types of single wire antennae, the inverted L and the T type. The figures are for antennae measuring 40, 50, 75, 85, 100 and 125 feet over all; that is, including the flat top portion, the lead in and ground wires, but without any primary inductance.

To Bend Bus-Bar.

Bus-bar can be easily bent with the aid of two ten-penny nails and a small piece of wood one-half inch thick. Drive the nails into the wood, leaving about one-quarter of an inch protruding. The nails should be placed close enough together to just allow a piece of bus-bar to slip between them. To bend the wire at right angles or into loops at the ends, simply insert the bus-bar between the nails and bend it in the desired direction.

The Radio With the Greatest Radius

"From Greenland's Icy Mountains to India's Coral Strand"

That well-known old verse symbolizes today the mighty reach of the Stromberg-Carlson 5-tube Neutrodyne Receiver. Distant stations are brought in with local station volume on this wonderful set.

One of our users, Mr. L. P. R. Bean, of Sydney, Australia, hears, under favorable conditions, Station K G O at Oakland, Cal., a distance of 7400 miles (actually farther than from Greenland to India) using his Stromberg-Carlson No. 1-A Receiver and No. 1-A Loud Speaker.

And this magnificent receiver has other vital features: It gets out from under the local stations to receive the far-away programs. It "holds" distant or local stations indefinitely after the dials once have been set.

Write us to arrange through our dealers for a home demonstration.

Stromberg-Carlson Telephone Mfg. Co.

Steinite Original Distance Crystal Gives distance On Crystal Sets!

Kansas City, Kans.,
Steinite Laboratories,
Atchison, Kansas.

My Sister-in-law, Leavenworth, Kans., wrote me:

"My nephew was listening on Radio when the announcer said this is WDAP, Chicago. The kid nearly had a fit. While listening to the second selection another voice was heard and we tuned that station, KDKA, Pittsburgh. The next night we received KFKY, Hastings, Nebr., and WOAW, Omaha. The next night we picked up WAAD, Cincinnati, and WLAZ, Warren, Ohio."

For those who doubt reception of long distance, this set was located about two miles from center of town and there isn't any kind of a Radio within a radius of one mile of this set.

A Famous Orchestra for Your Dance!

SOCIETY pays a thousand dollars to have a Whiteman or Lopez or Rose orchestra play for its dances—you can have these and other famous orchestras play for your dance at no expense at all, simply by turning the ONE knob of a Thermiodyne.

Find in the newspaper radio program the orchestra you want—set the single control of the Thermiodyne to the wavelength given—and instantly that orchestra is playing for you as clearly and richly as if the musicians were at your dance in person. If it's in the air Thermiodyne will get it.

Thermiodyne, although a high-powered, six-tube set, is radio at its best and simplest. No fussing—no fishing—no guess-work. No "five-handed" operation. One master control, calibrated in the wave-lengths given in radio programs, gives you any station you want in the second's tick of your watch. Local stations never interfere with distant stations—and stations always come in at the same setting every time. Four refiners enable you to clarify variations in broadcasting and regulate volume of tone.

Go to your radio dealer today and have him demonstrate Thermiodyne. If you've never listened in with a Thermiodyne you've never really heard radio. (No Christmas gift would be more acceptable than Thermiodyne. Put it on your list.)

CHICAGO SHOW BROKE RECORDS

Great Volume of Orders Booked and Many New Inventions Won Cups and Medals.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—The final report of the Third Annual Chicago Radio Show auditors which has just been made proves conclusively that this season's local wireless exposition was by far the most successful industrial exhibition ever held in this country, not even barring the recent First Radio World's Fair in New York City.

The total attendance here for six days almost equaled that of the Gotham show for seven days. The New York show drew 175,000 people, while the Chicago attendance was 173,200.

The wholesale business transacted by the exhibitors here was more than double that of the Manhattan fair. The 239 Chicago exhibitors—there were 200 in New York—booked over $6,500,000 worth of orders and, strange to say, most of the business was done by the younger and smaller concerns. Fourteen nationally known manufacturers went into the exposition oversold for 1924-25, due principally to the large number of orders taken by them at the First Radio World's Fair, and, consequently, were unable to accept any new business at the Coliseum.

The enthusiasm displayed by the exhibitors and patrons of the big show was extraordinary. The intense interest was sustained right up to the closing night, which was just as lively as the opening day. Several times during the week the management was forced to temporarily discontinue ticket selling because of the crowded condition of the huge hall, and when the curtain was rung down at midnight on Sunday the Coliseum was still packed to the doors.

The Third Annual Chicago Radio Show will go down in history as the most successful affair of its kind ever staged anywhere, much to the gratification of the radio fraternity of the Middle West. In addition to being a gigantic financial success it was also an artistic triumph and, in all probability, the world's most satisfactory trade exposition for both exhibitor and patron.

Close to 5000 jobbers and dealers from all parts of the world were in attendance this year. The mammoth hall was almost as crowded during the daily "Wholesale Buyers' Hours," from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., as it was when the doors were open to the general public.

The DX Instrument Co., Harrisburg, Pa., won the silver cup awarded by the management to the exhibitor securing an order from the most distant point from Chicago. The DX Co. sold a bill of $2000 to the Australian Radio Corporation, Perth, West Australia. The runner-up in this unique competition was the Westinghouse Union Battery Co., Swissvale, Pa. Their Mr. P. H. Donovan landed a good-sized order from John Chambers, Ltd., Hobart, Tasmania. Another distant order was booked by H. C. Forster of the Utah Products Co., Salt Lake City, who sold a bill of goods to a Melbourne, Australia, concern, while the J. T. Boone Corporation, Detroit, sold considerable equipment to the United Distributers, Ltd., Sydney, Australia. Orders numbering 984 were booked from European countries and close to 1400 orders were taken from dealers in Mexico, Central and South America.

Several unusual features were introduced in the "New Inventions Section" and the "Foreign Exhibits," which, together with the famous E. T. Flewelling short wave broadcasting station 9 XBG, attracted many thousands to the second floor of the south annex.

Three handsome trophies and one "honorable mention" were awarded to new inventions. They were as follows:

Miss Gail Savage, Brooklyn, N. Y., a silver cup in recognition of the excellence of her combined amplifier and loud speaker.

The Celotex Co., Chicago, a silver cup in recognition of the superior qualities of Acousti-Celotex for accoustical control of sound.

Paul B. Armstrong, Chicago, a silver cup in recognition of the excellence of his "Armstrong speaker."

E. T. Flewelling of Highland Park, Ill.; A. J. Haynes of New York City and J. Elliott Jenkins of Chicago received silver cups as tokens of appreciation of their various ultra-valuable contributions to radio. All are pioneers in the wireless field and all are rated among the leading radio authorities of the present day.

Oscar Ryan of Chicago was given an "honorable mention" on his "Rian Diaphragm," and several other minor honors were conferred by the exposition directors, which will be announced later.

MARS SEEN, NOT HEARD

All hopes of radio communication with our neighbor Mars have been abandoned in Europe for the time being, although it is probable that many more attempts will be made in the future; but the astronomers have not interrupted their endless watch on the red planet and are swinging their giant telescopes along its orbit every clear night.

At Mendon, outside of Paris, particular care is being given to the study of Mars, and although it is drifting farther away from the earth every minute, it is still relatively close to us and is in an excellent position for good observation.

A great deal of attention is being given to peculiar color changes noted on the surface of the planet, as well as to the character of the clouds which can be observed in certain regions of Mars.

Radiograms.

More than 200,000 persons in the United States depend upon radio for a living.

Travelers on the trains on one of the railways in France are to be notified of the next stop by means of loud speakers.

Tuned Radio-Frequency

The Reason for It's Sensitivity!

THE system of inductive tuning—represented by the Telos Variometer and Variotransformers—employed in the Melco Supreme, easily brings in stations thousands of miles away. That's why users call it the "sensitive set." Inductive tuning minimizes losses throughout the circuit. The volume therefore is much greater than in other sets and makes possible the remarkable ability of the Melco to pick up even the weakest signals.

Ask your dealer for a Melco-Supreme demonstration. Also literature that is educating as well as interesting.

What "complete self-contained" means as in De Forest

IT is the best of fun, we admit, to hook up a radio set, to string your antenna from tree to house, to connect your ground-wire—at least it is fun if you are mechanically minded.

If you're not, and want an instrument which is ready to operate when you buy it and which is based on the highest kind of engineering skill, what you want is a De Forest Radiophone. Even if you are mechanically minded—and want an instrument which your family can use and of which you will be proud—De Forest D-12—the leader in the field—is the thing to get. Its tone is clear and natural, almost beyond belief—remarkably selective.

And as for convenience, remember these important things: it is self-contained and complete in one unit—usable within five minutes after it enters your home—easily movable from room to room because it does not need to be attached to either antenna or ground.

When you find the De Forest agent in your vicinity you find a man who knows radio—a man who has given us his word that he will see that every instrument he sells is thoroughly inspected and properly serviced after the sale.

Avail yourself of his help. He desires, as do we, that you should get the fullest enjoyment and satisfaction from your instrument.

SOLVERS of Tangled Comic No. 4 had an easier time, on the whole, than they did with the preceding one. And, as in previous weeks, a surprising amount of cleverness and neatness was shown in the assembling of the various scattered parts.

These were the misspelled words:

"misarable" for miserable; "differance" for difference; "atractive" for attractive; "awfull" for awful; "judgement" for judgment; "privelege" for privilege, and "smeer" for smear. The award of prizes follows:

MAJOR PRIZE WINNERS.

Ray D. Casey, 633 N. Taylor av., Kirkwood, Mo., $100.

RUB CHEST COLDS AWAY; STOP PAINS

Pain and congestion is gone. Quickly!—Yes. Almost instant relief from chest colds, sore throat, backache, lumbago follows a gentle rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

Rub this soothing, penetrating oil right on your chest and like magic relief comes. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless liniment which quickly breaks chest colds, soothes the inflammation of sore throat and breaks up the congestion that causes pain. It never disappoints and does not burn the skin.

Get a 35-cent bottle of St. Jacobs Oil at any drug store. It has been recommended for 65 years.

Home-Made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

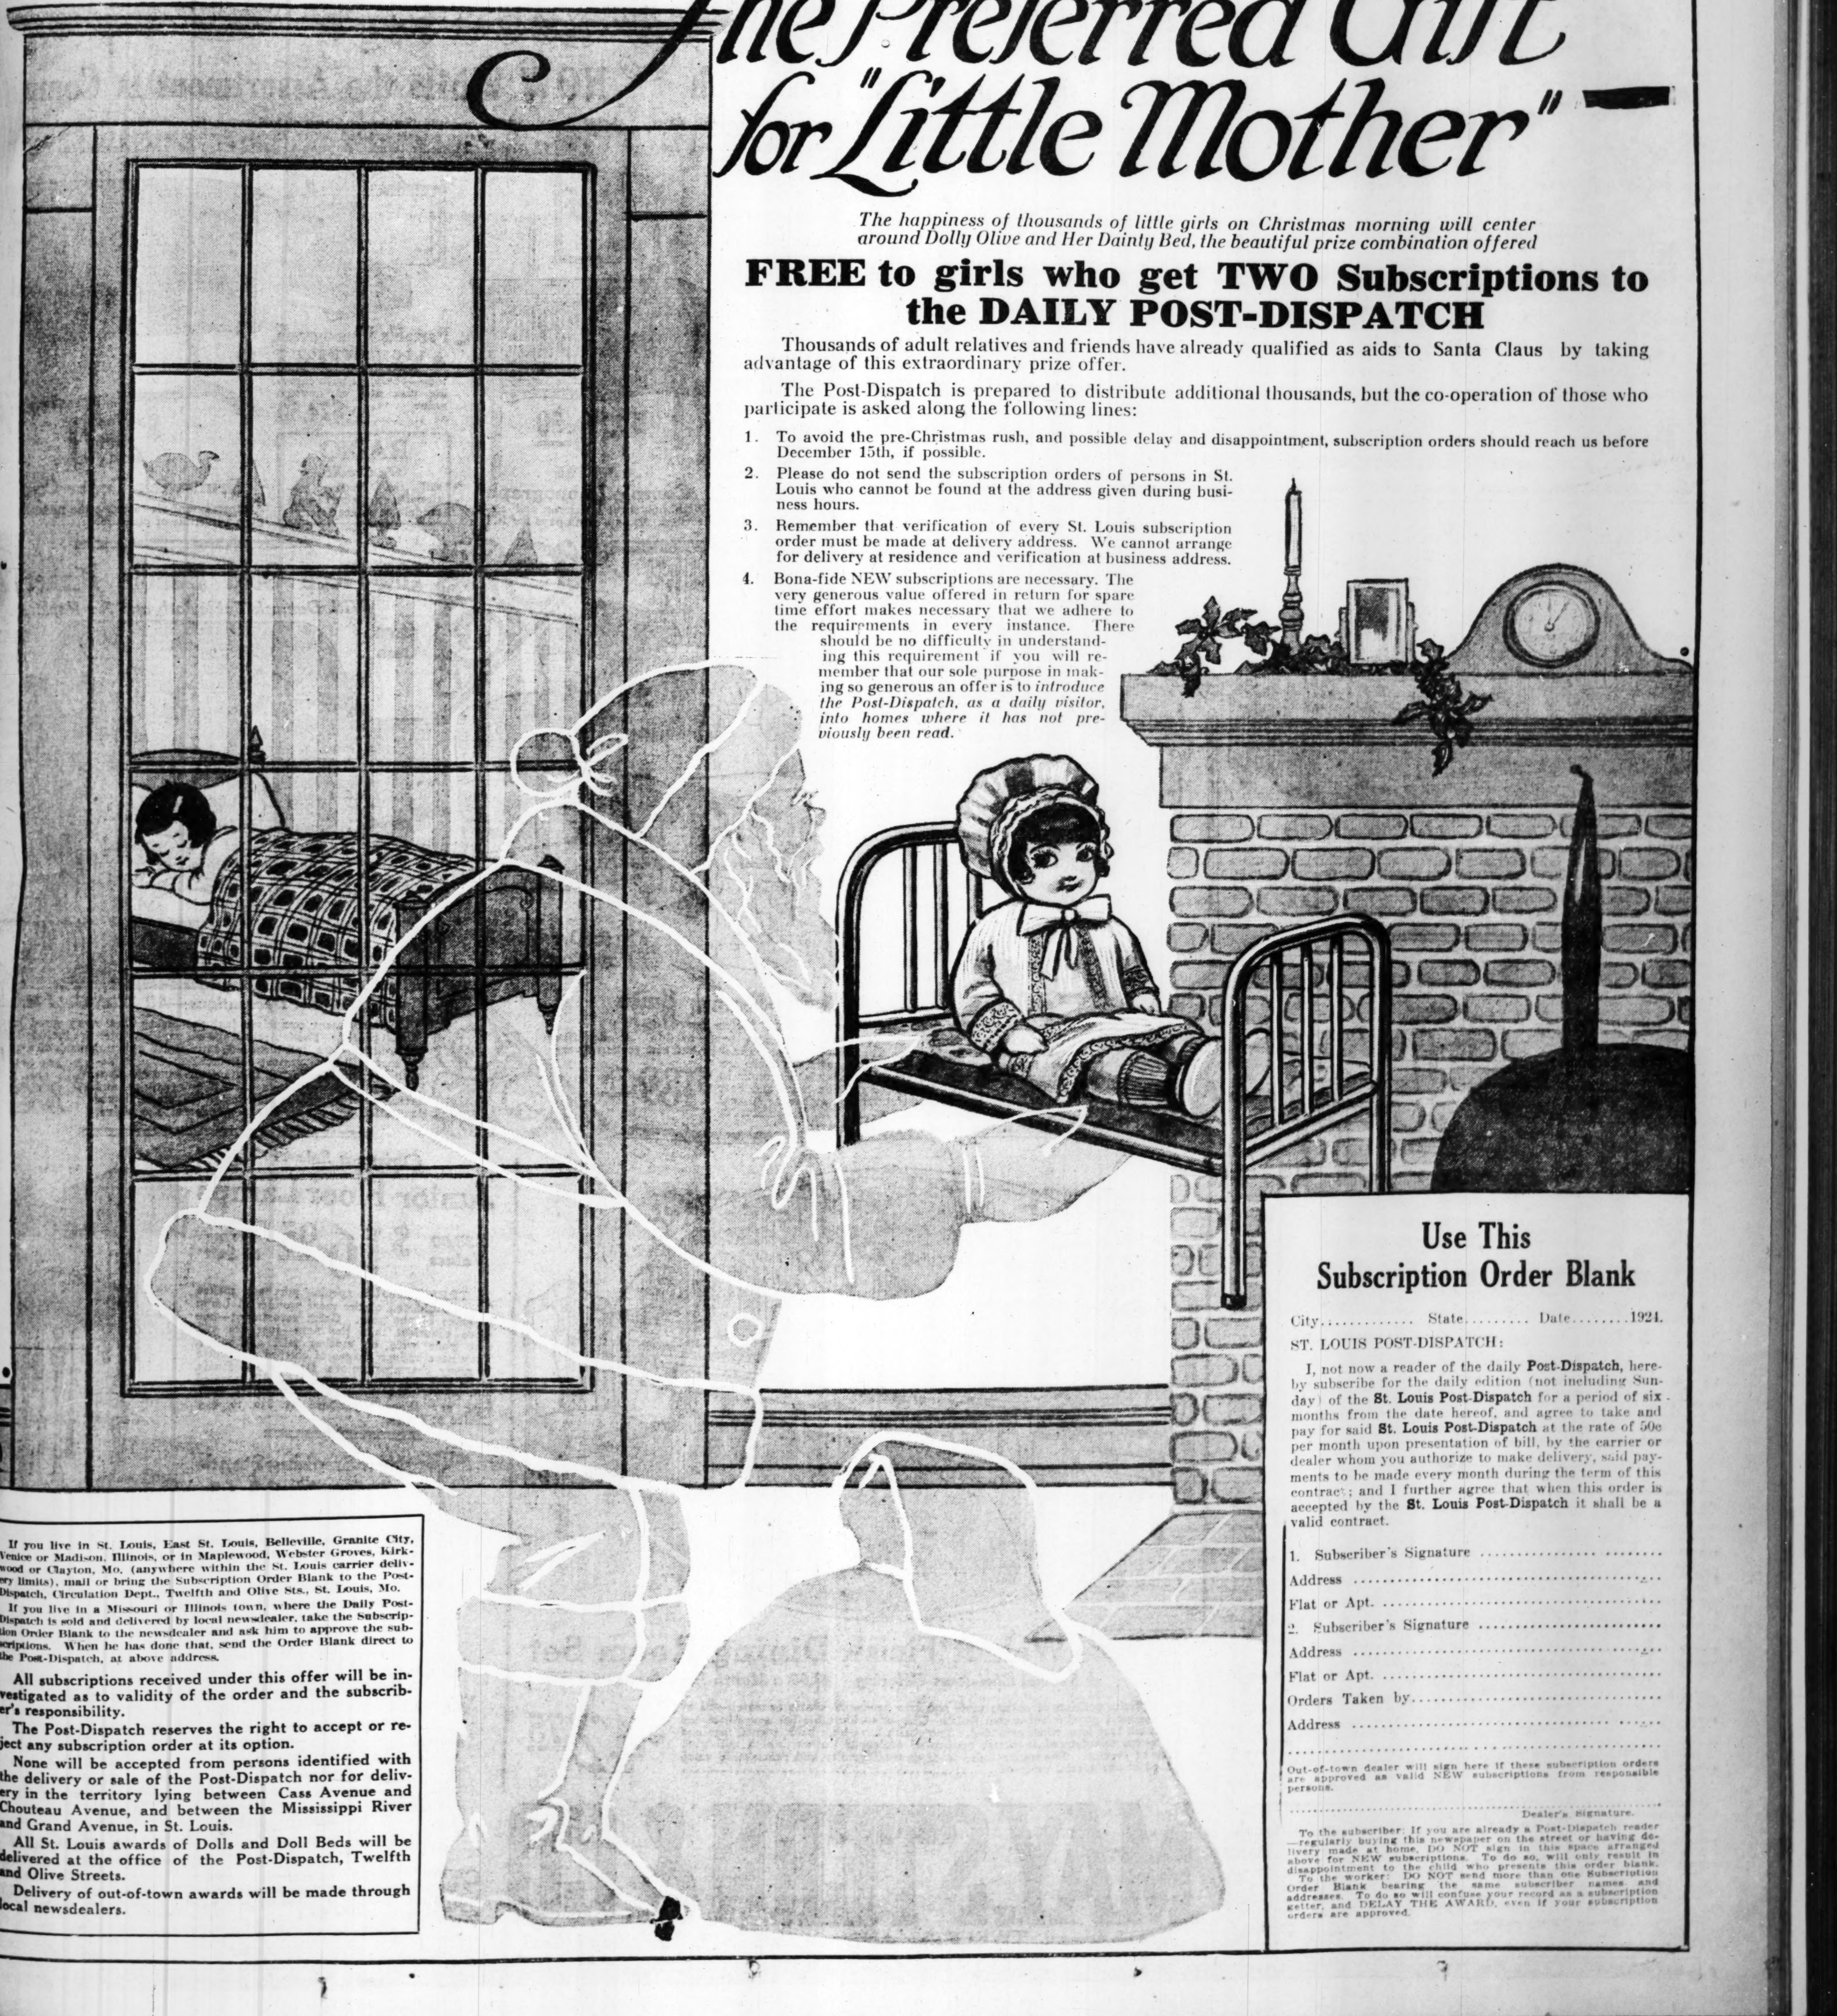
The Preferred Gift for "Little Mother"



The happiness of thousands of little girls on Christmas morning will center around Dolly Olive and Her Dainty Bed, the beautiful prize combination offered

FREE to girls who get TWO Subscriptions to the DAILY POST-DISPATCH

Thousands of adult relatives and friends have already qualified as aids to Santa Claus by taking advantage of this extraordinary prize offer.

The Post-Dispatch is prepared to distribute additional thousands, but the co-operation of those who participate is asked along the following lines:

1. To avoid the pre-Christmas rush, and possible delay and disappointment, subscription orders should reach us before December 15th, if possible.
2. Please do not send the subscription orders of persons in St. Louis who cannot be found at the address given during business hours.
3. Remember that verification of every St. Louis subscription order must be made at delivery address. We cannot arrange for delivery at residence and verification at business address.
4. Bona-fide NEW subscriptions are necessary. The very generous value offered in return for spare time effort makes necessary that we adhere to the requirements in every instance. There should be no difficulty in understanding this requirement if you will remember that our sole purpose in making so generous an offer is to introduce the Post-Dispatch, as a daily visitor, into homes where it has not previously been read.

If you live in St. Louis, East St. Louis, Belleville, Granite City, Venice or Madison, Illinois, or in Maplewood, Webster Groves, Kirkwood or Clayton, Mo. (anywhere within the St. Louis carrier delivery limits), mail or bring the Subscription Order Blank to the Post-Dispatch, Circulation Dept., Twelfth and Olive Sts., St. Louis, Mo.

If you live in a Missouri or Illinois town, where the Daily Post-Dispatch is sold and delivered by local newsdealer, take the Subscription Order Blank to the newsdealer and ask him to approve the subscriptions. When he has done that, send the Order Blank direct to the Post-Dispatch, at above address.

All subscriptions received under this offer will be investigated as to validity of the order and the subscriber's responsibility.

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to accept or reject any subscription order at its option.

None will be accepted from persons identified with the delivery or sale of the Post-Dispatch nor for delivery in the territory lying between Cass Avenue and Chouteau Avenue, and between the Mississippi River and Grand Avenue, in St. Louis.

All St. Louis awards of Dolls and Doll Beds will be delivered at the office of the Post-Dispatch, Twelfth and Olive Streets.

Delivery of out-of-town awards will be made through local newsdealers.

Strange Story of Poignant Tragedy a Love Child Brought to Two Fond Sisters

BITTER ENMITY GROWS OUT OF MARRIED ONE'S SACRIFICE IN POSING AS MOTHER TO SAVE UNWED GIRL FROM SHAME

MRS. LOIS POLLAN.

The mother of a love child when she was 18, she now is accused of kidnaping the little girl from her sister who had legally adopted her. Mrs. Pollan fought for possession of June through three courts, but defeated each time, is believed to have taken the law into her own hands. No trace of her or her husband or June has been found.

JUNE SHOSTED.

June with her foster mother, Mrs. Elsie Shosted, who had steadfastly refused to surrender the little girl to her sister, Lois, who is June's mother. It was from Mrs. Shosted that the kidnapers took June and fled with her in an automobile.

So Attached to Fatherless Baby That She Fights to Keep It When Real Mother, Married Now and in Comfortable Circumstances, Claims It on the Ground That "I Have Become a Good Woman and Demand My Own" — Court Awards Her Possession After She Tells Judge Husband on His Death-Bed, Confessed That He and Not Dead Officer, as Other Sister Claims, Was the Father—Kidnaping and Country-Wide Man-Hunt Follow.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 6.

LOIS HASKETT was 17 and romantic. Wayside, Kan., gave little scope for romance. Of her four sisters, only one, Elsie, had found an eligible man. There was nothing very romantic about him. His name was Earl Shanholtzer and he wore enormously broad-striped silk shirts and white socks with black shoes, after the fashion of 1917 in Wayside. But to Lois he was a gallant knight.

She flirted with her sister's husband for the novel thrill of it and to try her eyes and laughter. Elsie looked upon her as a mere child, telling her not to "act so silly." Earl amused himself with her, but did not take the play seriously. Neither of them seemed to realize that Lois was ready to do something desperate at the first opportunity offered.

America went into the war that April and thousands of young men were sent to a training camp near Wayside. It is not of record how Lois met Frank Melton. Perhaps it was by contrivance, perhaps merely by chance. At any rate he swaggered into her vision, a fledgling martinet in the officers' training school. No ordinary private, he. Soon he would wear cordovan puttees and a shiny gold bar and a Sam Browne belt. An officer and a gentleman by grace of three months' intensive training.

"It's so wonderful to be able to fight for your country," she told him.

"I used to think so, but I'm not so anxious to get into it as I was. I have someone to leave behind now."

"Who?"

"You know who."

She thought that very nice. But she told him that when he left the camp he would forget her. And he said: "I'll never forget you, little girl," sort of huskily, as a strong man broken by emotion does. So the game went on. Lois Hackett of Wayside, Kan., and her soldier.

The war hung over him. She knew that he might be called most any day. Soon, at any rate, he would be gone. Then the only hold she would have would be letters. She was not very good at letters, having had no time in her 17 years to develop the art. As time went on she grew a little desperate. He would go away so soon. Perhaps he would never come back.

He proposed the evening before he left. Perhaps she wondered why he had waited so long but he probably reminded her, "I may go West over there, and what right have I to marry you and ask you to wait?" Perhaps he was more honest about it and said that arrangements such as marriage did not seem to matter so much in the face of the adventure. They were two reckless youngsters.

A few weeks after Melton had gone Lois, unable to keep her secret, confessed to her big sister. They discussed it, considering all the contingencies.

"It would kill mother," Lois remarked.

"And you know what folks in Wayside would do," put in Elsie Shanholtzer.

"We can't tell the girls, because they'd blab it."

"No. We'll have to cover it up some way."

"But how?"

Elsie Shanholtzer decided unselfishly. She was married and Lois was not.

"It'll be my baby," she said.

They planned carefully. Lois was to visit Elsie. Mrs. Shanholtzer told her husband the story. He agreed to co-operate.

The Sisters' Stories Diverge

A month before the birth of the child the two sisters went to Independence, Kan., where neither was known. They changed names. Lois as Mrs. Earl Shanholtzer was received at the hospital. Her baby was christened June Shanholtzer and the name was thus recorded on the birth certificate.

At this point facts become confused. Elsie maintains that Lois agreed to let her rear the child as her own, and to make no claim to the baby at any time. Lois asserts that Mrs. Shanholtzer was to keep June until she could make enough money to support herself and baby. The mother denies that she ever abandoned the baby to her sister.

For all that, the two returned to Wayside, Kan., having successfully concealed the real maternity of June. Mrs. Shanholtzer's friends felicitated her on the healthy child, and no suspicious glances were cast toward Lois. She had evaded the disgrace. Only Earl Shanholtzer and his wife knew her secret.

After several months Lois left Wayside, as she says to earn money enough to reclaim her baby. Elsie asserts, however, that her sister abandoned June.

While Lois was going from one city to another, restless and unhappy, trying to get word of Frank Melton, another drama was under way in the home she had left. Earl Shanholtzer had fallen ill. His wife, the foster mother of little June, vows that on his deathbed he confessed to her that he and not Frank Melton was the father of Lois' baby. Later, Mrs. Shanholtzer swore to the circumstances and wording of her deceased husband's confession in a court statement.

"I can't die knowing that Lois and I fooled you," she testified Shanholtzer said.

Furious at her sister for the deception, Mrs. Shanholtzer claims, she was more determined than ever that Lois should not have custody of June, whom she cared for as her own.

After three years Lois found herself in Savannah, Ga., while Mrs. Shanholtzer had married again and as Mrs. R. C. Shosted was living in Duluth, Minn. She regarded June, now 2 years old, as her own daughter.

Doors of Marriage Open to Her

Lois had never located Frank Melton. She understood that he had been killed in action. As her story goes, she never made demand on her sister for June because she never was in a position where she could assume the responsibility of the custody of a child. Moreover, she alleges that Elsie refused to keep her advised of her whereabouts and that she lost track of Mrs. Shosted before the move to Duluth.

Matters stood at this pass when Lois met Clayton Pollan of Pittsburg, formerly a Captain in the army. They fell in love and he urged immediate marriage. She was bewildered, realizing how much was staked on this marriage. As Mrs. Pollan she might claim her child. But, knowing her past, would Pollan marry her?

One day she told him.

"That doesn't make any difference," he said.

"But if I married I would want my baby."

"Of course you would. We'll send for her."

Some time was spent in tracing Mrs. Shosted to Duluth. When located there, investigators learned that she had legally adopted June. This did not daunt the child's mother. Mrs. Pollan and her husband, who supplied her with funds, traveled to Duluth to begin a fight in the courts for June.

The sisters who once had been so close to each other were now bitter enemies. Mrs. Shosted would not permit Lois to see June. The frantic mother made clothes and bought toys for her little girl, but none of her gifts reached the child. All were returned, unopened. Pending trial of the case in court there was a pitiful warfare between mother and foster-mother, the one wishing to awaken the little girl's love, the other fighting to retain it. Mrs. Shosted feared that Lois would win June away from her.

Mrs. Pollan had filed suit to have the adoption of her daughter by Mrs. Shosted set aside. When the case was called the mother told her story first.

"I Have Become a Good Woman"

"My sister promised me I could have my baby as soon as I was situated so I could take care of her," she said. "I have always wanted June and had been making plans to take care of her.

"I am sorry for my mistake. I believe I have made myself a good woman and fit to be the mother of my baby."

In addition to showing that Mrs. Pollan had tacitly agreed to the adoption by not pressing claim for return of the child until four years after its birth, the defense sought to attack her character as one unfit to have custody of an infant.

Mrs. Shosted declared:

"I always wanted a baby of my own. When my sister came to me with her story I agreed to help her, hoping she would let me have the child. When she decided to leave it with me I said: 'Now, I want a clear understanding about this. I'm not going to take care of this baby and learn to love her and then have you come back and claim your child. If she stays with me, she stays as my baby.' My sister said, 'All right. You may have her.' So it was agreed.

"Besides, when my husband confessed to me that June was his baby and not Frank Melton's I was more determined to keep her. She is my dead husband's child as much as she is my sister's."

This statement provoked a tearful outburst from Lois.

"You lie when you say Earl Shanholtzer is June's father, she cried. "You're just saying that because he and Frank are dead. June is Frank's baby. You should be ashamed to lie about your dead husband."

Attendants quieted her and the hearing went on.

Court Decides for Foster Mother

Pollan, taking the stand for the plaintiff, testified that the desire of his wife to have her child amounted to an obsession and that he feared for her health unless she was given custody. Counsel for the mother pointed out, also, that Mrs. Shosted had a son by her second marriage and therefore would not be left childless if June were taken from her.

The Judge, however, reminded the clamoring women that this was a case of law and one in which no emotional elements should enter. He said that he would be unwilling to judge between the claims of a natural mother and a foster mother were the legal points equal. But he declared that June had been legally adopted by Mrs. Shosted; that the law presumed June's mother to have abandoned claim to her at birth; that Mrs. Shosted was able financially and fitted morally to care for the child. Therefore the adoption would have to stand.

Mrs. Pollan took the case to the Court of Appeals, but here the adoption was upheld. Her sister, following this decision, moved with June, her son and husband to Los Angeles. It appeared as if Mrs. Pollan were finally defeated. She grieved over the denial of her claim and made several attempts to take her life, Pollan later testified.

Each Appeals Again to Court

Finding that she could not be comforted, her husband took her to California and they started another court fight for possession of June. The story was repeated to a Judge here, and the same drama of mother and foster mother contending for a child dear to both was unfolded. There were intensely emotional scenes as the sisters glared at each other, each accusing the other of falsehood. Lawyers for Mrs. Pollan brought into court the outfit she had sewed for June, explaining that the mother expected to take her little girl away.

Mrs. Shosted declared on the stand:

"I have nursed this child through illness and sacrificed for her while my sister flitted around like a butterfly. I cannot give her up because she seems my very own."

Mrs. Pollan appealed:

"My sister and her husband have a baby of their own now. I may have released June to my sister's care temporarily but I never gave her up. If the Judge is convinced that I am guilty of that offense of which they accuse me—that my sister's first husband was the father of the child, then she would be entitled to the baby. But that is not true. If Earl or Frank were alive they would swear it is not true."

Judge Leslie Hewitt, when the evidence was in, stated that he wished time to make his decision away "from these appealing faces and troubled hearts before me."

The next day he rendered a decision favoring the foster mother, declaring that the Minnesota courts had acted rightly in upholding Mrs. Shosted's legal guardianship of little June.

"This decision is painful to render," said the Judge, "the Court has but one wish to express in the matter—that this child be kept in ignorance of what has transpired in this courtroom. I fear that, when she grows older, the knowledge of proceedings here would undermine her faith in humankind."

Mrs. Pollan took the decision with a calmness which on lookers thought strange. She looked at her husband significantly and he leaned over and patted her arm. Her sister swept from the courtroom triumphantly.

A few days later, about dusk, Mrs. Shosted, with another sister, Mrs. Arnolia Alexander, started to a neighboring store. Mrs. Shosted carried June and her sister had charge of Richard Shosted, her small son. They had not gone far when a curtained touring car dashed up to the curb. Two men leaped out, and a woman in the tonneau held open a rear door.

They recognized one of the men as Pollan and the woman as June's mother, they afterwards told police.

Before Mrs. Shosted or Mrs. Alexander could make an outcry they were knocked to the pavement. One of the men picked up the squalling June and ran with her to the car. The child was handed in and the two men climbed to the front seat. With a roar of motor and rasping of clutch the automobile shot away.

June was with her mother.

A nation-wide search has been instituted for the kidnapers. To date they have vanished without trace.

By FREDERICK H. BRENNAN,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CROMWELL, Ok., Dec. 6.

EVEN the road to Cromwell—"wickedest town in the United States"—has a certain unregenerate wildness. There are 16 miles of it from Wewoka, a stretch of ruts and bumps that take the heart out of the stoutest Ford, leaving it hot under the manifold and fuming at the radiator. After traveling this road you feel that all men who have passed before on their way to Cromwell were strong, profane men, with stomachs proof against the worst whisky and livers which none but the heavier caliber bullets might penetrate.

Oil derricks guard the road as it nears town. At night they loom from the blackness like great ogres, their lantern eyes blinking roguishly. The smell of oil is in the air. If wickedness has an odor it is the odor of oil, as every American who reads the papers must know. Cromwell, therefore, smells wicked. More than that. The lights of the town throw up a glare against the sky and in the oily atmosphere it looks like the fire of damnation. Oh, Sodom! Oh, Gomorrah!

It was 10:30 p. m. when the correspondent entered Cromwell. The taxi driver had given assurance that this would be an average night; unless, he said, there was a shooting. Men, he explained, are not killed in Cromwell every night, although he admitted that the outside world thought so.

"There are lots of good people in this town," he observed. "Sometimes it runs along for a week almost without a shot being fired."

The first impression of Cromwell was not, however, reassuring. Everything was so quiet. Was this the silence just before the draw? And would there be a booming of automatics presently with a dead man crumpling to the street? Only the raucous droning of a rotary drill on a "prospect" near by gave Cromwell a voice. Where were the shouts of drunken men, the uproarious laughter of painted women and the hurdy-gurdy of sin?

Main street is electrically lighted by a row of bulbs strung on wires along either side. It is a hog-wallow of a street, muddy, with pools of water here and there. The stores, restaurants, gambling dens and pool halls are mostly one-story structures, each with its porch-like front, the floor of the porch serving as the establishments' share of the wooden sidewalks. The street rambles up a hill to where Shawnee crosses at right angles and these two streets make the T-shaped business district.

A Town of Tents and Shacks

Over the hills around Cromwell, for three miles the oil field spreads, its population of about 5000 making homes in tents, covered wagons and rude pine shacks.

There are only two notes to the town—unpainted yellow pine and galvanized iron. Well might Cromwell be called Old Ironsides. It seldom is. There probably has not been a discussion of English history in Cromwell since it was founded last April. On the streets last night men were talking about pipes and collars, sand levels and barrel runs with some talk of Choctaw beer and corn liquor. If the ghost of Oliver Cromwell, aroused to Puritanical wrath that such a town should be called Cromwell, walked into town it would be told that Cromwell was not named for the leader of the Roundheads, anyway. It was named for J. I. Cromwell, an oil prospector, who discovered the first well.

Cromwell, on the whole, looks wicked. Most of the stores are built on the three-room plan. The room nearest a street usually house a shop, the room behind that, a pool hall or saloon not yet known as a "soft drink parlor," and the room behind that one must guess about. The men on the streets last night were an odd lot. Most of them had the look of oil field "roughnecks," young fellows attired in leather coats and khaki trousers, with high-laced shoes. The few women on the streets were indeed, painted, but not more painted nor less artistically painted than those on the streets of any other town. The men were not drunk, nor were the women laughing uproariously. Yet the potentiality for evil was there.

But why hadn't hell broke loose? Here was the setting, here were the characters. What had happened to Cromwell, the vaunted town of brazen and hilarious sin? It was Cromwell's boasted flaunting of law and order, Cromwell's open and above board wickedness that had drawn the attention of the world. Other towns are furtive in vice, Cromwell was reported to be refreshingly frank about it.

The correspondent sought out Murphy's dance hall, most notorious of the three in town. It was closed. He next went to the Olympic in search of sin.

A gust of perfume and jazz music; cigar smoke and steaming onions greets the visitor to the Olympic. The front room serves as a lunch stand and general loafing place, and was noisy with sizzling hamburgers and clinking pop bottles. One passes to the rear and into the dance hall proper.

The orchestra was playing "What'll I Do?" Last night it seemed appropriate. The five musicians were beating out the tune in a partition at the far end of the hall. It is a wide, low-ceilinged place—or rather it has no ceiling at all, the tin roof being partly hidden by red and white paper bunting strung along the rafters. On either side are long benches and on these benches were rows of men and girls. Eight couples were dancing in the cleared space. Near the entrance about 50 young fellows were looking on.

Rough Stuff Was Taboo

Boyish and reckless faces, but not hard faces. Some eyes were red from liquor, but all were steady on their feet. The stain of toil was on their rough clothes, and they stood about, listlessly, as if too tired or too bored to dance. Each dance lasted about three minutes and when the music stopped the men who wanted to dance again bought tickets. The girls left without partners by those who walked from the floor, solicited other dancers.

"Wanta dance?" they would say, working around the sides of the room. A blushing roughneck's friends would push him forward, and, while he protested, the girl would grab his hand and lead him over to buy a ticket. The ticket stand was presided over by a man they called "Jeff." All about Jeff were signs reading "No Profanity Allowed." "Be a Gentleman," and "No Swearing in This Club."

Jeff explained:

"Sure, they get rough sometimes. They come in here liquored and we have to quiet 'em down. But we don't stand for no rough stuff. Our girls don't have to dance with a guy they don't like."

He went on to say that the house employed 18 girls and charged 25 cents a dance. The girls receive ten cents of the amount for each dance. A popular girl, Jeff claimed, made as much as $62 a week, but the average was about $30 taking weeks as they came.

"These are good girls," he said. "They don't have to get by any other way. If they wasn't good they wouldn't work, would they? Stands to reason."

They were tired girls. They had been dancing steadily since 8 o'clock and they were to go on until one or as late in the night as any customers remained. Despite a sign which read "Dance Decent" there were all varieties of dancing in evidence. Several men on the floor were well "lit up" with drink, their partners seeming to enjoy their jollity.

"Now we'll waltz," called the announcer.

"Naw, we won't. We won't waltz," yelled a husky checkako, who was dancing with a tall blonde, "We'll waltz next time."

That was as far as the argument got. The waltz was put off until the next dance. At 25 cents a dance for three minutes' dancing an evening of such pleasure would be expensive. One young fellow explained to the correspondent that the girls liked to have the fellows get happy with booze because they danced longer and spent more money.

Marcella, to whom the correspondent was introduced, however, hotly denied the charge.

"I won't dance with 'em when they get tight," she asserted. "They ruin your clothes. They gotta be nice, or I leave 'em."

The atmosphere was fetid and laden with perfume. This perfume follows you out and clings through blocks of open air.

The correspondent, after leaving the Olympic, went to the White Way dance hall, where there was more perfume, more music and more dancing. But no hilarity and little that was shocking. Both dance places were subdued.

Next, the liquor situation in Cromwell was investigated. Choctaw beer (home brew with a strong kick) can be had at half a dozen places, simply by ordering "Budweiser." One does not even have to wink.

But there was no brazen peddling of whisky. Corn liquor can be bought, provided you are introduced to the proprietor of any blind tiger in town, at a good round price of $6 a pint. It is generally sold in phials which hold enough for two stiff drinks, at $1 a phial. Over the counter it costs 50 cents a drink. The formalities to be gone through before the drink is purchased are as decorous as those in St. Louis or anywhere else. The Cromwell bootlegger is cautious, or was that night.

No one seemed to know where morphine could be had. Although, it had been reported of Cromwell that "dope" was plentiful here, man after man denied the story. One man said: "There was a girl here the other night who came up to me and asked, 'Say, do you know where I can get some stuff?' I told her no and she went off hunting it all over. I saw her later and she was still looking."

Vice seemed very much under cover here last night. Gradually it was impressed upon the correspondent that something had happened to Cromwell. Up and down Main street several places were closed. On Shawnee it was the same. Questioned, Cromwell citizens spoke of the past—of Cromwell's lurid, dead, forgotten past.

Ah, that was it! Cromwell had been a bad town once, eh? But Cromwell had been cleaned up? Here was only the shell of former iniquity.

An old-timer, who had come to Cromwell with the first rush to the oil field took the correspondent about to places of historic interest. He was shown the deserted gambling den where "Jimmy" Long killed "Dirty Neck" Charley.

"Thet was a real killin'," reminisced the Cromwellian.

"Did it happen long ago?"

"Not long. A couple of months back. Y'see, Dirty Neck was drunk"——

"Yes."

"An' Jimmy Long was a gamblin' in there. The men didn't want Dirty Neck around, because he'd most likely stagger against a table and knock off the chips. So Jimmy says, 'Don't you come in here, Dirty Neck Charley.' An' Charley says, 'I guess you ain't stoppin' me.' So Dirty Neck started in. Some say he reached for a gun. Anyway, Jimmy up an' shot him dead."

Next, to the front of Murphy's dance hall, where Wiley Lynn, a Federal prohibition agent, shot and killed "Uncle Bill" Tilghman, noted peace officer. Tilghman had made his reputation in the days when the Dalton gang and the James boys. Henry Starr and Al Jennings were terrorizing new communities. Appointed as Town Marshal, though he was 71 years old, he had been the first to establish law in Cromwell.

This is the version of the killing that prevails here:

Wiley Lynn drove into town drunk, with Rose Lutka, a soldier named Thompson and a Mrs. Eva Keaton. He stopped his car in front of Murphy's, but across the street, and got out. As he left the car he pulled his gun and said, "I wonder if the damned thing will shoot!" With that he fired one shot into the street.

Tilghman and a deputy were in the dance hall. They started out after the shot and Tilghman met Lynn on the sidewalk coming toward him. Tilghman said, "Here, give me that gun." He grabbed Lynn's gun hand and swung him around against the front of the building. "Hugh, take the gun," Tilghman directed his deputy.

The deputy did so and Tilghman released Lynn. Whereupon Lynn drew another pistol and shot Tilghman three times. He then disarmed the deputy and drove away, later surrendering to a Sheriff in another county.

Before Judge Crump Took Hold

Lynn has been indicted for murder and his trial is pending, due to a dispute as to jurisdiction. He has asserted that he was not drunk the night of the killing. As he tells it, he had driven to Cromwell to raid the Murphy dance hall, taking the Lutka woman along to search women prisoners. When he got out of his automobile his pistol went off accidentally as he was preparing to release the safety catch. Tilghman rushed out, pistol in hand, and grappled with him, and they struggled, each intent on killing the other. He shot first, is Lynn's explanation.

The shootings of "Dirty Neck" Charley and Capt. Tilghman having been described, the correspondent was told how, in Cromwell's crime-filled past, a man named Jones was shot by his partner, Smith. They were camping near town and both had gone to bed drunk. Jones got up first and Smith, still hazy from liquor, fired both barrels of a shotgun at him, explaining to the Sheriff that "I thought I ought to shoot him."

Cromwell citizens, recounting the stories of other shootings, tales of hijacking and robbery, tales of gambling and "dope" running last night almost invariably finished by saying, "Cromwell used to be bad. But that was before Judge Crump took hold."

In this way the truth gradually came out. Most of the merchants in the town uphold Judge Crump, but the oil fields faction are bitter. You do not hear about the Judge in Cromwell until you make a slighting remark as to its alleged wickedness.

Then, defensively, the Cromwellians explain that Cromwell isn't what it used to b that if the town had had its way it still w be "wide open." Cromwell used to be and gloried in its meanness they would you believe. But Judge Crump took a and toned things down.

The Judge's special representative in Rufe King, had gone to bed in his room the Walcott Hotel—a significant comm on Cromwell's present state. He assured reporter that he had the situation w hand and that Cromwell was on the way complete regeneration. For the story Cromwell's reform he referred his visitor Judge Crump, holding court just now Wewoka.

HOW THE "ECCENTRIC MILLIONAIRE" OF HALIFAX BETRAYED HIMSELF AS FUGITIVE $2,000,000 SWINDLER

LEO KORETZ, BLOWER OF "BAYANO BUBBLE," FLED CHICAGO BUT COULD NOT FLEE PROFLIGATE HABITS THOUGH POSING AS A GENTLEMAN

His Liking for Wine and Women and More Women Made Him Conspicuous in Nova Scotia Society Which Accepted Him as "Lou Keyte," Sportsman and Literary Critic—Abominable Taste in Clothes Led Him to Order Fur-Trimmed Pajamas and Caused Suspicious Tailor to Find Hidden Name Label—His Arrest Followed and He Must Serve One to 10 Years for Swindle, a Fate Which Called Forth His Conclusion "Dishonesty Does Not Pay"—Aspired to Membership in Provincial Parliament.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 6.

HE was very careful to see that his name was pronounced correctly. His cards read "Lou Keyte" and occasionally someone would call him Mr. Kite. Such a mistake invariably caused him to shudder and say, "It is pronounced Keet." For some reason he did not like the sound of Kite. Perhaps it was because a kite is a rapacious bird like a turkey buzzard.

When he appeared in Halifax he wore a beard and horn-rimmed spectacles. His companion was Capt. L. D. Mitchell who described Mr. Keyte as a New York millionaire, desirous of settling in Nova Scotia for his health. Indeed, Keyte already had entered negotiations for the purchase of "Pinehurst," a luxurious hunting lodge at Liverpool, near Halifax in Queens County. Capt. Mitchell would act as guide, companion and friend, Keyte announced. Also as social sponsor.

Settled at Pinehurst with a staff of servants, two motor cars and a speed boat, Keyte dabbled for a time at the pursuits of a country gentleman. But his pasty complexion and sluggish blood soon stamped him as one who would not follow a game trail very far, while a certain flabby restlessness made him throw down rod and reel in impatient disgust. He was not an outdoor man. Anyone could see that. There was no wholesomeness to him.

He returned to indoor graces. His large library should have held his interest for he posed as a critic, telling his new friends that he had once ventured to rip a Zane Grey novel to pieces, figuratively, and had incurred the enmity of its author. He viewed this criticism as quite an accomplishment. He pretended to book collecting, haunting the book stores in Halifax and even out-of-way places to seek treasures in rare old volumes for which he would pay any price that was asked. But his library did not absorb him for long.

Had his acquaintances been critical, they might have marked that both the sportsman and litterateur in Keyte were mere poses and that he soon put them aside for interests befitting his true nature. But his acquaintances were not critical. They accepted him for what he claimed to be. That is, his Halifax friends did. Around Liverpool the natives were suspicious. Lights burned at "Pinehurst" too late; music and laughter were heard into the early morning; the servants said that Mr. Keyte loved his champagne with greedy fondness.

Accepted as "Man of the World"

Through talks with prominent Halifax business men with whom he discussed installation of heating and water plants at Pinehurst, and through financial references from the Bank of Nova Scotia, and through his fame for having once dared to criticise a Zane Grey novel, Keyte gained an entree to society. He was accepted as a man of the world, a man of culture, a discriminating critic.

Although he posed as a semi-invalid and recluse who liked to be alone with his books, it appears that he gained solitude for other purposes. The truth was that he liked company but wanted it to be of his own choosing. During the first weeks at "Pinehurst" in April, 1924, he was visited by a young woman who gave her name as Frances White and was supposed to be the daughter of a New York publisher associated with Keyte. She stayed three or four weeks, but rowed with a young Halifax waitress whom Keyte brought home one day. The quarrel was so violent that Keyte sent the Halifax girl back, but could not prevent his New York woman friend from leaving in a huff.

Gradually Keyte was getting back to his element. He spoke jovially of the row to men friends. "The women won't leave me alone," he complained.

A story is told of the wife of a wealthy sportsman who had brought her to Greenfield near "Pinehurst" on a salmon fishing trip. She met Keyte and he invited her to his lodge. Numerous visits followed, until the husband tore himself away from his salmon fishing long enough to take cognizance of the situation. He hustled his wife from the region and later the couple returned to the States. There she separated from him and wired Keyte:

"I've shaken hubby. Am returning to Pinehurst to my darling boy."

But Keyte could not be bothered.

"You're NOT," he wired her.

Leo Koretz wearing the beard which he used as a disguise while palming himself off on Halifax society as Lou Keyte, critic and book-lover.

And then he told the story to his friends at a party.

Why the Ladies Liked Him

On another occasion a woman known as Olga Schnitzner cabled him that she had obtained a divorce in Paris and was returning to New York by way of Halifax on the liner Cleveland. Keyte ordered $100 worth of flowers dispatched to her by special launch which met the vessel at sea after it was learned it would not dock at Halifax.

Cafes and dance halls in Halifax knew him. He never entered them alone. Toward summer he got into the habit of lurking about stage doors where such theatrical companies that came north were playing. He seemed greatly interested in the drama, but his interest was only simulated. The lady players, not the plays, attracted him. One star, Miss Edna Proston, was entertained by Keyte at a roadhouse in Waverly where she and the other guests sat before buckets of champagne.

Miss Virginia Odeon, who with the Carroll Players held forth at Halifax in "The Bat," was introduced to Keyte. He invited the entire company for an evening of jollification and gave Miss Odeon his especial attention. Soon he invited her to visit him at "Pinehurst," saying she might bring her mother as chaperon. She declined. There were, however, other stage ladies who did not decline and neither did they bring mothers.

He planned a pleasure jaunt to South America, engaging accommodations for himself and two women, not identified, on a steamship booked to make a tour.

Most of his disreputable affairs were engineered at "Pinehurst" and his gay parties in Halifax were all more or less surreptitious. He evidently aimed to keep his name fair in Halifax.

That he did so is evidenced by his nomination as a member of the Royal Halifax Yacht Squadron, an exclusive boat club. Shortly after this he made overtures looking toward the purchase of a $25,000 home at Winfield, a very recherche suburb of Halifax. In order to make himself solid with the best people in the set he selected, he gave a series of elaborate house parties and entertainments at "Pinehurst."

LEO KORETZ.

A portrait of the swindler taken at the time he was reputed to be an honest and incredibly successful oil operator, and president of the Bayano River Syndicate, which was to make millions for investors.

Provincial Parliament His Aim

So well did his game succeed that he not only was taken up socially, but a mild political boom centered about him. He had mentioned lanquidly one day his desire to sit in the Provincial Parliament. Several friends launched a movement in his behalf, preliminary to the usual campaign. It was quite likely, from the way things were going, he would have succeeded.

But through it all—from April until November—Keyte never quite was out of danger. The insincerity of his life was always showing through—not enough to wreck any plans, but always enough to warn him, had he been wise enough to heed. His Lord Bountiful methods—subscribing freely to all public funds—were good as far as thew went, but they did not stay the debacle.

The thing that started his downfall was his outrageous taste in dress. While his figured waistcoats stamped him as nothing more than eccentric and his bulbous-toed patent leathers as perhaps a trifle unbalanced, Keyte would not stop there. He either did not see, or chose to disregard, the warning. Perhaps the man could not deny his nature. When he picked a novel with which to exercise his critical faculties, it was a novel by Zane Grey. Zane Grey's stories seemed to be all he read. When he chose clothes he went in for off-color cravats and weird checks.

He who should have been discreet made the colossal blunder.

Lou Keyte had a secret passion. He liked silk pajamas trimmed with fur. That was his one great weakness.

When he entered the tailor shop of F. J. Hiltz in Halifax he was a marked man.

"How do you wish them trimmed?" Hiltz questioned, incredulously.

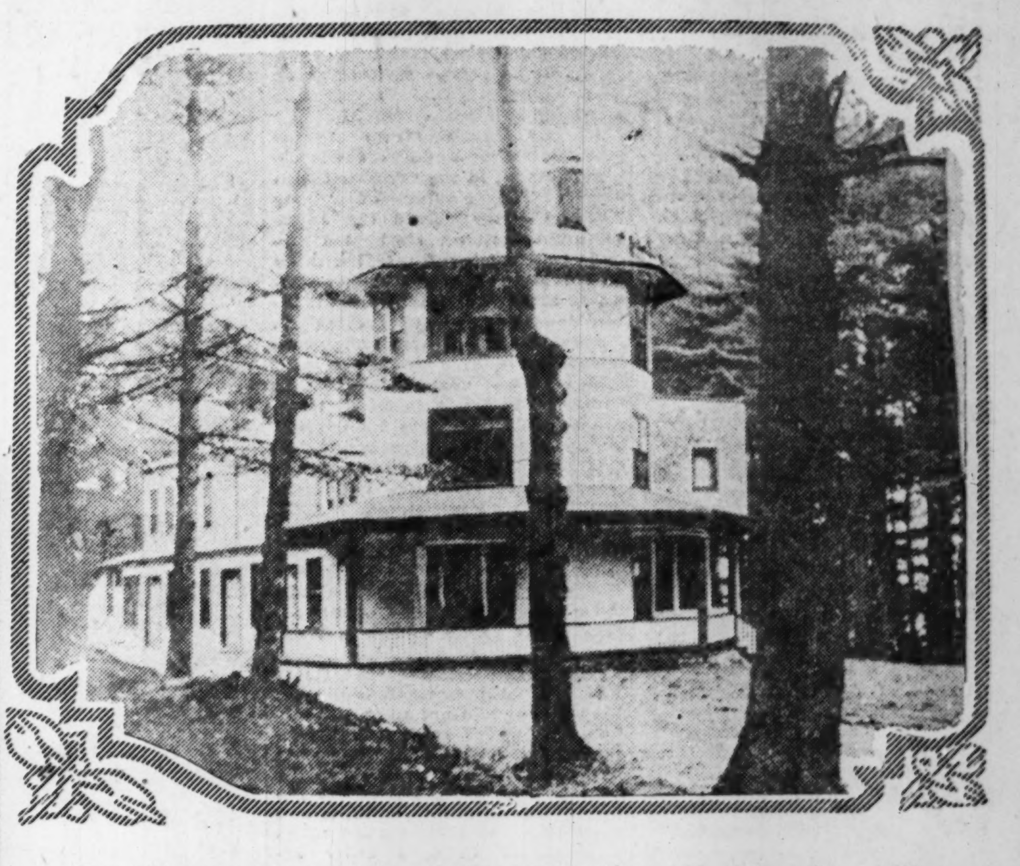
"Fur," said Keyte. "Monkey fur."

After the pajamas—three suits—were delivered, Keyte returned with an order for a suit of clothes. He could not make Hiltz understand just how the coat should be cut, so brought him an old suit.

"Copy that," he said. "Then fix the old one up. It'll do to lie around in."

The tailor was suspicious. He could not forget that this man had ordered pajamas trimmed with monkey fur. He began to search the old suit. Finding that the name marker had been ripped from the inside coat pocket, he looked with greater suspicion. In the lining he found another label that Keyte had neglected to remove.

"LEO KORETZ" the label read.



Koretz' home at Liverpool, near Halifax, N. S., where as "Lou Keyte," a gentleman of literary tastes, he lived for almost a year without discovery. Here he held the many gay parties which stamped "Mr. Keyte" as a man of parts.

MRS. LEO KORETZ AND CHILDREN.

The swindler's wife with their daughter, Mari, and son, Mentor, whom Koretz left stranded in Chicago while he skipped out to Halifax and posed as a wealthy bachelor. Mrs. Koretz, scorning to take the money he sent back to protect his relatives, supported herself and gave the money to be prorated among her husband's creditors.

"Well, I'll be damned! So that's who he really is!" Hiltz gasped.

About the same time a clerk in the Bank of Nova Scotia was discovering that Keyte's balance, though very large, was never added to, although he checked against it constantly. If he were a wealthy man he should have an income, the clerk reasoned. He communicated his suspicion to the officers, who got in touch with the Chicago Title & Trust Co., which was managing the affairs of Leo Koretz. The eccentric Mr. Keyte's signature was sent on and the bank wired back the news:

"LOU KEYTE IS LEO KORETZ, THE $2,000,000 SWINDLER."

The perpretrator of the great Bayano swindle had been found. His arrest followed swiftly. (A reward of $10,000 is to be divided between the tailor and the bank clerk.)

Returned to Face Penniless Wife

The swindler was taken to New York by boat, while rumors were rife as to caches of loot he had placed in the safety deposit vaults of New York and Boston banks. However, when Koretz reached New York he exploded these theories by stating that he would make an accounting of his operations in the bankruptcy court when he reached Chicago. He also spiked the wild estimates as to the extent of his operations, which at one time were put at $16,000,000. He said that the total of his peculations would be about $2,000,000.

Leo Koretz returned to Chicago to face prosecutions by State and Government on charges of using the mails to defraud and operation of a common confidence game. He returned to face the wife he had left penniless, the daughter and son who knew their father for a cheat and scoundrel, the brothers who trusted him and were fleeced along with the rest, and a host of investors who lost their savings in his enterprise.

He went into court and related how he had fled from Chicago last December with $500,000 which he had withdrawn from banks. When he reached New York, he returned $375,000 of this to his relatives to protect them from the losses they incurred in putting their savings in his hands. With the $175,000 he financed the New York book shop and the entire year in Halifax.

It was found that his total liabilities are $1,763,548.34 and his assets $535,049.55, making a total deficit of $1,228,598.79. He explained that he had used the deficit in wild extravagances and in paying false dividends to investors to retain their confidence.

And his scheme? Well, that was just a swindle. He admitted it.

The game, according to Koretz's confession, began 18 years ago. At that time Koretz was but recently married and needed money. The graduate of a law school, he was struggling for clients, though he had never been admitted to the bar.

"One day one of my clients came to me with some money to invest. I took it and, well, I gave him a fake mortgage for it. I paid the interest on the fake mortgage. Then I had to sell another one to another client, for I had spent the first man's money."

"And then, well, you know how it goes," and his right hand described an ever widening whirlpool that finally engulfed him.

Still a novice, however, in the technique of minor swindling, it was not so long before Koretz learned a lesson from a master in the art. One David Nieto was his tutor. Nieto whom Koretz supposed to be one of his friends, spoke expansively of the large landholdings he had been given by the Government in Panama. A little later, he told of the fortune in the trees and land, and he mentioned, casually, the money that could be made if only he had sufficient capital to cut and market the timber on the land. A few days later Koretz and other friends subscribed $10,000 to finance the project.

"And so I went down there to investigate," Koretz says. "I wanted to see what I had put my money into." He smiled. "This fellow Nieto drove me about 70 miles to see what I could see. It wasn't much—mostly mud and slime."

He says Nieto at first begged, and then, when threatened with dire reprisal unless he restored the investment, turned the money back. But he had furnished Koretz with an idea, Koretz says, and what he did with that idea made his teacher look like a feeble piker.

How the Bayano Bubble Grew

He took as his first motif the original Nieto bubble—"5,000,000 acres of Bayano timber land."

"I talked Bayano, Bayano, Bayano," he said, "until finally I actually believed the stuff myself."

There was a wistful look in his eye—the look of a man who dreamed a dream and mourns that he had to wake up.

"The idea grew on me almost as it grew on the people to whom I described it. Every day I spoke of it more convincingly and there grew in my mind a sort of confidence that there must be something real in it. I almost hypnotized myself into believing that I had those thousands of acres of oil and timber lands down in Panama. Of course, I didn't have anything."

Whether or not Koretz succumbed to autosuggestion, it is certain that others succumbed to his suggestion. He checks over a long list of men who "insisted" that he accept their money. "Investors," he declares, is a "polite name for them."

These investors fell over themselves in rushing to place money in the Bayano River Syndicate. His four brothers, Julius, Ferdinand, Emil and Ludwig, invested about $160,000 with him. Henry A. Klein, a Chicago broker, invested $262,000. On the day Koretz skipped, Klein rushed a check for $16,000 to his office in order to get in on "another good thing."

The game went big with women writing notes to Koretz beseeching him to let them buy stock in the company, and men clamoring for blocks of it. Not for 15 years did any investor think to take a trip down to the Bayano River to see whether Koretz really owned the land he boasted of, or whether there was any oil beneath it, or whether it was a land of gorgeous plenty, as his circulars described.

But last year six investors said, "We'll go down and look over the property."

"Sure," agreed Koretz. "I'll pay the expenses."

He saw them off. He did not wait for their bewildered cablegram weeks later which asked, "Where is your land? Give us further instructions. Can't find it."

Koretz knew the jig was up. He skipped, leaving his wife to support herself by selling coal and acting as a stenographer and his brothers to make out the best way they could.

The $275,000 he sent them to cover their losses they were too honest to take and have turned it over to the creditors for pro rata distribution.

There was nothing left for Koretz to do but plead guilty to larceny and accept a sentence of from one to 10 years.

"But I'll be honest when I get out," he says. "Being anything else doesn't pay."

Combing Won't Rid Hair of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and it never fails to do the work

CROMWELL WAS A WILD TOWN BUT JUDGE TAMED IT

With these facts in testimony before him the Judge said he warned the county officials that there would have to be an improvement in conditions at Cromwell. Meanwhile he issued injunctions against four gambling dens under the nuisance abatement law of Oklahoma which provides closure on the first offense. The injunctions he served himself, going into Cromwell with a revolver in a holster on his hip.

Matters dragged from August into September and there was no improvement in the Cromwell situation. The slaying of "Dirty Neck" Charley stirred the Judge to further action. He held a second court of inquiry, still without co-operation from the county officials, and this time brought injunctions against 40 places in Cromwell. All of these places were locked up.

The Judge next insisted that Cromwell incorporate as a town. An election had been held, first going in favor of those opposed to incorporation, but at a second election sponsored by the Judge the town was incorporated. Next, came the question of electing three trustees to serve as the Town Council. The anti-Crump faction produced Ralph Busey as a candidate, opposing F. E. Carroll, acceptable to Judge Crump in Ward 2.

The Judge declared that Busey had not filed correctly and that his name should not go on the ballots. He issued an order restraining the Wewoka Capital-Democrat from printing Busey's name on the ballots. The publisher of the paper, being on the other side, saw to it that the ballots were taken away before Crump's order arrived.

With the ballots on their way to Cromwell, Judge Crump next issued an injunction restraining the Board of Election Commissioners here from holding the election. It was given to Sheriff Doyle to serve, and he, also being on the other side, refused to serve it after being advised by County Attorney Billingsley. The election was held and Busey won as member of the Board of Trustees.

The Judge then cited Doyle and Billingsley for contempt, and their hearing has been set over until January.

Sheriff Doyle explained his position to the correspondent as follows:

"Cromwell is like any oil town. It has its rough element and they are bound to drink and raise hell sometimes. We've been doing the best we can to keep them in hand, and I think that conditions there have been vastly exaggerated. It is untrue that I or the other county officials have winked at law violation. It is one thing to talk vaguely of violations and another to put your finger on facts and make arrests."

Undaunted by the opposition of the county officials Judge Crump has gone ahead with his private war on law violators. He was responsible for sending Tilghman to Cromwell and he is directing the work of King here now. The Judge's most spectacular act was to arrest six drug addicts and march them on foot, tied to a rope, the 16 miles from Cromwell to Wewoka.

"The dope fiends left Cromwell in droves after that," said the Judge. 'There has been a steady exodus of bad women from the town."

Thus it has come about that the average citizen of Cromwell denies the town is the wickedest in the United States.

"Was you ever in Ragtown, stranger?" the old-timers ask one who ventures to uphold Cromwell's reputation.

"No. Was that a bad town?"

"Yep. Old Ragtown used to be right lively. It averaged two killings a week for quite a spell. Shucks, there ain't been but four men killed at Cromwell since it was founded. Was you ever in Keifer?"

"That a tough town, too?"

"Yep. It used ter be right wild. I seen three men killed there myself. But did you ever see old Shamrock when itwas lit up? That was an oil town for you. Ever been to Dillard or Drumright or Slick? No? Hell, stranger, you ain't seen no bad towns yet."

CONTINUED DELAY IN PLAN FOR NEW CITY POWER PLANT

Continued delay in the plan for the $1,000,000 bond issue municipal power plant was made apparent at Thursday's meeting of the Citizens' Supervisory Bond Issue Committee, when Chairman David Kreyling of the Public Utilities Subcommittee said the subcommittee was not ready to report on a choice between varying plans for use and construction of the plant.

Kreyling, who is secretary of Central Trades and Labor Union, said the subcommittee was waiting to see whether the Board of Aldermen will appropriate the money for the plant. The bonds for this project have been issued and interest on them up to Dec. 1 was $46,875.

Alderman Wiehe of the Public Utilities Committee of the Board of Aldermen replied that his group was awaiting action by Kreyling's committee. The discussion was precipitated by a letter to the supervisory body from Director of Public Utilities Hooke, requesting action. Recently the Bureau of Municipal Research criticised the delay.

The Supervisory Committee passed a motion calling on the Kreyling committee to report by next Thursday's meeting. Union labor has opposed the plan the city favored for the plant.

EVANGELICAL CHURCHES IN EUROPE IN FINANCIAL STRAITS

American Protestants to Go to Rescue, Leaders of Federal Council Announce.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 6.—American Protestant churches are going to the rescue of the hard-pressed Evangelical churches in Europe, leaders at the quadrennial meeting of the Federal Council of Churches announced tonight. Unless the crisis is met, they said, many of the Evangelical churches and religious institutions and organizations will crash through lack of funds.

Reports made to the Federal Council of Churches stated that already there has been great suffering among the churches of Europe and that the clergy and their families have suffered great hardships. Hospitals, orphanages, homes for the aged, institutions of all kinds have been closed.

Conditions among the churches have been due to revolutions and depreciation of currency, which has practically wiped out all endowments and funds.

Help has been given by the churches in the smaller neutral countries of Europe, such as Switzerland, Holland and Denmark. More than $250,000 has been sent by American churches. Relief work was started by the American churches a year ago.

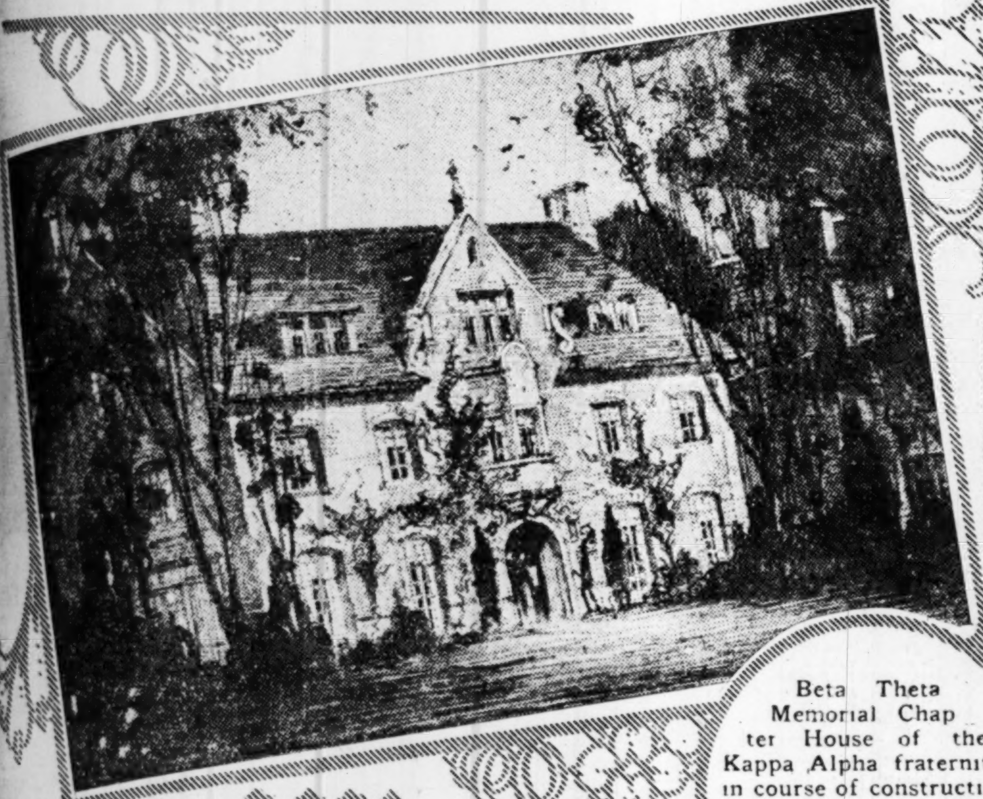
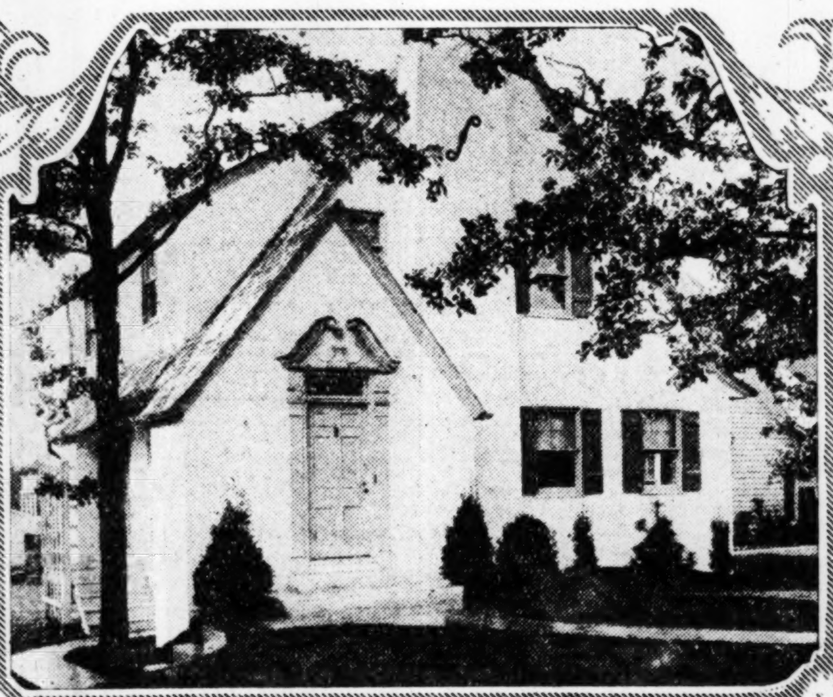
Residences and Business Buildings That Figure in the Week's Realty Activities



Beta Theta Memorial Chapter House of the Kappa Alpha fraternity, in course of construction on the Washington University campus—Jamieson & Sperl, architects



Unusual Webster Groves residence at 322 E. Big Bend road, purchased by Walter H Kansteiner 6308 Westminster pl., palatial new Parkview residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dubinsky.

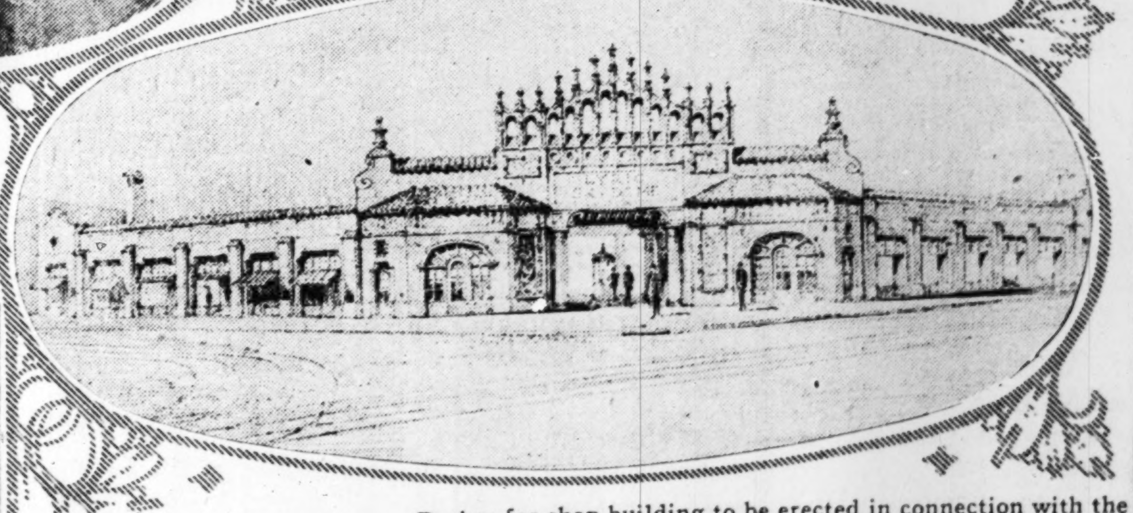
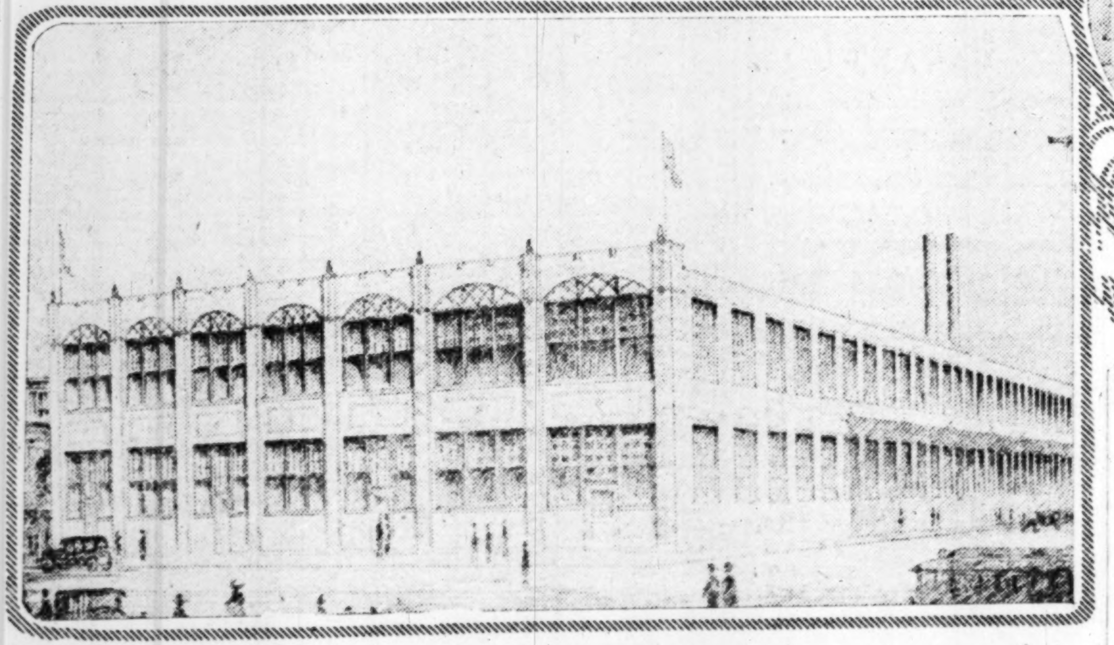
English display house to be built in Bellerive Acres, adjoining Bellerive Club, on Natural Bridge road, by the Alfred Baker Realty Co.

Block at northwest corner of Union boulevard and Vernon avenue purchased by a client of Geo J Wanstrath.



Design for shop building to be erected in connection with the Lyric Skydome, at the northwest corner of Delmar boulevard and Taylor avenue. Preston J. Bradshaw, architect.



Design for laundry building for Holloran & Klaus Co., at 1511-17 Clark avenue.

Women's Christian Home Buys Site for Building

Sale of Lot 180x134 at Locust and Beaumont Features Real Estate Transactions for Week.

By Berry Moore.

The board of managers of the Women's Christian Home has purchased a site at the northwest corner of Locust and Beaumont streets for a new building for that organization.

The lot has a frontage on Locust street of 180 feet and on Beaumont of 134 feet, and was owned by J. H. Ludington. It formerly was the site of the Second Baptist Church, which was torn down, and from which Ludington acquired it 14 years ago.

While the amount paid has not been disclosed, it is understood that a liberal concession in the price was made, in view of the philanthropic character of the project. Norman Champ, of the Champ Spring Company, handled the transaction on behalf of the Women's Christian Home.

Building to Involve $350,000.

The building in contemplation, it is estimated, will involve $350,000 or more. A commission of architects is now making plans for the structure in collaboration with the board of managers of the home. A drive is to be launched early in February to raise capital for the new building, it was announced.

The home, which is open to working women on virtually a cost basis, constitutes one of the most worthy organizations of the city, Champ said.

The location is regarded as one of the most eligible in the city for the proposed building. The site is at a point within walking distance of the business center and is on a thoroughfare where the course of prices of real estate is upward, which gives the purchase the status of an investment, with speculative advantages.

The present building of the Women's Christian Home at 1814 Washington avenue, built 54 years ago, is inadequate both as to size and modern requirements, while the property, which has an extensive frontage on Washington avenue, has become too valuable for this purpose.

The Washington avenue property has been listed for sale with the Cornet & Zeibig Trust.

A number of the charter members of the home are still members of the board of managers, of which Mrs. C. E. M. Champ is president.

The operation engineered by the Mercantile Trust Co., whereby the [illegible]ana Oil Co. is to erect $1,000,000 office structure at the northeast corner of Locust and Thirteenth streets, according to realty circles, sets the pace for the growth of Locust street.

West End Hotel Bought.

Another notable sale was that of the West End Hotel at Vandeventer avenue and West Belle place, to [illegible]d D. and Harry Israel, who have announced plans for its reconstruction, with a 200-room addition as a hosteiry for negroes. The price paid was $100,000, according to Israel. The grantor in the transaction was Charles F. Levy, president of the Hub Furniture Co., who has realized a handsome profit through the transaction. The deal, involving large outlay for reconstruction, was financed by Oreon E. & R. G. Scott. Chauncey P. Heath represented the purchasers in the deal for the building.

Another deal contemplates the sale of the Chase Hotel at Kingshighway and Lindell boulevard, to interests identified with the Surf Hotel at Chicago, but the details in this connection are not available at this time. The hotel was constructed at a cost of $4,500,000, including the furnishings.

Deal for Holland Building.

Through Sidney Schiele, salesman for the Albert Wenzlick Real Estate Co., negotiations virtually have been concluded for the sale of the Holland Building, a 13-story office structure on the west side of Seventh street, between Olive and Pine streets. The identity of the prospective purchaser and the amount involved is withheld.

RICE-STIX DRY GOODS CO. LEASES SPACE FOR FACTORY

The Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co. has leased the third floor of the building at the northeast corner of Olive and Fifteenth streets, owned by the Jane Holding Corporation, and will occupy it Jan. 1 as a factory for women's garments. George Roth of the Cornet & Zeibig Trust represented the Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co. Isaac T. Cook & Co., agents for the building, acted for the lessors.

EIGHT REALTY CONCERNS OFFER GOOD HOLDINGS

A feature of the real estate section of today's Post-Dispatch is a page comprising announcements of eight prominent real estate concerns. These advertisements offer a wide choice of investment business and residential holdings for prospective purchasers.

Those whose lists appear in this special display are the Bush-Burns Realty Co., Cornet & Zeibig Trust, Isaac T. Cook & Co., J. I. Epstein, Giraldin Bros Real Estate Co., Greater St. Louis Realty Co., Mercantile Trust Co., and the Mississippi Valley Trust Co.

JOHN W. GIBSON REALTY CO. MOVES TO LARGER QUARTERS

The John W. Gibson Realty Co. has removed to larger quarters in the Calumet Building at Seventh and Chestnut streets, it having outgrown its former office at 724 Chestnut, where it was located for more than eight years. John W. Gibson, president of the concern, is president of the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange and is one of the foremost members of the fraternity. He has been identified with many important deals.

JACK DUBINSKY BUILDS HOME IN PARKVIEW

A handsome home is being completed in Parkview at 6308 Westminster place, for Jack Dubinsky, real estate operator. It is from plans by Oliver J. Popp, while J. Rubin is the contractor.

The house has 13 rooms, four baths, two sun parlors and a conservatory. The first floor is finished in tile with a marble staircase to the second floor. The walls in the bath rooms are finished in tile.

The equipment includes an incinerator, No-Kol heating system and No-Kol hot-water system.

The house, which has a tile roof, occupies a lot 80 by 248 feet. A picture of the house is shown in today's Post-Dispatch.

THREE LEASES REPORTED BY MERCANTILE TRUST CO.

The Ely-Walker Dry Goods Co. has leased the factory building at 1215-14 South Eighth street of George W. Johnson of Kansas City, through the Mercantile Trust Co.

Another lease effected by the Mercantile Trust Co., which is for a term of 15 years, covered the property at 812-18 North Tenth street, which was taken by the Washington Fixture Co., 711 North Seventh street. The lessor was Thomas Dunn.

The Glazer Bros., Inc., leased the entire fourth floor of a building at 1312 Washington avenue from the Roberts estate, of which the Mercantile Trust Co. is executor.

BAKEWELL SELLS STUCCO RESIDENCE FOR $30,000

The stucco residence, 633 North Taylor avenue, was sold by Edward L. Bakewell to Mrs. David M. Boyd for a reported consideration of $30,000 for the account of Mrs. Helena Tittmann. It is situated on a beautiful plot of ground 180 by 607 feet, has 10 rooms, three baths and a garage for two cars.

NEW $200,000 AIRDOME AND SHOP STRUCTURE PLANNED

Preston J. Bradshaw, architect, announces that plans and specifications are being prepared for a new airdome and shop building for the West End Lyric at Taylor and Delmar boulevard. The shop building will contain 11 fine shops, six being on Delmar boulevard and five on Taylor avenue. The entrance to the airdome and box office will be at the corner.

The total improvements to the property will cost in the neighborhood of $200,000 and the plans and specifications which are now being prepared will be ready for bids within the next week. Construction work will be started immediately under the direction of the architect. The leasing of the stores will be handled by William R. Cady, manager of the real estate department of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co.

It is intended to have the entire work completed some time in May ready for the summer season of the airdome.

FOR ADDITIONAL REAL ESTATE NEWS SEE PAGE 12.

$125,000 PAID FOR WEST END PROPERTY

Block at Union and Vernon Comprises Six Stores and 12 Apartments.

A notable transaction of the week involved a business and apartment block at the northwest corner of Union boulevard and Vernon avenue, which was purchased by George J. Wanstrath, real estate dealer, for a client whose name has not been disclosed.

The site fronts 132½ feet on Union boulevard and 120 feet on Vernon avenue, and is improved with substantial three-story brick structures, comprising six large stores and 12 apartments. A basement is occupied by a bowling alley under a long lease. The stores, which occupy the Union boulevard frontage are under lease. Ground is also available on the Vernon avenue frontage for another 12-suite apartment building.

The consideration, it is understood, was around $125,000. Annual rentals of the building aggregate $18,000. The former owner was George J. Keough.

SEVERAL SALES AND LOANS OF $92,000 BY J. M. LEVI

J. M. Levi & Co. report having sold the southwest corner of Cates avenue and Academy avenue, consisting of three stores and six flats, for Mrs. Annie B. McDonald to C. Chelist; the two-flat building at 1376 Goodfellow avenue for D. Wellhoener to Sarah Hoffman for investment; 1378 Goodfellow avenue, two flats, for D. Wellhoener to H. William; residence on Bayard avenue north of Delmar avenue to L. F. Lear, who bought for a home; lot on south line of Cook avenue, 90 by 140 feet, east of Taylor avenue, for Ben Behrens to L. Gibney; residence on the north side of De Giverville avenue east of Hamilton to R. Smithers for a home.

J. M. Levi & Co. also report having made loans aggregating $92,000 at 5½ and 6 per cent interest.

MEMORIAL FRATERNITY HOUSE UNDER CONSTRUCTION AT W. U.

The new Kappa Alpha Chapter House under construction on the Washington University grounds is in memory of Richard Anderson and Murray Carleton Evans. Plans were by Jamieson and Spearl.

The structure has been designed with basement, kitchen, dining room and chapter room on a pretentious scale.

The first floor will comprise a living room 30 by 18 feet, library and a matron's room, with a large hall in the center. Seven bed rooms with large tile bath with showers will occupy the second floor. The third floor will contain two large dormitory rooms, one single room and a bath.

The house will provide for 25 men while 49 persons may be served at one time in the dining room.

HEDGLEIGH PARK

Union and Natural Bridge

"The Logical Subdivision"

Is the fastest selling spot in St. Louis. Since April 15th, this property, consisting of about 50 acres, has been fully graded, sewer, water and gas mains installed, all streets paved, three miles of granitoid walks have been laid, and more than 6,000 front feet have been sold to home builders and investors.

More than $1,000,000 has been invested in buildings, many of which have been completed and are now occupied.

We insist it is the "Logical Location," and the results achieved have proved it.

The West End Realty & Construction Co. built eight 4-family flats in Hedgleigh Park and all were sold before completed. LOCATION DID IT.

We have for sale in Hedgleigh Park a wide assortment of two-family and four-family flats, as well as bungalows.

We also have for rent modern 4 and 5 room flats, which are the last word in convenience of appointments.

Two of these flats at 5238 Palm street are completely furnished, and the public is invited to inspect them at any time. Open until 9 p. m. every night, including Sundays.

Branch office on the grounds—salesmen always in attendance.

California

Make more money on a small farm in San Joaquin Valley, California, where you can work outdoors all the year. Splendid opportunities here for the man of moderate means. Twenty and 40-acre farms produce alfalfa abundantly. Dairying, hogs and poultry make good returns; and staple varieties of fruits yield dependable [illegible] a combination of these means a well-balanced farm with good income throughout the year. Winterless California offers much to the man looking for a country where he can get the most out of life. Climate is delightful, with long growing seasons; wonderful roads, excellent schools. Nearby markets and co-operative marketing associations afford profitable outlets for all produce. A small one-family farm, cutting out high labor costs, insures success. There are no winter handicaps. San Joaquin Valley illustrated folder mailed free on request. C. L. Seagraves, General Colonization Agent, Santa Fe Ry., 946 Railway Exchange, Chicago, Ill. (cx99)

MEETING ON MAYORALTY CALLED BY H. S. PRIEST

Gathering at St. Louis Club Will Consider Nomination on Business Administration Platform.

A meeting to consider the matter of nominating a candidate for Mayor or representing civic and business interests as a quasi-independent movement will be held at the St. Louis Club at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday as a result of letters sent out last week by former Judge Henry S. Priest, Democrat, who proposes to launch a move for a candidate on a business administration platform.

Priest, who was defeated for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in August, has been mentioned as a candidate himself but has announced that he will support James W. Byrnes for the nomination. Byrnes, Democratic nominee in 1921, was defeated by Mayor Kiel by 9600 votes.

Friends of Byrnes believe that his record as an independent and his showing in the 1921 campaign make him the logical candidate. Byrnes voted for President Harding in 1920, but supported the Democratic ticket in the last election.

LAST OF BAD INDIANS CORRALED

Posey and Polk Nomads Receive Land for Farms.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Uncle Sam has tamed the last of the bad Indians and corraled them on reservations. The individuals of the old Posey and Polk gangs that continued to rove the public domain are now on lands in Allen, Cottonwood and Dry Wash Canyons in San Juan County, Utah. Each one will have a farm allotment of 80 acres or a pasture allotment of 160. The Poseys and Polks are scattered Indians of the Ute, Piute and Navajo tribes. The total area given them is 8000 acres.

The Indian office has placed a stockman in Utah to have immediate supervision over the Indians and to assist them in cultivating the soil. A cottage has been erected for the stock man and his family on a 40-acre tract in Allen Canyon, which has been set aside by Congress as a school site. Last year the Posey band participated in an outbreak that resulted in their leader being killed.

"TED" COY SUED FOR DIVORCE

Wife of Famous Yale Football Star Takes Action in Paris.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6. — Word came from Paris today of a suit for divorce filed there against "Ted" Coy, famous plunging Yale fullback captain, by his wife, Sophie D'Antigna Meldrin Coy, who charges desertion. They were married at Asheville, N. C., in 1913. Coy, who is now abroad, was, until Nov. 15 of this year, a member of the firm of Davies, Thomas & Co. of the New York Stock Exchange.

"Ted" Coy is one of the select coterie of football men mentioned when "all-time" selections are considered. He was the pre-eminent backfield man, punter and drop kicker of his day, and a unanimous all-American selection. His specialty was retrieving a lost cause by heroic and unstoppable bucking. He twice beat Princeton after the Tigers were leading, directed by "Tad" Jones, now Yale head football coach, and then quarterback. Coy was graduated from Yale in 1910.

BISHOP DIES OF AUTO INJURIES

The Rt. Rev. H. J. Alerding Headed Fort Wayne Diocese 24 Years.

By the Associated Press.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 6.—The Rt. Rev. Herman Joseph Alerding, Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Fort Wayne, died this afternoon. He was 79 years old. He has been in a critical condition since he was injured, on Thanksgiving day, in an automobile accident.

Funeral services for Bishop Alerding will be held Thursday morning at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception here. Bishop Alerding was born in Westphalia, Germany, April 13, 1845. During his infancy the family emigrated to America and made their home in Newport, Ky., where he attended the parochial schools of Corpus Christi Church. He attended St. Heinrad's College and was ordained to the priesthood on Sept. 22, 1868. The Rev. Father Alerding was fourth Bishop of Fort Wayne, his consecration taking place Nov. 30, 1900.

TO FIGHT ERECTION OF FLATS

A meeting at which plans for opposing the change in restrictions in the Moorlands, a residential subdivision on Clayton road, will be formulated, will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the Gatesworth Hotel by the Moorlands' Addition Improvement Association, an organization of property owners in the subdivision.

The association has charged the Moorlands Land Co. with attempting to erect flats and apartments in the subdivision in violation of an agreement restricting the subdivision to residences for 42 years. Lawyers employed by the association will outline their plans at the meeting.

LAST MEMBER OF UNION VETERAN LEGION DIES AT 81

Asa B. Ecoff, Pioneer St. Louis Resident, Formerly Was River Traffic Worker.

The St. Louis chapter of the Union Veteran Legion, an organization of volunteer Federal Civil War veterans, passed out of existence yesterday morning with the death of Asa B. Ecoff, 81 years old, a pioneer St. Louis resident. He also was the second oldest past master of Lambskin Lodge No. 460, A. F. and A. M.

ASA B. ECOFF.

Born at Beaver, Pa., Ecoff became a cabin boy on boats on the Ohio river and later was an engineer. He came to St. Louis in 1867 as an assistant engineer to Capt. Sam Hill, and worked with him in operating the "Ruth" and the "Molly Able," two of the largest boats ever operated on the Mississippi River.

Quitting the river, Ecoff became identified with the Hartford Steam Boiler and Insurance Co., as chief inspector. He was associated with the company for 37 years.

He is survived by his wife and seven children: Asa B. Jr., John C., Alfred H., Robert T., Alfred A., Frank A., and Mrs. O. G. Beestrum. The first Mrs. Ecoff died in 1893.

Funeral services will be held at the Emanuel M. E. Church, South, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Ceremonies will be in charge of the Masonic fraternity and the G. A. R. Burial will be in the family lot at Bellefontaine Cemetery.

PRINTER LEAVES $500 TO EDITOR FOR WHOM HE WORKED

Aged Itinerant, Killed by Street Car, Remembered Kindness Shown by Edwardsville Man.

C. H. Spilman, editor of the Edwardsville Intelligencer, yesterday was notified that he was the beneficiary of a $500 insurance policy of Michael Bachman, 85 years old, who, according to typographical journals, is one of the oldest itinerant printers in this country. Bachman was killed Friday night when he fell beneath a street car in Marion, Ind.

Spilman said Bachman had worked for him at various times in the last 25 years and said he was informed by Bachman about 12 years ago that he had made him the beneficiary in his will for kindness he had shown him. According to Spilman, Bachman had been a printer for more than 65 years. He wandered from place to place, stopping only long enough to obtain funds for further travel, Spilman said.

FINED FOR CRUELTY TO MULES

Two Contractors and 12 Teamsters Penalized Total of $650.

Two grading contractors and 12 teamsters were fined a total of $650 plus $42 by Police Judge Homer Friday on charges of cruelty to animals. The specific charge was that 42 mules either owned or driven by the defendants in grading work in the vicinity of the City Sanitarium were suffering from neck sores due to ill-fitting collars.

Dan Condon, one of the contractors, was fined $25, and two of his employes drew the same fines each. John Marlin, another contractor, was fined $75 and five of his employes were fined $50 each. Five employes of Henry Schweitzer were fined $50 each. Schweitzer was fined $100 in Court of Criminal Correction Thursday on the same charge. The prosecution of the men was backed by the Humane Society.

SONS VISIT MRS. SWEETEN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NASHVILLE, Ill., Dec. 6.—Mrs. Elsie Sweeten, who was returned last night from Mount Vernon, where she is being tried with Lawrence M. Hight on the charge of poisoning her husband, Wilford Sweeten, is entertaining her three sons, Byford, Stanton and Harry, in the Nashville jail building. The boys, who were brought here by a brother of Mrs. Sweeten, from East St. Louis, will remain here until tomorrow.

Mrs. Sweeten was asked today if she intended to have her hair bobbed and said: "I have no such plans at present. My husband was always opposed to having my hair bobbed, and my children are opposed to it. In Mount Vernon I asked if there would be any objections to going to a hairdresser, and I suppose this is the way the story of bobbing my hair originated."

WILL EXHIBIT DESIGNS ABROAD

Tom P. Barnett, the St. Louis architect, is among a number of Americans who have been invited to exhibit their representative architectural designs in German museums in the next few months. The exhibition was extended by the German Art Museums Association, representing museums in Berlin, Munich, Leipsic and other art centers.

The invitation asked that examples of modern art, rather than of the Renaissance and classics, be submitted. Barnett has sent, among others, photographs of the City Club Building, the new St. Charles street building of Lorenzo E. Anderson & Co., and the residences of John W. Thompson and George S. Johns.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity, when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

INTERESTED. — We have no record of the local helicopter.

B. B.—Write to the Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo., regarding the concern in question.

R. G.—Inquire of one of the various music shops here for the information desired regarding the records in question.

M. T. S.—You cannot ride on the United Railways cars from Clayton to the St. Louis Courthouse for one fare (7c).

J. P. R.—Any of the book shops will supply you with the information regarding the books on trigonometry and triangulation.

POST READER.—William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey, the world's heavyweight champion prize fighter, is an Irish-American.

DEWEY.—Address Henry Ford, Dearborn, Mich.; Thomas Edison, West Orange, N. J., and Charles M. Schwab, 25 Broadway, New York City, N. Y.

PALMER. — Write to Missouri University, Columbia, Mo., or to Washington University, St. Louis, requesting the catalog of their journalism course.

ANXIOUS READER. — "With sympathy" or "With deepest sympathy" is written on your visiting card with flowers sent to a funeral. This same message is written on a card and left at the door of a house of mourning, if you do not know the family well enough to ask to be received. "To inquire" is often written on a card left at the house of a sick person, but not if you are received.

READER.—Paint for the polychroming of figures consists of white wax, 1 part, and powdered mastic, 1 part, melted together upon the water bath and mixed with rectified turpentine. The colors to be used are first ground stiffly in turpentine on the grinding slab and worked into consistency with the above solution.

BELLEVILLE.—The silver dollar of the mint 1877, proofs only, is worth 75c; the half dollar dated 1874 is worth from 50c to 55c, and that of 1877 commands the same premium. The dime dated 1872 and the one of the mint 1875 are each worth from 10c to 15c. The 5-cent piece dated 1868 is worth from 5c to 15c; the silver dollar of the mint 1796, fillet head, six stars to right of bust, is worth from $1.75 to $3.

1924.—A doctor, a judge, a bishop are addressed and introduced by their titles. The clergy are usually Mister unless they formally hold the title of Doctor or Dean or Canon. The younger person is always presented to the older or more distinguished, but a gentleman is always presented to a lady, even though he is an old gentleman of great distinction and the lady a mere slip of a girl. (2) A woman never asks a man to dance with her, except at a leap year party.

JOHN C. — You may send the wedding gift as soon as you receive the invitation. When Mrs. Smith orders a present sent to a bride, she encloses a card reading: "Mr. and Mrs. John Jones Smith." Nearly every married woman has a plate engraved with both names, but if she hasn't then she encloses Mr. Smith's card with hers. Some people write "All good wishes" or "With best wishes," but most people send cards without messages. If because of illness or absence a present is not sent until after the wedding a short note should accompany it, giving the reason for the delay. All wedding gifts are sent to the bride.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

H. K.—Report the facts to the Postoffice Department, Washington, D. C.

CARROLL.—We do not know of any way to compel him to answer your letters.

TONY K. — It may be possible for you to have your wife admitted outside of the quota. Write to the Commissioner of Immigration, Washington, D. C., for full information.

OLD READER.—He can fish on a sand bar in the Mississippi River if he has a fishing license. (2) You cannot change the place of payment which is in the notes when you pay them, without the debtor's consent.

A. P.-D. READER.—If your policies are payable to your estate, then she might obtain a share in the insurance money, if you had not divorced her prior to your death. It would be safer for you to divorce her.

MABLE. — If the machine was paid for with your money then it is your property, and you can sell it without his consent, or do as you wish with it.

E. H.—You cannot compel them to take back the furniture. They can hold you to your contract if they desire to do so. However, they may be willing to take back the furniture.

LONELY BEE—You might write to the Adjutant General's office, Washington, D. C., for the information about the soldier. However, we doubt if they will give it to you unless you can show some good reason for wanting it.

A. B. C.—The husband is entitled to the furniture, as it was paid for with his money. If the wife left home without good cause and remained away for one year, this would be a ground for divorce. If the husband obtained a divorce he would not have to pay her any alimony.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

OTTO B.—Repeat your question, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

NOVEMBER. — The sputum should be examined. If it contains no bacilli there is no danger to others.

MRS. A. — It is most unlikely that a woman of your age could give birth to a child, but cases are on record of women bearing children much older than this age.

DISGUSTED. — Use the iodine whenever a new location of ring work starts. The reason the new location starts is because the germ from the old lesion has been transferred there, most likely by scratching.

J. A. M. H.—We could not advise you what could be accomplished without knowing the exact conditions. The following are good clinics: Grand and Caroline and Scott and Euclid. You will be required, however, to show you are financially unable to pay for attention to be eligible for clinic treatment.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving memory of my dear husband, Edwin J. Skinner, departed this life two years ago, Dec. 6, 1922:

Only those who have lost can tell the pain of parting with one I loved so well.
Sadly missed by wife, IVA.

In loving memory of my beloved husband, Seligman L. Rosenstein, departed this life Dec. 12, 1923:

Days of sadness oft come o'er me,
Tears in silence often flow;
Love shall keep you always near me,
Though you left one year ago.
Sadly missed by wife,
ESTELLA ROSENSTEIN. (c)

In loving memory of Michael Doran, who died Dec. 4, 1923:

Oh God, in thy mercy, help us, we pray
To mend our hearts that were broken
That sad day.
Sacred of thought, that again our
Dear father we will meet,
Kneeling together at Jesus' feet.
Sadly missed by
WIFE AND CHILDREN.

In loving memory of our darling Bernice Gohlke, who departed this life four years ago, Dec. 1, 1920, in her third year:

Where the sunshine loves to linger
And the raindrops quietly fall;
Sleeping there so peacefully,
Waiting for us all.
Sadly missed by
MOTHER, DADDY, BROTHER, GRANDPARENTS AND AUNTS.

In memory of Louis Hoffman, who departed this life six years ago, Dec. 6, 1918:

At home in the beautiful hills of God,
By the Valley of Rest so fair;
Some day, some time, when our task is done,
With joy we shall meet him there.
Sadly missed by
MOTHER, SISTERS AND BROTHER.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my dear husband Max Ketcher, who departed Dec. 9, 1922. Max, how I miss you.

None but myself can tell
How my life is full of sadness
For you and the home where we once dwelt
A loving husband true and kind,
No one on earth like you I find.
Sadly missed by his loving wife,
MAMIE.

In loving memory of our dear daughter and niece, Florentine Bromwich, who departed this life six years ago today, Dec. 3, 1918.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow;
Fond memories keep you ever near us,
Though you died 6 years ago.
Sadly missed by
FATHER, MOTHER, AUNT, UNCLE AND ALL WHO LOVED HER. (c)

In memory of Gertrude Smith, who died Dec. 7, 1923:

She bade no one a last farewell,
She said good by to none.
Her loving heart had ceased to beat.
And before we knew it she was gone.
So rest in peace, dear one,
You're safe in heaven's bower.
The day that we shall meet you
Grows nearer every hour.
Sadly missed by
MOTHER AND SISTER.

In loving memory of my beloved husband and our dear father, father-in-law and grandfather, Peter J. Barth, who departed this life Dec. 7, 1923.

Days of sadness oft come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow;
Love shall always keep you near us,
Though you left one year ago.
Never shall you be forgotten,
Never from our memory fade;
Loving hearts shall always linger
Around the grave where you are laid.
Sadly missed by
WIFE AND FAMILY.

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Myrtle Duepner (nee Hansmann), and baby, who departed this life seven years ago, Dec. 8, 1917:

The flowers we lay upon your grave
Wither and decay;
But our love for you, who sleeps beneath,
Will never fade away.
At home in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair;
Some day, some time, when our task is done.
We hope to meet you there.
Sadly missed by
PARENTS, SISTERS AND BROTHER.

Truth in Advertising

The value of advertising is in direct ratio to the amount of READER-CONFIDENCE it possesses. That is entirely founded on its quality of TRUTH.

The National Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers and the Better Business Bureau and the Advertising Club of St. Louis, in all of which the Post-Dispatch holds membership, aim to eliminate fraudulent and misleading advertising. This newspaper will appreciate having its attention called to any advertisement which does not conform to the highest standards of honesty.

SALESMEN.

One man to take over city territory, one to travel Indiana and one for Missouri.

These are established house territories, too valuable to be assigned to anyone but a member of the firm. An investment is required, because we have found that in no other way can we get the type of man we want.

We are an established specialty house whose growth is due to sound merchandising ideas and efficient management.

Applicants will be considered on the merits of their experience and ability, rather than upon the amount of their investment.

Applications in writing must contain full information, three business and one bank reference and if possible a photograph of the applicant.

Remuneration is consistent with ability. For the man who will work for us as well as himself, the future is assured. Box B-382, Post-Dispatch. (c1)

FIELD SALES MANAGER
We want an ambitious, aggressive field sales manager who has up-to-date successful experience in personally selling and in employing salesmen to sell building maintenance paints, enamels, roof and boiler coatings, etc., direct to contractors, industrial plants, public institutions, property owners and consumers. We have unusually strong repeating products, established over 12 years among thousands of largest users, including U. S. Government. Expansion program now in operation offers a few decidedly worth-while openings with unlimited opportunities for development and big earnings to proven sales producers and organizers in our line. Write at once in confidence with enough information regarding your experience and accomplishments to indicate you are the man we want. Personal interview arranged with qualified men. THE COLORCRAFT CO., 1086 W. 70th, Cleveland, O.

PAINT AND ROOF COATING
Salesman. Although our products have been on the market for many years, and are well established, our expansion program compels us to increase our sales force. If you have a clean record and are a producer, communicate with us before signing up for 1925. We are offering a proposition that will interest you, because it is by far the most liberal in the field and will enable you to increase your earnings from 15 to 50 per cent. Can also use two first-class field managers. Investigate and be convinced. THE UNION PRODUCTS CO., Cleveland, O. (c99)

YOUR BIG OPPORTUNITY
Do you want to connect up with the greatest selling proposition ever handed a specialty salesman? The commission varies from $160 to $600 per order. We have been established nearly 40 years, rated AAA1, do a world-wide business, and have branch offices here with beautiful display room. Our products sell to merchants, large and small, in towns of all sizes, and are sold on easy monthly terms. The profit to the merchant is amazing.
Our national advertising consists of an insert—full page in color—in all trade journals. Our direct-by-mail campaign is being mailed out NOW at the rate of 150,000 pieces per month.
Exclusive territories are assigned. You get all inquiries from your district and every co-operation. We have openings now for 3 regular HE men who can handle a big specialty on a strictly commission basis. You must give bond, be able to finance yourself at the start and devote your entire time to the work. We are interested only in men who have a clean successful record as producers. We will train and equip you for this profitable work. Chronic job hunters and drawing account specialists, don't waste your time.
Call MONDAY between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m., 217-18 Victoria Bldg., cor. 8th and Locust.

THE TIME TO BUY

Is when the other fellow wants to sell. At such a time you are assured of the utmost in value at the lowest of prices. Right now our program calls for the sale of every used car we own. Not a so-called stock reducing sale, but a thorough house cleaning to the very last automobile.

Every price has been reduced (some as much as 60%) for we are determined that this sale will not be equaled elsewhere in St. Louis.

EAST ST. LOUIS WOMAN HELD FOR ARSENIC MURDER

Mrs. John F. Miller, Former Insane Asylum Inmate, Arrested After Husband's Funeral.

AUTOPSY INDICATES POISON IN STOMACH

Miller Died in Convulsions After Return From Work Thursday—Wife Talked of Poison.

Indications of arsenic in the stomach of John F. Miller, 49 years old, who died suddenly at his home, 1436 North Thirteenth street, East St. Louis, Thursday, resulted yesterday in the arrest of his widow, Mrs. Ida E. Miller, on a warrant charging murder.

Mrs. Miller, who was released last April from the State Hospital for the Insane, at Alton, was arrested at her home when she returned from her husband's funeral, and taken to Belleville jail. Neighbors had testified at an inquest Friday that she had, in recent weeks, exhibited a curiosity about various kinds of poison.

Miller died in convulsions after coming home at noon Thursday from his work on a construction gang of the East St. Louis & Suburban Water Co., and the physician who treated him asked for an inquest, although he believed death was due to acute dilation of the heart. At the inquest, fellow-employes testified that Miller complained of pains in his stomach during the morning and refused to eat lunch the day he died. Neighbors declared that Mrs. Miller had frequently talked about poison in recent conversations.

An autopsy was performed yesterday at the order of Coroner Fulgham, who ordered the viscera removed and sent to a St. Louis chemist for analysis. The Coroner stated that theautopsy indicated there was poison in the stomach, stated that the autopsy indicated tity. The warrant was issued by a Justice of the Peace at the request of Assistant State's Attorney Freels and, when Mrs. Miller and her four children returned from the funeral, policemen were waiting for her. Miller was buried in Mount Hope Cemetery.

Mrs. Miller was taken to the county jail without being questioned, pending a report on the chemist's analysis.

ROADHOUSE OWNER ROBBED OF $1300 IN JEWELRY AND $90

Charles Connors Is Held Up by Two Men While Dozens of Machines Pass on Road.

While dozens of automobiles passed, Charles Connors, proprietor of "The Maples," a Manchester road resort, was stopped in his machine a half mile north of Brentwood on North and South road, at 6 p. m. yesterday by two men and robbed of $90 in cash and jewelry valued at $1300. The two robbers escaped in a battered automobile after warning their victim to "stay here if you know what's good for you."

"I was driving south on North and South road and had just climbed the hill above Dead Man's Curve north of Brentwood when the two men stopped me," Connors told a Post-Dispatch reporter. "They were driving a battered flivver and were going the same way I was. They pulled past me and forced me to the side of the road. As I stopped one of them jumped in beside me and put a revolver to my temple."

The robber, Connors said, took a ring valued at $1000 and a scarfpin worth $300, and his wallet containing $90.

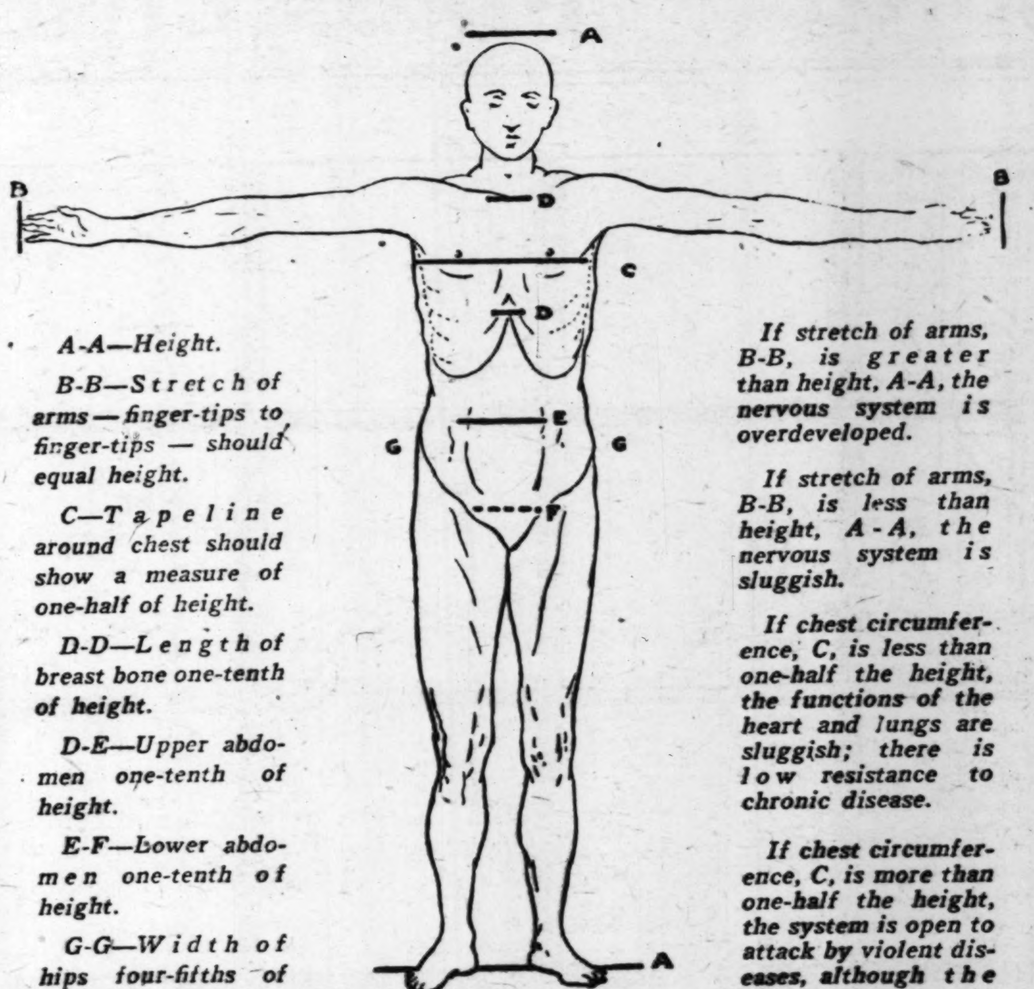
The One Problem Never Quite Understood

Measuring Health with a Tapeline

By ERNEST BRENNECKE.

TAPELINE TEST FOR DIAGNOSIS



A-A—Height.

B-B—Stretch of arms—finger-tips to finger-tips—should equal height.

C—Tapeline around chest should show a measure of one-half of height.

D-D—Length of breast bone one-tenth of height.

D-E—Upper abdomen one-tenth of height.

E-F—Lower abdomen one-tenth of height.

G-G—Width of hips four-fifths of length of abdomen—D-F.

If stretch of arms, B-B, is greater than height, A-A, the nervous system is overdeveloped.

If stretch of arms, B-B, is less than height, A-A, the nervous system is sluggish.

If chest circumference, C, is less than one-half the height, the functions of the heart and lungs are sluggish; there is low resistance to chronic disease.

If chest circumference, C, is more than one-half the height, the system is open to attack by violent diseases, although the appearance may be "healthy."

OUT of every hundred new-born babes in this country, 80 come into the world with perfect bodies. Only 20 are in any way defective. What happens to these children by the time they have arrived at adult age?

Out of the hundred children who have now grown up, only 20 are in normal health. Eighty are defective, diseased or predisposed to ailments in some way.

The number of our defectives, in other words, quadruples between birth and maturity.

What happens, then, to our health during the years of childhood?

And is there any method by which this deplorable increase in defectiveness can be checked?

For 40 years this problem was worked over by an eminent Italian physician, the late Prof. Achille de Giovanni of the University of Padua. He examined and treated thousands of cases; took down enough notes to fill a small library. He continued his work throughout the war, while he was training students and rehabilitating injured soldiers.

Toward the close of his long and useful life, De Giovanni succeeded in evolving and applying a set of "health principles" which seemed to provide a definite and exceedingly simple answer to the question, "Why are not most people physically normal?"

These principles, based on common sense, are now being spread throughout the European medical world through De Giovanni's former disciples. They are the basis for what may eventually be recognized everywhere as an entirely new and practicable science of health. Anyone may apply them to himself. Parents particularly may find in them the means for overcoming most of the troubles and anxieties which they experience while their children are growing up.

In this country there has appeared as yet only one representative of De Giovanni's new science. He is Dr. Philip Rice, fellow of the American College of Surgeons. Dr. Rice has been applying the method in his own practice with remarkable results, and has expounded it in a book, shortly to be published, called "The Basis of Health."

"How anxious we are about the welfare of our children!" exclaimed Dr. Rice, when the writer first consulted him. "Parental love calls out the very best that is in us. We give our youngsters the advantage of every bit of knowledge and experience that we possess. We educate them, train them and safeguard their health by every possible means.

"And what is the result of all this care?

"Nothing less than the fact that we are allowing our babies actually to grow into defects and disease. Most illnesses can be traced back to the period of childhood. There are plenty of figures to substantiate this statement. For instance: The Surgeon-General of the United States Army, reporting the physical examinations of the drafted men in 1917, showed that of the 3,764,000 men who had been examined prior to Dec. 15, 550,000 were rejected as unfit during the first examination, and the greater part of another half-million were rejected on reexamination. In short, 21 out of every 100 were rejected as totally unfit for service.

"These appalling conditions mean nothing if not that our ideas of child development and our general conceptions of health must be, in a large measure, faulty. It is not reasonable to think that methods grounded on a clear and full understanding of the problem could prove so worthless as have those which have been employed by us so far.

"The fundamental fact is that we do not yet understand the facts which govern the growth of our children. We do not realize that their development is determined by exact laws of health which can be exactly studied. We do not understand that their bodies must be kept normally balanced—just as the heavenly bodies are kept balanced by unchangeable physical laws. There is as little probability that mere chance rules the health of the child as there is that mere chance rules the rising and setting of the sun. The laws of growth must be learned and then applied.

"A still more fundamental fault in our current methods of attacking disease is this: We habitually think in terms of disease and not in terms of health. In fact, we have no language of health. When we try to think of health, all we can think of is the absence of disease.

"What does this mean?

"It means that if a man or a child seems to be free from unmistakable symptoms of disease, free from gross and obvious defects, we consider him healthy. And most of the time we are wrong, for health is not merely the absence of disease; it is more.

"Many people pronounced physically perfect at physical examinations really have poorly balanced organs and are predisposed to many varieties of disease; their means for warding them off are faulty.

"The trouble is that we are forever looking outside the body for the causes of our serious ailments instead of looking within. We are forever trying to hunt down the burglar who may break in, and we spend little time in setting the house itself in order. We are like an army that is so occupied watching the enemy that it has no time to prepare its organization of defense.

"We are very particular about baby's shoes being of exactly the right size and shape—but we are far less particular about the right size and shape of his lungs and liver. No two bodies are ever just alike, and an outside influence such as a drug which may be beneficial to one may be poisonous to another. We must look inside our bodies. We must decide what is a healthy body, then see how far the individual system differs from this normal model, and finally, we must devise means for bringing our bodies up to this standard.

"To do this is far less difficult than it sounds. The science of medicine has heretofore been made far too complex and [illegible] for us. The principles of health are really extremely simple and clear-cut; there is nothing difficult or [illegible] about them. They can be worked out as easily and as definitely as an elementary problem in geometry, and in the same direct way. Here are the fundamentals of health as De Giovanni set them down; they're so self-evident that they need no proof:

"1. No organ in the body functions independently; every organ works in connection with all the others. A defect in one organ will affect all the others.

"2. The organs must, therefore, be properly balanced. If one of them is too small or too large in proportion to the others, even though it may be perfect in itself, it will throw the whole system out of gear. A flashlight battery, no matter how good it is, will not light a 100-watt lamp, and a flashlight bulb, no matter how perfect it may be, will be blown to bits if it is connected to the lighting mains.

"3. The organs are somewhat adaptable; an organ that is too small will often work overtime to do what the others demand of it. This condition may not at first result in any pain or disease; yet it is not a healthy condition; it is a condition of unbalance.

"4. The proper functioning of the body as a whole depends entirely on the proper balance of its various organs. They should work together like a good piece of machinery. You can't put a 50-pound flywheel in a wrist watch; a watch spring won't run an apartment house elevator.

"5. The size of an organ determines the vigor of its function. For that good bodily adjustment which means good health, no organ must be too large and none too small in relation to the others.

"6. The relative size of the organs determines the contour of the body; that is, a large chest will denote large lungs and heart and so on.

"If we now can determine just what a normally proportioned and healthy body will look like and just what its various measurements are, it will be easy for us to see how closely any individual approaches this ideal of health by comparing his measurements with the normal ones.

"It took Dr. de Giovanni 40 years to determine these measurements. They have been tested on thousands of cases which came under his supervision. They are as follows:

"The stature, or height, must be exactly equal to the bi-lateral reach; that is, to the distance between the right and left fingertips when the arms are stretched apart as far as possible.

"The circumference of the chest, measured by passing a tape all the way around it, must be equal to just one-half the stature or height.

"The length of the sternum, or breastbone, must be equal to one-tenth of the stature.

"The length of the abdomen must equal one-fifth of the stature.

"The distance from the end of the sternum to the center of the umbilicus, or navel, should equal one-tenth of the stature.

"The distance from the point of the crest of the pubic bone should equal one-tenth of the stature.

"The width of the pelvis should equal four-fifths of the total length of the abdomen.

"The length of the spine should equal two-fifths of the stature.

"These are the proper measurements for adults only, of course. For children they must be modified, according to age. The head of a new-born baby, for instance, is one-fourth as long as the complete stature; in adults it is only one-eighth. The child's upper abdomen is normally larger than either his chest or his lower abdomen. But this condition must change as adolescence continues. The upper abdomen must shrink proportionately. If it does not, the individual will carry a distorted body with him even into his middle age.

"Thus anyone can see how carefully the growth of every one of the child's organs must be continually watched and measured.

"Another thing that must be considered is the power of the individual's nervous system in relation to the size of his organs. A deficient nervous system in a large body causes sluggishness and backwardness. An overvigorous nervous system in a small body causes overactivity, overindulgence and rapid wearing out of the organs. This condition is referred to popularly as that of a man 'living on his nerves.'

"How can the nerve supply be measured? By

After 40 years' work, and the study of thousands of cases, Italian physician determines the relative measurements of a normally proportioned and healthy body—Variations from these measurements are used for diagnosis—Thus, height of adult should be exactly equal to distance between fingertips of outstretched arms, and the chest circumference just half of the height—Larger chest, for example, means abundant oxygen, vigorous functions, ruddy complexion and robust appearance, but such a person should beware of his abundant vitality—Size of an organ determines its vigor, and proper functioning of the body depends on the balance of all the organs :: :: ::

Little 5-year-old Meredith Waterbury is alive today because of the heroism and supreme sacrifice of her aunt, Mrs. T. G. She fought a desperate combat with death She won—and lost The child 5-year-old Meredith Waterbury is recovering but her aunt Mrs T G Kelty, who cut her body with a score of wounds that the child might moisten her parched throat with the blood died a few days ago in a hospital—a sacrifice that physicians attributed to the woman's heroic act which weakened her so much that recovery was impossible It was Sunday morning when Mr and Mrs Kelty and their little niece, the daughter of Mrs Meredith Waterbury of Hollywood drove away from their San Bernardino home for a day's outing in the mountains

Their car swung swiftly along the curving road up and up, between the tall lines of pine trees The little girl out of the city for a visit with her aunt and uncle laughed with happy anticipation of a day out of doors

Suddenly on a steep grade of the winding mountain road near Oak Flat, something went wrong with the car. Perhaps Kelty shifted his gears an instant too late perhaps his engine stalled and he lost control of the machine and it started to roll backward down the steep road Careening and swaying, the car rolled backward, gaining momentum each instant the frantic man at the wheel trying in vain to halt its perilous course.

Then a sharp turn in the road The car, impeded by the underbrush hovered for a moment and then plunged over the side. 100 feet down the canyon, with rocks and underbrush crashing around it. A huge pine reared in front of the hurtling car The automobile crumpled into wreckage.

Some minutes later Mrs Kelty struggled back to consciousness She lay 20 feet from the wrecked machine, bruised stunned and helpless Little Meredith flung near her, sobbed pitifully with fear and the agony of a broken arm.

Under the twisted heap that had been their car was Kelty's crushed body. He was alive, but terribly hurt

A hundred feet above them the mountain road wound through the trees. Motorists sped by, not noticing the car tracks that led over the brink—to tragedy Picnickers bound for a day in the hills, passed on the road above Occasionally, above the roar of the motors Mrs. Kelty could hear a laugh or the ecstatic cry of a happy child would float down to her

Somehow she managed to drag herself to the wrecked car She tried to help her husband, to lift the car from his broken body The child wept with pain and fright Jip, the little fox terrier who had been in the car with them, howled and limped fitfully among the trees, eager but helpless, with a broken leg

All day the three victims lay there. Mrs. Kelty could do nothing She lifted her husband's head, held him close to her Again and again the woman screamed for help She shrieked desperately as she heard cars nearing them on the road above.

No one heard her The roar of the engines as the cars took the steep grade drowned her screams.

The sun dropped beyond a western range and night came on quickly. It grew cold. The pup whined piteously, huddled near the feet of his dying master Kelty became weaker and finally slipped into unconsciousness Some time that night he died in his wife's arms

Day came and brought no help Jip, perhaps realizing that his master had died during the night, limped away Hope returned to Mrs. Kelty Perhaps the dog would bring aid.

Two hours later Jip came back—alone. He had done his best. He had sought out a camp, dragging himself painfully through the woods, and had tried his best to tell the campers what had happened.

They did not understand. They thought Jip was lost. He refused to let them catch him. He gave up his mission and went back to stay with his own people.

Twenty-four hours had passed since their car had toppled over the brink above them and the little girl, feverish now from her injuries, cried for water.

"Aunty, aunty, I'm thirsty! I'm thirsty!" she sobbed.

There was no water within a mile of the place where the wrecked car lay and Mrs. Kelty probably couldn't have located it even if her injuries had permitted her to walk.

It was then that Mrs. Kelty did a heroic thing. She found a jagged sliver of glass from the broken windshield and, heedless of the pain, cut deep gashes in her arms and breasts so that the blood flowed.

Tenderly she forced the child to put her lips to the wounds and drink the blood. It eased the baby's suffering.

The long, terrible hours went on. With rapidly dwindling strength Mrs. Kelty sent out her cries for help. No one came.

Again and again as the child pleaded for water Mrs. Kelty tore open her own wounds and gave her blood to the little girl.

Another night came with its autumn chill and the heroic woman took off her own clothing to wrap around the crying child. Half-clad, she shivered in the mountain cold all through the long night, the lifeless body of her husband still before her gaze under the wreckage of the car.

In the meantime the search had started. The alarm was given when the Keltys did not arrive home on Sunday night.

Soon hundreds of men were beating their way through the woods. They had nothing to guide them, for at the edge of the road where the car had gone over in its last wild plunge the underbrush had closed over the tracks of the wheels.

Mrs. Kelty heard the cars as the searchers drove up and down the road. She tried to scream, but she was very weak. She could not make them hear.

When daylight came on the third day an airplane circled over the woods, sailing directly over the scene of the tragedy. The observer peered over the side, watching every inch of the forest, but the tall pines hid their secret.

It was Mrs. Kelty's son, Tom Kelty, who at last found them on Wednesday, three days after the accident.

With Harry Heap, a relative, he was driving slowly down the mountain road, his motor muffled, listening for any sound. He had searched without sleep or rest since Sunday night.

Hope was almost gone when across the canyon he heard a faint echo

"Help! Oh, God, help!"

Wearied by toil and anxiety, Kelty thought he was dreaming. He listened again. Then Heap caught the thread of sound.

"Help! Help!"

"That's Mother Kelty!" Heap shouted.

"It doesn't sound like mother," breathed Kelty. And then it came again:

"Help! Help!"

Far away the men heard the echo of a dog's bark. Jip, the loyal little terrier, was calling, too.

The two men leaped from their car and raced toward the sound, crashing through unbroken forest. Kelty frantically sent out a great cry ahead of him.

Plunging recklessly down the canyon side they came to the end of their search where the wrecked car was crumpled at the foot of a tall pine over the crushed body of a man. A woman and child stirred feebly on the ground. The aged man was dead. The child sobbed faintly.

Mrs. Kelty, a ghostly, blood-stained figure, whispered with parched lips, as her son gently lifted her in his arms:

"Meredith—get Meredith!" she moaned. "Help her and get water—water"——

Tenderly Heap carried Meredith up the mountain side to his car. Tom Kelty knelt beside his mother, holding his canteen to her parched lips, tears of joy and sorrow welling in his eyes. Mrs. Kelty was almost too weak to drink the water she craved.

Heap summoned other searchers. With a camper's discarded bedspring for a stretcher they carried the brave woman up to the road.

An automobile was waiting and while Tom Kelty cradled his mother in his arms the car raced madly over the long road to the hospital, where physicians fought to save the child and the heroic woman. Racked with suffering, half-crazed by her terrible experience, Mrs. Kelty whispered, painfully:

"Meredith—is she all right? Will she live?"

Told that the child would recover; Mrs. Kelty would smile faintly and drop into a troubled sleep, only to awaken and cry in her delirium for the safety of her niece.

The child lives. Hurt, bruised and weakened by exposure and hunger she lives, doctors say, because in those awful hours she drank the blood that her aunt gave her.

But Mrs. Kelty, after winning one victory over death, lost her own battle with the grim reaper and died.

The Slaying of the Terrible Tiger

Natives of India who for nine months were in constant fear of this ferocious man-eating beast had named him "Tiger With a Man's Brain"—He killed, carried away and ate men, women and children—He broke into houses at night and pounced upon sleepers, caught men at their work in the fields and women at their household duties, feasted upon infants in cradles as dainty titbits—Famous hunters failed to lure him in range of their rifles, but at last a Burmese forest official used as bait the mangled remnants of a woman the slinking Terror had slain

TIGER WITH A MAN'S BRAIN is no more. Terrified inhabitants of a dozen towns in Burma breathe more freely now. Refugees from three villages, the entire population of which had fled to places more populous and less exposed to the Terror, have returned home and resumed their daily routine. Kodu, Aingma, Baw—the forest settlements that were depopulated because of one individual and awful beast from the jungle—are silent no longer. Women sing at their simple household tasks, naked brown babies gurgle in their glee, men shout each to each in the neighboring forests without fear of being heard and hunted by Tiger With a Man's Brain.

The British Government, through its authorities in India, has received official confirmation of the killing of the most ferocious man-eating tiger ever reported in Burma, where hundreds of such beasts have been slain in years past. This champion assassin began his war upon the human race early in the present year. For nine months he kept up his killing—and eating. Men, women and children were his prey. In the area he chose for his operations there had been, from year to year, other tigers that killed human beings occasionally, but none so cunning, none so cruel, none so devilishly intelligent. The natives named him Tiger With a Man's Brain because of his mental superiority to the rest of his breed.

Extraordinarily large and long, he was a being of terrible beauty. Black and orange were his stripes, gleamy and bristly his fierce cat's whiskers, savage his teeth and sharp his terrible claws. From his nose to the tip of his tail he was more than 10 feet long. Every inch of him was an inch of sinuous strength, flanks and legs and neck and back; and inside his big belly was a capacious stomach that craved fresh meat and must have it. A tiger eats nothing else. In the jungle his life is just one kill after another. Seeking, slaying, devouring—that was the sole set program of Tiger With a Man's Brain. He was born with that instinct, he grew up so, as his size and years increased his appetite for fresh meat kept pace. Earlier in his career Tiger With a Man's Brain contented himself with preying upon other wild beasts. Now and then he made forays against domesticated animals bred by natives. A cow, a horse, a buffalo—anything that would supply him with fresh meat. Red, raw, quivering flesh, and plenty of it! And Tiger With a Man's Brain wanted what he wanted when he wanted it. When he was unable to get it immediately, the delay intensified his craving and made him still more ferocious.

Just imagine your big family tomcat suddenly grown to about a hundred times his size, his fur pattern changed to bright orange and deep black stripes, his easy-going character altered to that of a wild beast with immemorial generations of jungle life behind him. In such case your metamorphosed household pet never would wait until you placed in his platter the meat scraps from your table, with some gravy for [illegible] up. He would up and at you, bringing [illegible] with one blow from one of his powerful paw, [illegible] straight at your head. Then, holding you [illegible] with his other front paw he would clutch your body, twist it around and break your neck. [illegible] then—rip, rip, rip, crunch, crunch, crunch! [illegible] that's in substance a picture of Tiger With a Man's Brain. That's how he killed, with either beast or man for victim.

Early this year men who were camping out over night in the jungle first learned of the existence of this particular terror. The great beast would keep himself hidden until nightfall. When the natives were asleep on the ground he would leap into the camp, pounce upon one victim, kill him, pick up the body in his teeth as a cat picks up her kitten, and carry the gory corpse off into the jungle for his nocturnal meal. The tiger's instinct for fresh meat led him first to disembowel the victim, casting aside the entrails. Big as he was, he could not eat a man at a meal. Much would be left over. The disemboweling was done so that the "leftovers" might keep reasonably fresh for the next dinner.

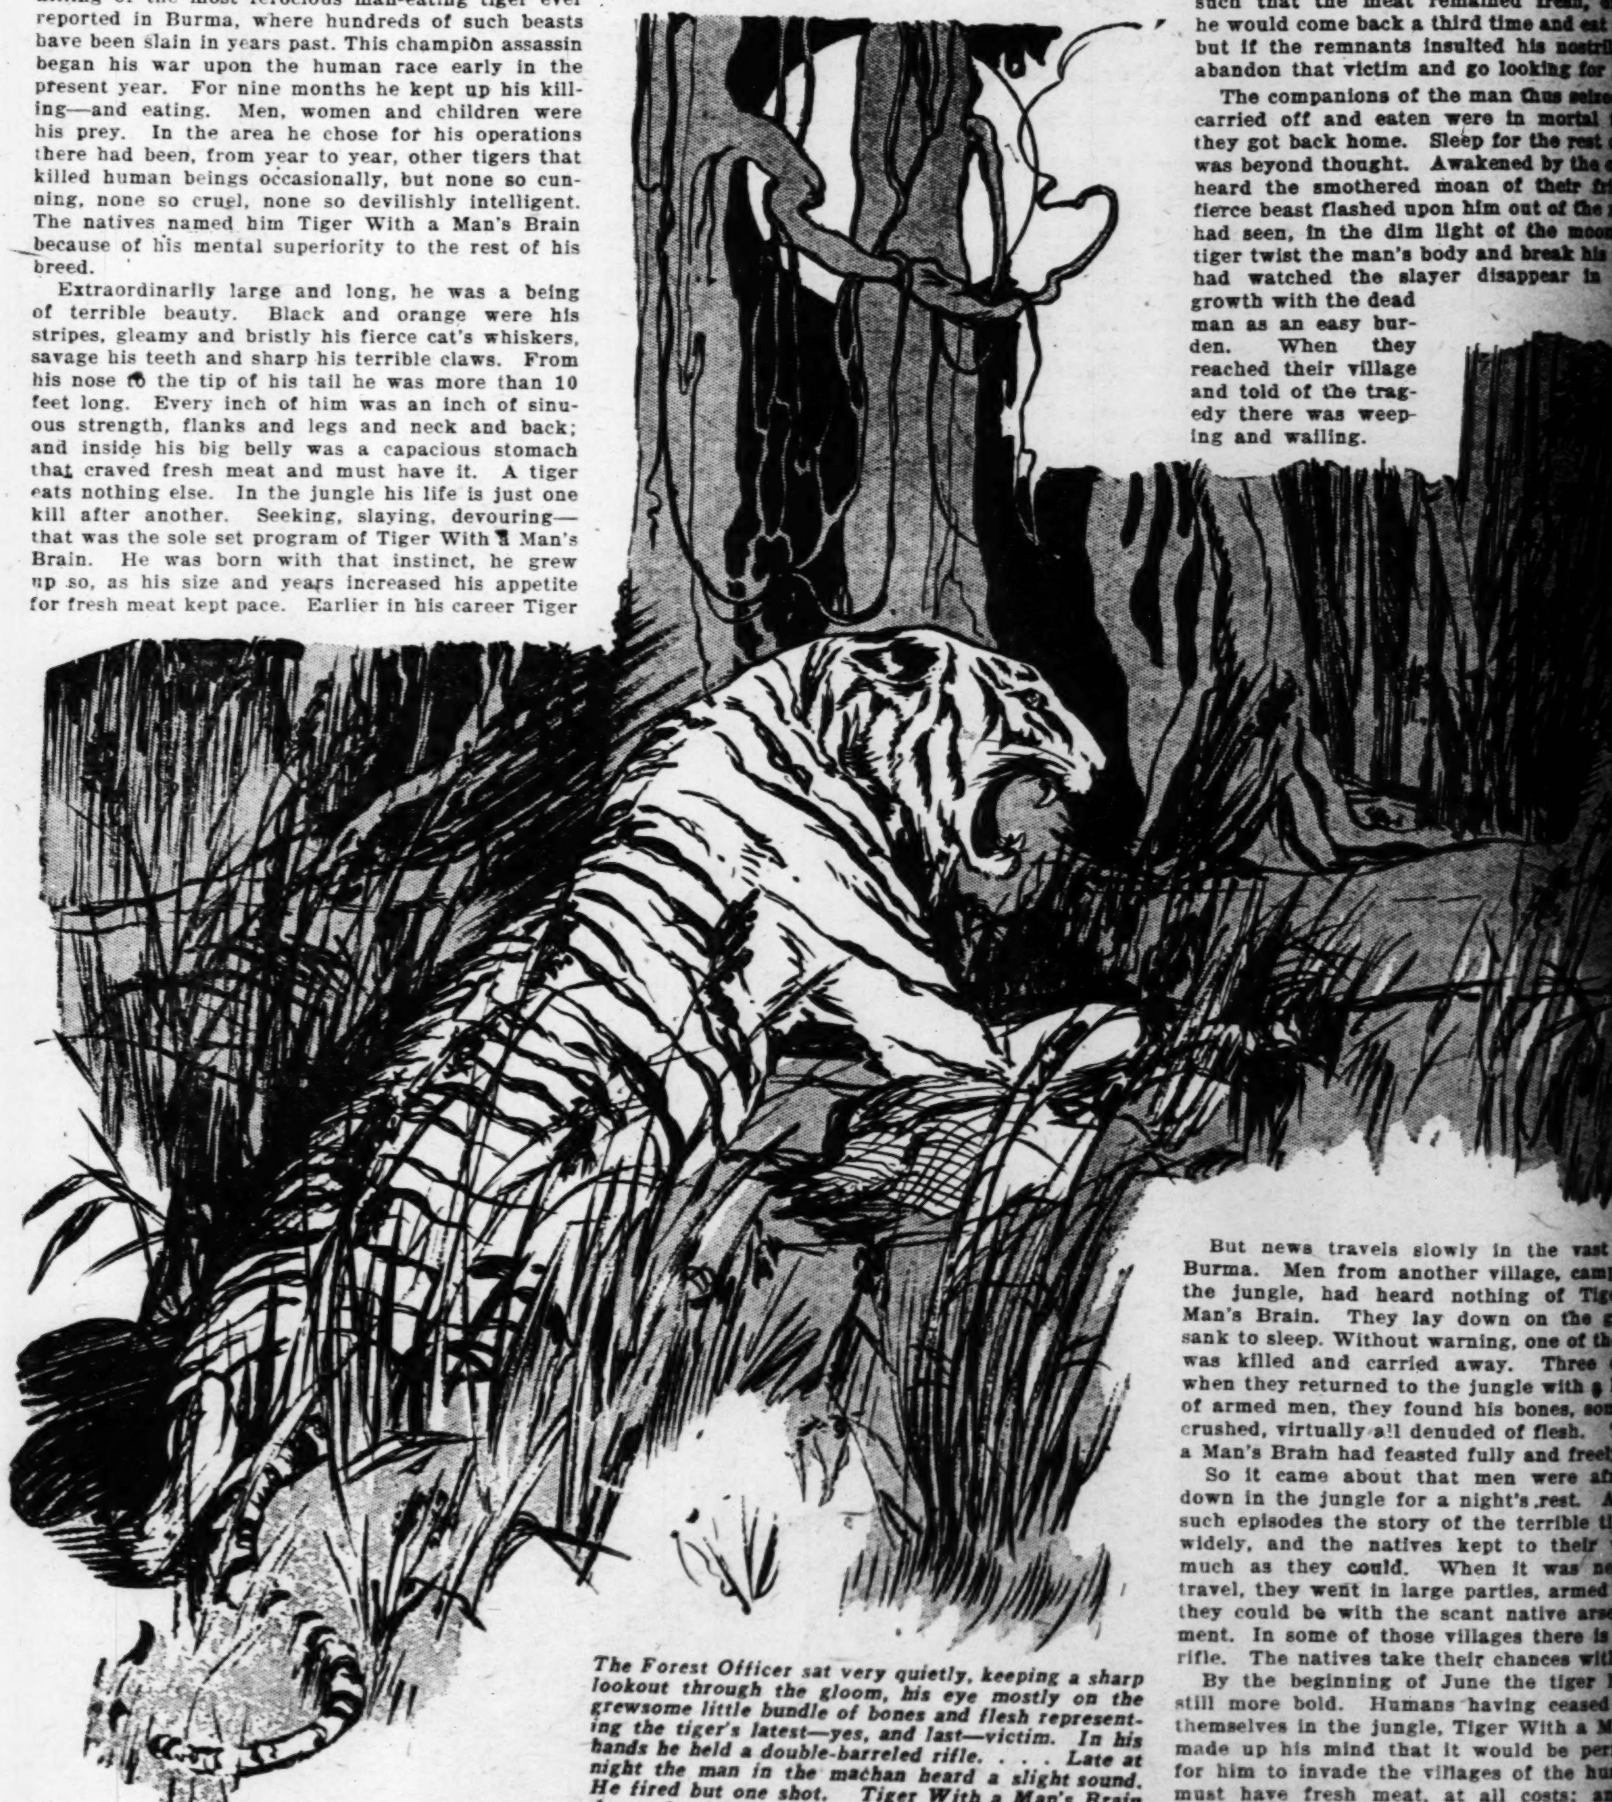
Partially covering the mangled remains with leaves or grass, the tiger trotted off into a hiding place, grunting with satisfaction. He lay down and slept, heavily enough, but not so heavily that he left himself open to surprise by an enemy. The next night he would return to the corpse and help himself to another square meal. If the weather was such that the meat remained fresh, or fairly so, he would come back a third time and eat some more, but if the remnants insulted his nostrils he would abandon that victim and go looking for another.

The companions of the man thus seized, slain and carried off and eaten were in mortal terror until they got back home. Sleep for the rest of the night was beyond thought. Awakened by the [illegible], they heard the smothered moan of their friend as the fierce beast flashed upon him out of the night. They had seen, in the dim light of the moon, the great tiger twist the man's body and break his neck. They had watched the slayer disappear in the undergrowth with the dead man as an easy burden. When they reached their village and told of the tragedy there was weeping and wailing.

But news travels slowly in the vast forests of Burma. Men from another village, camping out in the jungle, had heard nothing of Tiger With a Man's Brain. They lay down on the ground and sank to sleep. Without warning, one of their number was killed and carried away. Three days later, when they returned to the jungle with a large party of armed men, they found his bones, some of them crushed, virtually all denuded of flesh. Tiger With a Man's Brain had feasted fully and freely.

So it came about that men were afraid to lie down in the jungle for a night's rest. After a few such episodes the story of the terrible tiger spread widely, and the natives kept to their villages as much as they could. When it was necessary to travel, they went in large parties, armed as well as they could be with the scant native arsenal equipment. In some of those villages there is scarcely a rifle. The natives take their chances with fate.

By the beginning of June the tiger had grown still more bold. Humans having ceased to expose themselves in the jungle, Tiger With a Man's Brain made up his mind that it would be perfectly safe for him to invade the villages of the humans. He must have fresh meat, at all costs; and he had learned how comparatively easy it was to catch and kill an animal that walked upright on two legs and



The Forest Officer sat very quietly, keeping a sharp lookout through the gloom, his eye mostly on the grewsome little bundle of bones and flesh representing the tiger's latest—yes, and last—victim. In his hands he held a double-barreled rifle. . . . Late at night the man in the machan heard a slight sound. He fired but one shot. Tiger With a Man's Brain dropped without a sound, save the slight thud of his big corpse.

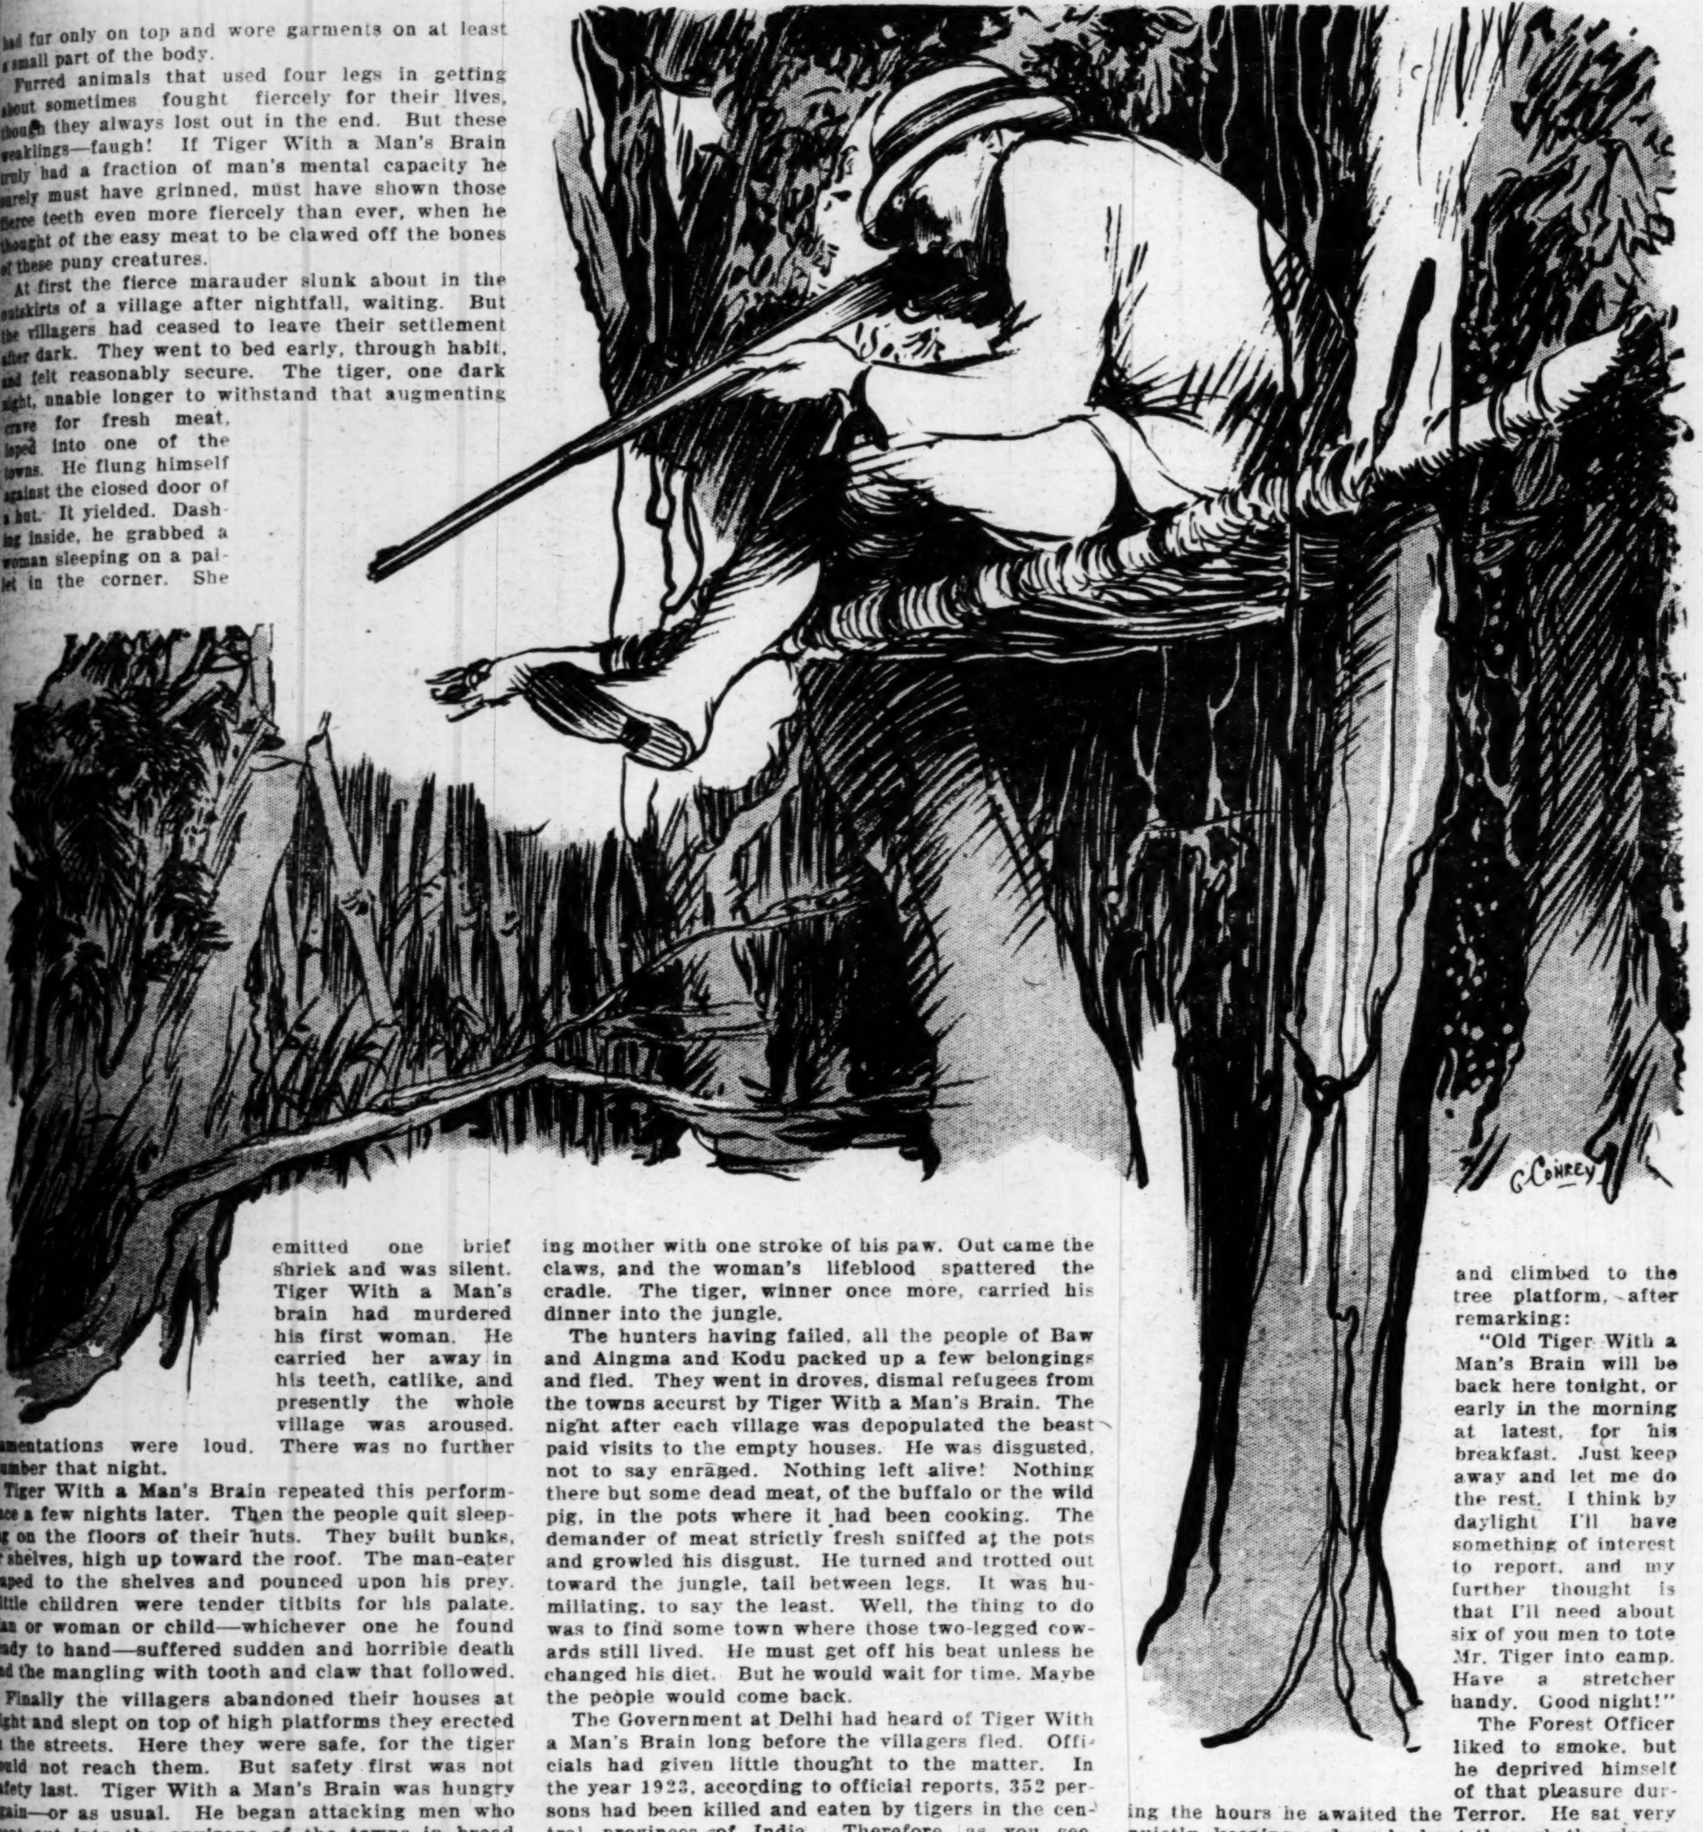
Furred animals that used four legs in getting about sometimes fought fiercely for their lives, though they always lost out in the end. But these weaklings—faugh! If Tiger With a Man's Brain truly had a fraction of man's mental capacity he surely must have grinned, must have shown those fierce teeth even more fiercely than ever, when he thought of the easy meat to be clawed off the bones of these puny creatures.

At first the fierce marauder slunk about in the outskirts of a village after nightfall, waiting. But the villagers had ceased to leave their settlement after dark. They went to bed early, through habit, and felt reasonably secure. The tiger, one dark night, unable longer to withstand that augmenting crave for fresh meat, loped into one of the towns. He flung himself against the closed door of a hut. It yielded. Dashing inside, he grabbed a woman sleeping on a pallet in the corner. She emitted one brief shriek and was silent. Tiger With a Man's brain had murdered his first woman. He carried her away in his teeth, catlike, and presently the whole village was aroused. Lamentations were loud. There was no further slumber that night.



Tiger With a Man's Brain repeated this performance a few nights later. Then the people quit sleeping on the floors of their huts. They built bunks, or shelves, high up toward the roof. The man-eater leaped to the shelves and pounced upon his prey. Little children were tender titbits for his palate. Man or woman or child—whichever one he found ready to hand—suffered sudden and horrible death and the mangling with tooth and claw that followed.

Finally the villagers abandoned their houses at night and slept on top of high platforms they erected in the streets. Here they were safe, for the tiger could not reach them. But safety first was not safety last. Tiger With a Man's Brain was hungry again—or as usual. He began attacking men who went out into the environs of the towns in broad day. He killed and carried off the best and bravest.

At last the evil fame of the huge tiger reached the ears of white men, mighty hunters, hundreds of miles away. They came to the region frequented by Tiger With the Man's Brain. Tigers, it is told by students of wild life, "walk beats." They have a regular round, where night by night, or even day by day, as in this instance, they seek living beings as raw material for their supply of fresh meat. The famous hunters tried in vain to kill the tiger. They built machans, or platforms, in trees. There they concealed themselves, armed with heavy rifles, double-barreled. An ordinary firearm is ineffective against a big tiger unless at very close range. Night after night the hunters waited, day after day; but the quarry was wary and he came not. He was walking some of the rest of his beat.

A man living in the village of Kodu was splitting bamboo in front of his house late one evening. The tiger carried him away to the jungle. A woman in Aingma was climbing the stairs in her house when the Tiger With a Man's Brain struck her down and carried her off. In the same town another native was killed, carried into the jungle and devoured.

In the village of Baw a woman sat in her house running a spinning wheel. She was crooning, her baby being in a rude cradle at her side. Her song was a specimen of the ancient folklore of India, an eerie aria, and the infant slept quietly. The mother's voice broke in the middle of a bar, became a shriek, a sob; and above that gurgling sound arose the shrill scream of a gigantic cat. Tiger With a Man's Brain had entered the house and felled the crooning mother with one stroke of his paw. Out came the claws, and the woman's lifeblood spattered the cradle. The tiger, winner once more, carried his dinner into the jungle.

The hunters having failed, all the people of Baw and Aingma and Kodu packed up a few belongings and fled. They went in droves, dismal refugees from the towns accurst by Tiger With a Man's Brain. The night after each village was depopulated the beast paid visits to the empty houses. He was disgusted, not to say enraged. Nothing left alive! Nothing there but some dead meat, of the buffalo or the wild pig, in the pots where it had been cooking. The demander of meat strictly fresh sniffed at the pots and growled his disgust. He turned and trotted out toward the jungle, tail between legs. It was humiliating, to say the least. Well, the thing to do was to find some town where those two-legged cowards still lived. He must get off his beat unless he changed his diet. But he would wait for time. Maybe the people would come back.

The Government at Delhi had heard of Tiger With a Man's Brain long before the villagers fled. Officials had given little thought to the matter. In the year 1923, according to official reports, 352 persons had been killed and eaten by tigers in the central provinces of India. Therefore, as you see, Tiger With a Man's Brain was not the only man-eater in the jungle. But, for all that, he was the most voracious, speaking in terms of fresh human meat. So the Government communicated with the Divisional Forest Officer of Magwe, in whose jurisdiction lay Aingma and Baw and Kodu. Orders to make special efforts to kill Tiger With a Man's Brain were dispatched to this dignitary. He carried out instructions to the best of his ability. As it happened, he had plenty of ability in the line of tiger hunting.

When the Forest Officer arrived in the area of the tiger's operations and was looking for some buffaloes to use as bait for the beast, to draw him within range of the guns, members of the party learned that another victim, a woman, had been added to the long list. Tiger With a Man's Brain had carried her off at night. Having eaten a portion of her flesh, he left the remainder at the spot where he had enjoyed the feast. The Forest Officer forgot about buffaloes. He would use the woman's half-eaten body for tiger bait. Close by the place where the ghastly remains lay was a big tree, bushy with foliage. In this tree the official and his force constructed a machan, with a fairly comfortable seat built for one. The chief of the expedition dismissed the rest of the men and climbed to the tree platform, after remarking:

"Old Tiger With a Man's Brain will be back here tonight, or early in the morning at latest, for his breakfast. Just keep away and let me do the rest. I think by daylight I'll have something of interest to report, and my further thought is that I'll need about six of you men to tote Mr. Tiger into camp. Have a stretcher handy. Good night!"

The Forest Officer liked to smoke, but he deprived himself of that pleasure during the hours he awaited the Terror. He sat very quietly, keeping a sharp lookout through the gloom, his eye mostly on the grewsome little bundle of bones and flesh representing the tiger's latest—yes, and last—victim. In his hands he held a double-barreled rifle. At the foot of the tree he had left another loaded weapon. He might shoot the tiger and climb down, thinking the beast dead. A tiger will fight to the last gasp, and for that reason the extra gun and shells might be useful.

Late at night the man in the machan heard a slight sound. He lit a torch at his side. In the quick upflare he saw Tiger With a Man's Brain wrenching the dead woman's head from the body, using teeth and claws. The torchlight aided his aim. He fired but one shot. Tiger With a Man's Brain dropped without a sound, save the slight thud of his big corpse. The Forest Officer climbed, taking care to shove a shell into the barrel thus emptied. Stealthily he approached the fallen man eater. The bullet had pierced the tiger's heart. In his mouth, still clutched by his long, sharp teeth, was the severed head of the native woman.

The conqueror of the orange-and-black assassin spent a considerable portion of his prize money in providing a decent burial for what was left of the woman. When George V., King of England, Emperor of India, etc., read about the incident, His Majesty remarked:

"Good enough! Good enough, I say!"

The Discovery of a New White Race in

Marsh, leader of the expedition, tells a gathering of the San Blas chiefs that proof of existence of the White Indians would help to bring about the friendship of the great white race to the North—Within a week, White Indians of all ages and both sexes had been brought in from the hills—Study of the natives' language and customs indicates that they trace their culture to some great antiquity—White Indians, who seem to be both outcasts and a dominant people, live apart from the brown tribes—Their origin is quite unknown, but they may turn out to be biologic "sports" :: :: :: ::

THE expedition which penetrated unknown Darien, in Panama, south of the Canal Zone, and which finally came in contact with the fabled race of White Indians, found diplomacy to be as necessary as courage and endurance. The explorers' success, after many difficulties, is the subject of this concluding installment of the story as told by R. O. Marsh, organizer and leader of the expedition. The installment published in last week's Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine closed with an interview at Sassardi between Marsh and Ina Paguina, leading chief or King of the brown-skinned San Blas tribes. Marsh in a friendly spirit told the chief that unless the Indians accepted modern education and modern methods they would be exterminated. He advised the chief to call a congress of all his own people, and agree to stand together. Then Marsh inquired about the White Indians, and Ina Paguina said that formerly there were some in Panama, but that all of them had gone away. Marsh replied that he knew better.

PART III.

THE party then returned to Caledonia, leaving the local chief Ubiguina with his head chief at Sassardi. The white men continued to be treated courteously, but with every reserve, by the natives at Caledonia. The Indians neither would accept presents nor visit the camp, and only with great difficulty were the commonest foods obtained from them.

Next day, however, Ubiguina returned and immediately a distinct change was noticed in the attitude of the Indians. Their reserve was dropped, they visited the white men in great numbers, bringing all sorts of articles, fruit, vegetables and fish, and accepted with pleasure the presents offered them. This was interpreted as a sign that the Indians had decided to regard the white men as friends.

Three days later a messenger by canoe came from Ina Paguina, requesting Marsh's immediate presence. Accordingly, he and Charleton, with his moving-picture apparatus, started immediately, hoping that this time they would be able to secure some of the photographs forbidden on their previous trip.

But Ina Paguina merely had stomach ache, and wanted some white man's medicine to make him feel better. Determined to get some return for medical treatment, Marsh told Ina Paguina that he had left his medicine behind at Caledonia; that he would go back for it immediately and return before dark, provided the chief would provide him with a suitable house in the village to stay in that night. Never before had a white man slept in Ina Paguina's village.

The chief's reply was that Marsh could sleep in a boat anchored off shore. And Marsh told him that in that case he could stay sick. The stomach ache was severe, the chief finally agreed and received his medicine. Marsh and Charleton slept in a large house immediately adjacent to Ina Paguina's. The complete confidence and friendship of Ina Paguina and his people had been won.

Marsh stayed with the chief for several weeks. He soon discovered a smallpox epidemic which had just caused the death of Ina Paguina's only son. From a radio station at the Colombian border he was able to wireless into Panama and ask President Porras to send out doctors and vaccine by a special boat, a request which President Porras granted promptly. With the aid of these doctors practically all the Indians in that vicinity were vaccinated.

Ina Paguina called the congress of chiefs from all the San Blas coast. Marsh told them of his plans to help them in the matters of education, sanitation and health, and in securing their land as a permanent home. Not until his ideas had been received favorably did he again broach the question of the White Indians.

"I know that there are White Indians in your country," Marsh told the assembled chiefs. "If I am able to prove to my own people the existence of White Indians, then it will help bring about the friendship of the great white race to the north who alone can save the Indian from quick destruction. It will demonstrate to all the world the close kinship between the Indian and the white man."

This idea was grasped by the chiefs, and the results were almost marvelous. Within a week's time White Indians of all ages and both sexes were brought in from the hills of the mainland. The word had gone out that the White Indian was to be the means of saving the race, and saving the land, of all the Indians.

The discovery of the White Indians had been accomplished. At last a strange people, hidden and outcast by their brown Indian brothers, had been revealed to the outside world.

The party, consisting then only of Mr. Marsh, Maj. Harry B. Johnson, naturalist, and Charles Charleton, motion picture man (the others all having departed for the Canal Zone several weeks earlier), made a veritable procession down the San Blas coast, preceded by advance messengers and followed by Ina Paguina and his leading chiefs.

Long before the explorers reached the villages, local chiefs and delegations, accompanied by White Indians, would meet them and ask that they visit their town. To Navigandi, Portogandi, Alligandi and clear to the Gulf of San Blas, this procession of discovery proceeded. White Indians of all descriptions and sizes flocked around.

Marsh was asked to choose as many as he wished to take back with him, and he could easily have brought a hundred if he could have afforded it. The joy, enthusiasm and willingness of these Indians who greeted the party were almost beyond belief.

For the first time in 400 years, a party of white men had come to their country, stayed amongst them for months, had treated them fairly, honestly, truthfully, and decently, in all respects, had given them fair exchange for everything received from them, had treated them literally by thousands for one form or another of sickness or ailment and had brought them a hope and a promise for the future that seemed to meet their most cherished dreams. The Indians had responded by showing themselves in their own true, better, higher light.

It was almost inconceivable that a people of such high culture, high character and high development in so many ways could have been so little understood and appreciated until the present time, but that is entirely the work of fiends who in the guise of civilized Christianity have attempted always to rob, outrage and murder in the past.

Small wonder that this one last stand of highly developed Indians have fought with their backs to the mountains against every lying, deceitful, hypocritical attempt of so-called civilized Christians to enter their country in the past.

The San Blas Indians have reached a stage of culture far beyond that of our nomadic North American Indians. They have lived in their own comparatively restricted little country since long before the dawn of modern historical knowledge.

Whether they trace their ancestry back to a time contemporaneous with ancient Mayan civilization which developed just a comparatively short distance north of them, or to the equally ancient South American civilization long antedating the historically known Incas

we can only conjecture. Certainly, however, a close study of their customs, laws and language, which has been pronounced by ethnologists of the Smithsonian Institution to be the most beautiful language in all the world, indicates that they trace their culture to some great antiquity.

permanent home. Not until his ideas had been received favorably did he again broach the question of the White Indians.

"I know that there are White Indians in your country," Marsh told the assembled chiefs. "If I am able to prove to my own people the existence of White Indians, then it will help bring about the friendship of the great white race to the north who alone can save the Indian from quick destruction. It will demonstrate to all the world the close kinship between the Indian and the white man."

This idea was grasped by the chiefs, and the results were almost marvelous. Within a week's time White Indians of all ages and both sexes were brought in from the hills of the mainland. The word had gone out that the White Indian was to be the means of saving the race, and saving the land, of all the Indians.

The discovery of the White Indians had been accomplished. At last a strange people, hidden and outcast by their brown Indian brothers, had been revealed to the outside world.

The party, consisting then only of Mr. Marsh, Maj. Harry B. Johnson, naturalist, and Charles Charleton, motion picture man (the others all having departed for the Canal Zone several weeks earlier), made a veritable procession down the San Blas coast, preceded by advance messengers and followed by Ina Paguina and his leading chiefs.

Long before the explorers reached the villages, local chiefs and delegations, accompanied by White Indians, would meet them and ask that they visit their town. To Navigandi, Portogandi, Alligandi and clear to the Gulf of San Blas, this procession of discovery proceeded. White Indians of all descriptions and sizes flocked around.

Marsh was asked to choose as many as he wished to take back with him, and he could easily have brought a hundred if he could have afforded it. The joy, enthusiasm and willingness of these Indians who greeted the party were almost beyond belief.

we can only conjecture. Certainly, however, a close study of their customs, laws and language, which has been pronounced by ethnologists of the Smithsonian Institution to be the most beautiful language in all the world, indicates that they trace their culture to some great antiquity.

They are village builders, with large, well-made houses, two stories in height, some of them 120 feet long by 60 feet wide, with black palm walls and thatched palm roofs that would be a credit to any rural people. Each tribe has an hereditary chief of ancient ancestry and above all is an hereditary head chief, or king, who is just as much a royal personage as any feudal King of Europe. They have their own Judges, police court, police officers, recognize the right of private ownership of land, and have elaborate ceremonies for marriage, burial and other rites.

They cultivate large plantations of bananas, plantain, yucca, Indian corn, coffee, cacao, alligator pears, pineapples, oranges, lemons and various other fruits. They also have immense stretches of cocoanut plantations.

Altogether they are just as much an agricultural people as we are, varying their diet with fish, but hunting only occasionally and incidentally. Hunting with them is sport, pure and simple, the same as with us, and is carried on very skilfully with bows and arrows and blowguns.

Only in one respect do the San Blas show a great weakness and backwardness, and that is in their so-called religious beliefs. Like our own ancestors, for untold periods of time, they have been absolutely under the influence of an ignorant, jealous, misguided priestcraft. All the phenomena of life are attributed by them to the influence of good or evil spirits.

Sickness is simply an evidence that an evil spirit has taken possession of the body, and the remedy, therefore, is to drive out this evil spirit by incantations, idols and various primitive methods. This spirit worship has prevented them from having any inquiring disposition into the real truths of nature, has stifled any attempt at development along scientific lines and has made them in the matter of medicinal knowledge and the combating of disease as helpless as our own people were up until quite recent times.

The curse of a mystical, ignorant priestcraft has still followed them when our more modern races have rid themselves of this handicap.

Separate and distinct from the brown San Blas Indians, yet a part of them, the White Indians seem to be both outcasts and a dominant people. The brown San Blas Indians occupy the Atlantic coastal region and the numerous coral islands off the shore. Beyond the mountains, 15 to 20 miles from the shore, is the territory of the White Indians, who occupy the higher regions of the southern slope.

Their land is held inviolate to the brown, likewise the whites are denied permission to live in the brown settlements. Years ago, before the Spaniards arrived in the New World, white and brown lived together, so the Indian legend runs. The Spaniard was welcomed to the new land, but soon his mistreatment of the natives caused them to turn against him and expel him from the country. The hatred of the Indian for the white man was so violent that it extended to their own whites, who were forced to live apart. The laws forbid intermarriage of whites and browns.

Occasionally, however, a brown man on the mainland marries a White Indian woman; then the first generation of this union are usually light colored browns. These light browns, however, live with the other brown Indians and they marry. Under the Mendelian law of inheritance a certain proportion of their children revert to the white type of their white grandparents.

These White Indian children are suffered to remain with their light-brown parents until they arrive at marriageable age, when they must leave the brown community and join the mass of White Indians in the interior.

The White Indians normally are of a larger, stockier, and stronger build than the browns, and especially do they have larger, higher, broader and rounder heads. All of them run true to type; they have golden-yellow hair, hazel to bluish eyes, pure white skin, with freckles, and pink gums. Never is there found a typical albino type with white hair, pink eyes and blue gums.

In fact, the first impression received by everyone is that the White Indians are Swedes. A close examination, however, soon shows that whatever may have been their origin, they now are fundamentally pure Indians.

The party Marsh brought back with him was intended both for scientific and humanitarian purposes. The three White Indian children, two boys and a girl, aged respectively 10, 13 and 14, were each presented to him by a tribal chief, one at Portogandi, one at Alligandi and the other at the Diablo River. Marsh was requested to keep them for six years, have them thoroughly educated, and then return them to their people, where they can help educate their own kind.

Of the brown Indians, Marsh selected Iqua Napipi, a young man of 33, who will succeed to the rank of King of the San Blas Indians and whom he desired particularly to see the advantages and magnitude of our own civilization. Philip, the chief interpreter of the King, Ina Paguina, and Alfred, son of the great chief Nelle of Portogandi, are the other brown Indians in the party.

These three will constitute the new group of Lady Diana Manners was a strenuous maker of speeches for her husband, Capt. S. Duff Cooper. She went into the fish market and talked things over with the fishwives, and she took tea with lowly constituents.

By HAZEL CANNING.

ONCE upon a time the beautiful Georgiana, Duchess of Devonshire, went to the "pubs" and street corners of her native London, campaigning for her chosen candidate, the famous Charles Fox.

"I could light my pipe at your eyes," said a blacksmith to her, admiringly.

"All right, then," flashed back her grace, "vote for Mr. Fox, my friend."

"Give me a kiss and I will," replied the man.

"Done!" said her grace, and she offered her lips. The Duchess kissed the blacksmith and Charles Fox had another vote.

Now, this little episode has gone down in history, probably because good Duchess Georgiana was so emancipated so many years ago. And the modern English woman, also, takes to politics like a lover to his lass. They seem to be made for each other.

Had the good Duchess been alive to witness the superb spectacle in England recently, when all the nation's women went out campaigning for their candidates and their principles, her emancipated heart would have leaped up in great joy. She would have seen a sight to make anybody wonder and admire.

She would have seen Margot Asquith, in her fifties, buttoning an aviation bonnet under her chin and flying to her husband's district to fight for votes for him. She would have seen Lady Astor speaking from an automobile, standing up on the rear seat and hurling back quips at her hecklers. She would have seen the stately Countess of Athol campaigning side by side with women from humble walks in life, like Margaret Bondfield, who used to be a clerk in a dry goods store.

And she would have seen the most amazing sight of all in this last election—the political activities of Jessie Stephens, who used to be a servant girl. In the days of the Duchess, they would have called Jessie Stephens a "kitchen wench." But the Duchess, could she have returned, would have beheld a scene more amazing than she ever could have dreamed of.

She would have seen Jessie Stephens standing up in a crowded meeting in Whitehall, pointing a finger and speaking what once would have been arch treason. She would have heard this kitchen girl say:

"It's all very well for Princess Mary to have become a mother once again.

"But what England is more interested in than the Princess' baby, are all the other babies. When every mother can afford to feed her child as well as Princess Mary, then we can send in congratulations. And, as a matter of fact, the stipend given to poor mothers—a shilling a week for baby's food—will never nourish any infant correctly."

So spoke the servant girl, with flaming cheeks and darkened eyes. Because of women like these, for years now the question has been debated wherever the American woman politician meets her English sister.

"Come now, after all, aren't we English women just a little bit in the lead of American women so far as this emancipation goes? Where is the servant girl in American public life? Where is the Duchess who kisses the sooty blacksmith?"

However opinion goes, these English women are an amazing band, daunted at nothing, demanding more than American women have yet demanded politically. All of us have heard about one American woman Senator—Mrs. W. H. Felton of Georgia who, appointed to fill out an unexpired term, served in her high office for almost 24 hours. We all have heard of "Ma" Ferguson of Texas, but when she confesses that she ran for Governor to vindicate her husband, who ha turned out of that same office, she rather di glory. "That's why I am running for Parliament. Our nation's factory mothers are starving through their days. And it will take more than pretty speeches to help them."

Mrs. Russell, unfortunately perhaps for the working woman, was defeated in the last election, as was Margaret Bondfield, who had been elected once before. But though only three of the 42 English women who ran for Parliament were returned, their spirit goes marching on in deeds of rare emancipation.

Nancy had reverted to the primitive.

STANDING beside her car, Nancy glanced about her. "What a duck of a place to develop engine trouble in!" she murmured. The surrounding scenery consisted of snow and primeval forest, for she was stalled in the wilds of Maine. Or possibly the wilds of Canada. She was not quite sure which.

"This," Nancy assured herself impatiently, "is perfectly preposterous. I can't stay here all night. I'd freeze to death. Why on earth doesn't a car come!" Then, as if that good—or bad—fairy that had always seen to it that she got what she wanted had summoned it, a car sped toward her. Nancy planted herself in its path. "Stop!"

The snow lashed it, half obscuring its headlights. But its driver must have seen her, for momentarily its pace slackened. Then the engine roared anew and the car, leaping forward, would have run her down had she not sprung swiftly to one side.

The habit of caution was as ingrained in Wigglesworth Thayer as his conscience. He had played a very cautious game as end for Harvard—so cautious that he had been chosen for the all-American team two years running—later he had, while flying in France, very cautiously disposed of six Boche planes with a minimum of risk to himself.

Caution had advised Wig, when Nancy had tried to stop him, to put his foot on the accelerator and keep it there. But before he had gone more than a quarter of a mile his conscience began to bother him. Suppose somebody really were in distress——

The thought was too much for him. So he snapped off his lights, stopped his engine and started back. But cautiously, for he knew this road and its reputation after dark.

Now Nancy had turned back to her car. As Wig came upon her, her back was to him and he did not recognize her or even her gender. That was because she had, for this trip that was to have landed her in Quebec, garbed herself in breeches and putties. And in these, with her short coat and close-fitting little hat, she looked like a—well, exactly like a slim and adorable girl.

There was no excuse save the snow, the place and the time for Wig to mistake her for anything else, or to announce his presence as he did.

"Put up your hands," he suggested, by way of preliminary.

Instead, Nancy screamed. She was frightfully ashamed of that immediately.

"Good gracious!" she snapped. "What do you mean by creeping up on me that way? I had no idea there was anybody around. Why don't you blow a horn"——

"Good—lord!" gasped Wig "It's you!"

"Yes—isn't the world a small place?" she suggested, satirically. "You are supposed to be arriving at the Somervilles' from Boston and I find you on my way to Quebec."

"I'm going to the Somervilles now—from Quebec. Didn't Edith tell you?"

"If she had I should be in Boston, not here."

It fact, it was on the discovery that Wigglesworth was to make one of the party her friend Edith Somerville had invited for the week-end in her new country home that Nancy, with chin stubbornly lifted, had headed her car in the direction opposite to that from which the object of her dislike was expected to approach, and had driven boldly into the lowering north.

They had never stopped to wonder how they got that way. They belonged to the same set in Boston and they had no more chance of avoiding each other than goldfish in the same bowl.

"You had better give me that revolver," she suggested. "You don't look to me like a safe person to have it."

They were off, both running true to form.

"It happens," he retorted, stiffly, "to be nothing more deadly than a pipe. I am not in the habit of going armed"——

"Really? I would have thought you wouldn't even venture across the public gardens without a gun. One of the swans might attack you, you know."

But he, relapsing into tight-lipped silence, had turned to her engine.

"You've burned out your bearings!" he cried at once, almost as if she had committed murder.

And he felt almost that way. He was fond of engines, as some men are of horses.

"Burned out my bearings?" she echoed. "Why, I told the garage man in Portland to see if I needed oil and to put it in if I did."

"I suggest," he advised, "that in the future you look yourself—and see that the oil is actually put in. It is fairly important, you know—or should!"

"Oh—pish!" she retorted.

She added, quite as if it were all his fault instead of hers: "What are you going to do about it except talk?"

"Nothing. Except leave your car here and take you along with me until we come to some place where I can drop you!"

"How chivalrous! But I'm headed for Quebec, you know"——

"And I'm headed the other way. Sorry, but"——

"You were born that way, I suppose," she commented. "Run along, Wiggy—I'll wait until somebody going my way comes [illegible]

"You probably won't have to w[illegible] long. That plan is worthy of the [illegible] that conceived it," he assured her. [illegible] night traffic along this road is heavy [illegible]

"Are you trying to be sarcastic [illegible]

"Not at all. The trouble is that y[illegible] have no way of telling whether the [illegible] you try to stop is driven by a bootleg[illegible] or a hijacker"——

"What's a hijacker?" interr[illegible] Nancy.

"An estimable gentleman who persuades the [illegible] legger of the error of his ways—with the [illegible] of a sawed-off shotgun. And having persuaded [illegible] proceeds to confiscate his cargo and divert it t[illegible] own ends"——

"Are you a movie fan?" she inquired, [illegible] "I've heard that the movies affect the young [illegible] way."

"Do try to be sensible for once—even if it is [illegible] effort," he suggested. "They call this road [illegible] Alley. You can't possibly stay here"——

"Can't I?" she asked, sweetly. "Who is [illegible] to prevent me? . . . Oh, don't glare at [illegible] along. It's after dark and you won't feel safe [illegible] you're indoors."

Naturally, she knew very well he couldn't [illegible] her. She was merely baiting him. He——

"Then stay!" said he, and departed forthwith.

And Nancy's pretty mouth popped open again [illegible]

"I should worry," she assured herself as the [illegible] swallowed him.

And in spite of herself she did just that. [illegible] deed, when the headlights of a car again bore d[illegible] upon her she had to advise herself sternly not [illegible] silly before she could place herself in its path. [illegible] she was prepared this time to move fast, if [illegible] proved necessary.

This time it didn't. The car stopped short.

"You," Wig announced, "may be a little [illegible] I refuse to leave you here."

And, without preface or apology, he picked [illegible] up and slammed her down beside the driver's [illegible]

"You'll stay there," he added, grimly. "If I [illegible] to tie you. I'm no more enthusiastic about it [illegible] than you are, but that goes as it lays. That's [illegible]

"How," managed Nancy, out of abysmal [illegible] "could I refuse to accept such a pressing—and [illegible] tering—invitation?"

They drove on in silence, a silence that [illegible] until the car stopped. Which it did, within [illegible] yards.

"What's the matter?" asked Nancy.

"I haven't the slightest idea," he [illegible] thrust himself out into the storm to investigate [illegible]

Nancy yawned. It was none of her [illegible]

"Everything seems to be all right," he [illegible] ently. "I don't see"——

"Gas enough?" she suggested.

"Naturally," he retorted, with all a [illegible]

The Lively Tale of a Silk-Sheathed Swashbuckler contempt for such a question. But presently he moved around to the rear of the car to investigate.

One glance at his face when he returned was enough for Nancy.

"You haven't!" she announced, triumphantly.

"I told the garage man in Quebec to fill my tank," he began. "I—don't see"——

"I suggest," she advised him, "that in the future you look yourself—and see that gas is actually put in. It is fairly important, you know—or should. What are you going to do next?"

This was exactly what he was wondering. The obvious suggestion—that there was gas to be had in her tank—did not occur to either.

Nancy was relishing his discomfiture too much to think of remedies. As for Wig, he, as always, was too irritated by her to think clearly or consecutively. He was not, in other words, himself.

"I can stop some passing automobile," he suggested.

"But you can't tell until you've stopped it whether it belongs to a bootlegger or a hijacker," she reminded him. "And supposing it was a hijacker and he stuck one of those sawed-off shotguns under Wiggy's nose"——

"I wish you wouldn't call me that," he snapped.

"So I've suspected, but it's so perfectly descriptive that I can't help it."

He swallowed something but said nothing. Whereupon she added: "My feet are cold and I'm hungry"——

"I'm sorry, but I doubt if there is a house within 10 miles"——

"Look!" she interrupted. "Isn't that a road just ahead? See—there are tracks coming out of it"——

"It's probably only a logging road"—

"I'll bet it leads to a house. And I'm going to find out. Anything is better than standing here. You can stay or follow, as you choose."

But, of course, he stayed only long enough to cover his engine and then he hurried after her. The snow swirled around them, the wind was searching and bitter cold. Speech was difficult, but presently he essayed it.

"You might better have stayed by the car," he said. "This isn't even a road, really. You would never have discovered it if it hadn't been for these tracks. They will lead us on for miles and dump us nowheres"——

He paused abruptly. Logic and reason were with him, as always, but tonight fate was not.

"Truly?" she mocked. "Am I still a contentious woman—or is that a light shining in the wilderness?"

They had come upon it suddenly, almost eerily.

The snow obscured all but the light, and they realized shortly it was set in a window. A moment later Nancy discovered a front door.

"Wait a minute," he protested, catching her arm as she raised it to knock. "I don't like the looks of this place"—

"I do," she retorted, and, freeing her arm, proceeded to knock. "Don't worry. I'll take care of you, Wiggy, dear!"

The isolation of the house and the reputation the locality bore cried aloud for caution. Yet:

"Perhaps," he suggested, "they didn't hear you."

And he kicked the door vigorously.

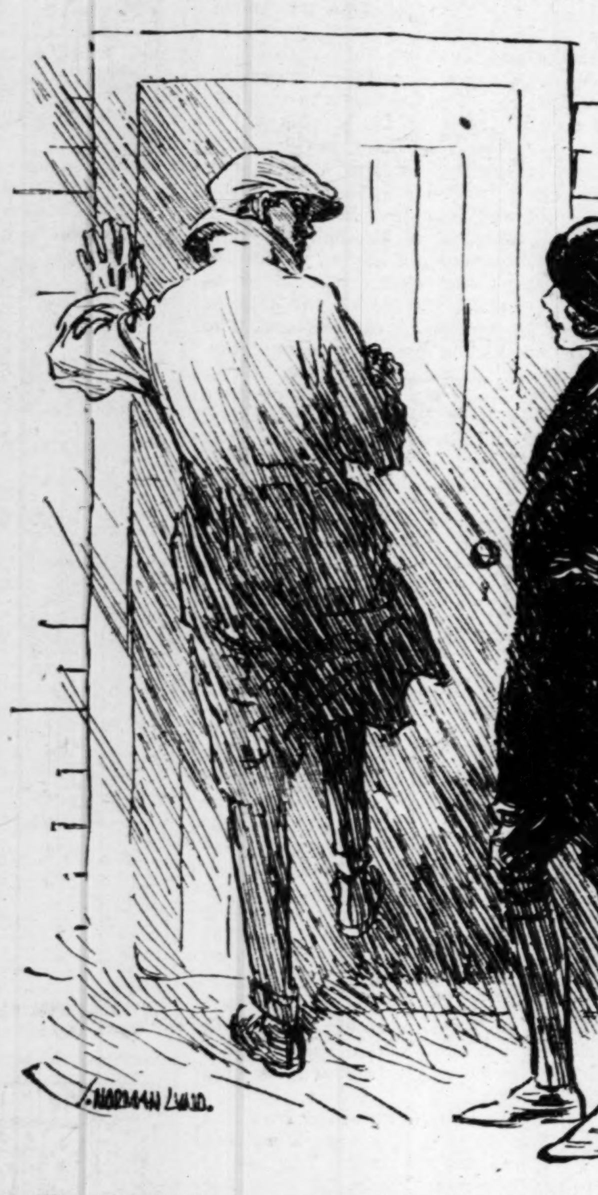
"You do that," she commented, "as if you wish it were I!"

This he let pass. Footsteps were approaching. A bolt was drawn and the front door swung open.

"It took you long enough," growled a voice in the dark.

"That," retorted Wig, "was just what we were thinking about you!"

The door would have slammed in their faces if he had not moved fast.



J. Norman Lynd.

"You kick that," she commented, "as if you wish it were I."

"Oh, no you don't, my friend," he said, and thrust himself in.

The wind, like a giant hand, thrust the door inward upon its hinges. The hall was pitch dark, yet electric with the echoes of a struggle. These endured but for a second that seemed an eternity, reaching a climax in a mighty roar of pain.

Then came Wig's voice, calm and imperturbable, restoring breath to Nancy, transfixed on the threshold.

"Now, just hold still, my friend, until the lady gets a lamp," he advised. And added, to Nancy: "Bring that lamp from the window in the other room, please."

She managed to achieve this, though the blast from the front door almost extinguished it, for her pains.

"Go back!" said Wig, quickly. "Just keep that lamp burning and we'll follow."

And as she retreated he propelled his prisoner before him into what might be called a living room. As Wig kicked the door closed behind him she caught her first adequate glimpse of their inhospitable host.

"Oh," she gasped, involuntarily, for he looked—well, simply awful was the best she could manage, descriptively. Wig knew what manner of man he was dealing with. But of that there was no hint in his voice when he spoke.

"First down for Harvard!" he commented. "Please put the lamp on the table and then remove from this gentleman's hip pocket the automatic I feel quite sure you will find there."

As Nancy's fingers searched out the weapon, the giant writhed anew.

"Steady!" counseled Wig. "Steady, old top!"

But the pressure he was applying to a tortured wrist was not soothing. The giant unleashed a flow of profanity.

"I could stop him—but time presses," Wig apologized. He glanced swiftly about the room—and added: "Give me the automatic, please, and get that rope in the corner and see if you can manage to tie his ankles."

The rope proved heavy and cumbersome. But she would have tried to do his bidding if, as she bent down before him, Wig's prisoner had not turned a somersault and come down with a crash that shook the house.

"O-o-h!" she breathed, coming unsteadily to her feet.

Wig hurled himself upon his adversary and brought the butt of the automatic down upon the giant's head with a force that turned her sick.

"The rope—quick!" he ordered, then.

Nancy got it to him, then watched while he trussed up his man, hands and feet.

"He'll never come closer to death than he did then," commented Wig, grimly, as he rose and surveyed his unconscious foe. "I don't know yet why I didn't shoot him and get it over with — except that I didn't have time to!"

"But what happened?" she demanded, bewilderedly. "I don't understand yet."

"He was about to kick you in the face with that cute little foot of his—hobnails and all," Wig explained. "That's the way with these snowbirds. You never know what they'll do next!"

"Snowbirds?"

"Dope fiends. I had a hunch the minute he spoke that he was one. Lucky for me he didn't happen to be full of hop when I tackled him. Some of the Boches who came over the top in France"——

He stopped short. A car was approaching. The laboring of its engine was audible above the roaring storm. A second later a searchlight flashed flashed a beam though the windows.

"Quick!" Wig demanded, and snatched at her hand. "Upstairs is our best bet now!"

They shot into the snow-filled hall and up a rickety stairway. At the head of this there was a door. He closed it behind them softly, yet swiftly, and they found themselves in absolute darkness.

The car had stopped outside, though its engine remained running. Wig had his arm about Nancy, her heart hammering against his ribs as they listened.

"The devil!" boomed a voice, so startlingly distinct that Nancy jumped. "The door's wide open."

"Aw, Bill's full of hop again!" came another voice, disgustedly.

"Two of 'em, anyway!" murmured Wig. "Let's hope that's all."

The newcomers stamped their way in.

"Hall full of snow!" exclaimed the first speaker—a very loud speaker. "I'll punch Bill's nose for this."

Wig felt a tremor run through Nancy and his arm tightened about her.

"What do we care?" he whispered. "Bill ought to have his nose punched."

The darkness seemed less dense now that their eyes accustomed themselves to it and he caught a glimpse of her face as she glanced up toward him. He became conscious then of how closely he held her, yet he made no move to release her. To the contrary.

"Shh!" he whispered. "Don't move."

She didn't. She came closer, if anything, for the big voice had boomed again.

"Well, I'll be blowed!" it announced.

The men below had entered the living room. "Somebody," announced the other, "must have been here!"

"A regular detective, isn't he?" commented Wig in Nancy's ear. He was curiously exhilarated; he felt able, somehow, to cope with anybody and anything.

But a cold douche was in preparation for him.

"They left Bill's gat behind, anyway," reverberated the loud speaker.

"I did," corroborated Wig. "I left it lying on the floor. Kick me, please."

Instead Nancy looked up at him again.

"They—they sound like the three bears, don't you think?" she managed to whisper.

He squeezed her. Actually!

"Bully girl!" he applauded, voicelessly.

And, curiously enough, she, too, suddenly felt elated.

The men below were moving about, their activities interspersed with comment.

"They didn't get away with any stuff, Charley. It's all here."

"Say, Red—I'll bet it was that Portland gang. We must have scared them off."

"Remember those cars on the road? They parked them there. But it isn't like that Portland gang to run"——

"Pour a bucket of water on Bill and see if that will bring him to. There's something funny about this business. I'm going to take a look around."

Wig groaned softly and Nancy glanced swiftly up at him.

"What a fool I am!" he whispered. "I could have gotten gas from your car!"

To Nancy it seemed, for a second, that she must laugh outright.

"What good does it do to think of that now?" she whispered back.

"None," he admitted. "But it does make me feel like a"——

There he stopped short. A streak of light penetrated under the door that gave him an uncertain sanctuary. One of their unwitting hosts had returned to the hall below, carrying the lamp.

They held their breath.

Then, abruptly, the light disappeared and the hijacker swore.

"Red!" he bellowed.

"What's the matter now?" demanded Red, from the kitchen.

"Bring the searchlight. The lamp has blown out."

"Wait a minute. That boob Bill left the kettle on and it's boiling over."

Nancy felt Wig's arm tighten about her.

"Listen," he whispered. "They've separated and this is our chance. That car is still running outside. I'm going to jump the man in the hall. When I do, you make a dash for the car"——

"But—but you?" she demanded quickly.

"I'll keep the man downstairs busy long enough for you to get away," he promised, grimly. "And you can send help"——

"If you think I'm going to leave you"—— she began, indignantly.

"You do as I say!" he commanded, and though his voice was still a whisper it sounded like a shout to her. "It's the only way."

"I won't," she retorted.

He groaned aloud in exasperation. Then:

"Please, dear!" he begged.

And as if that were not surprising enough, he kissed her, squarely and fairly on her lovely, mutinous mouth.

"For my sake," he added, and, releasing her, he threw open the door.

The man in the hall below was about to relight the lamp. He held this in his left hand while with his right he scratched a match. As Wig opened the door he glanced up, mouth gaping wide. Wig gave him no time to collect his wits. Vaulting the rickety stair rail, he landed fairly and squarely on him.

They went down together with a crash that shook the house. The lamp splintered, the match went out and all was darkness. Then:

"I've got him, Nancy," shouted Wig. "Get out—quick!"

The Christmas Avalanche, as Mail Clerks See It

By THEODORE E. KAISER,
Of the Railway Mail Service.

WHEN the belated Christmas shopper purchases a gift at the eleventh hour, wraps it hastily and hurries to mail it, she drops the parcel into the mail box with a sigh of relief.

"There!" she is likely to say to herself. "Thank goodness, that's over!"

She doesn't worry for fear it will not reach the destination safely. Neither does she realize that her parcel is one of thousands handled hourly in the St. Louis Postoffice during the Christmas rush, and that it may have from 100,000 to 500,000 companions, many identical in size and color, as it travels across the country.

When Mary Smith of Fairmount, Mo., receives an unexpected Christmas gift from a friend at Mount Washington, one-half mile down the line, she rushes to buy something and send it by return mail. She gets her package to the postoffice half an hour before No. 9 is due, tells the village Postmaster how important it is, and trusts to the mail service to do the rest. Her friend calls her that afternoon to tell her that the parcel has arrived.

Mary isn't surprised. She expected it to be there.

She doesn't know that when the Fairmount Postmaster sent the pouch of mail containing her gift to the railroad station for fast mail train No. 9 to pick up, two railway mail clerks had to work with lightninglike rapidity so that the friend at Mount Washington might receive the parcel on time.

The pouch of mail was hung on a crane, to be caught by the train as it sped through the village at 60 miles an hour. Catching these mail pouches safely on board is one of the little acrobatic feats which come as part of the job for the railway mail clerk.

With the train going at the high rate of speed, and Mount Washington just half a mile away, the clerk had only 30 seconds to open that pouch, see what mail was there for the next station, transfer it to the Mount Washington pouch and throw it off. There was no time for loafing.

One man held the pouch ready for the other to put his key in the lock. The strap which held the pouch together was deftly removed, and the clerk went through the mail to see what was designated for Mount Washington. Yes, there were some letters and a small parcel.

With a skillful hand he put them into the pouch which had been made up, and as the train sped through the little town the pouch was thrown off. There it was picked up, taken to the postoffice for distribution, and when Mary's friend called for her mail a half-hour later, she found the Christmas gift!

When a salesman from a New York firm telegraphs from Chicago that he must have his pay check at a downtown St. Louis hotel by a certain time, that he may spend Christmas at home, he arrives in St. Louis and finds the check waiting for him.

"Pretty good service!" he may declare when he finds it. But he is too busy to wonder how it reached there so quickly.

He doesn't know that the clerk on a fast mail train out of New York, who sorted the mail designated for St. Louis, knew in which zone in the downtown district that particular hotel was located, and which carrier would deliver it, although the train clerk had never been in St. Louis in his life.

The clerk took one glance at the letter, pigeonholed it in his memory as going to a certain route in St. Louis, and when he found other letters for this same district placed them in a separate package and labeled them accordingly.

This meant that the package would not be opened until it reached the carrier. The system made it possible for the salesman to get his check at least several hours sooner than if it had gone through the local postoffice for distribution.

These incidents, forming a part of the daily routine of the men who handle the mails, illustrate what the Postoffice Department has in mind when it advises:

"Mail Your Christmas Parcels Early."

A parcel or letter is stamped and mailed, and the sender thinks no more about it until receiving acknowledgment of its receipt. Just what happens to a piece of mail from the time it is mailed until it reaches the addressee forms an interesting story. It is doubtful whether there is any other public service which is so much of a hand-to-hand transaction.

Take a Christmas greeting card, for example—one purchased at a cost of 10 cents and mailed for 2 cents more. Greeting cards inclosed in envelopes are becoming so popular as Christmas remembrances that they are flooding the mails. One man may handle as many as 30,000 during the hours he is on duty.

Dropping one of these little greeting cards into a mail box is like touching a button which sets in motion a series of highly specialized machines. What happens is this:

A carrier in a mail truck collects the card from the mail box along with hundreds of other cards, letters and parcels, takes them by the sackful and speeds away to the postoffice. He unloads the sacks, carries them in and dumps them on a large table.

Then the force of postoffice clerks come into the picture. They stand ready at their stations to receive the mail. The letters are faced all one way, with the address side up for the canceling machine. Six hundred letters per minute is the record of these electrically operated machines.

Once the stamps on the letters are canceled, they are sent to the separating cases. Local mail is picked out first, and the remainder divided into states, which in turn are sent to primary cases, where all the larger cities are separated and tied into packages.

The remainder of the mail is then taken to distributing cases, worked to routes by skilled clerks who know at a glance which section of the city or state is designated by the address. The packages, labeled plainly, are next dispatched to the pouching table.

Here the mail is worked into pouches for the various railway mail trains, each pouch bearing a label showing the train for which it is intended. The man who does the pouching must be an expert. He must know what mail each train leaving the city takes, just what time the train leaves and what connections it makes with other trains.

The pouch label is stamped with his name, and if he should send a package of mail to the wrong train, the error is noted on the label, which is returned to his supervisory official. Errors of this nature are charged against his efficiency record. The clerk who makes up the packages is charged with his errors in the same manner.

When the pouches are ready for dispatch they are hauled to the various mail trains by laborers, who must have strong arms for pulling and loading.

The service of the railway postoffice is, perhaps, less familiar to the general public than that of the carrier or the clerk within the city postoffice. All day, or all night—whichever the schedule may be—the clerk stays at his task in his corner of the mail car, going over each piece of mail which comes under his jurisdiction as the train travels from town to town.

Before the mail is unloaded from the trucks the clerk is at his work making preparations for the trip. The car is "dressed," or made ready, for receiving the pouches. When the pouches are thrown on they are opened at once and the mail arranged for distribution to the towns and villages along the route, and to connecting lines.

For example, on a mail train traveling between St. Louis and Kansas City, the "local mail" is made up in three sections. By local mail is meant that which is to be distributed to towns between here and Kansas City.

The first section includes the mail to points between St. Louis and Jefferson City, the second to points between Jefferson City and Sedalia, and the third includes points between Sedalia and Kansas City as well as Kansas City connections.

All other mail is made up in packages to other cities not on the route or made up under a state label.

On a run between St. Louis and Kansas City the average number of letters handled is close to 13,000 per trip. During the Christmas rush this is practically doubled.

The Discovery of a New White Race

young men in control of their people, who will encourage them along modern ways of development. Completing the party are the father and mother of Marguerite, the white girl, both of the light brown type, and both having had a White Indian mother. The group now in this country comprises, therefore, typical representatives of the leading types of the San Blas and adjacent White Indian peoples.

Who are the White Indians? That is a question which science cannot now definitely answer. A committee of scientists, composed of Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, anthropologist of the U. S. National Museum; Dr. C. B. Davenport, director of the department of genetics of the Carnegie Institution, and Dr. C. W. Stiles of the U. S. Public Health Service, after studying the White Indian children, have reached this conclusion:

"The problem of the White Indians is one of much scientific interest, but its satisfactory solution is only possible by a detailed and all-sided study of these people and their families in their own country. The committee is of the opinion that these investigations should be conducted simultaneously by anthropologists, geneticists and pathologists."

The White Indians may be the beginning of a new white race, perhaps duplicating what happened many thousands of years ago when the present white race was evolved from dark-skinned stock. If this is so, the White Indians are what are known as biologic "sports," a condition of extreme scientific interest because of its bearing on the biological problems of man.

Marsh now is organizing another expedition to penetrate the White Indian country next January. The 1925 party will include scientists capable of making a thorough study of the origin of this new white race.

One of the very last unknown corners of the globe will be explored, the mysteries of a strange white empire will be revealed, a new race will be explained to the world.

Measuring Health With a Tapeline

comparing the bi-lateral reach with the stature. If the bi-lateral reach is greater than the stature, the nervous system is highly or even overdeveloped. In children this denotes great activity of the mind, great sensitiveness. Such children are often encouraged to study too much, just because of their 'brilliance'; they are 'pushed' through school; they are fed with excitement. Such treatment of a nervous or 'erethistic' child is nothing short of vicious.

"If the bi-lateral reach is shorter than the stature, a sluggish, torpid, nervous condition is indicated. In children this deficiency of reach indicates 'slowness' or 'backwardness'; but they should not on this account be classified as 'subnormal,' as they so frequently are in the new psychological tests. They should merely be stimulated to action, and should be encouraged to take as much exercise as possible. With good breathing exercises and dieting, their deficiencies can easily be overcome.

"The negro usually has a reach far in excess of his stature; this accounts for the vivid negro temperament, for the negro invention of jazz. The Chinese, on the other hand, have as a rule very short arms in proportion to their height. This accounts for their calmness and placidity, for their occasional sluggishness.

"Now let us look at some of the other measurements. What, for instance, will be the result of a large chest, of one whose circumference is greater than half the stature? The lungs will be large, also the heart and arteries. The functions will be vigorous; oxygen will be supplied in abundance; metabolism will be active; the general appearance will be one of robustness; the complexion ruddy. But persons of this type will be by no means free from disease or predisposition to disease. Because of their abundant vitality they are strongly inclined to abuse their organs. They indulge excessively in the good things of the table—and are victims of indigestion, chronic liver troubles, and particularly of severe acute diseases; pneumonia, pleurisy and acute affections of the heart. Their diseases are always very active. Their predispositions can only be overcome through very moderate and careful exercise, and through the practice of intelligent abstinence.

"A deficient chest circumference, on the other hand, denotes a primitive or infantile development. The lungs, heart and arteries are poorly developed; the functions are weak and sluggish; there is insufficient oxygen, poor nutrition, little vitality, low resistance. Yet the mortality is no higher among persons of this class than among their opposites. This is because they are less inclined to abuse themselves. But many become habitual invalids and drag on thus for years. Their acute diseases develop slowly. They never have high temperatures. These people must be properly stimulated; must be made to exercise vigorously.

"As to diet, there are always three things to be considered: the individual's age, his structural proportions and his occupation. Children, for instance, whose bones are gradually hardening, must have skeleton-building foods; those containing salts, lime, phosphorus and iron. They must have relatively more proteids than adults; that is to say, more body-builders, such as eggs and beef. Pure milk is, of course, the best possible food at first, but it must be gradually assisted by starches and salts—to be found in fresh fruit and vegetables, which are also rich in vitamines.

"The amount of vegetables that one consumes should depend on the relative size of one's lower abdomen, in which the intestinal tract is situated. Persons with relatively small abdomens must not eat many vegetables, or constipation will surely result. Those with relatively large abdomens must eat many vegetables—but they must not eat fatty foods or carbohydrates, such as soft, mushy cereals, or potatoes with butter and gravy. They must resolutely deny their craving for much meat.

"Most children are overfed. The organs of their upper abdomen are thereby overdeveloped, and their lower abdomen is consequently overloaded and choked with waste material.

"Here is a good diet for the average child between 2 and 5 years of age:

"For breakfast: One-half hour before eating, a medium-sized glass of orange juice, or a dish of well-cooked prunes, or an apple, either raw or baked. For the meal, some whole-wheat product; oatmeal, brown rice or corn-meal mush, with cream, and sweetened with honey or maple syrup, and a glass of milk.

"For dinner: Occasionally a cup of vegetable soup; an egg in any form, except fried, twice a week; a slice of crisp bacon once a week; cottage cheese two or three times a week; some cooked vegetables or a salad; whole-wheat bread and butter; fruit or custards, and a glass of milk.

"For supper: A baked potato, brown rice or baked macaroni, a graham or corn muffin, a glass of milk; dates, figs or a baked apple, or a dish of good ice cream.

"The adoption of diets such as these, together with regular breathing exercises, will be found to add materially to a structurally deficient person's power of resistance to disease. But they must always be regulated by the findings of the bodily measurements, as compared with the normal or healthy specifications.

"I will cite only one of my cases to demonstrate how these new principles actually work out in practice. You will find more in my book.

"This was a young woman of 20, a college student. She was the daughter of a well-to-do manufacturer, reared in a home of culture and refinement. Her measurements were: Stature, 167.5 centimeters; bi-lateral reach, 162.5; chest circumference, 74; length of sternum, 15.2; length of upper abdomen, 21; lower abdomen, 16.5; width of pelvis, 28.5; length of spine, 65.

"Compared with the normal, the reach was 5 centimeters deficient, the sternum, 1.5, the length of the spine 2, the length of the upper abdomen 3.2 excessive, the lower normal, the width of the pelvis 1.7 excessive.

"The functions in consequence were: Insufficient respiration, oxygen starvation, poor circulation, poor nutrition although the abdominal organs were all large, low nerve force and little resistance.

"Her appearance denoted good nourishment. She was up to the normal in weight, but the quality of her tissues was poor, being soft and with little resistance or tone. This was so because of the lack of oxygen. The abdominal organs performed their part in the digestive process well enough, but owing to the deficiency in oxygen supply, there was insufficient manufacture of good red blood cells. This even though she was somewhat disposed to overweight.

"All her life she had been a victim of catarrhal colds; frequently ill with influenza; had had all the eruptive diseases, such as measles. Though ambitious and energetic, she was seldom able to carry out her plans succesfully. The beginning of a task would be conducted with energy and spirit, but she would be exhausted long before she finished her undertaking. Monday was always a satisfactory day in her class work, but Friday was frequently a day of physical and mental exhaustion and torment.

"The diagnosis of this case was exceedingly simple, as was also the treatment appropriate to her need. And this, I may say, restored her to normal in the course of a few months.

"The whole system I have been outlining to you may seem terribly obvious. The principles are self-evident, and so is their application. There is no mystery about them, nothing dangerous, nothing very difficult to understand or to apply to our daily lives. And yet they are really new; few physicians recognize them. But I am hoping that the fruit of De Giovanni's labors to establish this new science of health will soon flourish in our country."

Miss D'Artagnan

But Nancy never stirred. She was still savoring that surprising kiss.

Then, abruptly, an electric torch flashed on the wall below. It revealed Wig pinning down his quarry but left her in the dark.

"Get up," snapped Red, coming from the kitchen to see what was the matter.

There was nothing for Wig to do but to obey. He got up, but his late adversary did not. There was, after all, nothing very big about him save his voice. And Wig's attack had pitched him head foremost toward the wainscoting.

"Snap your hands up and keep them up," menaced Red, "or I'll shoot you like a dog."

And again Wig obeyed. He knew that Nancy had lost her chance and he could have wept. But more wisely, hoping against hope, he attempted to create a diversion.

"The only time I ever tried to shoot a dog I flunked it," he observed, conversationally. "He looked at me so appealingly, with his big brown eyes—just as I'm looking at you now"——

"Cut the comedy!" advised Red. "You didn't come alone. Where's the rest of your gang? Come clean—and make it quick."

"They're outside," lied Wig. "And if I were you I'd be careful with that gun. There's seven of them coming and coming fast"——

"Is that so!" spat Red. "Well, they may crack me, but I'll get you first, kid, believe me. Say your prayers and say them fast!"

Then he fired. But not deliberately. The automatic went off in the same way that the breath went out of him—involuntarily.

It was his first impression that the roof had fallen. He revised that almost at once. In a free-for-all he was credited with a prowess equal to his weight in wild cats. His second impression was that he had at last encountered this.

The automatic, still smoking, slipped from his hand, the electric searchlight, still lighted, rolled across the floor. Wig retrieved them both instantly.

"Quit, Nancy!" he cried. "Quit!"

Nancy did not even hear him. She had reverted to the primitive; indeed, she never did have any clear idea of just what happened after she, too, had launched her attack over the stair rail. She continued to attack the still bewildered Red with a fury that would have won her a Croix de Guerre from the old King Berserker himself until Wig gripped her shoulder and pulled her off.

She glanced up at him then, breathless and a little dazed, but never so lovely.

"He—he was going to shoot you," she murmured, like a bewildered child.

"He might have shot you!" said Wig, sternly, and thrusting her behind him he addressed Red. "Get up and keep your hands up," he snapped. "You missed, but I shan't."

"I'm not afraid of that gun," replied Red. "If you'll keep that hellcat off of me"——

The front door swinging open with a bang, cut him short. Two men, each of them armed with a sawed-off shotgun, menaced them from the threshold.

"Up with your hands," ordered one. "And make it snappy. The game's up—we've got you surrounded."

"But," protested Nancy, "we're not"——

"You, too," suggested the speaker, with a glance toward her that was not without tribute. "Some class to you, kid, and I hate to bother a lady, but you're included."

"Lady!" murmured Red. "The devil!"

"This," intervened Wig, "is an ungraceful and wholly unnecessary position, so far as we"—he indicated Nancy—"are concerned. If you are what are so aptly described as arms of the law, I suggest that you let us rest ours while we explain"——

"Explain to the Judge," suggested the other. "That's his business, listening to explanations."

"Doubtless," commented Wig, "you hope to go far in your chosen profession, but I should say that you were hopelessly handicapped. You lack discernment."

"Educated guy, aren't you? King of the hijackers, I suppose." He turned and called over his shoulder: "Four of 'em right in the hallway, chief. Want to look 'em over?" Evidently the chief did. He came in.

"Little family quarrel?" he asked, genially, his glance going from the still unconscious loud speaker to Wig. "You boys ought to know better than to fight among yourselves and"—he glanced at Nancy—"especially with a lady present." But his tone changed abruptly as he added: "Where's the big fellow? He's the one I wanted particularly."

"Excuse me," said Wig meekly. "But if you'll look in the living room perhaps you'll find him. I had him already tied up and ready to ship and was about to get these friends of his done up, too, when your men interrupted."

The chief's eyes came back to him.

"What's this you're giving me? Where do you fit in?"

"As to where I fit in—did you notice two cars out on the State road?" Wig inquired.

"Yes—that's what tipped us off. We've been looking for this place"——

"One of the cars belongs to me. The other belongs to—permit me to introduce you—to Miss Nancy Taltonsall of Boston. A prominent member of the younger set there. Assure her, please, that she can lower her arms."

The chief glanced at Nancy. "Put 'em down," he said, then.

"Thank you," acknowledged Wig, and lowered his arms as well.

"I didn't say you"——

"You can apologize for that, later," Wig reassured him. "To resume, we left the cars as you saw them, both unfortunately being out of commission, and went looking for shelter. We arrived here—inopportunely, I fear"——

"You mean to say you wandered into this nest of hijackers by accident?"

"Not, I can assure you, by design. Believe it or not, they were positively inhospitable"——

"How do I know that all this isn't a song and dance?"

"Being a detective, you must have noticed that the registration plates on our cars were both from Massachusetts. And, of course, you noted that the numbers were under 5000, which means something to you—low numbers in Massachusetts being family heirlooms, as it were. And, finally, permit me to show you my registration." He produced the paper and handed it to the chief.

"I should," he added, "ask Miss Taltonsall to show you hers, but—did you ever know a true woman who carried it with her?"

The chief glanced at the registration, then handed it back. "You say that the big fellow is in the other room?" he asked, in quite a different tone. "Let's take a look at him."

"Admission should be charged," said Wig. "He's worth it."

The chief, followed by Nancy and Wig, entered the living room.

"As I left him—still dead to the world," commented Wig.

"He's the man I want—there's a thousand reward out for him!" announced the chief.

"What's he wanted for?"

"Murder—and a few little things like that."

"Well," said Wig, "you can have him—and keep the change—in exchange for five gallons of gas."

"Do you mean that—reward and everything?"

"He's all yours—with the other two thrown in for good measure!"

And Wig turned to Nancy. "Famished?" he asked.

"Why—I am," she admitted, now that she had time to think of it.

"Let's forage," he suggested, "while the chief transfers that promised gas to my car."

They passed out into the kitchen. The kettle boiled lustily on the stove. In the chill pantry they discovered cold roast beef, fresh bread and butter and a whole apple pie. They set the kitchen table and Nancy made tea. And then, by the light of an unshaded oil lamp, they sat down and ate.

One might have believed that they were too hungry to talk. But actually a curious constraint had fallen between them.

The chief came in just as Wig thrust back his empty plate.

"The boys have taken the gas out to your car—I always carry an extra can," he announced, genially. "And we've got handcuffs on all our friends, nice and pretty. Say—how did you get them, anyway?"

Wig told him very briefly.

"You didn't even have a gat with you?" he demanded, incredulously. And as Wig shook his head, he added: "Well, that beats me. Fool's luck—if you don't mind my saying so."

"I quite agree," said Wig.

"Where are you going to spend the night? It's snowing harder than ever"——

"You tell me," suggested Wig.

"There's a place down the road a bit that used to take tourists—it ain't much for looks, but it's clean. Of course, they're leery now after dark about strangers, but I'll fix it up for you if you say."

Wig glanced at Nancy. "What do you say?" he asked.

"Anything that you do," she replied, without meeting his eyes.

"You're on, chief," said Wig promptly.

"I'll fix it up," he promised, and departed.

They were alone again. They were silent for a second and then:

"I don't think it was fair what he said about fool's luck!" protested Nancy. "It wasn't luck at all. You were simply wonderful"——

"Anything but that!" he retorted, with a grimace. "And fools do rush in where angels fear to tread"——

"It was I that rushed in"——

"But you are an angel!" he broke in impetuously, which was the last thing he had intended to say. Hastily, he added: "Anyway, you came awfully close to being one. And it was you who saved the day. What you did took three times the courage that anything I attempted did"——

"I was scared stiff!" she confessed. "But—I couldn't just stand there while he shot you, could I?"

"I deserved it," he remarked, wryly. "First, for not thinking of the gas in your car and, secondly, for scurrying upstairs without taking that automatic. In fact, I should say that everything I've done tonight would indicate a C-minus intellect at least!"

Nancy said nothing for a moment. Then:

"Everything?" she murmured, so low that he hardly heard her.

His pulse hammered as he remembered the kiss he had given her—unpremeditated, yet somehow inevitable. He took a swift, involuntary step toward her, only to stop short. She—she simply couldn't mean that!

The lashes that gave her eyes sanctuary lifted, as she gave him a swift, wordless glance.

"No!" he almost shouted. "If you mean that, I'd do it again and"—— And he did.

"I'm sorry," he apologized, releasing her as swiftly as he had caught her to him. "But you deserved it!"

"Sorry?" echoed Nancy. "Why, I—I hoped you'd take the hint"——

"Hoped I'd take the hint?" he looked dazed. "But—but you've always detested me"——

"You never looked as if you exactly approved of me!" she reminded him.

"I always felt like—like spanking you," he admitted, goaded to it.

Nancy's eyes came up to his again. In them there was that which left him breathless.

"I wonder," she murmured, "if what you really wanted to do all the time was to—to kiss me. Wouldn't that explain everything?"

And he knew that it did—so far as he was concerned. "But—but you, Nancy?" he persisted, still incredulous.

"Perhaps—it would explain me, too. Because—you were so stupid and slow—about doing it."

He took a deep, prodigious breath. "I," he promised, "will make up for lost time!"

And he started doing so, forthwith

How Englishwomen "Made the Fur Fly"

of. She attended the opening of Parliament. And she brought her emancipated logic to criticise what she saw.

"The time has come for English people to spend their money for the right things," she said. "When I saw the King in his ermine and jewels; when I saw the Queen, her corsage ablaze with diamonds, I said to myself: 'Out with this humbug.'"

But the initiative of English women which has voted so many of their number into Parliament displays its spiritedness between campaigns.

Consider Dorothy Jewson, whose family have held office in Norwich since William the Conqueror. Miss Jewson is a woman of means, but there are some things in England of which she doesn't approve. So it happened once when she was due to go to Norwich to make a speech she was confronted with a dilemma.

There was a train strike, and "scab" crews were operating the roads. Miss Jewson, with a gleam in her eye, put on her walking boots and started out to walk the distance—115 miles. She didn't approve of that strike. And when at last she drew into Norwich, dusty but triumphant, she found the strike settled according to labor's demands.

"You won that strike for us, when you did that hundred miles," the leaders called out to the great politician of Norwich.

But Miss Jewson, late M. P., stood by her guns no better than Miss Susan Lawrence, also late M. P. Miss Lawrence comes of "gentle" people in England, and the family home is in the fashionable West End. Yet she adopted socialism and became Government Agent of Poor Relief in a squalid quarter of London.

Once, in her district, she refused to enforce a bylaw which seemed to her unfair to the poor devils of her quarter, and she went to jail for six weeks rather than compromise with her conscience.

Yes, these emancipated English women take their politics seriously enough to go to jail for their beliefs.

And even into the lighter matters they carry their splendid independence. As when the women members of the late Ministry got together for a conference as to how they should dress in the House of Commons. Lady Astor, the first woman M. P., and the only one for a few years, had gone garbed quietly in a sort of uniform of black, with a little white collar.

Lady Terrington voiced her protest.

"Let's carry poetry into Parliament," she suggested. "I'm going to start things by wearing my very best fur coat, my silk gowns and my hat with the ospreys. I think the men will like it."

Lady Astor held up a warning finger.

"Ah, my dear," she said, "when you get to be a veteran like me, you will not give the men more than they can stand—at one time. Why don't you omit the ospreys?"

Then Dorothy Jewson spoke with strength of mind.

"Leave the hats altogether," she advised. "Let's move to have fasteners placed under the seats for our hats. I really feel it will be either headaches, or no hats."

But, of course, these were minor matters.

A servant girl, three peeresses, a dry goods clerk, a housewife and an actress all have sat in Commons as the advanced of their sex in England and the world. None of them has been what the English call a "bench warmer." They all have been fit inheritors of that campaigning old Duchess of Devonshire. They all have been "emancipated women."

Perhaps a little more emancipated than American women; but with the same conditions, and the same need, it is more than likely American women would prove themselves at least the equals of their English sisters.

He "tuned out" his cough when he picked up "Station R E M"

Radio only occupies his leisure hours, for Mr. Owen S. Young of 215 West Berkley St., Germantown, Philadelphia, teaches classes in cartooning, in addition to drawing cartoons himself.

Not long ago a severe cough kept him home, stopping his own work and depriving his class of its teacher.

Then he read a REM ad! Listen:

"For almost a month recently I had a cold and cough that I simply couldn't get rid of. It was so bad I could neither teach my art classes nor even do my cartoon work at home. At night I was coughing so I could hardly sleep.

"Then I noticed Mr. Abt's enthusiastic recommendation of REM in the Bulletin—how it had fixed his cough—so I got a bottle at Day's Drug Store, Wayne Ave. and Apsley St., Germantown, out near where I live.

"It only took a few doses to relieve my cough and it's never failed me since whenever I've had need of it.

"I'm sure my recommendation has placed REM in not less than twenty homes in Germantown."

Grateful users who have passed the good word along are largely responsible for REM'S widespread popularity.

A special ingredient in REM—effective, harmless—is not found in ordinary cough syrups. Clinging to your throat as it is swallowed, REM spreads a soothing, healing film over the sore, inflamed membranes.

No Opiates in REM. And pleasant to take.

Ask your druggist for REM—the blue package with the round orange label. You can have your money back if it doesn't help you. You're the Judge and Jury.

Introductory size bottle, only 60c
Economy size, $1.00

for Christmas

WHEN you give the New Eversharp or Wahl Pen you have the comfortable feeling that your gifts are the very newest and best of their kind.

Made by the foremost manufacturer of fine writing equipment, cased in the beauty and dignity of precious metals, boxed like an article from a Fifth Avenue jeweler's—Eversharp or Wahl Pen, or a combination set, are gifts which will bring you a real glow of pleasure in the giving. And they will win the appreciation of the hardest-to-please persons on your Christmas list.

Remember, too, that this beautiful pen and pencil are gifts of thoughtfulness. They are personal articles, like the watch and other constantly worn personal jewelry. They enter into the intimate daily life of the recipient.

They are luxury itself—as a gift should be. Yet they are useful and used—as you like a gift to be.

You will find Eversharp or Wahl Pen or combination sets at prices to suit every situation. If he has an Eversharp, match it with a Wahl Pen. Eversharps as low as $1. Sets from $6.50 to $100.

Be sure to see them. There's a store near you displaying Eversharp and Wahl Pen.

Free! Sportsman Model Cigarette Case with GEM RAZOR

Complete $1

HERE'S a famous razor in aristocratic garb—the Gem de Luxe "Sportsman" outfit. First, there's the Gem frame—we've guaranteed millions of them for a lifetime, and they're all living up to the guarantee. Then, there are the Gem Double Life Blades—you don't know what perfect shaves are until you've tried the blades that a famous inventor perfected. All this comes in the patented metal two compartment container which fits compactly in a beautiful cigarette case—a real cigarette case which you'll be proud to carry.

Remember that this case, itself worth more than a dollar is yours in combination with the Gem de Luxe Safety Razor.

It is exquisitely designed—wrought of heavy metal burnished to a silver lustre, and chased with a rich basket weave design. The interior is heavily plated. There is no name or mark on case to mar its beauty.

The Gem razor outfit fits snugly in the case—just lift it out, fill up the case with your favorite cigarettes, and there you are!

This case alone could not be bought for less than $1.00—and yet, for a limited time, your dealer is authorized to give it with the $1.00 Gem Safety Razor Outfit. The offer is on—take advantage of it now.

And though you'll be pleased with the case—you'll be more pleased still with the swiftness, smoothness and perfection of Gem shaves. They're . . . wonderful!

$1.00 Complete
LADIES—Make it His present for Christmas—or your own. Besides the model illustrated there are several other valuable de luxe editions of the Gem Safety Razor at $1.00 complete. If your dealer cannot supply you write us.

You see slender women everywhere!

ON Fifth Avenue . . . at Newport . . . Palm Beach—at every rendezvous of refined and fashionable people, you see slender women.

Would you, madame, be among these slender women who seem, not to follow, but to set the fashion? Thanks to Marmola Tablets, you can.

Marmola Tablets offer a pleasant way to reduce—to retain or regain a graceful slender figure without exercises or diets. Thousands of men and women each year regain healthy, slender figures this way.

Try them and see what a pleasure it is to be slender again!

Marmola Tablets are one dollar a box at all drug stores or from us direct in a plain wrapper, postpaid. Marmola Company, 1700 General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich.

EVEREADY FLASHLIGHTS & BATTERIES
—they last longer

To everyone on the list—give Eveready flashlights!

No. 2672—Eveready Focusing Spotlight with the 300-foot range.

Eveready Unit Cells fit and improve all makes of flashlights. They insure brighter light and longer battery life.

AGAIN the Christmas season! Suggestions and counter-suggestions . . . "Give this" . . . "Give that." Here's the happy solution: Give flashlights. Everybody wants an Eveready.

Because it is the perfect portable light for every purpose and purse; because it is a gift that is good-looking, practical and safe; because it appeals alike to young and old; because it does so much and costs so little.

Everybody wants an Eveready. There are Eveready Focusing Flashlights with 200, 300 or 500 foot range. Great for motorists, motor-boatists and all outdoor uses.

Broad-beam lights for Mother and Dad to use around the house. Handsome nickel or ribbon-black cases. Also aluminum flashlights that fit the pocket. Fine for the youngsters and grown-ups too.

The improved Eveready line comprises twenty-two fine flashlights in four general types. New designs. New features. But old prices —65c to $4.50, complete with battery—anywhere in the U. S. A.

Buy from any electrical or hardware dealer, drug, sporting goods or general store, garage or auto accessory shop.

Whether they danced or whether they listened—

The same clear tone always filled the room

A cross section of the Sonora tone chamber. In all Sonora instruments the "horn" or tone chamber is made of many thicknesses of wafer-thin veneer laid with alternating grain to neutralize vibration.

AFTER dinner they gathered in the music room.

Suddenly a beautiful burst of harmony sounded forth. It was the Philharmonic playing a Beethoven Symphony.

Later they began to dance. This time the music was the latest popular melody played by a saxophone sextette.

In both cases the same clear tone filled the room. For it made no difference what selection was played —or whether it came from radio waves in the air or from the grooves of a record. With the Sonora each separate tone is reproduced in all its original clear beauty.

FOR ELEVEN YEARS Sonora has had one single aim—perfect tone reproduction. Into the heart of every Sonora instrument—phonograph, radio-phonograph, or radio speaker —is built the famous Sonora tone chamber, an exclusive patent.

The Sonora tone chamber is all wood—but not solid wood, for, like solid metal, thick or thin, solid wood will add vibrations of its own.

Instead, ply upon ply of thin, seasoned wood is moulded around a form as perfect as the science of acoustics can make it. Each wafer-thin layer is set at cross-grain to the next to neutralize vibration. Not a single tone is added—none taken away.

Perfect tone—from air or record

Whether it be a symphony interpreted with the delicate beauty of stringed instruments—a marvelous voice—or the exhilarating rhythm of a foxtrot—Sonora reproduces it in all its original color. That is why Sonora is a favorite today among music lovers all over the country.

There is a Sonora for every home—and to fit every purse: from the Radio Speaker for $30 or the compact portable at $50 to the most beautiful period models—gems of the cabinet maker's art. In every Sonora you find two things —matchless reproduction built into an exquisite piece of furniture.

Go to your music dealer and ask him to play the Sonora for you. You will find after hearing it that tone reproduction has taken on a new meaning for you. Sonora Phonograph Co., 279 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

A "TANGLED COMIC" will appear every week for twelve weeks as a Comic Section feature of the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Captions, characters and scenes will be disarranged as if the artist had torn the completed picture into scraps and reassembled the scraps without regard for the original drawings. The artist does not always spell correctly, and you must correct his misspelled words.

Cash prizes will be awarded to Post-Dispatch readers who rearrange the Tangled Comic and submit their solutions to the Tangled Comic Editor.

331 prizes totaling $1100 will be awarded each week.

Four Grand Prizes totaling $1800 will be awarded after the solutions of the 12th Tangled Comic problem have been received here.

Weekly prizes will be awarded in the order of merit, solutions submitted being judged according to—

1st—Accuracy of arrangement of the Tangled Comic in its original state, having regard for position of characters, sequence of scenes, the "conversation" of the characters and the correction of misspelled words, etc.

2d—Neatness of the finished solution submitted.

3d—Skill, originality or unique method of rearrangement, as disclosed by the solution submitted.

After twelve weeks, grand prizes will be awarded by the same tests. Any solution, of any of the twelve different Tangled Comics, submitted within the required time limits, is eligible for a grand prize.

Solutions must be submitted every week by mail, addressed to Tangled Comic Editor, the Post-Dispatch, 12th and Olive Streets, St. Louis, Mo., and must be received here not later than noon of Saturday, the sixth day after date of publication.

All solutions must be accompanied by an identifying note, giving name and complete address (including P. O. Box, R. F. D. route and box or street and number, town, state, etc.) of the sender. No solutions will be acknowledged and none returned.

Awards will be announced in all editions of the Sunday Post-Dispatch of date two weeks after date of publication, of each Tangled Comic, together with a black and white reproduction of the correct solution.

Everybody may compete for a share of the prizes offered, excepting only employes of the Post-Dispatch and members of their families.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Your solution contains writing when you correct a word in your Tangled Comic. This makes it subject to first class or letter postage.

If you do not put the required amount of postage upon your solution, when mailing, it is very likely to be sent to the Dead Letter Office in Washington, when name of sender is not visible, or withheld by the Post Office Department until you can be notified of postage due. This delay might cause your contribution to arrive too late for consideration. Therefore, make sure you have the required amount of postage upon your entry, as the Post-Dispatch will only accept prepaid mail.

In the event of a tie for any of the prizes offered, the amount of the prize will be paid to each participant in the tie.

Only one solution may be submitted by any person for one of the weekly prizes.

The right is reserved by the Post-Dispatch to accept the decision of the Tangled Comic Editor and his art staff associates as final in the award and payment of the cash prizes offered, and the submission of solutions will be construed as acceptance of this condition by those who compete for prizes.

WEEKLY CASH PRIZE DISTRIBUTION—

$100.00	in cash for the most meritorious solution submitted.
50.00	in cash for the solution next in order of merit.
100.00	in four prizes of $25 each for solutions next in order of merit.
250.00	in twenty-five prizes of $10 each for solutions next in order of merit.
300.00	in sixty prizes of $5.00 each for solutions next in order of merit.
100.00	in forty prizes of $2.50 each for solutions next in order of merit.
200.00	in two hundred prizes of $1.00 each for solutions next in order of merit.
$1100.00	Weekly Total for Twelve Weeks.

GRAND PRIZE DISTRIBUTION—At end of competition.

$1000.00	in each for the most meritorious solution during the 12 weeks period.
500.00	in cash for the solution second in oder of merit.
200.00	in cash for the solution third in order of merit.
100.00	in cash for the solution fourth in order of merit.
$1800.00	GRAND PRIZE TOTAL.

WELL- CHRISTMAS IS RIGHT ON TOP OF US AGAIN ISN T IT? GEE-E WHIZ!
THAT OLD HOLIDAY SURE DOES ROLL AROUND QUICK DOESN'T IT?
WHY IT SEEMS ONLY A FEW WEEKS AGO SINCE LAST CHRISTMAS - AND NOW- HERE WE ARE AGAIN
TIME CERTAINLY DOES ROLL AROUND-- THE YEARS GO BY LIKE A ROW OF TELEGRAPH POLES!
WELL I SUPPOSE YOU ARE WORRYING NOW ABOUT WHAT YOU'RE GOING TO GIVE ME FOR CHRISTMAS EH?
ARE WE GOING TO SEND OUT ANY CARDS THIS YEAR? I'M IN FAVOR OF NOT DOING IT THIS YEAR
?
OO- WOW! WHAT A DIRTY LOOK I GOT THAT TIME! WHAT DO YOU S'POSE IS THE CAUSE OF - SAY VI WHAT IN SAM HILL'S THE MATTER WITH YOU - WHAT HAVE I DONE ANYWAY? — WH-
THAT'S JUST IT, YOU HAVEN'T DONE ANYTHING! YOU STAND AROUND AND LET ME LIFT THAT HEAVY BOX OF BOOKS AND NEVER THINK OF HELPING - JUST STAND THERE AND GAS ABOUT NOTHING!
I THINK YOU'RE THE MOST THOUGHTLESS MAN I EVER KNEW
J'EVER SEE OR HEAR ANYTHING LIKE IT
NOW VI- I DON'T WANT TO ARGUE ANY MORE ABOUT IT - I'M TOO TIRED AND SLEEPY-- YOU'VE BEEN OFF YOUR FEED ALL DAY - YOU'VE GOT ONE OF THOSE SPELLS WHERE YOU THINK YOU'RE THE WORST TREATED WOMAN IN THE WORLD
I DON'T THINK YOU REALIZE HOW VERY VERY THOUGHTLESS YOU ARE--- I OUGHT TO BE USED TO IT BY THIS TIME - YOU SEEM TO THINK BECAUSE I'M YOUR WIFE IT EXCUSES YOU FROM DOING THE RIGHT THING -
AND SO- FAR- FAR INTO THE NIGHT--

"What are you going to do this aft?" pipes up Pinkey as the three boys burst out of school on a cold winter day.

"I'm for going into the house and doing something," is little Bill's immediate response.

"Say, you birds, I've got it!" suggests Frank. "C'mon over to my house. I've got my 'American Flyer' train and a lot of new equipment; a new station, a new semaphore, you know the big one with the light and track terminal—and a bear of a crossing gate. It's got a light, too—Whadda you say?"

"You're on," said little Bill—"I want to be the engineer," yelled Pinkey and the young American Flyer trio started to Frank's house on the run.

"Gee! Just wait till you see all the track I got. I've been adding to it for three years. It almost fills the whole big room in the attic."

"If I'm not tardy at school, I'll get an 'American Flyer' train, track and equipment for Xmas, and then I'll give my American Flyer mechanical train to my kid brother"—is little Bill's parting shot as they disappear into the house.

STRIKE ON M'KINLEY LINE TIES UP TRAFFIC

100 Illinois Towns Affected by Walkout—Carmen Willing to Yield Part of Demands.

ONLY TWO DIVISIONS STILL IN OPERATION

About 350 Workers Out, Demanding Wage Increase, Pay for Overtime and Closed Shop Conditions.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 8.—Coming from the closed conference of striking Illinois Traction System trainmen at noon today, A. McGuire, international representative of the Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, declared the men were willing to yield their demands for a 10 per cent increase if the company would grant them time and a half for overtime work.

Passenger and freight service on the Illinois Traction System (McKinley lines) remained tied up today following a strike at 12:01 a. m. yesterday of motormen, conductors and brakemen on all main lines.

More than 100 towns and villages in Southern and Central Illinois are without interurban service. Not a car is moving on 400 miles out of the system's total mileage of 500. The St. Louis-Granite City and the Joliet-Princeton divisions are the only ones still in operation.

About 350 Men Out.

About 350 men are on strike. They are demanding an increase of 10 cents an hour in wages, extra pay for overtime work and closed shop conditions. Under the contract, which expired Dec. 1, brakemen were getting 50 cents, passenger motormen and conductors 62½ and freight crew men 65 cents.

Vice President D. W. Snyder of the Illinois Traction System issued a statement from Springfield last night in which he asserted the strikers' committee of five had dealt unfairly with the company and the public by giving only six hours' notice of the intention to strike.

Tildon E. Goddard of St. Louis, a member of the committee, today said Snyder's statement was untruthful. He said negotiations between company executives and trainmen's representatives were held for two weeks and notice of the strike was served at 3 p. m. Friday.

No Property Damage.

"The strike will be absolutely peaceful on our part," Goddard said. "During the 1918 strike not 5 cents worth of the company's property was damaged and we can guarantee the same now. If necessary our men will volunteer to guard the properties."

Workers were polled on the question of striking, Goddard said, and the vote was 267 for and 18 against, some others not voting. Goddard added that 300 of the strikers are members of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America and the rest are new men.

Passenger men are asking time and a half pay for more than nine hours' work daily and freight men are asking the same for more than 10 hours. The reason for this, according to Goddard, is not so much to obtain extra pay as it is to eliminate lengthy working periods.

The contract of crews on trains between St. Louis and Granite City is with the St. Louis Electric Terminal Railway Co., a subsidiary of the I. T. S., and they are not affected by the strike. Workers on the Joliet-Princeton division likewise have a separate contract.

No Attempt to Break Strike.

No attempts have been made by officials of the I. T. S. to break the strike, so far as could be learned, and no trouble at any point was reported today. The company contends it is financially unable to meet the demands of the strikers.

"The general interurban situation throughout the country is far from satisfactory," Vice President Snyder said. "Great inroads have been made by the private automo-
